2017 – 2022

– '17 and '18 are styled [and/or 'themed'] very colorfully, the rest much less so ……..

----------13 'tones' [day colours], added to accord with the 'dreamspell' dispensation' divined and practiced for 20 years with intimates by a Mexerican [later 'nicked' Volum Votan], then launched for free in the early 90s (newer browsers prolly don't show them). BACKGROUND COLOR CHANGE HAPPENS AT ALL PAGE NUMBERS LISTED

2017 – PAGE 3 TO 59

pages 60 to 108 == 2nd of april to july first longer intro [about the last editing push august 2022] and again: hilite color shift per day, but this time, consistent with my assigments [basically rainbow with bl wh and gr added, see earlier work] to 'wizpensation tones' [day qualities as one can see on the JA file ... page ....]

pages 109 to 204 == 2nd of july to 30th of dec

hilite set of last file [background color is different for each] continues until the last day of september [a set with the black, white and greys dropped in favor of more gradual hues] kind of a raggedy period again (more quotes than notes [and the latter shortish / selfabsorbed / dense],

2018 ========= pages 205 to 252

The section begins with the last day of the previous year [2017... added bycause it begins a 'wavespell' .. and the file colour used to be led to follow those ... until the were looked more critcally a few years later]

'my' bow again ... sigh... soon as this gains notoriety i will be blamed for the 'wave' [tsunami] of pride / groomer[doomspiral .. errrh .. 'progression'] pages 253 to 318 ……. hilite colour show is over ... no hilites at all .... august 10th to end of the year 2019 ========== pages 319 to 375 .. down to frid, april 12th, pages 376 to 445 has 2 hilites [and reaches] down to 19th of august pages 446 to 513 have 3 hilite colours, shifts at oct, nov and dec

2020 ==== pages 514 to 574 [2nd 'HH' begins on the 1st of februari ... down to tuesd 10th of march] pages 575 to 636 feature 2 hilites [2nd one begins the first of april ... down to 23th of may pages 637 to 711 have 1 hilite ... last date: end on 15th of aug pages 712 to 784 sport 2 hilite hues ….. the second one begins on 8th of october pages 785 to 839 make do with 1 text hilite and stretch from 7th of november to close of the year

2021 ========== pages 840 to 908 = no hilites, txts in blue, quotes in black pages 910 to 980 == GREEN ON PINK, YELLOWISH HILITES, QUOTES IN BLACK

18TH OF MAY TO 6TH OF AUGUST

first five lines do not apply - sorry ... it happened bycause i recycle color combos for new content and leave a few lines in for a 'beginnetje' .. i have folder full of candidates ....

pages 981 to 1046 ……. top line is a lie, only one hilite color

16th of november is the last date

1047 to 1070 has a kinda british bg

2022 ========== pages 1071 to 1142 ends this document on the 20th of may poor johnny, .. doesn't understand how days and days of taunts, challenges and attempts to shame the blockblokes into switching their hearts on and change sides instead of relying on secure paychecks and regular hours, can have any effects comparable to the ones any and all thanatopian industries around the world manifest. worth listening to ... even after a couple of handsful worth of seemingly or what you deem surely, off the wall yarns. I myself found, the part on the ttp is the most thoughtprovoking .. one hour 26th minute he begins that rant. At the start he claims trump is izzy slave (yet employs holocaust denier, .. aside: prolly to taste the pleasure of firing them, as that seems to be his fetish .. to the point he doesn't ever default on loans, he 'fires' his creditors, eureka!!!!), putin buttboy and whitie hater (?)

After the break and promotions, at 1h4m he does his main shtick about how japanese shift of investments away from the states to china over the jap holocaust museum he had a hand in delivering evidence to/for, contra the roswell faith instilled and installed as an army psyop by Aquino, with the grand finale in the last minutes before the hour and a half mark featuring a few new [can't prove it, can't rule it out] elements (for those like me, who listen often) like this one:
a terror attack in france was aimed at aborting anti tpp protests

1h29th he mentions the petersen research institute .. projects growth by 131 billion dollars a year
somewhere in the middle of all that is an anecdote about 'the island of stone money' .. david o keefe (?) took giant limestone coins to the island of yap ... "david o'keith" yap - king of hard currency ... went to live there, got 3 wifes cause he shipped the wheels in from elsewhere and exported coconuts.

The next two minutes are pure confused bunk.
Legalizing a cloaked form of colonialism, made over as tpp so you have "nothing to fear from local armies" is incompatible with what he sometimes (but not this time around) claims to be a thing of the near future: secession.
He rules enviro concerns irrelevant to geopolitics but later asserts that ttp would have enforced US standards around the pact members (as if if that set of laws made a mockery of itself by pharmaffiose bribocracies has any compostability creds whatsoever)
" .. evade enviro laws a bit easier. but we're not talking about that."
As if frackfluids don't mean biocidal cessation and/or abortions of all complex life sooner or later and for hellalonger than the effects of stupid battles.
I have to conclude he shills hard for certain aspects of the satanic as often as he is attacking others .. prolly after a doublespook's alibi spread. . the fold forth, hold back syndrome ... sigh ... how split and splintered can you get personal here?

he then claims rcpp is the back up plan, 16 asian countries, dominated by commie china (which has no scruples about slave labour#, something the tpp would have been able to rule out .. instead, now the US gets left out... hence Trump sold whities down the river).
= yeah, rite, cause wistle blowers have such high standing, receive passe partouts and have replaced the status once held by the MNCs n'est pas? cause .. you know .. hungry stacked cubicle redeye payment powers beat hipumtrimp towers any and all day by a vertical mile ... but .. only a slaaayyyyyvvvveee will get that hi voluntairily ...

that feed cannot be replaced or consumed directly, bypassing the 'middlebeing'; it can't even be harvested without that creaturely mediation ... which yields all kinds that can be traded at lower elevations for more temperate products of course. I tell vegans to study Tibetan culture and have hundreds of songvids from there listed with a few docus interspersed.

i mean - barring new tech like earthships, giant lenses to widen the scope of covered pond algae on the menu, or clever hot compost schemes to grow the heat like a dying breed of zealot hippies did - northern climes and high elevations grow little besides grass and to turn that into food is a pretty exclusive ruminant animal trick.

Richard Wrangham, who did stellar work on food-availability-triggered differences in 'genderelations' by the way, also spoke about unlocking calories through cooking.

Hi on fruit 'vs' 'Low' on meat?

Results:

1: dispersal (they simplify into flat [dte] bundles rather than sloped hierarchies and crowding such as will happen trying this on lower elevations and latitudes that DO offer choices for growers, etc)

2: access to otherwise inhospitable expanses, increasing their range, and did so long enough to generate side effects impossible to undo, for instance the overall betrayal to/of trees becoming second nature, etcetera.

Marineland: In Depth
If Marineland thought 2016 was surely going to be the year things finally calmed down for the facility which has been under siege for nearly 5 years, they were wrong.

Marineland made the news in 2016 arguably more than any other year in recent memory, creating for themselves international headlines for all the wrong reasons. The year wrapped up with animal cruelty charges finally being laid against the park by the Ontario Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

"You can't get very far in life if you don't get away from Self" - George Washington Carver in 1939
The famed scientist and inventor best known for the amazing work he did with peanuts -- he cooked up over 100 uses for peanuts incluing plastics and gasoline -- gave this rare interview four years before he died in 1943. It's an inspiring story about the importance of scientific discovery and putting ego aside in the search for facts and the truth.

mind you, combining the rightie penchant for reassuring routine with lefty curiosity and openness (funny how that never seems to lead to openingness, not even to regarding the dust from polishing edifices and prized trophees, dependable founding funds), or in Richard Wrangham's terms, chimp and bonobo would be no small in itself .. and as it stands, totally outasight.

> Contains a drawing that appeared on the cover of Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper for January 22, 1887, just a decade before the Spicer murders. It depicts a ceremony honoring the sacred 'Standing Rock' that gives the reservation its name. Indian agent James McLaughlin stands to the left. Sitting Bull stands to the right. The Indian in the center with the paint brush is Fire Cloud. The brief article accompanying the drawing reports that Fire Cloud is dedicating the rock to a future full of peace, forgiveness, harmony, and healing.

> The unsolved murder of a farm family still haunts the white small town of Pluto, North Dakota, generations after the vengeance exacted and the distortions of fact transformed the lives of Ojibwe living on the nearby reservation. Part Ojibwe, part white, Evelina Harp is an ambitious young girl prone to falling hopelessly in love. Mooshum, Evelina's grandfather, is a reposito.....

> Thank you Mark Charles for pointing this out. One more element of hypocrisy in the foundation of contemporary America that needs to be addressed in order to properly use the awesome tools there forged by good alliance between Indigenous people and Europeans. Those Europeans had a sense of the complexity of power and corruption fueling the tyranny they still try to escape. The notion of equality expressed in the Declaration was clearly contaminated by European colonialism, or, worse yet, a Roman perception that England carries.

> Three years after the tragic events of the Revolution of Dignity that took place in Kyiv, some of its activists are yet to give up on the ideals they fought for back in 2014.
> http://en.hromadske.ua

last words from this amateur copper (who has been blessed[?]/cursed(?) with having his idealism turned into a profession, unlike myself): "nothing changed, that's our greatest shame, .. but ... i'd do it all over again", then, a different alter answers (in the same voice, as dissociative siblings are passing masks around .. perhaps the same tried [but true?] helpmeup with handmedowns form much of western contact takes and gives .. is that what got them juuuuust a liddul too used to handouts?)

Pass around this heah defensive 'stancedance' paraphernalia? This rock stands rite? DOES this rock stand rites? #StandingRock where renomated colonialism parades, champions and turns into brutally poisonous metastatizations of itself [and tautologizable to boot]: 'venomated' colonialism .... even though that rock rolling dude in the digital corner signals that his perfect smoke is blowin thru the hoakey croakey dogatail creaks, his k&r words, his cernugget, his quick refs to vast stores of memory puzzled together in dazzling ways don't sound like the blackbird's wintery whispers and virtuosity but like the ravings of madmen ....

"ukraine will never be the same again, nothing can scare it anymore"

I think this man is a shining example of the hordes of wellmeaning protesters not realizing there were Soros / Nulandt / Nato / Gladio / christian missionary zionist funded bullets trying to celebrate their symptom ... 'circulate' .. their splinterchangeability and stockholmed split, tryin to let their 'innered' inert beast out, .. out to get a feed for even mo bedda trauma internalization down the road (you're sure gonna need AND GET[!] duh numby numb numbin after/if your fight for gmos/fracks & vacc goes 'your' way) .. tryin to find their way into the most traitorous hands possible, calibur, Akademites (now, Xe, formerly Black Water; dollarfaith knights of malta, yalta goin on yalka ... rabbit right? is masha popular in ukraine or is that too russian ... forbidden even ... or blocked or something?) who, by the way, were there also and [sidetheme] Douglas Dietrich has repeated (without evidence) it was they who directed the shots at MH17, taking it for Putin's plane. Write it off as one of them yarn intensifyers, Jonathan Zap the 'oracle' man, is on about - but hey, don't all traitors firmly and fervently believe in the 'rite' thing??

next comes what was a short sentence before the interspersals ... as usual .. i'll give you a deparenthesized version first:
I myself disavow all arms but not force ... putting into (digital) words my visions on how to best dance between fronts closing for contact as long as possible (since the Seattle 99 western oligard party crashers began to realize there's can be truth in/from and revival in/from numbers .. to show the opening 'kin tact' [along radialized lines of force; honouring plants and gravity in unison] that defuses, employs, charms) while get away cracks and corridors in space time yet abound (once the central center is captivated by the opening act, all others blossom in 'bloem', flower in profusions of duh most fragrant kitchen X garden path embelishments), before things heat up (stink gets nauseating, cries curdling, etc) but despite bestest stage management .. or bycause of it, as the stranded boatdriver is proverbial in Holland, whence i hail and to which i returned.

I'll prolly not see any protest done 'rite' in my sense of the word, let alone a defense dissolving one cause a sides and content changing pipin pier showed up .. nor can i realistically hope someone will try to piece together what i meant from notes after i'm gone .. but least of all am i willing to be the director waiting for volunteers in vain ... watch .. i'll get desperate and go a soros / yinon on yall, forcing and wrecking it all by paying people to pay attention (with too little training to realize that peaceful means are a must for peaceful results but must not be confused with passive means). RIP all your colleagues mate.

me to Basham: You can't be trusted for bed listening. Why should anyone who considers your 'paedos for jesus' background be suprised you present heavymetal for jesus 'music'? A more mainstream version of that question can as readily be formulated:
when will any and all 'rock' musicians realize their choice of 'garden tools' can't, don't and won't touch rock due to design flaws? Only after i somehow inspire / bribe / convince mark henson types they need to paint my visions in great detail and not before then and no way no how, not any and all time before that? Most apostolic zeal takes the form of that which the asylum inmates invested in their 'King of Hearts' movie liberator DISPLAY, they took/resorted straight to celebratory excess 'avant la lettre', leaving him to avert dangers, develop potentials, etc .. as the lonely stars existing severallly on animalistic stages everywhere you look.

Peter Sloterdijk turns his keen eye to the history of western thought, conducting colorful readings of the lives and ideas of the world's most influential intellectuals. Featuring nineteen vignettes rich in personal characterizations and theoretical analysis, Sloterdijk's companionable volume casts the development of philosophical thinking not as a buildup of compelling books and arguments but as a lifelong, intimate struggle with intellectual and spiritual movements, filled with as many pitfalls and derailments as transcendent breakthroughs.

Sloterdijk delves into the work and times of Aristotle, Augustine, Bruno, Descartes, Foucault, Fichte, Hegel, Husserl, Kant, Kierkegaard, Leibniz, Marx, Nietzsche, Pascal, Plato, Sartre, Schelling, Schopenhauer, and Wittgenstein. He provocatively juxtaposes Plato against shamanism and Marx against Gnosticism, revealing both the vital external influences shaping these intellectuals' thought and the excitement and wonder generated by the application of their thinking in the real world. The philosophical "temperament" as conceived by Sloterdijk represents the uniquely creative encounter between the mind and a diverse array of cultures. It marks these philosophers' singular achievements and the special dynamic at play in philosophy as a whole. Creston Davis's introduction details Sloterdijk's own temperament, surveying the celebrated thinker's intellectual context, rhetorical style, and philosophical persona.

lookatum go .. havin fun ... yet ... the bears wait for the return of a shaman who can tell the difference between the practical 'mediant' between extremes of classical med'cin wheel / swastika, etcetera on the one hand and on the other 'sporty' wheels that ...

1: 'transport' but do so in double sense, not just spacially but much more diabolically, they escalate the testy levels like no other immune injury (the big attractor in play with death-approachment via drug effects - i learnt that from andrew lehman) can.

The same type of injury - but on an industrial scale and acting outwardly much more directly - gets to be 'sustained' through chronic offloading of drug laden urine and noncomposted excrement into innocently alive and defenseless waters, slowly killing those miracles of miracles ....dutch ones for instance, worse than the post war rebuilding phase did.

Apropo their med'cin loads / fall out from pharmaffia 'gifts':
generous dontations: 'gulle gaven' / 'giften' but VERgiften = POISONS!!!! .. as the german word for the latter is 'Gift', plenny warning against the dangers of charity, gifts that go too far ... from which one believes one can distance oneself safely, the delegatory 'at bay keeping' is illusory cause they come back to bite you and weren't gifts in the first place.

2: those wheel paraphernalia (powersources) sweat and ooze poisons, polluted particles and noxious gas from pores, bearings, casing fractures, cracks, busts, breakdowns, defects, exhaust ... to spill, blow and spread pure hellishness all around .. when the hard phase 'comes around' (the wretch it/ID wratchets a round), 'it' kicks out wars and satanicizations of production processes kick in ...
22: fracks for oil; something even the world's most networked entitlement scam, a thanatopian constellation that took and takes likings to an appropriative business model everybody at the receiving end receives traitorous impulse from on contact lest it remain in the group taking a licking from it. Its abrahamic empire building* based cult membership badges can't keep matching w comparable perk seduction rates and tricks ({{{TrumPimpTowerPass anybody?? TPTP or standing rock tipi, that's duh cue westion}}}) let alone adding premiums of/for defilement and dishonourage on top of, to stay in the game.
* = ({{{abram spread / vectored rather than fled that meme/virus, already desertifying and by now killing ever more rather than quicker}}}).

but there is a wheel in between an all too reflective one and its overactive other; i know, for i am that shaman and instead of waiting my turn to get onto putin's .. ehrr .. i mean .. the bearclan's payroll i published a few images on google plus.

> THE BOOK: Courage, Endurance, Sacrifice: The Lives and Faith of Three Generations of Missionaries - PUBLISHED IN: 2016 --- AUTHOR: Charlotte Harris Rees
> In 2003 after reading another author's book stating that Chinese reached America before Columbus, I decided to pick up Father's research, just to prove for myself whether he was right or wrong. At that time I was amazed at all the various people who quoted my father's obscure text. Among them was a professor emeritus, Cyclone Covey, PhD from Stanford, who offered to mentor me in my research. This professor's initial request was for me to write about my father - the man who on seeing the strange Asian map immediately understood it. After being convinced myself of Father's thesis, I decided that before I wrote about him, that first I had to let his findings be known so that people would want to read his biography.

> An ancient Chinese document called the Shan Hai Jing dating back to 2000 BC, describes a legendary paradise to the east of China - Fusang. However a particular style of ancient Asian map indicates Fusang on the American coastline. Listen to what Charlotte Harris-Rees, author of "Chinese Sailed to America before Columbus", has to say this week on Asian Threads. (Sun 8.30am~9am) 26-8-2012
> In this episode of Asian Threads, recorded in Hong Kong on July 17, 2012, Reenita Malhotra Hora interviews Charlotte about her father's collection of ancient Asian maps showing evidence of the Chinese having sailed to the

don't get me wrong, i love you to peaces, in fact, i'd like to visit azk and you all this year, but ... if all yallz do is warn and cry 'brace for the disgrace', WITHOUT contrast pointers to and demos of easy, clean and happily green mean ways [within reach cause very scalable] to grow self up and evil 'others' out (so they come begging for a jobs, confessionals, etcetera), like care for compost, rainfall, cycling most weight with least loss*, etcetera (which happen to all be my area of vital staples focus), then we won't have sanctuary spaces, practice room, evil pressures relieved, etcetera. All it amounts to then is the 'semi-Stockholm syndrome of the indignant and outraged.

what he says about you in the 32nd minute may be true but it certainly is for him ... in spades. He hasn't done so for yeeaars now, but i ''caught' him in a candid moment confessing his dad took him to rotten b-movies much too young and often.

http://stopthinningforests.org/fire-prevention.html

> Thinning Does Not Stop Fires
> The main push behind forest thinning is driven by "fire mitigation" yet there is no evidence proving that thinning the forests actually decreases fires or fire severity. Research based on actual fire history has shown that in some cases, thinning forests actually increases fire severity by eliminating wind breaks, increasing the temperature of the soil and leaving behind kindling from the thinning process.

my polytic[ktock]s (why i abstained in dutch elections):
coins tend to be 'vorboten', early warning signs, symptoms of crisis and calamity crews from central management, frequently a satanic satire of themselves, carrying bullets instead of conviction paranaphernalia, the ones that compel a return to forgotten or selfharmingingly forsaken and betrayed sanitation, humility, infected by the schizophrenicizing zionist 'winstbejag' bug, ... unless of course, we return and/or stick to my sense of coinforms and substance.

Lacking that, earmark rights for taxes owed .. and or state 'rubbered' monies (local/regional ones with stamp of / subject to state nominalism [pegged e-rate] can unite and harmonize public and private moneys in all matters of, as always delegatory, state) .. better still though is the return to ground, grounding and grounded coin versions which avoid exposure to what worker, healer and warrior (developer, ass- & insurant) remain susceptible to and subvertible by: fraud as advertizing, iow, mentioned buf .... (and politics does NOTHING so much as institutionalize, ritualize, sanction and normalize the latter).

until that changes we are left with perverted and diabolicized lipservice like the one i heard from the mouth of the SGP leader (the party my parents voted): he started off claiming to be there for the weak and voiceless (which as i explained often enough to not repeat it extensively now, means feeding the soil to ground and heal all - healing one is healing all .. like a russian doll ... an index basketstack of staples upon staples within staples that breathes like a hobart sphere, like our planet) but for god's ache lose that top down imitatio and assumption of his powers; he safety locked it's accessibility with the hardness of rocks .. 'dey' [/dei?] open, are moved in as much as into ...come up and fold out, flower, ripen and fall in the strategically expectant's lap through their humblest and most pricelessly common POWDERS only .. as as crown depends on root .. all organic life depends on this 'inert' process... yet not even permies have made it a pillar and mainstay of their doctrine and praxis.
Now, .. since miming, dancing along it and helping this 'FLOURING' {[BE]FOR[E] FLOWERING} along, will always remain AND ALWAYS WAS the most upscalable measure 'takable', ... it really is no wonder we have founding 'myths' like a dusty story at the very beginning of the earth's most prevalent holy book, the vedic churn drama, the cernunnos enigma (and only poah liddul me to connect the dots without any help .. [but luckily i'm a good site better [GROUNDED] than Bob Dummy Dean and his sickpuppetry theatrascalls]).

This is the right noise but neither he, nor any other democrats or int. movements like zionism manage to hang on to a marriage of logic and ideals like that, .. not so far anyway.

And so, only for the brief pause of a comma, before the rest of the man's harangue, which launched into careporn in the shameless ways that are the norm in holland instead of felt for what and as they are by the likes of me (not sure there are even any, let alone colleagially reaching out ones like me, unless of course, they fail as miserably as i do), one may think, hoping for the best, 'hey, .. great, this party has gone permie .. but noooooh, far from it of course, fruitless and counterproductive repetition is dutch norm, in fact the work ethic among rural christians overrides choice of profession, none resistant like socalled 'penn dutch' around here ... and more often than not the slippage rife careerchoices are covered up and euphemized as 'tradition' but increasingly, escalatingly involve downright harmful and confessed aim betraying practice.

> Dear friends of nature. Please, help us save the few percent of old growth forest remains from clearcutting in Sweden by joining many scientists, biologists, organizations and others in signing an appeal to the Swedish Parliament and Government. The initiator of the Appeal is the organization Protect the Forest. This year is electionyear in Sweden and with international support we hope to be able to change the directions.
> According to the Swedish Environmental Protection Agency only a few percent of high conservation value forests remain below the mountain region in Sweden, less than one percent is primeval forests, which puts Sweden far below other countries preservationplans like U.S.A , Germany, Costa Rica, New Zealand. among others.

> TO BRING THE DEAD TO LIFE Is no great magic. Few are wholly dead: Blow on a dead man's embers And a live flame will start. Let his forgotten griefs be now, And now his withered hopes; Subdue your pen to his handwriting Until it prove as natural To sign his name as yours. Limp as he limped, Swear by the oaths he swore; If he wore black, affect the same; If he had gouty fingers, Be yours gouty too. Assemble tokens intimate of him -- A ring, a hood, a desk: Around these elements then build A home familiar to The greedy revenant. So grant him life, but reckon That the grave which housed him May not be empty now: You in his spotted garments Shall yourself lie wrapped.

the most vitally needful, needed in a pressingly urgent way, most attention deserving bits of memery and rememory are that exactly bycause they are the most resisted, ignored, demonized, mocked, persecuted, tabood, twisted, tortured .. the differentiation between force and violence is first base in all that ... in the beginning in good time .. a microclime was created from rocks rubbed together apart from the fact that evree booty is a first timer in some shared and levelling sense (due to amnesia / mommy leg survivorizzum) by definition, i have been goin after best first timer -- in the sense that the most desirable emulatabilty sweepstakes really ought to be a 'regi/'C'zonal' hilite, worldhit partout point com -- for over a generation now ... i have a humongous piccie collection so pretty much scene set, marks on, go ... yet nobody even wants to be the next to [me as] best first timer .. for lack of honest turfin' tools.

I offered you 'best minus one' before and still invite any and evreebody who catches my eye to go full bore .. but the basic first contact of excrement and fresh dust, the generalized communified fragrance efforts will go/be global whether i be buried and forgotten, doin it again after gettin back but having forgotten ... and/or other whatnot.

it's just too good a regreening / repa[i]radose tho[ug]roughness to not post/posit as first timer ... cause in principle it IS and will always be the oldest beginning / first renewal wherever turd \ rock \ sun \ water ([[wood / earth / fire / water / metal and on up&down VIA +-FACTOR, in, through past combined 'other' counterkins PER 7FOLD INBODYMINT]]) be gathered to preunite & get in touch ... given some kind of catchy gamename to gather in.

> The Debate: Homegrown terrorism in the West
> PressTV News Videos - 91,761 - 599 views - Mar 23, 2017
> In this edition of The Debate, Press TV has conducted an interview with Scott Rickard, a former American intelligence linguist, from Tampa, and political commentator Andre Walker, from London, to discuss why the West, including the UK, is grappling with the rising epidemic of homegrown terrorism.

11:40 the man mistakes duration / extension / magnitude for depth, intensity and quality of disservice. He suffers the illusion of not going from bad to worse when adopting a much more irreversible evil than desert trauma ... one with a default as bad as the worst of desert trauma fall-out, namely fracking, to push back at & against the patrist (weaponized femarchy) side of semitism with (see Saharasia by DeMeo, sadly ignored by modern feminism).

That's like saying 'you will never kill me ... cause look, i'll just do it myself' ... Exposing how guys like Walker are willing to towncrowd kapocry manage & guide us the whole thanatopian route to zero sum fraternalizations of the envious is a useful excercise lest desertification rates approach freefall even more, lots faster than the snails pace of leadups like ddt, AOrange and glyphosate and all the rest combined by comparison.

.--- i wanna remain a complete unknown but actually knock on heaven's floor to prime and cheerlead the future army of compost lovers .... instead of just leaving a 'crum[my commentary] trail thru selected sites and vids pointing to it for now .. iow, .. hopin to live the day bad binary tides turn and commence to shrivel ... to make place for pleasant trees .

this is tragic in too many ways to sum up but i'll mention the elephant at least: this woman scared people professionally, prolly thousands ... and yet sounds righteous and outraged without a moment of allowing doubt and/or awareness of an indirect billiardball kind of connect between action and reaction; in other words, blowback effects which she thinks to have the rewrite right to call violations. but can unmerited privilege be violated and assaulted or is the assailment perped rather an offer of aid and appeal to come to one's senses? She did not force people to come to her shows, repute of which preceded fact in the same way eurasian migrants headed to the new world knowing full well it wasn't the terra nullius advertized by similar misleaders.

an editing note on the 10th of august 2022 [just before my second over 2000 pages 'dump' [searchpoolplay bait?] ::: x ::::: - :: x :: - the minusX ['original'] version [last edit 3/3/21] has font stops which don't work in libre office .. nor in Midori for that matter ... ff would show the same deal i guess ... so i might have to stick style hickies in front of date specs to reflect the effort i put i way back when ..... i could try the span stops tric via a replace action [Ctrl H for some reason]... that'll be quicker ...

yup ... as i saved the lines above [aug 10th 22] i lose the 'loose' font stops and gets lots of whites as below [downstairs ... i don't open ff upstairs anymore .. haven't for years now ... 2006 boxes are great for netscape .. but ...
.. the 'color matchery' file has 0 stops ... i'll try tap one up in pad/'blok' .... to make the 'cosmic' color code noted without whitening or greying txt ... like i ended up leaving intact, as edited 18 moons ago, for the bottom day ... i cut filesizes to fill waves for a while there ... i now use this: 2 spannies +
- :: - ::x:: - :: - - :: - ::x:: - :: - - :: - ::x:: - :: - - :: - ::x:: -
- :: - ::x:: - :: - - :: - ::x:: - :: - - :: - ::x:: - ::
Rule?: one after a blockquote, otherwise 2 ..... wait, ... halfway thru i discover that i used 4 of them to make it skip the last colour and go clear {instead of the black ... tho i could make the txt grey or something .... but i'm over messing with all that it hurts my condition 10x as much as it used to spend long hours .. perpetrate long sessions .... .. wait, i've actually done that on the last day [entry - sat, 1st of july, - k39, cosmic storm, 5cosmic] of the file anyway,
..... funny contrast:
i go into these articulate rants thru my head as it is clearing from cycling in cooling headwind and when i get thru with rants in my head, .. attention called by all the perps and victims on one bridge, selien, merel and the poor little scrawn pawn they have used to sick that flame of beautiful 'local' agent to my home ..it would behoove me to thank them .... even tho she still hasn't answered my latest. ... but the fate of that poor little one being yanked on by the sadomaso .. fight dirty culturette shut me up again and i just glanced without breaking stride.
BTW, if you want to see an exception to said rule, go here:
sat, 27th of may - k4, SESeed, 26spectral ... and another 2 3 days later .. i mean 4 ... 4 more ... another lesson in it ... one too many at june 2nd ... so that fucks up the rule 2 days after that
.... 1 suffices 3 times and then breaks down?????? strange rule but it seems to apply ... twice in a row now .... which lands me at my prolly first mention of George Webb (via MrCati) after 5 doubles a single one will once again do the trick ... only once tho ... does it have to do with count [back]down to black [as last] and then beginning with black as a first??????

Why Are The Main Players Online To Scared To Utter "Operation Talpiot"? - Brendon O'Connell - 252 views - 5 hours ago end of last year on theofantastique.com:

> The Psycho Records by Laurence A. Rickels (Columbia University Press, 2016) ---------- The Psycho Records follows the influence of the primal shower scene within subsequent slasher and splatter films. American soldiers returning from World War II were called "psychos" if they exhibited mental illness. Robert Bloch and Alfred Hitchcock turned the term into a catch-all phrase for a range of psychotic and psychopathic symptoms or dispositions. They transferred a war disorder to the American heartland. Drawing on his experience with German film, Hitchcock packed inside his shower stall the essence of schauer, the German cognate meaning "horror." Later serial horror film production has post-traumatically flashed back to Hitchcock's shower scene. In the end, though, this book argues the effect is therapeutically finite. This extensive case study summons the genealogical readings of philosopher and psychoanalyst Laurence Rickels. The book opens not with another reading of Hitchcock's 1960 film but with an evaluation of various updates to vampirism over the years. It concludes with a close look at the rise of demonic and infernal tendencies in horror movies since the 1990s and the problem of the psycho as our most uncanny double in close quarters.

> One in a series of 1992 (?) lectures on the topic of Hermeticism, Peter Lamborn Wilson discusses the influence of spiritual anarchism on the early American colonies as expressed through largely underground and unrecognized historical figures. The title comes from the character in Shakespeare's "The Tempest", which Wilson interprets as representing the mysterious New World natives as seen through the eyes of Europe.

https://archive.org/download/Peter_Lamborn_Wilson_class_on_hermetic_l_89P143/89P143_vbr.mp3

Second half of a Peter Lamborn Wilson lecture on hermetic linguistics. Wilson discusses schools of thinking based on a mistrust of words, including Nietzsche's anti-linguistics, The Will to Power, and John Zerzan's Elements of Refusal. He looks at modernist and avant-garde poetry as an assault on language. Wilson also discusses mystical approaches to language, including the map of the cosmos with God-letters at the center, the function of the imagination, the ability of words to shatter concepts, and the use of archetypes. (Continued from 89P142)

TMR is greatly saddened to hear of the untimely death of Liam Scheff. In honor of his life and his work, we are rerunning the blog he wrote for us back in September of 2013. Rest in peace, Liam. You will be missed.

In the past three months, two mothers of autistic children have tried to kill those children and then themselves. One succeeded (or failed) halfway: she killed her son, but she lived. The Chicago-area mother stabbed her boy, a very large teen of 200 plus pounds, after a dose of pills failed to do the job in an earlier attempt. The childâ€™s 24-hour caregiver (his godmother) was also involved

Peter Sloterdijk - Rules for the Human Zoo --- Friedrich von Uxkuell = 1.3K - 38v - May 13, 2017
Rules for the Human Zoo, also known as the Elmauer Rede, originally appeared in 1999 in the newspaper Die Zeit and was subsequently published by Suhrkamp in 2001. In this response to Heidegger s Letter on Humanism, Sloterdijk poses the basic question about the purpose of politics, governance, and civic solidarity. On the one hand, since Plato, politics has been conceived in part as concerned with the necessity of taming humans into being good citizens. Sloterdijk thus follows Nietzsche and Heidegger in portraying humanism as one side in a constant battle ... between bestializing and taming tendencies . It is in the Hobbesian state of nature that humans are wolves to each other; but who turns the wolves into friendly, loyal dogs? Humanism has claimed, according to Sloterdijk, that it is reading the right books which calms the inner beast . It is the great books, the thick letters from one great thinker to another, that provide the model presented by the wise , which enables the care of man by man . At the present, Sloterdijk argues, we appear to have been abandoned by the wise. It is no longer the humanist but the archivist who bothers to look up the old, thick letters. Humanism thus gives way to archivism.

i've been listening to Ed for several years but this beats everything so far ... Ed's guest is coldcasecameron.com telling the tale of Edward Edwards (real name Myer, fatherless kid with early life similar to Manson, ... actually knew him .. and other serial killers) > the 400p book EE selfpublished at 39 contains clue to all the murders up to that point, now costs several thousand dollars (cameron owns a stack and also put a free pdf'd one up)*. And now it gets eerily reminiscent of a presently active criminal, operating in even more blatantly plain view (though we all know how psycho syncro killers rank waaaay above mere serially zodiac ones):

he went on tv shows holding up his book for all to see!!
He toured the country and held forth in churches on being a reformed criminal. He was fond of planting evidence and taunting police. Ring a bell yet?? Do i need to spell it out?

Ed O's own write up:

> Meet Edward Wayne Edwards, the most evil serial killer you've never heard of. In this chilling case-by-case analysis and story of the killer's life, former detective John A. Cameron argues that Edwards was not only responsible for the five torture-murders he confessed to and was eventually convicted for, but for dozens more across the U.S., > over decades. Tracing the murderer's life from his beginnings as a misguided boy who witnessed his mother's suicide, Cameron conducted hundreds of interviews, including exchanging phone calls and letters with the killer and interviewing his family. The result is a complex, terrifying, and fascinating analysis of Edwards' travels across the U.S. in the periods of his life: as a young itinerant handy man, an escaped fugitive on the run after a jailbreak, and of all things, an author on tour to promote a book about his life as a reformed criminal, followed years later by his arrest and confession. Each part of this haunting timeline is tied by Cameron to murder cases in the areas Edwards lived, based on his MO and his sick joy in taunting police, attending trials on the cases, and getting people wrongfully convicted for the murders he claims he did. These cases and ties include links to the famed Zodiac Killer, and more.

Sandwichman (Tom?), I've read your posts for years and years and I really really want to believe the lump of labor deal is a myth, and although your posts are interesting and often fun to read, I've never been convinced by quotes from old economists. Do you have a clear, basic explanation somewhere debunking the lump of labor? I feel like I've never completely understood the fundamental argument. Thanks. --- April 14, 2017 at 2:59 PM

Sandwichman said...To me the simplest explanation is that the "fixed amount of work" is a simplifying assumption -- ceteris paribus, all else held equal. It is not a belief or assumption about reality. It is mathematically certain that if all else is held equal, 40h*4n = 32h*5n, where h stands for hours and n for workers. Economists do this kind of partial equilibrium analysis all the time and often mistake it for a description of reality. For example, if the minimum wage is increased, unemployment will rise. Rent controls cannot work because they discourage additions to the supply of rental housing. Comparative advantage. Ad infinitum. ---------The rebuttal that "there is not a fixed amount of work to be done" is correct in the case where somebody mistakes the conclusion based on a simplified assumption for reality. The fallacy myth arises from the generalization from this specific rebuttal to the false claim that proposals for work time reduction are "based on" the simplified assumption. --------- Furthermore, critics who invoke the fallacy claim frequently are simply repeating it and don't really understand the nature of the argument they are making, so they embellish the fallacy claim with counter-arguments that are based on the same kind of simplified assumption that they criticizing. For example, "proposals for shorter hours are based on the assumption that unemployment can be reduced by spreading a fixed amount of work among more workers, but in reality this would increase labor costs which would result in more unemployment rather than less." Those "increased labor costs" and "more unemployment" however are merely other conclusions based on deductions from other simplified assumptions. They are not "reality." — Does this help? If not, can you explain where the explanation loses you? ---- April 14, 2017 at 4:52 PM missprism said… Here's my answer. I can work less in my job, that of an independent literary agent, because I work faster now that I am older and wiser, and still manage to make as much money as I need. However, I am self-employed. My experience is not necessarily shared by other people. Employers also get rid of people who work less based on efficiencies that are teachable to cheaper labor. So my experience is not particularly generalizable to the whole society, in any kind of unified field theory of everything, or prediction about the future. Which at root, like philosophy, is what economics tries, always vainly, to be. It then sets about to ululate in these generalities endlessly. For some reason, society tolerates them, much as it tolerates people such as Ashley Judd. --- April 15, 2017 at 12:58 PM

will the dumpmob gear up undoing proof of the one and only jump a stumpthrob?
he jumped rite into the swamp while fake and feint threatening assorted threats 'right back', only to pivot and turn the already enslaved containers of said threats (the traitors to their own hinterland reserves / target pool from which we can conjure the ever wonderful and talented likes of, usually once in a lifetime, 'babies ripped from incubators' starlet performances) into even better clients.
trump created exactly one .. 'plexcellent' job but is he doing it? is he working?
Or is it an out of time, out of place 'weiter wie bisher ist keine option' mimin dah memes revolt, like the charmed by sovereignty austrian vidder who wandered into jail after that manly manly foeter & schimpf novelist hero of his who began focussing on banking while calling himself 'montechristo' of all things, the german speaking equivalent of say, .. Greg Hallett?

3: trump created only 1 and is doing an excellent job: brazen top liar-dogmask wearer.

his loyalties lie with the defense contractor and russian kleptocrat stuffed DC mob behind both parties and they make sure traitor scum floats to the top the trumpjob consists of ... many outings punctuated with menacing outpointage of dangers he will go 'handle' (which means renew and step up or initiate contracts, point at causes for ethical and ethnical disintegration and offer business contracts as a solution) at damn near the same time. How long between conducting a beating of Korea threat drumrollcall and selling a holodda arms in[to] the region?

there is and can be only one speccellent trumpjob and somebody already has, so far does, and makes do[ugh] with it: stay ahead of the dumptrumpmob apropo noah ... (notes from thursd, 12th of jan -- k129, crystal moon, 3resonant):

the pragmatic nuts and bolts meaning of noah was:
floodplains are the most fertile most diverse and so, very zoolike ... to keep it that way one must not block the fecundating inundations (building dykes etc) but build and live in boats werein valuables can ride the temporary tides up and down. People in the early days of these 'developments' (cough), who were aware and tried to communicate this down to earth truth get distorted by the likes of you and you colleague mystifiers: "... pineal cloud of light can be likened to a boat" [[SNIP]] ---------- ps: I have very similar insight regarding wheels, cycled weight driven ones. if you wanna talk pyramids, don't forget madness and rivers of mercury my friend.
========== pps: 2 weeks later i put it this way:
i left a comment (in the key of youknowwhat, .. seldom responded to)
i'm watching a river vid right now ... (blows my mind, it's the one that identifies part of the former 'iron curtain' which shrinks and expands like only a river left in peace can - search my comment about noah for more proof the bible has every worthwile truth inverted & distorted, it's timeliness turned to spaciousness / expanse .. it's roommaking cancerous, not timemaking) and yet another week later i capped it thusly:

Portia Boulger, Featured in Viral Video Viewed by Millions, Explains her Anger at DNC - TheRealNews - - Vwd 31thou3hundred X
she means well but "absolutely sacred rights to vote" 3:30 is a bit much in the factual, that is historical 'face of money's 'nominotionality'; the golden age in Holland was that bycause of arms exports of course .... but also cause this attracted currencies, a 1000 of which were in circulation at that time ... what a treasure trove to flex a little ethical banking muscle thos times must have been, dodging cannonball bully type money and going for the ones that came to find .... you name it ... anything along peaceful ways of making a killing, knowledge about silts and tides and stuff ... about noahbowboats riding up and down going nowhere but leaving fructifying currents aflow rather than blocked by dykes and dams. I'd sure as hell think of something.

We talk about the evidence that Zodiac was a hoax perpetrated by corrupt police officials and sensationalist newspapers. Later we discuss why perhaps the serial killer meme was used to obstruct justice and cover up systemic political corruption that extends from the Napa Valley in California to the halls of imperial power in Washington DC. Horan draws a disturbing picture that connects the events in the Bay Area in late 1960's to the July 2016 murder of DNC staffer Seth Rich and the current Pedogate scandal.

do riverborn minerals 'migrate'? If you like to personify them, why not? Do they, after sustaining tribes into mass cultures, cause clashes with siblings before getting [into] that unipolarity / supremacy fix[ation mode]? Comparatively minor squabbles and skirmishes spring eternal as long as expansive overrules and rules out permaculture.
Can migrating climate refugees (and dupes of said takerculture) claim and be said to flow? Certainly.

Yeah, I mean some people are CIA agents, some people do speak a lot of languages, and some people have parents who are famous, but, you gotta be realistic on how rare things are and how likely it is they're gonna communicate with you and share such things with you, etc. If someone starts telling you outrageous things, demand proof before you believe it. > Resonance Audio - 127 views - Aug 3, 2017 —--- An Old Doctrine of Hatred and Bigotry Reemerges
> This essay released by CrimethInc. before the 4th of July to counter the associated jingoism, explains some of the histories of anti immigrant sentiments in the United States. "Some have debated whether we should view the groundswell of support for Donald Trump through the lens of white supremacy or fascism, but we can also understand it through the framework of nativism, the doctrine of prioritizing the interests of the native-born over those of immigrants. Nativism has a long and ugly history in the United States, in which the ascendency of Donald Trump and his supporters is just the latest chapter. Here... we study nativism from its origins to the current day, tracing the common threads that connect all the ways the rich have preyed on the fears and prejudices of the exploited to turn them against those worse off than themselves."

In 1958 John Higham had second thoughts about the prominence he had accorded nativism up to then. Too subjective. --- Stage 2 of the triple monomania had arrived; the groundswell incarnationalism was overtaken by masses on the move, marketserfs at the whim of 'their' bigger and bigger 'betters'

Yes, he has changed our habits, undeniably for the worse, but a man who can say of himself, as Kroc did, that "it requires a certain kind of mind to see beauty in a hamburger bun" is a man who can cut the mustard. --------- Esquire, 1983

The "Ministry of Truth" has waning value and false flags do not carry the day. Appears that there is little to no support for this; Caguaripano, the leader of the alleged plot, has a history of rebellion. In 2014, while a captain in the national guard and amid a previous wave of anti-government unrest, he released a 12-minute video denouncing Maduro. He later reportedly sought exile after a military tribunal ordered his arrest, appearing in an interview on CNN en Espanol to draw attention to dissatisfaction within the ranks over Venezuela's demise. He returned to Venezuela to lead Sunday's uprising, said Giomar Flores, a mutinous naval officer who said he is a spokesman for the group from Bogota, Colombia. http://rdnewsnow.com/article/547643/venezuela-official-reports-attack-military-base-arrests

Beginning the Third week of Lughnasadh... - BealtaineCottage
"nothing stops me from putting out videos .. least of all lack of money .. .cause i do it all for mother earth."

informative and pious anecdote i performed this norm .. ehrr .. morn, to Pieta (a 'nearbour' your age, who raised a family in a milkshop of our capital and moved back here to her native village [after the death of her hubby], where she has served my mom in the butchershop way back).

It was a follow up to the - since my mom's passing .. 1391 days ago - fast dwindling and then entirely ceased chances i got to bare the 'roots' of and scold her/their faith; this time i see her weeding and say: i see you're busy causing the walkway stones to gap and begin sorta cave into the bed. in response she blames the village 'stoneloaflayers'. which triggers me to launch into an account of your life and end observing the generalized lack of FEEDING MOTHER EARTH notions ... which have in fact been installed in Holland since the windmill / dyke 'landwin' system got put in place and crystallized a culture that slowly degenerated unifying principles by abusing them for empiri... i mean imperial purposes which turned out as halfbaked as their base (the bio-industry is pure horror and just like the palestinian situation, rages and races around and around the whole wide world virulently)

i only recently began seeing the full scope of just how the windmill is only half of what w/c/should be called sustainable, for which you'd need ADDITIONAL mills to not just mimic but actually take on and over the dyke blocked benefits of floodwaters:
[trace]mineralization left behind after subsidence, THE basis for all abundance and sociostratific[al displacement, mockery and betrayal of a tree's standing] 'achievements' of large deltas (make sure you turf a few zionoid's vs a native's opinions about empire before claiming to understand it)

now that i'm here i'll add what i almost wrote to your previous vid after seeing a vid of a trip across the kerry mountains which i imagined were once covered in thick forest but have worn to near rock bottom allowing only scraggly growth eversince since the rock is too hard to break down easily for quick recovery ... and that's where my flavor of awareness / pacific force / masculinity comes in where you leave off with every feminine thing that comes natural for you in your power to do. ... watch me do some natural powder .... lemme explain: remineralize.org (worked there in the mid 80s, learnt about Julius Hensel who died in the early years of the last century, ... etc.)
I perceive possibilities and outline a 'corner cutting, but really 'spinsplendid' way to repair the patrist damage .. thru sheer force of a steady and steadfast 'background' focus on and confidence in achieving it. I may be threadbare by the time i reach a personal finish line but passing the 'baton' correctly / core actly will not thrill, not killl the cause.

We talk about the old times weev missed while he was in jail. What the uses for smart contracts are, why bearer assets won't be subject to regulatory pressures, and how to manipulate markets. Is tezos the new pump with formally verified contracts? Is Ethereum hopelessly subject to security vulnerabilities with its solidity language? And how will blockchain solve people's problems going forward? Even Theo de Raadt gets a great mention on the subject, with his work on OpenBsd. Possible future guest?....

> At the turn of the eighteenth century, Spain witnessed the rise of a liberal side that directly confronted the government during the First Carlist War (1833â€“1839), considered by many as the first civil war. After this conflict, many liberals felt the need to continue challenging the status quo, and to that end, they explored new concepts that originated beyond the borders of the Iberian nation. In many ways, they found their answer in the philosophical movement known as Krausism. Founded in Germany by Karl Christian Krause, introduced in Spain by Ruperto Navarro Zamorano in 1841

GMOs Are Safe: 5 Things the Organic Industry Doesn't Want You To Know
hey, why don't you do a vid on how the 5g roll out did not send a herd of affected cows completely mad at all. Most of us will easily believe your no doubt angelic performance, ... promise.

> There's no need, because the only site to claim 5G wi-fi caused mad cows is, of course, all about the evils of meat and the magical wonderfulness of veganism and cannabis. Credibility none. All I'm interested in, in this video, are GMOs and the nonsense of "organic" food labels.

letsraiseawareness.org/testing-5g-wi-fi-troubles-cows-concerned/

> 5G is way better than 4G in the aspects of network speed and capacity. However, one can logically conclude that the dangerous side effects of 5G are greater as well, although this has not been proven yet. The group of promoters includes: KPN, het Economic Board Groningen, het Agentschap Telecom, Vodafone, Ericsson, TNO, Huawei, de Rijksuniversiteit Groningen, SURF en de Hanzehogeschool Groningen thank you for the link*, excellent site, i disapprove of your denegration of it although long since i went back to meat after trying vegan and even rawfood for a while.

* = It occassioned the first time i read about the story, having only heard of it yesterday from a relative, .. almost all dutch media products tend to infuriate me even more than your vids but for similar reasons so i abstain. Trying to complement them has proven counterproductive, cause although i seem to help steer topic navigation (with lags of up to 20 years, affording plenny of deniability all around), ability to heat them up does not guarantee having a hand in correct handling and resolution.

> Winona LaDuke, Kshama Sawant & Naomi Klein: Transcending Amnesia -- 1.4K views - Ed Mays - Oct 20, 2015
> This episode features three women that the imperialists & corporatists love to hate. Recorded as Seattle celebrated the 1st anniversary of Indigenous Peoples' Day, a rousing introduction was given for Winona LaDuke by Seattle's socialist City Councilmember Kshama Sawant. Winona LaDuke, a member of the Anishinaabe nation from the White Earth Reservation in Minnesota is renowned for her activism on behalf of indigenous people and the environment and she was twice a vice presidential candidate on the Green Party ticket. This is followed by at talk from famed writer Naomi Klein, author of â€œThis Changes Everything: Capitalism Vs. The Climateâ€?, recorded in Seattle two days later at the People's Climate March.

i am disappointed Winona endorses Tesla Tec (in the 37th minute) .. instead of responding to one of the numerous times i alerted waterprotectors to my 'gravity comprehension hints" collection. Soil 'building' is the highest tec around .. cause it's managed to hold on to ethics we find amongst the peaceful portion of tribes worldwide. Cell/Battery tec is biocidal, diabolical toxtec and that's not an impractically puritst or absolutist statement but a 'reconstat' (constatering, gestaafd en wel = verified fact).

> MONTANA RAY. I'm sorry to disrupt the protocol, but I wonder how violence and desire are twins or twin aspects for you?
> TIANA REID. I mean that I understand sex and violence to be mutually constitutive. Lauren Berlant and Lee Edelman have talked about how the unbearable encounters that sex produces always come with a level of violence, and it takes something to acknowledge that, but sometimes the smart poets who say they acknowledge that coupling actually reproduce that sexual violence, kind of like what Laurence Rickels called â€œviolence controlâ€? with regards to cute culture. How can we recognize the violence that is all around us without saying we have nothing to do with it? Without disavowing it? Saying that you're a man and a feminist doesn't mean shit to me in terms of how I experience everyday life, in fact it might make it more difficult to confront the paradoxes at play.
> MONTANA RAY. Okay, okay. As a man and a feminist, can I contend that Nelson's book does seem radical in its pro-sobriety stance? I'm not breaking my dad-poet voice when I tell you I was breastfeeding in grad school, and as such my poetry was much better than my peers' poetry only because I wasn't drinking as much as they were. I think now, as a sanctioned career poet, my writing has gone somewhat downhill, but I wouldn't give up on alcohol. I think liquor is compatible with parenthood re: the long haul. Also, frankly, in the short haul. In this interview, I find myself returning to when I was pregnant, channeling Audre Lorde in Ethiopia and writing my first poems; strangers in Addis Ababa offered me glasses of wine as I entered their establishments, to celebrate my belly. We might define temperance, alternatively, as following one's bliss?

> The Phainopepla, when pursued by predators or handled by humans, mimics the calls of other birds; imitations of at least 13 species have been recorded.
> An individual Phainopepla eats at least 1,100 mistletoe berries per day, when they are available.
> The name "Phainopepla" (pronounced fay-no-PEP-la) comes from the Greek for "shining robe," a fitting characterization of the shiny, jet-black plumage of the adult male.
> The Phainopepla exhibits strikingly different behaviors in its two habitats. In the desert, it is territorial, actively defending nesting and foraging sites, while in the woodlands it is colonial, with as many as four nesting pairs sharing one large tree.
> The Phainopepla rarely drinks water, even though research indicates that it loses about 95 percent of its body mass in water per day. Instead, it gets the water it needs from its diet of mistletoe.

We worked with Thomas from 1977 through 1999 and were fortunate to film him at Chaco Canyon, in Washington DC, and at sacred migration sites around the Four Corners area. His humor, good spirit and wisdom will be long remembered. In June 2011, Santa Clara elder JosÃ© Lucero and Onondaga Chief Oren Lyons organized a memorial gathering to celebrate Thomas at the foot of Navajo Mountains and they asked us to put together a short film remembrance of Thomas. This film is the result, published here for the first time in September 2017. Enjoy.

> "The Chinese Challenge"-Teamblog is opening up a discussion about a possible new rationality hidden in the Chinese writing. The main question is: What can we learn from China that China is not teaching us? It is proposed that a study of polycontextural logic and morphogrammatics could be helpful to discover this new kind of rationality. Those topics of polycontexturality are presented at my website and at the complementary Blog Rudy's Diamond Strategies. Start with the "Pamphlet".

> Diamondize vs. Syllogisms
> Trees are graphic representations of the notional entailment relation which is at the base of logical thinking, deduction, not restricted to Aristotelian syllogism only.
> It is of importance to understand that such an accretion is not building a subordinating order, like a diaeresis, thus, it is not a pattern founding deduction, syllogism and linear or tree-like conceptualization. The knots of this diamond, understood as a proto-structure, can be themselves starting points, origins, for binary trees.
> Because of its commutative structure, the graph of the proto-structure is a grid and has neither an origin nor an > end. Thus, it might be slightly misleading to write the proto-structure with a beginning (1:1) as it is presented in Gunther's papers. This happens for notational purpose only.

There is an expression in German, however, eine ruhige Kugel schieben (literally, "to push a quiet ball") which more or less means "to have it pretty cushy". which is obviously quite distinct from sich die Kugel geben (lit. "to give oneself the ball [here: bullet]); that is, "to blow one's brains out". I obviously wish you all the former, not ... found it off the wall disconcerting he scolds Assad and blames him for stuff the deep state [zog] which Trump shills for, pins on him succesfully thru their mega 'roeptoeters' ... becoming a scary globalist was always a threatening 'avenue' towards his ethical downfall .. in the end he avoided it as little as the pharmaffiya he seems to have surrendered to and does equally cynical poems on ....

he's always been a puffy guy and prolly hid a fondness of / dependency on alcohol pretty well all this 'while' ... i could quote Morelli calling PS a farmintbrewskier or some such around heah and perhaps that IS what prevents clarity .. who knows how deep that robotwhole goes down his genetree?

Ep. 710 FADE to BLACK Jimmy Church w/ Jon Rappoport, Ralph Ellis : Ellis on Egypt : LIVE
10K views -- FADE TO BLACK Radio -- Aug 25, 2017
Ralph Ellis is our guest...and once again he re-writes history, Adam and Eve, the Garden of Eden...who and what...with Egypt. Listen to every word...take notes...because this is one conversation that will give you a serious dose of knowledge.

Jon Rappoport opens the show with his No More Fake News Room Live.

> Ralph Ellis has been researching biblical and Egyptian history for more than 30 years. Being independent from theological and educational establishments allows Ralph to tread where others do not dare, and it is through this independence that Ralph has discovered so many new biblical and historical truths.
> His books include: Jesus: Last of the Pharaohs, Eden in Egypt: Adam and Eve Were Pharaoh Akhenaton and Nefertiti, The King Jesus Trilogy, Cleopatra to Christ: Jesus: the great-grandson of Cleopatra, Thoth, Architect of the Universe and his latest work: The Grail Cypher, where Ralph explains that Arthurian history is actually based upon Gospel history. --- air date: August 24, 2017

> The blockchain defined in plain language
> The blockchain is a list of Bitcoin transfers, synchronized on 6000+ computers. Each Bitcoin transfer consists of an amount, time it was transferred, who it was from and to, and a description. The blockchain is a half-ledger, because it doesn't show what was purchased. Since the description is only 40 characters, most companies store a reference # on the blockchain referring to data stored on their own computers.

my comments on youtube vids no longer go to the relevant G+ page; i have 2 and video sharing happens under my second most used moniker since the last changes ... it's been a messy back and forth of them for years now ... which feels like one of them 'message crosses' on threads.
Originally i just wanted to keep subs / vids and lists connected to my comments .. so that i'd have less redundancy visiting my second G+ page ... but ... that kind of logic hasn't proven to become obvious enough to yallz. Anyways, .. thanx for co-terminously suffering thru these hard and waaaaaaay worse than trying, .. often blatantly biocidal times ...

i can not find comment controls anywhere ... after the last major changes to youtube, mine are no longer going to the linked G+ page

scrolling backwards, the screenshot shows the first/last video comment that i managed to (pretty much verifiably, i seldom post a comment and paste it along with/into a share of the same vid) to have actually been forwarded to this here associated G+ page automatically.
IOW, the accompanying screenshot shows my last video comment to appear on this G+ page is 21w old and not 4 as i said erroneously in the last feeback a little while ago i can't believe i simply trusted these 'pennevruchten' (scribbles, .. which i do take seriously despite the diminishing returns, the dilution via deluge) to go thru this long without checking now and then (not that i'm unaware of the mirrorhouses - the 'customized' and 'personalized' for more satisfying groupformation - iow, a succesful adolescence, without being fucked by draft, school, job, pregnancy, 'toxitudes' ... etc) 'results' actually achieving the opposite: isolation - closing in.

> Phillips Cel animated ads -- 1,734 views ---- Steve Stanchfield -- Apr 27, 2016 -- Animated Ads produced in Holland by Marten Toonder's studio; directed by Henk Kabos - 7 Comments > LÃºthien Merilin --- 1 year ago: Wow, thanks for uploading this! I have searched for it for years. Incidentally, you can see many other old Philips animated ads by Geesink Studio's on the dutch-vintage-animation.org tribute site, there's also other work by Geesink there. I find especially the earliest movie on there fascinating: it's "the Ship of the Ether" by George Pal, if only for the way it tries to explain the concept of selectivity!
> MTN Productions ---- 1 year ago: This rare cartoon was made in back in the 1940's and it was an advertisement for Philips radios. They don't make them anymore, but now is a healthcare company that made Norelco electric shave and toothbrushes and so on. There were many advertising cartoons that Philips did was the George Pal's stop motion animated shorts for Philips.
> Mesterius1 --- 1 year ago:Starring Tom Puss (Tom Poes) and Mr. Bumble (Olivier B. Bommel) from Marten Toonder's famous Dutch newspaper comic strip "Tom Poes"

did you know Bommel stories were a subtly 'psyco-operative' / psycho-active form of therapy for europeans gone astray? Eurasians gone genocidal? The white race bible vector addled into drunken races around spaces not their own ... while betraying the ones that were[? are!] their own in the process? This doesn't go without saying cause an average mortal hardly bears thinking about it ... i ventured to america 3x for over a year each, went back to Holland and 7 years later came back from a 10m trip to Oz with said conclusions, ... after which i made it my purpose in life to try outrun linkrot with comments like these. More and more coalition should be the consequence of increased border porosity and violation. That entails a search for greatest common denominator still sharable .. and that's a package containing and unleashing stuffs to keep things organic and arable.

Will the new world and penal colonies descendants imposing on, and suppressing the renascence of native cultures there (and around the world meanwhile cause ... metastatized) reach the insight that ending their occupier/penal colony descendant status on the double would be a tideturning thoughtflash away from 'DEphilharMONIC towards philarmonic any time soon with or without my 'plumpkit'* pointers? stupid WSWS rot, under a Marx quote -- describing free market money, iow, the kind that has usurped, co-opted, subjected, subverted and overrun 'protective' (consensus / co-operative) kinds, whether state, cult or excorporate (AS# is a good example) -- they blame the 'drawback' (bipolarity) on quantitative instead of qualitative payment differentials, if you allow me to describe "class society" that way.

one can fake a smooth slide in suprising ways these days ... saw a lube squirting dildo for the first time yesterday .. and really, i don't miss my occasional Amsterdam Red Lite strolls even one liddul bit, .. and talking about hormone disruption, .. [cash or plastic?] .. cloaked coercions that paralyze and poison insidiously, though transparantly, for those who have 'entrained' their 'mental spheres' (faculties of perception, 6 in total according to JA's 'holomind perceiver' schema, .. which in this context reminds me of the 6 forms of capital Craig Hubley, a canadian greenie active on the net since the 90s or earlier, recommended).

weather nice enough to make the long pedal to visit my old car at Peter B's place ... his wife is into all sorts of crafts and she has a large contraption to serious quilting, .. it features rails (heavy large guage [(can barely reach around with thumb and index)] stainless steel) along which the sowing machine can be zipped on a small set for sideways mobility.

One really suprising encounter (it's last day of the monkey spell after all) was with the son of my former neighbour, the farmers from across the abbekesdoel road, you may have seen him; he is eldest of 3 and was always waaay into soccer .. in a mental kind of way ... he had the funniest way of pulling his shoulders way up, elbows bent into sharp angle, neck pulled in and work his calves, looking down. He showed me the painting that moved to his place when my parents moved out; it now hangs in this classic farmplace with some big trees around it although he really should move to a high dry sandy place instead of the wet peat district he is in (with plenny of pleasant trees) ... and .. another discovery today, a miniature version of the commonest duck around here; they're not even a different size except for the head and beak .. and the voices are kinda childlike (diff between donald and kwik kwek kwak).

He basically followed his father into the cattle trade; market day of the week to close deals worked on over the phone ... something my dad actually did for a good while.

He suffers rheumatism and can hardly move anymore; his wife keeps the place very clean; there's a few hectacres but i believe they are rented for the horses Peter's daughter owns. What i didn't realize is that he has gotten into a very heroic line of work, trying to convince the bio-industridiots [bio-destructive idiots] around here (almost all of europe is under the pharmaffiya spell) that it's better to work with seaweed and such supplements aiming to raise vitality as wisest preventative measure instead of waiting till this&that tox&strain causes breakdown, parasite susceptibility and the like, only to spiral down from bad to worse after anti-biotic patch ups.

CITAYZION NEEDED: it's unlikely no effective popularizer along the stretch that far into the future managed to spend their time to examine my colour ethics usefully enough to prevent the dystopian section (around the 16m mark) of a dead planet except for hi-tec underground humans

'free' speech eh? is it like capitalizzum's other vaunted, eminent and crown jewel 'surplus'? Here's a few words about freeing (speech) and (surplus) value How free is Obombie's speech these days? Words are searchlights that sear into the souls of senders/receivers alike, over- and underexposing, best kept to an absolutely necessary 9/11 type alarmcall .. anything beyond that deceptively imperceptibly inches and edges you towards the thanatopian sterility of nerd specializzums.
One such emergency of potentially freeing speech is the steady drip&dribble i tapped out in the last 2 decades and all about an in fact oldest 't-rig' in and off the books; it's the yin to the yan of 'empow[D]ering rock iow, the origin of infoflo as obligation / imperative / directive admonishes and chants time to bundlement of duh sweat and equity forces in fine enough fettle to free 'formation' (info is rain&shine, 'fo'=rock, get it? Or have you totally lost touch with all thing soillike?)

Once again, care to make words carry charge and keep all 'biomotorizzums' charged? Keep bank accounts and 'free speech' standards based on that along with whatever else for all i care.

Are soils 'charged' rocks? .. i guess Philip Callahan thought so. Nothing wrong with giving minerals organizing themselves a hand eh? .. as 'in the beginning' a mugfull of mud was mulled according to the more and more prophetic mimicker of the presently far from splendid state (and statelets, mega and micro cultlets) of our media splintercondition, James Joyce.
Some monetary history in a very short parabel:
here's a coupon, a business card, i'm drowning in a monoculture of what you aint got nuthin of just yet, .. come 'free' me and enrich yourself, bring something in exchange if you get the feeling i'm actually paying you cause you have it on good authority relief (of my Â´surplus' .. but i hope you can see eerie parallels with plague like conditions) is on the way (should you be hindered).

Pedram Shojai of well.org and a handful of others funddriving for over 5h .. leads me to the roadmap movie .. which at point 540 streams beautifully .. and economically .. buffers just ahead of the timeslider position (first time i see that happen)

of this pitchstream / hangout .. all hi teccy and stuff .. cause he's a filmer after all.

he showcases with top-end equipment ... the vibe is almost like that very typically chinese low wage exploitative, chest restrictive propulsive combustion worshipping fresh China Plus vid (95% hype and propawash, 2% environmental and 2% poverty focused), just less fast paced, less crude kitchfetish and karma laden infrastructive glorification; ...

* the first guy he features though is that slick talker but unethical david wolfe (the one who sold ground deer antler to vegans and who knows [who wants to], perhaps he still does) the film starts off with a billboard and storevisit in nyc from ridiculously large pillows we cut to cacoa beans in panama ... some tiny impressions from a loooong trip to a tiny tiny but childrich isle ...

they stop a plasticbag holding storegoer and soon after visit the next island where all the trash washes up this is next to the guna cacoa project (trees threatened by witches broom ... yet another mineral deficiency indicating fungus, as they all do basically; being a doctor has to be the easiest job in the world if you have your head on straight and survive pharmaffiya prosecution such as julius hensel did to a larger extent than any of 'my' guys ever since ... and his zenith was over 120 years ago!!!!!)

what happened in the nile valley if the floodwaters were gone that long i wonder.

she says 'virtuous cycle' but i claim there's no virtue in hauling anything to the US, it ain't even possible to do any virtuous colonialism in the first place, but it looks like patches for monoculture are cleared (at least for the nursery expansion of a 'resistant' strain ... well i have news for you: NOTHING, NO form of life is immune to mineral needs and requirements ... you should go help the people who know what matters: twisting the arms of the Soroses, Adelsons, GoldmanSacksers of this world that eeeeeever so slight and liddul tweak needed to become hearwarmingly noticeable on a vast scale)

next (m20) he strolls alongside maria rodale for a spell (a cut to a bl&wh of her grandad proves truth to type)

Drew Hempel, our sokalinator explains his take on taoism once again: fabulously leglocked reversal of timespace ... 'light' over sensible work if you ask me. Why not reverse a few vices instead? keep men put and return those whose ancestors went astray to the general vicinity that sprang the leaks of metastatizing betrayal.

early on MH mentions fisher's 30s title 'debt deflation'. It has grown deceiving if not oxymoronic cause A: it's short for a debt service trap (not the deflation of debt, but it's the latter that has become prime mover on the globalized stages of globalizable wages): rising debt causes deflation .. debt service .. servility if you will[, others would call it a matter of honour], iow, the rising cost to keep debt served, deflates[, cuts out, and takes cuts out of] the non FIRE sectors
B: what's even worse though is that debt deflation has become anachronistic in today's world --- of bending over backwards to make muslim migrants feel at home (thru 'deflation', i mean elimination of interest), even while taking over/down, messing up their homelands and then some --- blobs and clumps of debt, specially the top ends, are chips on poker tables of the most megalomaniac schemers that make it there (usually by catering to and entrapping with vice-indulgences [are ya catching the dark age overtones there?] far worse than gambling).

nobody is put on the earth for a reason we're all put on BY the earth, she's wearing us out and about, ..with pride or perhaps considering it's time for a make over; it's usually not wisdom that comes out of role reversal ... unless you live under coercive sociographic manipulation .. instead of an intelligently forceful one, where meme and mime overlap perfectly .. where we play volcano but in precise measure it meets needs, lays down credit .. etcetera. Rickels october 2014
To emphasize not just Rickels (who's my biggest failure and best example in this respect) proves resistant to the kind of psycho-analysis that includes the perfection of (perfect) compost (iow, that of pervs), this concluding para:

> The bite that's on the vampirologists, therapists and police inspectors by the end of the screenplay is violence setting right the scale or size of the information byte to which teens and midlife critics, undead or live, reduce the other who comes from afar. The run of mourning cannot outlast this long distance of the other's oblivion. Only in undeath is mourning's epitaph legible and only in the span of its projections can we mourn, ultimately, over mourning itself.

His rant about nano sperm, his alledged daughter that went to a nuthouse, is comparatively mild compared to the finale but accurately indicative of where he's gonna steer the 'soliloquiz'. We hear about racist algorhythms, screechy cheerleadership assumed for gender/race warz (russia plays the entire internet like a toy and it needs shutting down), then he gets judaiac eso 10m before then end but the absolute blowout proof of madness is his claim to being the world's first and only sufferer of AICS [artificial integrated

> A battle of jobs versus the environment is raging in northern Greece, as one of the country's largest foreign investors threatens to pull out. Canadian mining group Eldorado Gold almost suspended operations last month, saying the government is not meeting contractual obligations, causing delays and costing it millions. The two are now in court, with the government claiming it is trying to protect the environment. Al Jazeera's John Psaropoulos reports from the Kassandra mines in northern Greece.

https://reinventingmoney.files.wordpress.com/2016/11/ri_monetarytheory.doc contains this note on the missing pages:

> J.Z.: pages 40 to 51 seem to be missing in this manuscript, if one considers only the page numbering. But according to the contents list, no chapter is missing. Rittershausen has probably transferred the material previously contained in pages 40 to 51 to later chapters. On this page, Rittershausen has changed so much by handwriting, also in the original contents list, that, perhaps, I did not correctly transcribe all details.
> One of his notes is, however: "(40-51 are missing)" - Did he still wish to insert something here or merely point out that the side numbering is interrupted in the newer version? - J.Z.

> Randy Mandell: Modern Money Green Economics for a New Era ----- 74 views in 10 days (Ed Mays)
> The unfolding climate crisis demands that we make an urgent and just transition to a green economy. The question many are asking is, â€œHow will the U.S. government pay for this transition?â€? In this talk we learn how the U.S. has used â€œmodern moneyâ€? since we came off the gold standard in 1971, which offers substantial new options which have not been utilized. Modern monetary theory can be used by the federal government to create new green jobs, build a green economy, and fund social programs in a surprisingly affordable and complete way. Randy Mandell works on Modern Money Revolution, a campaign of 1 Sustainable Planet and 350Seattle.org, and actively works for climate recovery. Recorded 11/12/17 at Prospect Congregational United Church of Christ, Seattle.
> Randy Mandell claims Bernie chose an MMTist as econ advisor .. but never mentioned it.

> https://www.youtube.com/user/Macrocompassion
> David Chester 8 months ago
> The fact that promises are made without an exchange of wealth being used, when people trade, makes the theory for bank production of money an apparent reality. MMT says so but it is not simply true, because a promissory note from a person (a post-dated check) is not the same kind of money as a unlimited time wise bank note. Banks do not make money unless they have permission for its creation from the Treasury, which itself is a form of money too. Since this is limited the bank cannot make more money until some of its loans have been redeemed.
> dhagos 7 months ago
> David Chester that's only true so long as assets are either not used as collateral or have prices that are not impacted by the amount of loans made against them. If i buy a house the bank can create the money against the asset with no need for permission from the central bank. That loan then results in rising housing prices since the money being used did not exist prior to the loan. The house can then be used as collateral against a larger loan. This results in new money entering the system with no new assets entering the system. Leverage compounds this issue. ----- There are solutions like limits to lending to particular sectors that used to be controlled by central banks, but my understanding is that that's no longer the case. So if loans are going out against assets that are increasing due to the amount of loans... money is being created by the bank and the debtor without the central bank.

i found evergreencoin on the 1st of november via a permie account (Verge Cdn)

just quoted this one a Defango vid:

> he bitcoin mining industry consumes 22.5 TWh of energy annually, which amounts to 13,239,916 barrels of oil equivalent. 40 times greater than that required to power the entire Visa network. 20 barrels per bitcoin wait, whaaa??? Bitcoin does[/ handles / sluices / rumpa stumpa dumpumps ...] maybe 3 hundreds of one whole, wholly traditionally banked, single total transaction volume percentage ??!!!?!?!?!

.. which is from the 31st of october .. about time to search the source:

> At the time of writing, the computers on the bitcoin network were doing 550,000 Terahashes per second. http://blog.zorinaq.com/bitcoin-electricity-consumption/ ----- Even if only 30% of banks electricity consumption was the comparable part to Bitcoin, that will still make Bitcoin more efficient.

Surely you don't mean to say the unfitcoins have damn near conquered a third of the transaction market ??!?

At admittedly unsharp distance i keep from bitcoinivists, they appear to engage a 'formigalute' frenzy for 'mining' spook {linguerosion alerts all around}.

This topic is but a metastatization of probs i expressed reservations about in the late nineties, diagnosing IT as info/culture assimilation efforts which pervert, block and oust light in order to monetize substitutes unsatisfactory yet inescapable enough to trigger a hunt from bad to worse.

Fibred, parsed loaded, led and metered light is a drug worse than all previous ones ... Back to light as information in primary / primal sense?? Why not?? Simply tie it green in between 'it' and formation (the dense dark = rock greyed, then greened) i'd say.

The evergreencoin by the way, claims to manage without any mining at all, .. they stick to the 'drill-down tricks nineties ledgerism thinker Todd Boyle pointed towards i guess .. which (to me) at least seems to make loads more ethical sense, even if still tied into the E-waste conundrum.

Soil and water can be made to go & grow in everywhich direction as easily as a bicycle. John's prediction underwent important amendment by Harry Alderslade in the nineties and i think i did my share to make the whole thing easily adaptible, cheap and clean:
make sure no rain washes off rocky ground and gets a chance to wash away soil, create new minifloodplains uncompromised by the pharmaffiya .. but perhaps worked by them under strickt reform rule (empty the pharmag labs!!!)

> "the democrats do have the image and the attitude that .. that they're on the side of the angels"

.. then onto Clinton calling opponents 'evil'.
Larry Elder picked himself a lazily easy time of churnin things 'right'side back up with his moving thrillbill into the vicinity of say .... jesus?? - calling children 'unto' him and the wisdom of the crowd denounces the man claimed and famed to be some sort of saviour for evfurrybuddy though the cult-clique that spawned the superman thought wasn't ready to socialize the bennies that far out and about .... and they're still in the biz of slapping copyrites btw, even on stolen goods !!!!

Anyways, so .. said sentiments mouthpieced by a BLACK american, obviously as moronically oblivious of being on for him shakey since RED ground as the WHITE man is on same (though less so, subjected to chainlinkery making money for 'keyholders', those 'moving' and said cryptlockspecialists again rather than money made removing same) as he is 'innocent' of intimate knowledge about n of angels.
Which brings me to the new cropcorp of conservatives, swashbuckling 'i'll handle this', 'don't be a sissy' machismo (or, how altrite is really alt in the german sense: old).

They belongs to the fast dwindling humans lucky enough to escape the worst enviroHazards (dilute forms of which rapidly generalize -- toxic waste diluted in compost spawned the gender challenged urban SJW trudeauites in only 2 generations, all too busy celebrating their symptoms to notice or probe causes; not that McLuhan ever had a word about E-Waste).

the novoconsie, deplorash altwhite izz completely blind to meanwhile metastatized toxins that grow their demise into their very own loins on top of the contrast-diff-tide in sequential generation's sensibilities Andrew Lehman laid out so brilliantly.
These guys do attempt to or default one thing over from the previous iteration with true n faithful carboncopy: their blindness to that very toxicity and dismissal of alarm as 'aanstellerij' (affectation, fake views).
Might as well throw in bugaboo number three:
youtube.com/watch?v=K-MagVIT034
l'hypocrite video

Chatting with Kid Gadsden (Based Headphones Kid)
this young, prolly arab extraction NYsuburban hi-schooler kept his cool vs SJW teacher - vid went viral = he was taken out of class for weeeeks .... he chats about a leftie he spoke to near the end, who became indignant on the guntopic and he claiming, by tone of voice, that the indignation was 'right'fully n all .. his - he, iow, subject to the equivalent of a rape attempt, being stripped at the very least .. hence the perfect dead- and gridlock going round and roundly nowhere, .. to rev in vain is an idle rev, getting set to blow, not appropriately loaded.
And indeed, taking guns for granted as easily as pollution is truely the achilles heel of rightoids. On the other hand, offering no proper 'last useful use' for guns is just not get over the hump. We need to position them so that they protect gunfree zones .. yeah, safe spaces, thanks to guns .. and within them you begin to practice what can be generalized, socialized, shared, universalized nationalized, regionalized, globalized .. take your pick .. and that is:
Do you have to have venus in taurus before your eyes and heart are opened to that???? Not all roads and paths of progress have to rout .. rout us into martyrdom and chronic rejection.

Those who felt they were made a fool of, or possibly may be in danger due to not understanding or realizing the entire scenario surrounding George and his escapades. I remain Neutral, and I do not wish to do anything but prevent harm, then and now. So I can state that yes, there was quite a few women who were very unhappy with the way they were treated by GW. They took appropriate actions and I have not spoken with many of them since. The Information exists as a matter of record, nothing else. I remain impartial, with nothing to gain from either side of this. It is however my belief that the accusations against Dave are fictitious. I believe George should focus on his case, rather than inventing history, or possibly violating the espionage act on accident.

June 13, 2011 ---- Financial Cryptography - Is Bitcoin A Triple Entry System? --- Ian Grigg, a financial cryptography expert who in 2005 published a paper titled "Triple Entry Accounting" has investigated further Bitcoin:

> "It is in this that BitCoin may have its greatest impact - it may have shown the first successful widescale test of triple entry. Triple entry is a simple idea, albeit revolutionary to accounting. A triple entry transaction is a 3 party one, in which Alice pays Bob and Ivan intermediates." -------- [Todd Boyle's netledger, Ian Grigg (self) and Bitcoin's Satoshi Nakamoto] each independently converged on the concept of triple entry. I believe that is because it is the optimal way to make digital value work on the net; even when Nakomoto set such hard requirements as no centralised issuer, he still seems to have ended up at the same point: Alice, Bob and something I'll call Ivan-Borg holding single, replicated copies of the cryptographically sealed transaction."

https://plus.google.com/+URTSAMSamirMishra/posts/8bQLr5JdQ6f

> URTSAM - Samir Mishra -- Aug 21, 2017 ---- What is most extraordinary about the current BitCoin thing – -and what tends to confirm "bubble" to me – — is that the same people who were desperate for the privacy promise of blinded bearer coins are projecting their old privacy beliefs on the nymous BitCoin. Such a comparison between nymous and untraceable systems was denied vociferously in good old bearer days. Blinded transactions were the only way to do it, and the nymous architecture (as now seen in BitCoin) was considered evil because the issuer could supposedly see "all". Which tends to confirm to me at least that a lot of support for schemes like BitCoin and DigiCash is based on shared beliefs, memes and is vulnerable to bubbles. On the other hand, a publically shared database of transactions is one element of Todd Boyle's vision of triple entry.

Derrick Jensen w Jordan Brown --- DJ is aslippin badly lately ... here he picked unripe fruit, found it inedible but does a platitude probe nonetheless with marginal audio at that ... leave it on the tree and find forgotten dessicated, nearly rotted topics to forefront instead i'd say. Come to think of it, i don't remember you doing anybody that fits the rockdust 'goospellers' modes, memery and modeling.

You remember the russian hobbit's favorite dish right?
Well, .. and here's the local anecdote you've been waiting for .. finally ... i stand at one of the 6 cash registers in the local mall (nearly 50 years old - with some rooflight paneling and cafe seating underneath; nifty cable suspended ring with canvas showing a circular 360 collage of nearby millscape) and the guy in front of me - kinda toothless 'ingevallen bekkie' (junkie face lines, as Anton Pieck painted de 'marskramer' [travelling merchant, on donkeydrawn cart, citylet in the distance .. i nearly damaged the paper trying to get those lines just right when i was about 11) - has put nothing on the conveyor belt besides 4 packs of dried peas. So i tell him about the hobbit .. but he's too shy to banter. I do vaguely and peripherally remember coming across him before tangentially ... can't remember where though.

That's wonderful but I sense a lack of personifying and personalizing the low and broad end (in the sense I outlined above) of the pyramid we all live in. Private Persons employ a principle which when succesful long enough becomes an instituted policy. Most commercial tricks keep victims and those who buy in sedate. Dead end singleminded bait lays and lies with death in wait. We'll have to really watch out now cause corporations harvest their constituency faster since they upped the reproduction rate.

2 both astrologicality challenged? check
1+2 recipe for endless bickering? check this: Destiny: looking for a more decent life and livelihood elsewhere is a perfectly sensible, legit and noncriminal thing to do ... Metokur doesn't allow these provisios, specially not the last one, but he stops short of being consequent enough to call the purity of motives that managed to get the first settlers - colonists / migrants / fleeers of something or other - to make their moves, into question. Hence, a very sharp debate about a very narrow band of unreality ensues.

wow wow wow, this is crazy .... i cleaned upstairs yesterday (no water, just beating the rugs an sweeping basically), then dwnstrs i took a fairly unsanitary spunge (aint seen any soap nor soda for a week, got greasy hair, all the hairwashing water i save to do dishes with a few days later long gone) with what i thought was little enough water, across my monitor, using my newly found squeegie (it has a fabrik spunge attached and a hole to stick a pole in), it was actually in the shoeshine box so i couldn't leave it there. The box has a brush, very old so i was happy to handle it, which i did to get the freshly minted dust*, right by the heavy metal gate we all share at our backsides in this very strange square of a neighbourhood which resembles a square bowl from within it and has an unusually wide alley wide for the length of it which loner kids use to bounce balls on the wall and which a generation rapt about me coming there and rollerblading, used to play tag and hide/seek or just plain speedblade .. which got on my mom's nerves sometimes cause she claimed danger of getting hit 2 steps outside her door without even a safe sidewalk.

-- *A: i walked the one block to the northern edge of habitations where the fresh waterside 'schoeiing' that went in some years ago entailed lots of porous lave gravel going in along with it ... turns out it did cause very good growth of waterside plants and they of course have to be hauled out in order to not impede drainage flow (important in smaller bits of water, but the enforcement can be quite anal and comes by to inspect frequently ... i grew up when it was done by hand still, amongst trees ... which are gone to facilitate machine speed up ... there's one particular 'machinist' on a monster machine around here who's obesitas is absolutely dangerous and horrible).

--------- *B: it was pulled out machinally last fall and that left little heaps of plants which were, prolly not desperately but certainly firmly, holding on to the gravel that nurtured them so well. plants sorta rotted and the gravel shows ... which if ignored will totally unsharpen the mower parts they come in contact with by the time they come around, their target obscuring the thread ... so .. i took wheelbarrow .. kiddie snowshovel the neighbour gave me a week ago for some reason .. and a little handweeder, carefully raking some off so as to not hurt the blessedly healthy worms and 'thousandfeet' ... got a load home and went about pounding a few pieces with a heavy hammer ... the grit swept into a platepuddle sits in the sun and we'll see .. bubbles of air that hasn't been air for perhaps a zillion aeons 'c' 'dolight'.

anyway, one drop too many i guess (i should have used a runoff absorbing tissue ... the bottom rim on the monitor IS not sealed .. but it kept going just fine ... just this morn at 4 it went on the blink ....)

turns out i have everything to remedy the situation inhouse. a monitor twice the size of the blinking one which i bought very cheap in the local resthome years ago and never yet used ... plus a cable i'll borrow from the tv which hasn't been on for months and months now .... So ... i shaded the blinking monitor with some ad folder - a provider showing a father and 3 teens in a garden staring at a screen - and mounted the monster on a turned over wooden tangerine box (6 euro; bought out of a young fellow's van, him and sister from the 'isles' [whence my fishmongress whose pic you saw] selling just them and potatoes door to door).

Not sure why the blazes the cooler is blasting at the mo ... i've got nothing open other than this measly meager and modest mousepad txt program.

oh good, it stopped ... i managed to switch monitors in settings and that stopped a threatening blink infection it seems .... now for the garish colour settings ... everything is green ... too green ... but perhaps it's go well with one of the themes i installed to save me from at least the most tiring monitor vibes ... which i'll need with this whopper, upper edge nearly over my head.

Well, .. perhaps it dries out and reassumes the followment of parametric protocol at a future date.

replying to TheCromcrom: cambodjans though, were not and still are not, permaculturists; also, it won't, of course, work 'tout en coup' (that means suddenly right?) but rather, gradually ... easy does it. Cambodjans were made very desperate by Satanized Europeans who are in the last throws of priding themselves on replacing red with white .. for as long as it lasted, not much longer .. restoriation and reinstatement due ... repatriation, restoration, prepping of marginal lands, focus on balancing rocks, waters, duh wilds and duh gardens. your annoyance stems from your resistence to that future, you're not cutting us off of it but yourself rather, hurting yourself doing so.

Then there are restoration tricks even the 'permienards' have not cottoned on to yet as a pillar of the new society they are feeling as much as thinking their way towards (important aspect btw), and that is 'poudres des pierres' (very very little on the french splinternet for that subject btw, more under farines des roches, rockdust, remineralization, etcetera), just to mention the prime way to reground and 'rereal' money.

Colette: What on Earth is Happening?
not despondent but i am psychically gnashing teeth in self-reproach .. why did i think my stellar record of predicting -- this that and the other might grow into a huuuuge prob if such and such weren't faced and dealt with -- would 'net' me a list of invites to long to accept and would include a variety of spaces to display my examplary moves from mono- to .. 'myriadculture' (in order to up the instructiveness of my wandering at first and then more and more commentarian efforts expeditiously). But nope, nothing .. can hardly even get passing and superficial responses (thread vids are super rare also) and i'm not finding candidates to make offers to anymore either ... what comes first? low expectation or shrink & narrowage of surfrange .. i mean, i haven't even been to the site by the bustaani permie place in palestine for years, dreading the bad news they surely are struggling with. guess the tides of naive innocence are washing over us with too great an appetite to lose time passing up less desirable; people like me are not wise enough to go it alone like you ... tempting by what they know is possible in functional teams, confusing them with fictional ones just around the corner, happy to find you.

i've long renounced any sort of actually grounded manifestation of my claims to fames ... but at least i have a bunch of youtube playlists to offer .. on top of thousands and thousands of comments saved and archived, safely out of linkrot reach ...

10K views -- RT -- May 15, 2018
sorry, but this report is woefully incomplete, go find out what lithium mining does to rural Tibet and then try do it again. Of course i'm under no illusion it will help either way .. it's not like reporting on bloodshed for coltan stopped wholesale 'adoption' of (amputatage by) cellphone.

the state monies offset [kept in check, etc] by market ones (paper vs gold, open vs anon) resemble a happy marriage and caused a flowering of europe like nothing else .. unfortunately honest turfing of standardazation experiments (value baskets of treecrops for instance, if you're having trouble seeing what i mean) required more freedom that could be had under a cast[le] system too slow to crumble .. and so, never was grounded [grounddown] in time (deduced to feed low[est] common denominators, in a process of [generalized tricks] demonetization in the hunt for & process of competition induced conflict avoidance guaging edginess of alll commons in the middle all 'warong')

what i'm saying is: go for the exceptions; don't do the judenrein without being fast and bestest with the rule confirming one you zeroed in on unerringly through throngs, mobs, lobbies and hordes, lest the enemy co-opts, steals and perverts that simple leverage to comee out with kuwaity incubator tales to turn public opinion tides in disastrous ways.

in my early homepage days i experimented a lot with embedded but easily skippable elaborations (via colourcodes per parenthesis, one within another or even, as the case required and or inspired, .. within yet more parentheses,). The other day i looked for colourcode applied to grammar and found nothing. Here's perhaps a chance for youtube; offer a range of chats: coarse, rude, vulgar, neutral, polite, 'zalvend' (salving), adolate; it could widen the appeal enormously since the point at which the scroll becomes too rapid is easily reached.

> John Potash discusses his book Drugs as Weapons Against Us: The CIA's Murderous Targeting of SDS, Panthers, Hendrix, Lennon, Cobain, Tupac and other Activists. We talk about the role narcotics trafficking as has played in the rise of the American oligarchy and how this self-anointed elite have weaponized drugs in order to quell meaningful dissent. Later we discuss how intelligence agencies have used musicians and other celebrities to market drugs and the impact narcotics trafficking has had on the global economy.

anthropocentrism is a borderline thing and should be confined to, boundary conditions (birth, marriage, death, crisis, conflict); done detachedly rather than indulged seems to work best.
anthropomorphization can be artsy and entertaining but it's definitely deleterious, dangerous and even dangerous when it goes as far as miming not as reminder but as displacement or mockery or disrespect or thunder thieving - natural processes decency dictates man to have a helping in, lend a hand to .. as a karma canceling and grounding embeddiment (turn dark on = light), cause a rock to disperse in fecundating mist, make it seethrough = light. > the German artist Nadja Marcin performed Nadja by Breton (2010/ 2013). While reading her text suspended high between trees, she walked the plank designed to break upon reaching the midpoint. Allegorical of the predicament madness and art share of falling up or down over the gravity of the grave, she punctuated her text on the ends of evocation by falling upon the huge stuffed transitional objects below ---- I heard Jan Hoet praise Marcin for her 'sensible performance. The key to this comment, which turns only in German, opens a transition/ translation of tongues bereft of native fixity that gives further testimony to Hoet's achievement with Middle Gate of true contemporaneity.

i am disappoint ... you missed a free tour of the most remarkable library in the world (much of which inconveniently stacked, bunched and close packed together in one street away from the eastern edge of a rural bible belt village resi-area by Rotterdam) .. and a cycle around the world wondrous windmills plus extrapolatory spiel on how easy it is to lift [and spin/polish / rollabilitate] rock on the strength of a lift n rock handling their gravity alone .. to produce a bunch of screamingly urgent trace replenishment at similarly human scale .. and 'undoing' some of the damage windmill use etcetera, do too slow to be on the radar clearly, namely the blocking of said trace replenishment (a periodic blessing to floodplains absolutely prerequisite to the such foundations nevertheless betraying civilizations that arise on them).

you as capricorn car[di]nal will appreciate that a rock's very solid state of bulkery is held in reserve as much too much as 'regalure' 'savings', completely useless when it comes to oust imposterure, mockery displacerment robbery, torture and prevention of said pro[re!]duct .. rockdust stoneflour mineral powder (softest and mot fecund portal to sentience of all time .... more info at seercentre.org.uk remineralize.org geobioloog.nl .. or biogeoloog.nl i forget (in dutch) and a playlist i made called 'my crushing passion)':

> By way of reinterpreting the Iliad, Alexandre Dumas's Count of Monte Cristo, and recent Islamic political riots in Paris, Sloterdijk proves the fallacy that rage is an emotion capable of control. Global terrorism and economic frustrations have rendered strong emotions visibly resurgent, and the consequences of violent outbursts will determine international relations for decades to come. To better respond to rage and its complexity, Sloterdijk daringly breaks with entrenched dogma and contructs a new theory for confronting conflict. His approach acknowledges and respects the proper place of rage and channels it into productive political struggle.

the anthropocentroid version of making duh slippy stuff a genital affair must be stretched to appoint rock and water gender and teach kids to work with it ... daily (as daily as toilet and herb garden visits can be combined with sensible compostage since that primal marriage births literally all of sentience once you learn to throw some water into rock strategically, tactically, ethically ... i've said it before but never emphasized that this MUST become central criteria for parenting licencage)

it helps out our most revered n ancient relatives the glaciers .. just so we foreshorten their looooooong n to us impatient beings agonizingly slow approach to found fund grind ground out duh foundations [fun stations] for clim[bm]ate's[’] climaxes and finds fullfillment without overly long lead ups of pure longing at our end of duh loopdiloop .. which is not a leap at all, nor a fall, a mere twist, steady as the earth turns.

> Police raid on Melenchon: The state attacks the Unsubmissive France party -- Alex Lantier, WSWS, Oct 17 2018 --- Yesterday, at the National Assembly, he was reduced to asking whether France was still a democratic regime, amid the jeers of conservative and LRM deputies. The decisive question is to unify and mobilize the working class in an international and revolutionary movement in the defence of democratic and social rights, and opposing war and the militarization of society. This means undertaking a struggle for socialism, making a ruthless break with the nationalism and the ties to the right wing and to social democracy promoted by Melenchon.

Imitation is a decent monkey trick by which he muddles by across n thru ever mounting challenges .... cute even ... join the fatbike ... thingie, why don't ya?
.... which brings me to what i came here to say. No matter how great your clarity of thought, it won't convey to a critical mass of people as much as the bookwriting meme will to 'dumb' n simple imitators ... those who mistake doing the latter for being on your side good enough.

to test this theory i wanna know what my imitation quotient really is by doing something that really reelly stands out ... abandon all pens papers, keyboards, ... even ban my books if need be (it'll be easy if someone promises / pledges to keep it all together believe me, as i'm saying this while working on a collected version of 'public interest' notes) ..... and instead begin to make the only type of ink that can spell health, autonomy, decency cause it 'grounds writing .. quite literally ... that is ... it provides the base .. basic minerals from the ground up, iow, rocks n water mixtures to stamp into quickly 'redeeming' (dissolving) coin .... so yall can finally write like me ... koeieletter over, beneath (in case of tall perrenials) n onto aaaalllll [soil n plantlife] that escape the shaves, cuts , prunes, trim, curb, growthstimulants, 'protectors' (of the monoculture meme, not of any of it's products mind you), aaaaalllllllll them .. dem ... damnmoronically couterproductive 'measures' and discipline.

> This is a cool video. It was informative and entertaining. I live in Avella Pa. We have a lot of fraking out in this area we were one of the first areas in South Western Pennsylvania and we have had spills and explosions. There is a lot of sickness and at least 1 human death from the chemicals. A few years ago there was a Zettaflow spill in West Middletown (part of our school district). A friend of mine's father died because it leaked into their well and they did not know. There have been 2 reported spills into Cross Creek Lake and a great lose of aquatic life, which the mainstream media did not report. I said there were 2 REPORTED SPILLS. There were 3 spills that I know of. So thanks again for putting this video out there.

the mangold sicksters have swarmed to do 'empty sale' pumpndumps on/with/via EU taxmoney poolbets or sumthan[atopiate] ... would nomi for supreme judge help .. a liddul???

Monetary Theory - An unfinished manuscript [95p, 17 occurences of 'central bank'] -- from Tom Greco's website

> That wrong theory of money creation through central banks with which we will concern ourselves later, is being developed more and more to a theory of an exclusive "creation" of money by the central banks. For the "money supply", one argues, could by its increase bring about inflation, that is a destruction of the economy. In order to eliminate this danger, one single institution exclusively, they say, would need to control the generation of the "money supply" (to control the quantity of money or money circulation), because, according to these teachings, it would be as dangerous as dynamite. Consequently, private banks, they say, should be denied any option to "create" money. This is called the demand for the nationalization of deposit money. This, by the way, is a demand, which was first raised in the communist manifesto of Karl Marx (1848) as demand No. 5. This is realized only in today's Russia by extremely strict penalty clauses not only against the banks, but against the entire population. Fortunately, it was not yet noticed that the main part of those monetary claims does neither arise at the central banks nor at business banks, but in private enterprises and families. The prohibition of private generation of monetary claims or the so called centralization of money "creation" in one note-issuing bank would of course mean the end of any liberal economic constitution, an issue we will address later.
> Here the paths separate: An omnipotent government (2) converts its deficits and debt documents into money, by ordering its citizens to accept such securities as full payment, e.g. like precious metal coins, even if they are depreciated (mixed with base metal) below par value. By that method, the omnipotent government can achieve wealth transfers, as the numerous paper money crises have shown.

(2) Here it is unimportant whether it establishes a governmental or a private central bank or not.

> Into the Mystic: Capitalism and the Structuralization of Spirituality -- March 13, 2017 by edmundberger
> In his fantastic book The Closed World: Computers and the Politics of Discourse in Cold War America, Paul N. Edwards forwards a quasi-literary reading of the way power and subjectivity operate in the age of the computer, focusing primarily on the lineage running from the Vannevar Bush's Office of Scientific Research and Development (OSRD) to the birth of cybernetics and their proliferation during the Macy Conferences to the electronic battlefields of Vietnam, and, finally, to the Reagan administration's Strategic Defense Initiative - the 'Star Wars' program that propelled the growth of Silicon Valley and its corollary Californian Ideology, as well as the globalization of information technology across the 1990s. For Edwards the collision of massive government subsidies and steering of computer research and the geopolitical imperatives of the Cold War - dressed in the rhetoric of 'containment' 0- produced the metaphoric construct for which the book is titled: the "closed world".

This documentary examines the visceral nature of war and the bravery of Native-American veterans who served in World War I, World War II, the Korean War and the Vietnam War--and came to grips with the difficult post-war personal and societal conditions.

1h docu made w gvt subsidies ---- don't romanticize bloodshed and do not miss the opp to contrast with 'dustshed' (in a measured and tailored to just where and just exactly how much is needed) to replenish minerals (in the absence of, as substitute and 'supplication' / service to volcano and glacier with temperature gradient running up and down in between).

Replenish vital trace elements, use it to contain volatile but valuable components of 'waste' (cough) ... let the soil sort it out, be generous, do your morning sweat spinning squeezed / stacked rock instead of the dead mind dead weight liftin n lowrin shtick so normalized in these diabolically transferential rather than reverential 'daze'.
in short, learn the difference betwee committinn violence and applying force ... if you don't take away the Solzhenitsyn talks about "spiritual integrity". However, in 1974 he was urging the US to invade Portugal because its people had ousted a regime of Generals, and replaced them with a moderately socialist Govt. He thought that the US was 'decadent' because it refused to do so. Solzhenitsyn preferred Franco's fascist Spain to the US. This gives some idea of the level of Solzhenitsyn's "morality and values".

[ufpj-news] Could Musharraf's Actions Be a Dry Run for Bushco? -- http://tvnewslies.org/blog/?p=668

Does any thinking person really believe that the President of Pakistan is able to make ANY political or military decision without the approval, if not the actual direction of the US Government?

The answer is so damned obvious as to be childish: NO, HE CANNOT because US dollars protect Pervez Musharraf and keep him in power. The 700 MILLION dollars in economic and military assistance the US gave to Musharraf this year alone are most definitely not an altruistic gift that comes without strings. The 800 million dollars scheduled to reach the Pakistani government in 2008 will guarantee that Musharraf continues to do exactly what the Bush administration wants. It is not an exaggeration to suggest that President/General Musharraf would not last a day in office without US aid and protection. Not a single day...

...Could the events in Pakistan be a testing ground for what Bushco might be planning in the US to avoid the consequences of fair and democratic elections here in 2008?

> Custer Died for Your Sins: An Indian Manifesto > Vine Deloria Jr.
> In his new preface to this quality paperback edition, the author observes, 'The Indian world has changed so substantially since the first publication of this book that some things contained in it seem new again.' Indeed, it seems that each generation of whites and Indians will have to read and reread Vine Deloria s Manifesto for some time to come, before we absorb his special, ironic Indian point of view and what he tells us, with a great deal of humor, about U.S. race relations, federal bureaucracies, Christian churches, and social scientists. This book continues to be required reading for all Americans, whatever their special interest. --- Year: 1988 - Pages: 278 sexuality and literacy both can slip out of their formal cultural contraints and jump the track into a breakneck intensification, should the slope it happens to hit, be steep enough.

> Pindostan Visa Ban on China imposed over Tibet > Wayne Madsen, Startegic Culture, Dec 23 2018
> Donald Trump and the Pindo Congress, heeding the call of an odd alliance of the religious right and progressive human rights advocates, have imposed the threat of a Pindo visa ban on any Chinese official deemed responsible for barring access to Tibet for US diplomats, journalists, and tourists. On Dec 19, Trump signed into law the â€œReciprocal Access to Tibet Act of 2018,â€? which previously passed the Senate and House unanimously. The law sent Pindo-China relations back to the Cold War era. The Pindo law requires Pindo diplomats, journalists and tourists to have the same level of access to the Tibet Autonomous Region and other Tibetan areas as their Chinese counterparts enjoy in Pindostan. Other Tibetan areas include those former parts of Tibet that were cleaved off from Tibet and annexed to other Chinese provinces. These include Sichuan, Qinghai, Yunnan, and Gansu, which became â€œTibetan autonomous areasâ€? within the respective provinces. Within 90 days of Trump's signature, Pompeo is to assess Pindos' level of access to Tibet and issue a report to Congress. The report will include the identities of those Chinese boxtops responsible for banning Pindos from Tibet. Pompeo will then issue a ban on Pindo visas for those Chinese boxtops, barring them from entering Pindostan. Annually, the State Dept must provide Congress with a list of Pindo citizens blocked from entering Tibet. The act had the strong support of Senator Marco Rubio (R-Fl). who is also championing other Pindo sanctions and visa bans for officials of Venezuela, Nicaragua and Cuba. It was also pushed by Trump's Ambassador at Large for International Religious Freedom, former Kansas Governor, Thug Sam Brownback, who has also taken up the cause of the Early Rain Covenant Church in Chengdu in Sichuan province.

dunno ... uncannily numopated spoonage .. and speaking of lenses ... i just looked at this white glob thru a magglass i managed to squeeze out of my cheek after pinching the spot for a few days, bringing grease to surface making my grip slip .. but the repetition did the trick ... i hardly ever wash my face between fortnightly showers so it's a wonder i don't have clogged pores all over ... the only place i think my skin is full of it is my thighs oddly enough ... when i squeeze there it is painful and thick .. unlike younger years ....

i have meanwhile got caught up on indentation 'grind' considerably ... chore done for work between 01 and 08 roughly ... for both D and E ... G is only a fraction of that bulkwise .... so then i'll check if the 08 and 15 selections didn't miss too much, correct that and do the mostly 2 colour versions ... then figure out how much colour to intersperse .... wanna do that selection? ... the whole caboodle should be about 3 or 4 times the size of what's left on the web ... specially if you didn't comb thru archive.org to gleen less accessible bits ....

> Why I Reject Indigenous Land Acknowledgments
> 204K views -- Lindsay Shepherd --- Oct 15, 2018

Do land acknowledgments mostly only benefit the person who is publicly reciting them? Are Canadian-born white people actually uninvited visitors/guests on Turtle Island? Are indigenous people the God-given "caretakers" of the earth? I examine the phenomenon of land acknowledgements, and the issues they're connected to, as they become increasingly prominent in Canadian schools/universities and beyond.

had to shift down to first on my way to milk supply replenishment ... even twist the adjuster a good few turns cause that gear has gotten hardly any use in past years ... but it's the kind of bright that makes gazing up into an oak tree contrasts so soooo magically with the blue background (a small band of clear sky comes over us in a sea of grey - i always consider such curiosities as rewards for hard work) and makes me wonder about just how wind and tree team to tickle earth.
also spied two swans, prolly bros feeling their oats and raising feathers to each others but i spoke to them sternly cycling by (quite a few in sight in 2 major new spots along the way) and on my way back they were much more amicable (keeping the same distance), both in the water. i expressed my appreciation for the

THERE'S THAT bETCETerror again

10:41am: the diff between sharp and blunt knives is greater than that between slavery and politics .. and like half of most knifecuts, the by necessity adverse results of the meaures clamored and fought for finally 'taken', hit those who shower in substitutes like it's cleansing instead of distracting and disabling you from returning to a primary and inalienable source of what it's energy is now abducted into,

'good faith' invested in delegation and specializzum is in reality the [erroneous] assumption that pleasure and advantage can be derived from doing 'things', which is at heart as inalienable as bodily functions, for many folks at once ...

has enough water flown under the bridge and history scratched into prison walls to have proven (that) privileges turn to obligation and pleasures into chores yet? BEHOLD the bRITE side: at least it won't hit you again BEFORE you know it ...

similarly a dam .. a mega dam say, ... how is it not different from tieing your dick shut with a nice and tight bow tie ... than see how short the long run runs.

interesting sattelite pic
a friendly word of advice: the goal has crystal clear stand alone merit, to need to stut and strut it with propaganistic deceptions like disparaties between 'comparisons'. In fact it makes one suspect you are hi-jacking a 'plebtiment', misuing it as veil [hey, wasn't nasa trying to something along those lines???] while carryin on w the usual sino (ziosino since the opium wars) nefarious agendas too old - as far as biocidal memes and practice can be said to 'age' rather than being tethered to undeadness forever - and too all told to waste words on (.. or do you wanna blame pre-opium wars desertification [maybe even the occupation of tibet?] on some sort of Saharasian elements weighing and straying into sinoCiv?. Try it and i'll read it).

The Controversial Guru Who Wants to 'Upgrade Civilization'
418K views - VICE - Feb 13, 2019
Bentinho Massaro has hundreds of thousands of followers on social media, supporters the spiritual guru gained through his teachings about "self-realization," "enlightenment," and the idea of "upgrading civilization." While some of his ideas are pretty standard, like the importance of silent meditation, others are controversial: he's said that 9/11 was an inside job, that he can change the weather, and that humans might one day join forces with aliens.

To his devout followers, he's an inspirationâ€”but his critics have accused him of "cult-like" practices and peddling conspiracy theories during his retreats, which run up to $2,000 a pop. For an inside look at Massaro's teachings, we went to one of his retreats in the Netherlands, speaking with his colleagues, his followers, and Massaro himself to try to understand exactly what the appeal isâ€”and what he makes of the accusations against him.

Arthur Noll --- November 5, 2011 at 12:49 pm
People who want to get away from current civilization, understanding it will collapse, and needs to collapse soon, and are willing to work by more fundamental understandings of redundancy and reciprocity, seem to be rare. Those that do understand and want out, may not have money to relocalize, nor money to give in reciprocity, but currently those are the conditions imposed on them. Such people are a valuable resource yet are ignored under current systems of valuation. In holding onto the values of empire (money market values) in defacto rejecting these people, I am not seeing the significant change of thinking logically needed to survive.

https://guymcpherson.com/2011/06/principles-for-society/
"Principles for Society" arthur noll
Arthur Noll's formal education culminated with a bachelor of mechanical engineering technology, from Northeastern University in Boston. A philosophical determinist, he has worked in fossil fuel-based industry and a wind turbine company. He's been a framing carpenter and built a passive solar house, as well as a fabric-covered yurt in which he lived for three years in northern New England. He's experimented with growing crops and tending animals, and he's herded goats, worked with draft horses and donkeys, and helped with the chores and haymaking on a commercial dairy farm. He's been a substitute teacher, maintenance man for an apartment complex, and home remodeler, and has been credited with several minor inventions related to appropriate technology, which may or may not have practical use in the end. He's had relationships with women and has helped raise children, though none of his own.

Interspersed with these eclectic pursuits have come some very difficult challenges related to Arthur's health. He was finally diagnosed with celiac disease, a process from which he learned a lot about health, wellness, and philosophy. He doesn't recommend his parents' approach (Christian Science) or many of the poorly thought-out failures of his own. Contemporary medical science was hardly a shining exemplar, either. His experiences with Christian Science taught him about the problems of fanatical religious belief, and the danger of trying to please people who you might love but are basically insane. But his own failures taught him very painfully about being sure your facts are lined up correctly. He explained a little about the health-care system above, in his essay.

Arthur has been fascinated with understanding how things work since a child. When things did not make sense, he's pursued his propensity to gnaw on them, off and on, for decades. This was the case with most topics in the essay above. He started thinking about some of these problems as a child of 10 to 12, and did not get satisfactory understandings and solutions until his mid to late thirties.

Approaches to Autogynephilia 1 Refocus retrain
216 views --- Rod Fleming --- Feb 23, 2019
Autogynephilia, in one way or another, it the cause of all non-homosexual male transition desire. That is, all men who feel gender dysphoria but remain attracted to women, are provoked by this condition, which is a misdirected heterosexual sex drive. Although transition may be an appropriate route for many, for others it is not. Many men who suffer from autogynephilia do not want to transition. So what can they do to alleviate the discomfort that it can cause?

i start my publising ambitions at the end, the opposite of the usual piecemeal woikin up to a collected works version that buries the gems under tons of sludge and awkward cringe mires, dead ends and all. also, i need to know more about how digitaliens read e-books ... do they load entire ones into their phone and read piecemeal, via search functions or what? break the 50 files into 10 pieces is perhaps best ... picking thematics apart could be done better .. so far i have:

0: the original site (notes from mid eighties onwards worked on and added to up to uploading in 1996)
1: mixes (triggered by surfage, '98 to present)
2: list posts (indigene issues, from '99)
3: indy series (from november 2000 to 2002)
4: jose arguelles (01-present)
5: one or two specials (the lbo lady, and semitizzums)
6: blogposts

7: dutch and german (undifferentiated collections)

lots of overlap (especially the semitizzums bleed into everything ... as they do) ... in subtle ways.

i'm struggling to decide between making a 'best of' selection myself and uploading everything at once to A: show how i'm a mixed bag of brilliance and cringe, B: crowdsource the 'best of' thingie.
'A' is attractive for it's integralness, 'B' for lightining workload and the chance to attract supplementary mediation but both expose me to the risk of playing into the hands of 'metooers' looking for folks to crucify, etcetera, but also to being robbed of my most moldmoldshattering ideas. ..... processing .....

> Ku Hung-Ming does not miss a single opportunity of having a dig at Laotse. His fundamental thesis is that Confucius is the infinitely greater of the two because he understood significance as profoundly as Laotse, but did not retire from the world, but expressed his profundity in his mastery of it. If Confucius really had been, and had achieved, what Ku asserts of him, then, of course, he would be incomparably greater. However, this is not so. It would appear to be contradictory to nature that the same man should live altogether in profundity and prove himself, at the same time, to be a mighty organiser of the surface; each one of these problems requires a special physiological organisation, and I know of no accredited case in which a man possessed both to a similar degree. Kung Fu Tse and Laotse represent the opposite poles of possible perfection; the one represents the perfection of appearance, the other perfection of significance; the former, perfection within the sphere of the materialised, the latter, within the non-materialised; therefore they cannot be measured with the same gauge. But Confucius must no doubt appear greater to the Chinese because they are practical to the extreme as a nation, and to this extent they have no direct relation to profundity as such. The more I see of the Chinese, the more I notice how uninteresting their thoughts are. Their thinking is not their essential quality: their existence is the expression of their depth. Thus Ku Hung-Ming is far more important as a man than as a writer and as a thinker.

MMT of course is "correct" in the sense that it is a clever program for scams; like all of the pseudoscientists of trade ("economists") they neglect the most important pieces of the puzzle (who lends the government money, who receives government interest payments and other expenditures): the whole machine/organism model of "the economy" (a figment as fantastic as "the individual" without a water and air supply) is not only ideological but the spur to childishness necessary for the operations of swindlers. They only really have one scheme- Ponzi's - and they just vary and elaborate the cover stories and complicate the maze arrangements of the trails through which the money is moved and washed. Paul Krugman is another guy like the deceived husband in a French farce storming around the bedroom and ALMOST finding the lover as he slips from armoir to behind the curtains. He doesn't get that it's a simple ponzi scheme, he thinks everyone is implausibly foolish: They ran this scam, with the miracles promised by MMT, in Japan. And now a country that had had no real poverty since the US nuked them has homelessness and destitution, ever worsening: the strong safety nets were just wiped out by the series of ponzi schemes since Reaganism

Article (PDF Available) January 2018 -- 26 Reads
DOI: 10.1071/ASEG2018abM3_4A
Malcolm Bocking 4.34 --- Independent Researcher

CONCLUSIONS
A high latitude, cyclical, glacial model for coal measure formation is suggested for the Sydney Basin coal measures which is similar in some ways to the Canadian tundra, taiga and â€˜ephemeral' lakes. Coal measure scale features such as the Teralba â€˜channel' a nd Fassifern Coal would appear to compare well with Canada's â€˜giant eskers' and â€˜ephemeral' lakes. The suggestion becomes even more tantalising when the cyclicity of the coal measure strata, (and the implied cyclical depositional environments), is considered in the light of the absolute timing being revealed by current high resolution zircon dates for the Sydney Basin coals being provided by CA IDTIMS.

well, .. simple ... order my trusty flat editor to add italics in front of and end italics at the back of them ...
a 200k document from 0203 has about 200 bracket sets and it took at least 10 correction to get thru it, taking half an hour i guess ... ergo .. this will be weeks of work and then i'm left with a crude version ... nothing for the doubles and triples as yet .... (which i could do with colours in the same way i'm doing now).

> A bear has a sense of smell about 100 times better than a dog - I think. I know a bear can smell from 2 miles away and bears are attracted to the smell of horse manure.
> But smell can be "emptied out" by reversing the phase. For example Lemon and Orange are the same FREQUENCY - the same quantum frequency for their molecules - but their phase of the molecule is reversed - one is left handed and one is right-handed. Kind of like sugar - your body can digest left handed sugar but not right handed sugar. (or is it the other way around?) No the enzymes are right handed I think and the proteins are left handed.
> Anyway - so this is due to the Weak Force being Left Handed.
> Oh so that means a qigong master can SMELL over the PHONE - long distance - because our brains literally require quantum entanglement to process the phase and frequency of the smell - the protons are "de-localized" into the 5th dimension based on the frequency as phase as quantum spin.
> So smell is non-local - and all perceptions are embedded in the 5th dimension - the Akhasic field or the ether or how ever you spell it.
> So then to "empty out" a smell - the INtention has to be "bidirectional" as qigong master Yan Xin states - meaning that the frequency and phase have to be reversed.
> So for example blue light is "absorbed" relativistically in order to make GOLD light - and this is how alchemy works also.
> So blue light increases serotonin levels.
> So what is the smell of blue light?

Quote
We discovered in our study that serotonin dials down release more indirectly.

[Click and drag to move]
So blue light increases serotonin which then "absorbs" or dials down the smell into the Ether - relativistically.

Whereas oxytocin INCREASES the smell perception - which is why females have a much better sense of smell.
Also the qigong masters are utilizing their HEART spirit via oxytocin levels - to smell non-locally.
So all perceptions are malleable via the Emptiness.
It is quite possible a smell would be neutralized if the bear shat right after hibernation because a Bear will stick Peat Moss up its back side during hibernation - to preserve its warmth. So the peat moss then composts and filters any smell from the poop.

White Buffalo Prophecy -- 368K views -- Four Worlds International Institute -- Aug 27, 2014 -----
This Prophecy of the White Buffalo has been kept within our Magaska Ptesan Wicoti, Hinhan Wicasa Oyate for more than 160 years.

My father was named Mato Gi, Brown Bear,by his Grandfather Tipi Sapa,Black Lodge after his elder brother, Mato Gi, who rode the Bay Horse, Eagle Claws, and slayed the White Buffalo Bull, as prophesied.

Tipi Sapa, Philip Deloria received his name from his father,Hinhan Wicasa, Owl Man, after a life changing Vision Hinhan Wicasa received as young man of 17 years at Medicine Butte, near what is now Pierre, South Dakota.My Uncle Vine Deloria Jr. describes this Vision, in detail, in his book, Singing for A Spirit, My Grandfather Vine Deloria

> Sr, my Uncle Wilfred Cadotte told me this prophecy often, as well as my father, Mato Gi. I heard my father speak on several occasions about this Prophecy with his Elder Brother Henry Spotted Eagle and others when we visited Ihanktowan Territory over the years Strangely, my 14 year old son was given the name Mato Gi by his grandfather before he died in 2004. It turns out the latest generation of our Oyate, who carries the name ,Mato Gi, was born on August 27, 2000, before the White Buffalo Day was declared to be August 27. That is why I decided to share the White Buffalo Prophecy today, August 27, 2014. The time for the fulfillment of this Sacred Prophecy of the White Buffalo is now! My Uncle Vine Deloria Jr. briefly mentions this story of the White Buffalo Prophecy of the Magaska Ptesan Wicoti ,Hinhan Wicasa Oyate, Ikanktonwan Oceti Sakowin in his book, Singing for a Spirit. Many relatives are the direct carriers of the promises of this sacred Prophecy that was fulfilled by Mato Gi', the Bay Horse, Eagle Claws through the spiritual training and guidance of Hinhan Wicasa! The Hereditary Chieftainship of Hinhan Wicasa was passed on to Tipi Sapa.

Madsen gets Rowan to feel apocalyptic:

> Trump revels in bringing misery and pain to individuals affected by his savage economic warlord policies. Such beasts as heads of state have existed, but in countries like the former Zaire, Kampuchea and Central African Empire, Equatorial Guinea, Taliban-ruled Afghanistan and Uganda. Punishing Pindo trade tariffs against China, Mexico, Canada, Europe and other countries, coupled with sanctions against Iran, Cuba, Syria, Russia, Belarus, Venezuela, Nicaragua, Sudan, Zimbabwe, North Korea, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Myanmar, Iraq, Yemen, Burundi, Qatar, Kuwait, Lebanon, Crimea, Eritrea, Lebanon and Cyprus are arcane and destabilizing. Trump may believe he has the authority to wield his economic warfare scepter at will and without thought to the ramifications of his policies, but the world is increasingly learning how to bypass TRumo's Faschingstein and conduct their international relations without Trump's foul breath on their necks and shoulders. Trump's nepotistic kakistocracy has already seen he and his henchmen, people like Steve Mnuchin, Wilbur Ross and Mike Pompeo grant exemptions to Trump's sanctions and tariffs when they personally benefit Trump and his family's businesses. That will all be considered when long-overdue articles of impeachment are finally submitted against Trump in the House of Representatives.

Sunlight is 340 watts minus 140 (albedo) minus "the aerosol effect," as in so2 etc. Plus, co2 will NOT absorb infrared in the position of "symmetric" dipole moments. Moreover, co2 only absorbs the infrared wavelength at 2.7, 4.3, and 15 microns. And yes, co2 is a life-giving necessity which only comprises 2/5 of 1% of the Earth's atmosphere. There's 2 and a half times more argon in the atmosphere than there is co2.

pa-f.net (performing arts forum ?? - collaborative holiday spot really - in northern france). Depressing, how so little of it all becomes tangible for those considering an approach ... offputting ...

weird how i just didn't think of the simple and straightforward solution until i had nearly reached the spot again (after my midday meal which i always always enjoy cooking from scratch) and only after stopping to pick up some crackly bleach waterside plants, hauled on shore every year and always full of ground spiders

i reached my hand in it and soon felt myster frog .. of whom i got but a brief glimpse cause he decided to try get out of my hand even before reaching the surface which had sunk down to where he'd never get out by himself even if a frog can climb up suitable size pipe. He is big but not that big, so he splashed out sight but none the worse for it.

i'm sooooo confused .. and ignorant ... about swans' nests scared the lady is gonna repiet last year's failure ... her weight slowly pushed the eggs too deep into the well soaked ground, thru the shallow nest (she's made with mere green grass) to keep them warm enough ... at least i think it was that rather than infertility .. i am disappointed and even more suprised she didn't pull a bunch of crackly yellowed stems through the goat fence she's right up against below the 2 meter steep incline to the ditch at her parcel's edge.

but god ... there's about 8 or 9 lives at stake here ...

She's overly worried about predators obviously. Dreams of foxes that haven't been sighted here for generations .... 'erfelijk belast' is what that is .... she even braves humans walking dogs on the dijk and cars, and a front door barely 10 meters away, the first one of which is a ditch ...
i got a good armful of softish well dry stems and approached her talking ..... she left the nest before i got within 10 meters .... i left the bundle at 2 meters from it and waited ... she came back within 5 minutes and spent some time preening ... 10 minutes i guess ...

i thought of rearranging ... i could try push some 'plukken' under the grass she put down ... i need to speak to an expert quick ...

guess what ... youtube took down all the pat metheny playlists or keeps them out of suggestions .... ????

the houses are in trouble here and there in holland .. for various reasons ... apart from entire old farms cracking in the north from the decades of pumping 'natural gas' (the profiters unwilling and stalling to indemnify of course, some contracted corpreyzions of course) there is the lowering of the water table (rains getting more and more infrequent) which damages a certain type of housing of which there is a lot.

V. the garagist who runs a pension in an old headless mill set about 200 yards back from the raod, east of the village about half a mile, cut the biggest tree within 20 miles a few weeks ago ... as i observed the swan a new black merc drove up and asked directions to it ... but it confused me at first ... an elderly indian man with 4 women were in it.

> The great southern ocean, reaching down to Antarctica, has absorbed up to 10% of our greenhouse gas emissions. Without that we would be much hotter already. But that ocean sink appears to be weakening. In a worst-case scenario scientists, are exploring why carbon dioxide jumped 40 parts per million in a few decades not so long ago, and whether that natural increase in warming gases could happen again.

> It appears that in Earth's latest glacial times, the planet's climate went rogue, departing from the previously predictable cycles caused by our orbit and tilt. A predictable pattern of ice ages and warmer times was broken. Earth entered much longer colder ice ages, just at the time homo sapiens was emerging on this planet. That means the planet itself has an internal climate sensitivity that is not dependent on our position relative to the sun. We need to know how that works, because humans may be triggering that kind of process, this time toward warming.

> "Do animals have Civil Rights?" An unusual and provoking question. We, the Pegasus family, have travelled more than 12.000 kilometers throughout Europe to give voice to the animals of this world. The animals ask; animal activists, lawyers, vegan chefs, sanctuary founders and business professionals had to answer. Dr. Antoine F. Goetschel (Global Animal Law), Paul Watson (Sea Shepherd), Dr. Jane Goodall, Dr. Edmund Haferbeck (PETA), Christa Blanke (Animals' Angels), Garret John LoPorto (Civil Rights activist) and many more can be heard and seen in our film. Our filming started in the small Spanish village Trigueros del Valle where, in July 2015, mayor Pedro Perez Espinosa decided to grant Civil Rights to the animals of his village. Deciding to do this quest deliberately in a naive way, we were trying to find answers for the questions of the animals. We ourselves are learning, a development that takes the audience into the journey. Instead of just indoctrinating. Our own thoughts on animals' rights are the golden thread and thus connect the off speakers and the animals. In Graz (Southern Austria) we even met two free-learning families, whose children surprised us with their own approach towards the rights of the animals. -- Oliver Ky this morn at 4am 'gaan' with it's quirky begin/end tune and a call in show on euthenasia this time, carefully orchestrated so that the christian mindset gets pitted against that of nonbelievers and prodeathpillers, both roles for older women before 2 men tell their tale .. and music did the rest (to fill the hour)... a van morrison song about death from an album called prayer i believe which i had never heard before and isn't in his usual cadence.

the most 'ontluisterende' (disquieting .. with the word for listen in there) moment (for me) came when the pro gal got the last word and subtleties were used to 'secularize' good friday wishes .. and concluded with 'daar neem ik er 1 op' [= i'll toast to that]. 'van de regen in de drup'? = from bad to worse .... No, in this case, worst, 'terug bij af' = back to lack (the triumphalizzum of being the calmer, more colllected, sensible and reaonable contestant coming to naught when the viceimpact you escape and duck from is a left arm hook [attached to a 'body'] whose right you accept said 'toast' from) .. a 'still' is een stokerij. making liquors is to 'burn' them (brandewijn an ancient russo tick one offered hardest workers as supplement to body generated dmt).

What's behind Ecuador's betrayal of Assange? Ex-Foreign Minister Guillaume Long explains
7.3K views -- Moderate Rebels -- Apr 17, 2019
Ecuador sold out WikiLeaks publisher Julian Assange, letting Britain arrest him for potential extradition to the US. Max Blumenthal and Ben Norton speak with former Foreign Minister Guillaume Long about this historic betrayal, discussing Ecuadoran President Lenin Moreno's embrace of right-wing neoliberalism, collaboration with US imperialism, and repression of Rafael Correa and the leftist opposition.

some neighbour, maybe the one who bought the house from the man who moved down the road a half mile our old house to restore an old farm with his son (he's church elder), has an office job and likes to mess with heavy paving stones around his house (at expense of all 'things' green). He ripped a lavender bush and stuffed it into the green container - which gets emptied by a truck fortnightly - along with a smaller one. first i fussed with the smaller one thinking of putting it into a bucket and found none large enough ... then i hit upon the thought of planting the big one on the grave (neighbouring another one which burgeoned well in the grave sand - with a little help from my watercan). It was pretty stuck in the bin and once out filled the whole of my wheelbarrow .. gloriously ... trudgeoned down the road with it and soon it was in the gr... ehrr ... sand .... moving the gravel, tearing the weedsuppressing cloth and digging with mom's old weirdly curved small shovel.

> yes everything is based on "'''Mo Money!" So you gotta "spend money to make money" etc. So if a person is not making money then they MUST be a parasite!! Right? I mean how could humans EXIST without money? haha. Money Money Money!!! So the idea of conservation suddenly Short-Circuits the Money Mind Control because conservation immediately inserts the idea that ENERGY is the real economy - not money. Ever since Victorian economic models in the 1840s - money is inherently based on an "infinite supply" as infinite mathematics!! So that's why MMT is so popular even in the "left."!! Just print MO Money!! No problem!! (Nomi Prins)
> .....
> So the loans were packaged up - and then people traded AGAINST their value as a derivative. So then when the hidden balloon kicked off - NO ONE was holding the ball!! The original lender had SOLD the loan - so they had no loss. The secondary buyer then bet against the value of the loan. So you had a purely speculative ZERO that was "disappeared" just as time is disappeared in a derivative. POOF. It's a nice mathematical trick - unless applied to the real world. So then the Banks took over people's houses - and sold them off to predatory interests, forcing people to now RENT - and PRESTO you are once again EXTRACTING even MORE profit from the poor people - who thought they were being "helped out" by capitalism giving easy home loan financing!!

During the past year I've done and learned so much more such as home improvements, built an adobe rocket stove, primitive weights, primitive cooking, traditional food preparation, and even had new neighbors in the form of birds. So here is a compilation of clips (some never before seen) from the first year of the hut.

i suffer [being] the dutch version of exactly this whole vibe [of yours] .. a lot milder all around ... still/again counsel you to chase as many whities of Red soil before choosing wisely for yourself, leading counts too ... but you're not much of a leader either.

i suspect my neighbour of taking a lifetime lumpsum from someone who needed to be rid of an embarrassing heir .... takes only the tiniest bit of dangerous substance spillage in the direct line to cause these people / breeds (which happen to the 'best of us .... initially reserve[r]d amongst the 'wannagetites' - closely related to the wannbenoids), duh rich and increasingly those 'kukking' to them, ... hope you're getting that i mean the only ones crazy enough to experiment with shelflife tweaks etc etc ... mechanization glorifiers and the whole shebang that makes Holland the EUropean America and Izrule even more than Britrael my lastest anecdote: the man reached over the fence a meter to break a young tree at eye height cause it's leaves were just about level with the fence, another one is on a line bending it into my yard but that's not a solution he thinks is valid anymore than he thinks my life is here. More likely is that he has no thought at all and just follows orders (ordures). No chance he has any pangs of conscience about his oldest (of 3) mentally and phizzically locked long before landing in a closed sanatorium, from where he very rarely gets to visit.

My 9y older sis was a Downie but always remained home till my mom's collapse which i am just barely living down not preventing by making my care provider move too late, too clumsy, too stuck, stymied and stifled right along with her. Graves were a comfort to me looooong before i got to visit hers. Still ... i'm sitting on a 1000 page timebomb ... care to edit it?

Russell Brand On Finding Redemption!
34K views - Russell Brand - May 13, 2019
what's at issue with Rdmptn [101] is wether the issuer provides it or not. A Dish & TakeBack cycle., your promise (formal and specific) accepted as payment .. and returning to claim the value it has attained (if timed to maturity) and/or lost [down to {s}crap] if timed out. One does the reflow reflux redemption, selfindemn, einloesung trick when if and not until you accept it as payment for exactly what the 'redeemable' thingie (bill, coupon, money, slip, treasure map, wothevU) says. But i'm sure you're gonna talk some woo out of your ass in order to neutralize the contractuality out of it, like the romans did out of jesus to jews and later jews turned back on their sterilizer with a metastatistic vengeance ps: but who am i to dispute your honorary luminary status in the land of kneejerk windmillers .. who PUMP out the water diligently BUT tend to forget they also KEEP out the vital minerals in slibs, sliks and all the slippies at the base, beneath and before arrival of postthrival abuse on a grand scale. Who's formalizing what here?

liberator vs DEliberator, capiche? Evil and wrong monetizers bank on the former and weaponize skewfaiths, the pabulum of contrition, equality and other unifying nonsense .. the other differtiates and diversifies .. pleasantly as an end in itself, not for profit.

i have a playlist called 'vids i slapatapped comments t'wards' consensus building tends to lowest common denominators (and i mean all the way down to literally rockbottom, .. from what- and however hi&lofty heights it ultimately sources); wrong decisions are costly so the 'can never run out' is kinda nonsensical ... a bit like saying 'in a perfect world nobody will commit suicide or get sick even'.

However, if the natural course of rock becoming soil is nudged, winked and helped along .. stature of rockpolishers, shapers, engravers and polishers rises along with tall and lanky treefocussed types ... THEN .. when numerative nominal emissions parallel and '[fore]shadow' that 'mineral metabolization' (the help rock catch sun&water industries) thrive .... what he says might once again apply as when 'state theory of money' author lacked no examples of and for it ... but without explicity and visuals we're unlikely to get 'back' there in this here 'downdate'state of our variously and thoroughly boobmazetrapped cultural capitals

We Are the National Multicultural Alliance 2019
38 views - Vision Maker Media -- May 16
The National Minority Consortia is dedicated to bringing unique voices and perspectives from diverse communities to all aspects of public broadcasting. For over forty years the NMC has been crucial to public broadcasting's mission and we will continue our amazing work with public media but now as the NMC Alliance. We are pleased to announce that we are now National Multicultural Alliance. We invite you to watch these program highlights.

---------- LPB presents PORVENIR, Texas. Revisit the tragic events along the Texas border between 1910â€“1920, a time of sustained racial violence in American history, culminating in the fraught and divisive issues of the border today. ---------- VMM and American Masters presents N. Scott Momaday: WORDS FROM A BEAR. The only Native American to win the Pultizer Prizeâ€”the Kiowa artist tells his unique American experience. ---------- BPM presents Decade of Fire, In the 1970s, the Bronx was on fire. Now, Bronx-born Vivian VÃ¡zquez Irizarry exposes the truth about the borough's untold history and reveals how her community chose to resist, remain, and rebuild. ---------- JADDOLAND from CAAM, explores the meaning of homeâ€”for a family from Iraqâ€”now living in the Texas panhandle through art and history. ---------- EATING UP EASTER from PIC looks at the effects of tourism on the isolated Pacific Easter Island, revealing the complexities of development and the contradictions within us all as we are faced with hard choices about our planet's future.

Freud faiting before Jung (Twice) ------
... seems like the kind of thing that would get into FW.
https://alt.psychology.jung.narkive.com/lLEaL8h9/freud-as-pissing-mannikin

From D. Bair: 'Jung', ch. 'America', pp.163-4:
...Shortly after this a mishap occurred that even before they boarded the 'George Washington' seemed destined to happen: Freud urinated in his trousers as they stood in disagreement overlooking the Hudson.
Attempting to ease Freud's embarrassment, Jung bundled him into a cab and took him back to the hotel.
He had been aware of Freud's "neurosis" since the previous autumn, when Freud wrote from London about his propensity to urinate when he found himself in a public place where there was no toilet.

The urge to relieve himself would become so severe that he could not control it.

There he is, says I, in his gloryhole, with his cruiskeen lawn and his load of papers, working for the cause.

gloryhole -- Green's dictionary (not around for Joyce) says that the ultimate definition is from glaur, to make muddy.

"lutulent" is a later-occuring word in oxen that means muddy,
"downwardtending lutulent reality" occurs in the same sentence as "citizen". But let us pass over that as perhaps uninteresting and if not, to recapture our interest at some later date.

> 10M views ------ Bull-X TV -- Sep 23, 2017
> It is with great sadness to announce the death of Dakota on the 21/09/17 at 6:30pm I was out hunting hares with Dakota, she flew after a hare and her attention was drawn to a pheasant running as the hare ran through the cover, the pheasant took flight and Dakota gave up on the pheasant and pitched up to the highest point closest to her, this high point was an electric power pole with a transformer box just below the cables. Dakota was killed instantly landing on the transformer box.

> Of particular relevance to the argument above is the underlying assumption that "deep learning" is now intimately related to an unchallenged primary preoccupation with a form of "winning" whose nature is not open to exploration. This is exemplified in strategic board games, such as chess and go, in which the objective is to determine a single "winner" (through effectively "breaking the spirit" of a "loser"). Hence the military and corporate interest in such applications as a means of "out-smarting" any opponent. The implied "depth" of the learning seemingly does not go beyond the desirability of that binary outcome.
> Bullying the other: Ironically, given the framing of the above argument, go terminology includes the term ijime -- translated as "bullying" -- referring to the freedom of sente > moves offered by playing against weak positions. In the light of the Zen pattern of distinctions, the preoccupation of "winning" in this manner -- and the freedom to "bully" an opponent -- corresponds to no more than a middle phase in the learning process. The distinctions made in that respect are Catching the "bull", prior to Taming the "bull", prior to Riding the "bull" home (with the latter caricatured by a self-satisfied Don Quixote).
> Should such board games be seen as exemplifying the vicarious pleasure from determining who can "bully" the other "better" -- in anticipation of their total "annihilation"? Is such the perversity underlying much competitive game playing?

There is no "re-cognition" of the subtler distinctions: The "bull" transcended, Both "bull" and self transcended, or Reaching the source of the "bull" -- but especially any sense of Return to society (rather than its exploitation by any "winner"). The problematic facticity of marketing "bull" is of course to be expected with respect to the latter. There is no implication that insights from deep learning will in any way contribute to reframing violent binary conflict -- as currently exemplified by Israel/Palestine, Christianity/Islam, and USA/Russia. Arguably there is no evident motivation to develop learning in this way.

The Buffalo Field Campaign (BFC) is the only group working in the field, everyday, to stop the slaughter and harassment of Yellowstone's wild buffalo. Volunteers from around the world defend buffalo on their traditional winter habitat and advocate for their protection. Our daily patrols stand with the buffalo on the ground they choose to be on, and document every move made against them. This is the only continuously wild Buffalo herd left.

The title of this post is a primary absolute. A fact that comes before all others, or controls all others by implication.
Human mental capacity is approximately 86% unconscious.
Another absolute under the primary, justifying it by creating understanding of how behaviors can lead groups to place wants before needs. We need clean air and water, but we want to do and be everything we see on tv and media.
In working to gratify our wants we are destroying what we need. Another absolute. Bad scene, "Bad behavior" is the documentary I've made about what kind of future we might have, and its implications IF we keep on using oil like we are. The video has the url's of sites I've authored to share the facts of my efforts to create a meaningful action from and with the absolutes mentioned above.

http://www.youtube.com/user/Culturamospontaneo#p/a/u/0/7G_tICDWp-U
Posted as a response on youtube to the Mike Papatonio oil spill

Those pages include significant pro se legal actions in testing the courts capacity to act discretionarily from official position, always rightful and lawful. This is about the ideal, which cannot be sacrificed, testing the reality. Heed the results

http://algoxy.com/law/
The most significant aspect is an effort to compel the municipality of Santa Barbara California to follow state health and safety code 1370.4 and work with the public to develop investigational or experimental treatment when life can be lost within 2 years. With addictions of drugs and alcohol, sometimes it can be 2 days off. The treatment is direct to the unconscious mind via a medical procedure and narco hypnosis.

We are addicted to oil and behaviors are becoming more extreme generally while the consumption of oil does not decrease. We need to change and our tool for changing, working with our unconscious mind is being denied IN VIOLATION OF LAW, and Constitutional principles.

What a crock of bigoted shit. So I asked him when exactly he witnessed this and who was involved He went all Kavanaugh. Cried that I was picking on him "ad hominem" and growled that if a guy like him "I'm a communist! I'm ivy league! the only way you can leave off being rooted and roam is to be rootING ... using that 'key' you want thrown way a whooooooole load instead .. leave rock 'hearts' opened to the seasons and pretty much behind where you found them, give or take a few minimal moves for swales or to and fro animal / human concentrations ... though this recipe is the 'solvent' of cities, they will melt into the lively mix of spaced trees and spaced minerals .... 8 story treehouses within a millenium if all goes well ..... i was in LA thinking i could get Madonna to do all this for/with me ... inspired by her 'key' song (ever saw the role of 'key' in the tzolkin btw? i know i know, throwing too much atsja all at once ... but the net is patient) ..... rocky music making all the while .. das heisst, making music with actual rocks .. 'wel te verstaan' / bien compri ... which has too little consciously remembered history, let alone practice left for things to grow forwards, lifting spirits and clay balls to circulate within wheels to grind and round off rocks to take their place and do some dust

> The psychopathy is reflected in the organizations they build.
> After I fled the town in which I had worked on a Hillary project when she commissioned wallpaper for the White House, I worked on a different art project that involved collecting material around the political-terrorism that was showing up in school art programs and the person in charge of that project was a police investigator who was curious about the increasing incidents of children being harmed in these projects.
> The feminist organization that Hillary promotes while enabling Bill's sex crimes reflects the psychopathy of narcissistic sadism and cult-tactics. I have opened a blog in memoriam of Capt Thom White, the person mentioned above, because he was killed (officially, "accidental fall") just as he was beginning to pull together the evidence and connections that could have gotten a stronger look at what they were doing in the 1990's with Hillary's art and sex-abuse money.

there's a schizophrenic mirroring and mirage goin on in this video .. we are repeatedly shown the text "non-material cultural heritage" yet the footage shows scenes with intensely tactile skill applied to everyday stuffs ... Does the chinese mindset allow the taking of 'material cultural heritage' as long as it's things the natives themselves leave in peace and don't use ... like lithium, waterpower, etcetera, in exchange for the infrastructure 'needed' (another imposition really) to loot [and pollute with] it?

> Via Cliopatria, Thomas Brown, an assistant professor of sociology at Lamar University, has posted an essay that accuses Ward Churchill of having committed fraud in his research. I know nothing about the historical issues at stake, so can't comment on the truth of the allegations â€“ however, if the accusations have merit, they transform the case from one of free speech and academic freedom, to one of whether or not Churchill has lived up to the minimal standards required of a tenured academic.
> Also, see this Timothy Burke essay which responds gracefully to my (and apparently others') criticism of his lumping Glenn Reynolds and Ward Churchill in together.

to celebrate the brandest newest wizwave and make it the grandest since volum votan began his wizpensatory dreamspellage i offer you a little pebble from a mountain every bit as momentous (in my life at least). incidentally, i saw precious little of it all ... and not much makes it onto the net, away from the commercial deadend circuitry. The copies i do have (only one little volume in colour) haven't been touched ... yet. I need to renounce my nettery, ween myself from it, find refuge in poor connectivity to actually get back to books i guess. My library dreams are as good as dead, specially the ones with heavy, though due to well behavedness, unproblematic traffic.

> Toronto artist, singer, producer Lydia Ainsworth shared another offering from her upcoming album, Darling of the Afterglow, out on March 31st via Arbutus Records/Bella Union. "Afterglow" follows the first single "The Road" and just like that song, it comes along with a visual accompaniment conceptualized by Ainsworth with her sister Abby Ainsworth. The song has sort of a baroque electronic pop feel Wiccan aesthetic.

i've become a victim of my own market distorting compensation belief / praxis ... As a type of support i buy a bag of mandarins that are obviously unsaleable but the cashier is young and pays no mind to the quality. well, i took the blow for Spar, an old time supermarket --(last remnant of duh once thriving 'middenstand' in B [not counting the upmarket baker with 9-2 4x weekly mini shop, he bakes for his daughter's 10k away townstore mostly, renting a small part of the old time baker] and cousin Piet has announced retirement which will prolly mean shopclosure)-- ... and right to the kidneys as well .. cause i cut about 4 of the about 10 orbs open and, of course, needed to shove them aside

.. cause the initially noticed 'past redemption other than via the compost heap' specimen (innit funny how dutch uses the noun version of exemplary .. so it seems ... 'exemplaar' ... but that attributive - is that the right grammatical category, venus/taurus 4 vier = four = celebrate = dick tutorial = tear a tour eye all?) actually spells 'voorbeeldig' (hmm, all of a sudden i note the potemkinist / 'silver screen/ sliver and shiver slice ... Rickelsian floors cut up knock ins and ties to gather qualities in that 'prefixed word 'voor' means 'in front of' as well as for .. before and 'in favor of').
vertrickst vertrackst fucking trainwreck of lingotec ... as per usual anyways ... that mandarin .... turned out to have at least 3 contemps in less visibly but still, similar situations ... but since they cause mold so quickly and i can't dry them like i can the peels i decided to flush them (asking for trouble) demanding that throne of the piscean age in the west, swallow one of them whole, but they now clog the toilet'. luckily i have another upstairs and can let the 'draino' [A bottle of which i found under the sink] do it's 'work' [evil deed]. .. It must have been the bottle that sweated lots a few years ago, prolly the year i had kidney pain for a long time, not realizing how nasty the stuff was .. but now .. after getting mere drops on my fingers and despite attempts to wash them off, feeling immediate effects i can at least diagnose months worth of suffering accurately .. albeit in retrospect.

> Previously Ignored Epstein Victim Comes Forward - Suzannah Troy Tells Her Story for the First Time
> 4.2K views - Jason Goodman -- 6 hours ago
> Suzannah Troy is a New York artist who had an encounter with Jeffrey Epstein years ago that haunts her to this very day. While Suzannah was able to escape the fate that befell so many other young women at the hands of the now "dead" pedophile, she witnessed the inside of this vast criminal operation in a way only few have been. Today she shares her story with us for the first time.

> Jesus OverTurning The Tables
> 288 views - Sophia Musik - Sep 4, 2019
> A revolutionary act has no natural lifespan..Would you rather see Jesus pinned to a roman instrument of torture, like a moth in a collection, or would you rather see a Jesus that is in complete command of his limbs, challenging corruption directly? Where do you find crucifixes everywhere you look? Churches. Jesus said you can find God in the stones and the fields.There is no need for a church if you seek God. Emulating Jesus is not turning the other cheek. It's taking on corruption directly and with conviction.

riddle me this, o expert on, exposer and 'impersenatorial' sicko seccy of the darker cults: what is the reason Cernunnos effigies were buried under notre dame ... and what was his connection to church corner stones? are church rockhewings = nature dusts? did cernunnos manage to transport / translate the 'churning of the milky ocean' iconograpy aaaaall the way from india and leave it's meaning unscathed ... 'leave' it's meaning into the treecrop cultures that caused a nobly easy reach tall race to steadily dust their dailies? Would you like to place a final period behind your cryptocrap and write with rock and water on living scapes henceforth instead, .. like i do? is that the core action your "corruption" will be 'pow[d]derless' against unless they abandon bad habits and join?

for years i 'hammered', in comments, on the vital need for americans to begin understanding themselves as an occupation force that is keeping the red races down and postpones their resurgences by refusing to do the right thing, remigrate .. roll back their ancestor's grueling mistake, .. cause of ongoing distopiana metastatization. i am suprised and horrified that my counsel has taken the forms of manifestation it does. The thought that said principles got abducted, transmogrified and misapplied, with hysterical counterproductivity happening cause i failed to guard'm somehow[,] tortures me ....

WHAT I LEARN THERE: paetamo = therefore sudastra [spelled gosudarstvo] = state (compare the dutch kadaster = registrar)
WHAT I TEACH THERE: fuck off with your dark curmudgeonly noergler notion of statehood and statecraft, which is, for your information (be well wary now, i'm gonna spring something totally unfamiliar and suprisingly opposite to the notion expressed here, on you), a voluntarizing art ... but i have yet to inform the first goldbug about the true nature of gold so i'm not holding my breath till you thank me for the other half of that story.
iN OTHER WORDS, why focus on 'the' state in it's terminal, corrupt, ill, decrepit 'state'? That's basically denying yourself and it a rebirth you can both live with?????

> Moon's website has held a vote as to whether to target underage children, approved that as policy and then openly carried it out, for example by targeting the 5-year old son of extreme-left academic Marian Aanerud[5][6], archiving and posting his pictures. Whilst the pictures archived were only family photos, the sinister targeting of a completely innocent child is indicative of the general behaviour and attitudes of site members.

dumbest thing i saw you make thus far .... you want half the load to be in front of the wheel (depending on handle tilt) if you want it to take the most possible work out of your hands ... but i guess it takes an old style dutchman to see that with a u shaped attachment (the bottom extending the front slant) you could achieve that lever benefit ... (we used to have those for the fluffier loads, .. feeds and such)

obvious blatant and shameful playbook loyalty here .... think yall get to keep that left / right poliarization 'spare a dime' up for another few decades ??????? ... or will a miracle happen now rather than half a millenium hence, people prefer to work with material that points the way for lefties to go local consistently (or is that euphem ... youphym miss shtick for waterrights and watertight as replacement for 'solidarity) .... and for righties to finally open borders .. but vertical ones ... gently and mechanically .. with a musical spin .. no way in hell with frackflue IDs .. in one fell swoop?
btw, if that same material can show how exactly politics is a sham .. that's a perk, rite?

> Naomi Klein's new book is reviewed by Robert Jensen
> Thanks for the note. I know that Klein is aware of all the cascading effects, but for the time being she is still trying to rally people to legislation. I understand, but wanted to suggest there are other ways to go forward, as you suggest.
> thanks Professor Jensen: Does Naomi mention "Global Dimming Effect" and the East Siberian Arctic Methane Bomb? Those two "pincers" have been dubbed the GEE McFearSun Mustache Paradox. Sorry for being glib - after 25 years of "sustainability" activism (with a master's degree and being arrested 9 times, etc.) - instead I realized we were doomed in 1996 and I did intensive training in non-western philosophy to finish my master's degree (through http://springforestqigong.com) So I know for a FACT that ghosts are real (for example). The original human culture, the San Bushmen, are STILL around and we are all from that culture (from before 70,000 BCE). Yet they did not even know that "homosexuality" existed!! (so how could they be homophobic?) Also the males did not practice masturbation - rather the whole culture was centered on the males training in trance dance fasting spiritual energy healing (N/om). So for example if a bird was killed then it was not eaten till the next day, lest the spirit of the bird tell the other birds that humans are killing the birds. We high-tech sophisticates write this off as silly nonsense unless you study relativistic quantum biology (say Professor Jack Tuszinski or the recently deceased Professor Michael Persinger).

> Jake Morphonios is a vile, sanctimonious social engineer who must be called out for his lies. He poses as a pious, righteous Christian, but he does this only to prey on the honest. His lies and deception are intended to mislead the naive. It's time to eliminate him and his associates from the social media sphere. Why did he lie and behave so aggressively when asked to evaluate the evidence presented by another Las Vegas researcher? Jake focused so heavily on Stephen Paddock, a likely patsy who may not have fired a single shot. He doxxed a 14 year old child and insisted John Cullen post a picture of his face, why would he do that? Jake has told us he's worked for the State Department in Thailand, does that mean CIA?

> Mark is from Scotland and is a professor of international political economy at Brown University in Providence, USA. He is the author of the book 'Austerity, the History of a Dangerous Idea'. http://markblyth.com/books/austerity-... Mark Blyth describes himself as a myth-buster, someone who debunks bad economic ideas. In this interview with Coen de Jong he explains how unsound economic policies drive populism in both Europe and the United States. Everywhere in the western world voters real wages haven't increased in decades. Since the financial crisis in 2008 average people have paid the bill through cuts to the welfare state while big financial institutions have been rescued by governments.

WitchHuntTheFilm -- vimeo.com/324402664
In 2015, while the far right was gaining ground around the world, socialist MP Jeremy Corbyn was elected as leader of the UK Labour Party in a landslide victory. Accusations of antisemitism within the party immediately began to circulate. Well-known anti-racists and left-wing Jews, such as Jackie Walker, were amongst the chief targets.

WitchHunt sets out to investigate the stories and the people behind the headlines, examining the nature of the accusations. Is this a witch hunt, as some claim? If so, who is behind it, and what is the political purpose of such a campaign? Has the media failed in its duty to fairness and accuracy in reporting on such serious allegations? Through a series of interviews, analysis and witness testimony, WitchHunt explores the connections between the attacks on Labour, the ongoing tragedy of Palestine and the wider struggle against race-based oppression. It argues that, if it is to mean anything at all, the fight against racism must be a shared one, that includes all peoples.

Details about Rick Griffin Human Be-In Poster, First Printing, 1967! - US$ 727.00* --- This is an original/first printing poster, promoting "A Gathering Of The Tribes For A Human Be-In". This event took place January 14, 1967 at Golden Gate Park in San Francisco, and is generally considered to be THE seminal event in the hippie movement. Who was there? ALL of the SF bands (Grateful Dead, Big Brother, Quicksilver, Jefferson Airplane & Country Joe), and several of the era's noted counterculture icons (Leary, Rubin, Ginsberg, Snyder).

This classic sixties image, "POW-WOW", is the handiwork of the late master artist Rick Griffin, and is featured in The Art Of Rock, plate 2.215. Certainly this is the poster that put Rick Griffin on the map (this was his next poster after the Psychedelic Shop /Jook Savages poster).

----------Geister werden Teil der Zukunft sein Zum VerhÃ¤ltnis von Psychoanalyse und Medientheorie
----------Ghosts Will Be Part of the FutureÂ». On the Relationship between Psychoanalysis and Media Theory

Geister werden insbesondere dann Teil der Zukunft sein, je mehr sich die Zukunft telekommunikativ aufrÃ¼sten wÃ¼rde, wie Jacques Derrida es in dem Film Ghost Dance (1983) von Ken McMullen formulierte.	Spirits will increasingly become a part of the future, as the future increasingly arms itself with telecommunication, Jacques Derrida says in the film Ghost Dance (1983) by Ken McMullen.
Ãœbertragen auf die gegenwÃ¤rtige Situation heiÃŸt das, danach zu fragen, welche Verschiebungen, VerdrÃ¤ngungen und / oder Auslassungen zu beobachten sind, wenn die psychoanalytische Theorie in der Film- und Medienwissenschaft mehr und mehr aus ihrer zentralen Position, die sie einmal eingenommen hatte, verschwindet. Sind die Begriffe der Psychoanalyse weiterhin wirksam oder haben sie sich zunehmend verschliffen? Was bedeutet die Kritik am Anthropozentrismus fÃ¼r die Stellung des â€¹unbewussten Subjektsâ€º?	Translated to the contemporary situation, this entails that we ask which displacements, repressions, and/or omissions we might be able to observe if psychoanalytic theory disappears from its once central position in film and media studies. Are the concepts of psychoanalysis still in effect or are they finished? What does the critique of anthropocentrism mean for the position of the Â«unconscious subject?Â»
Wie verÃ¤ndern sich VerstÃ¤ndnis und Begriff von SexualitÃ¤t und Begehren, wenn diese nicht mehr ausschlieÃŸlich in der Perspektive eines normativen SexualitÃ¤tsdispositivs gedacht werden? In diese Richtung zielen die Fragen, die Marie-Luise Angerer einer Reihe von Autor_innen gestellt hat, die eine psychoanalytisch orientierte Medien- und Filmwissenschaft betreiben oder fÃ¼r die medientheoretische Ãœberlegungen in der psychoanalytischen Praxis bedeutsam sind.	How have understandings and concepts of sexuality and desire transformed if they are no longer conceived from the perspective of a normative dispositif of sexuality? Marie-Luise Angerer posed such questions to a number of authors either doing a form of media and film studies orientated around psychoanalysis or for whom reflections in media theory are important in psychoanalytic practice.

> Red Gentlemen and White Savages: Indians, Federalists, and the Search for Order on the American Frontier (Jeffersonian America)
> David Andrew Nichols
> Red Gentlemen and White Savages argues that after the devastation of the American Revolutionary War, the main concern of Federalist and Indian leaders was not the transfer of land, but the restoration of social order on the frontier. Nichols focuses on the "middle ground" of Indian treaty conferences, where, in a series of encounters framed by the rituals of Native American diplomacy and the rules of Anglo-American gentility, U.S. officials and Woodland Indian civil chiefs built an uneasy alliance. The two groups of leaders learned that they shared common goals: both sought to control their "unruly young men"-disaffected white frontiersmen and Native American warriors-and both favored diplomacy, commerce, and established boundaries over military confrontation. Their alliance proved unstable. In their pursuit of peace and order along the frontier, both sets of leaders irreparably alienated their own followers. The Federalists lost power in 1800 to the agrarian expansionists of the Democratic-Republican Party, while civil chiefs lost influence to the leaders of new pan-Indian resistance movements. This shift in political power contributed to the outbreak of war between the United States, Britain, and Britain's Indian allies in 1812, and prepared the way for Indian Removal.

Sheâ€™s a polygamy expert, and weâ€™re going to talk more about some of the smaller polygamist groups, such as the Kingston group and Harmston group. Weâ€™ll also talk about the infamous Ervil LeBaron: a polygamist and an assassin. He was responsible of the deaths not only of his own brother, but other leaders such as the Apostolic United Brethrenâ€™s Rulon Allred. Weâ€™ll talk more about this infamous man, who died in a Utah prison in 1981. Check out our conversationâ€¦..

so sad you've comploetely stopped showcasing traditional culture (in the west this comes down to a privilege for the filthy rich who are content with living a museum version but not clearheaded enough to put all their money behind stuff in line with a pretox era ... which is censored and dying memory .. the dark side of that 'pricey specialism' coin), let alone defending and protecting it. Fuck your hotel 'decors' ... leave those to sterile stars of doom.

> I CONFESS THAT I have always found James Bond somewhat dull, but apparently that was the idea. Ian Fleming, author of the Bond novels, conceived his hero as a boring character, a cipher, around whom interesting things happened. Indeed, he lifted the moniker James Bond from an ornithologist of the time, for its exemplary blandness. Betraying his own preferences, theorist Laurence Rickels has titled his new study of Flemingâ€™s spy novels SPECTRE, not after Bond or Fleming but in honor of the Special Executive for Counterintelligence, Terrorism, Revenge, and Extortion, Flemingâ€™s fictional United Nations of villainy, which sought to rebalance the economic and political dynamic of the era via a strikingly contemporary business plan structured around cells of international operatives. SPECTRE is a â€œfreelance third party operationâ€? set up in the Cold War conflict between East and West time to translate the last lines of Laurence Rickels on futures contested [i'd sooner say congested] by fantasy vs SFiction before a reemphasis of what i already said (in dutch a minute ago ending thus): crypt crap my ass ... just scratch rock in ways that catch water, never mind the shape of scratch meaning ascription en- and/or decrypZion

... this is how it began before i switched to dutch [inspired by the local footbridge too i guess]:
the reeds whispered to me:

anthropocentric entitlement symptoms: loads of kids, authority [by hook & crook, 'de leugen regeert' = old dutch saying for the hegemony of lie/gamble] .. and at the 'low' end: something that 'fits'. Sigh.

i begin transcripting Rickels:

> Greenaway looked past the christian focus on surveillance in anticipation of the digital relation, to hilite instead the upsurge of archival citation of every name, form and event and medium in history, but each time as an entry removed from it's former settting upon opposition ..

HELL OF WAY TO DESCRIBE SJW CANCEL CULTURE strike thru / wipe out / censorshipping Larry!!!!!!!

differ word (comparing the reading footage with the description in the teaser vid on youtube) in caps:
Science Fiction failed to predict the digital FUTURE Science fiction failed to predict the digital relation,

> ..... but fantasy did not so much succeed in its anticipations as draw benefit from the basic resemblance of fantasying to the new relationâ€™s special effects. If the fantasy that is true is no longer the Gospel (which was Tolkienâ€™s grounding# definition) but instead digitization, then fantasy indeed verges on the dread prospect that modern philosophical ethics ever sought to contain: the deregulation of wish or will.

the next day i discover the next section is exceedingly interesting .. as if written for me .. as if to open .. to collapse the defense of a goal for me to score .. it's a 'quirlen des milchozeans' via Freud thingie.

i go check if there happens to be yet another ascii version .... god ... haven't heard or seen that word for a decade .... and there is a good chunk of the conclusion here:
https://punctumbooks.com/titles/critique-of-fantasy-vol-2-the-contest-between-b-genres/

... but it again, as i suspected, differs slightly ... -- LR can't leave his texts alone .. they churn him on ... autoerotic stuff that pen and ink huh??? -- .. from both the vid description and the publisher's page, the last lines spoken are:

> If the fantasy that is true, is no longer the gospel [Tolkien's definition] but instead digitization, then fantasy becomes the genre, quite pointlessly of fiction. The unmooring of fantasy from it's belief system occured in tandem with the revaluation of the Science Fiction genre. Once it's future orientation was history, the genre indwelled the ruins of it's faulty forecast.
> Walter Benjamin's derivation of modern allegory, from the shortfall of christianity's purchase on the future, can be seen to apply, to the consequence of SF's failure to extrapolate the ascendancy of the digital relation. SF began supplying, instead, captions of legibility for deregulated fantasy.
> As Freud stipulated via the datemark, stamping it's denied trigger in the present, fantasy is historicization waiting to happen, the mortal recoil of its flight. SF, the allegory of fantasy also lies in wait. By it's salvos of right or wrong extrapolation, it is grounded in the present tense and within the borderlands it shares with fantasy, illluminates ongoing tensions in encrypted contents. If the netherworld of supernatural afterlives is, already according to Immanuel Kant, the ultimate occasion and setting for fantaseeing and fantasee, writing on and reading crypts is Science Fiction.

tibetan 5like symbol is pronounced 'NA' the curl under a bar is also 'NA'
5 back to back is 'TSJA'
(looks like 2 circles with a t where all three touch)
5 w 2 bars, minus bottom curl is also 'TSJA' (kinda looks like capital E) something awful similar is 'TSA' a tiny flamelike addition makes it 'DZA' the 51like symbol is 'PA' the 5like thing that looks a little like a saturn symbol is 'ta' adding a 1 to it makes it 'MA' roundish thing hanging off t is 'TSA' as with the others, additions create the other vowels

there is a 'WA' but i don't know how to describe it ... 21 with a brace ??

'SHA' reminds me of a monocle
'SA' is a kinda like a mirrored capital E
'A' is a simple one
'JA' has that 1 (or wall?) again
'HARA' is also fairly simple
'LA' looks like 'JA'
'CHA' looks like 'SHA'
'SA' looking like a V w vertical right side
'HA' looks like a 5 with a dead end, retract and deviation in the curl that descends and peters out without coming back up .. perhaps it's like the 'legs' on Aldo Costa's huge gravity wheel, that shift/lift the over 200 weights to keep their load off center so the wheel wants to turn. aaahaaaaa!!!!!!!

congrats .. on the micro victory ... and that should be saying something ... since i am a vet on that front. i have advocated for micro measures publically since my first 1996 website, hosted near the end of the hollywood hilversum hasbara line, in the Hague.

Said measures began with those in/for soil / micro climates ... with obvious macro effect since there is so much room for 'immemOtation', even under 'immediacy' conditions, to which our struggle can't be reduced fast enough to my liking. The stategies are ripe and ready. a taste of them is here already.
My first teacher was John D Hamaker, found in a pile of old 'acresUSA' newspapers in a corner of the Va trailer out of which an ex mariner sent BD preps around stateswide. I added on discipline after discipline since then, his rockdust lessons a golden thread thru my life. Even manages to vastly update the parralel to economics and health John had already spotted via interpretation of iconography very ancient indeed, no longer understood by the cultures that nevertheless cling to solemn totem totery.

> EXPOSING Online Death Cult Leaders; Dave Sweigert, Thomas Schoenberger and Daniel Cromer - 563 views -- Marcus Conte > 7K subscribers --- Dave Sweigert, Thomas Schoenberger and Daniel Cromer are YouTubers known for developing trauma based video content to torment targeted individuals like Justin Hess who shot his 61-year-old mother, and Anthony Comello who murdered Frankie Cali the boss of the Gambino crime family. All three YouTubers are puppet masters of an online death cult. They recruit online followers that are groomed to carry out gruesome murders.

i don't remember what exactly Dave told Woolee but i myself wrote him comments, correctio .. i mean core actionable ones .... since then i was able to take Dave as lightly as George himself seems to do .... Conti however, insists on misunderstanding stand up satire, or even willfully misinterpreting it perhaps, as a stokeypokey death cult. I think that's fully in line with slandering people who try to cheer, distract and amicably instruct someone in clear danger of acting on a morose disposition as the complete opposite.

europe has only yesterday decided to begin a 'track and phase out' process (determining which uses are 'essential' and irreplacable) for the pefas substances (4700 toxic chemicals) ... 5 generations after beginning to use them on a grand and rapidly globalizing scale.

Focal points of bruntbearers like Sweden, known for indulgence in tec, more than for wariness of toxtec .. and we have let all tec go tox, let's be honest .... have hell on earth unceasing cause STILL in denial about said affairs as direct causes for the worries and travails this docu traces, ... and that goes for just about all sjw ultra leftlib tranwreck tribalution hotspots. Take Toronto. More than a few docus show that the age old maffia method of escaping tox earmarks via dilution :::: [tried and 'true' once upon a time .... but with 'hazardacity' of waste achieving lifespans ... i mean deathspans {{{lifespan prevention and bypass properties so undead, unburiable and unmournable that they creep towards those of their siblings, duh nuclear varieties}}}] :::: made the problems worse!!!
Slib and sludge took a trip to the country and ended up back on the plates of the people that dished it out but couldn't take it, i mean recycle it. Well, ... take it back they did, and to prevent that they'd now turn the clock back if they could ... cause to see their descendants suffer probs unlodgeables from their very vitals, is ... well ... see for yourself ...

> Itâ€™s round two with the Seed Sistas. Britainâ€™s most irreverent herbalists. Overthrowing the colonialism that has turned herbalism from something we all used to do, into a profession where youâ€™d think you need a PhD just to touch a plant!
> they discuss: why plant medicine is for the people. how they got threatened with jail time for selling a herbal balm. why educating people in self-care and herbal rebellion is a revolutionary act. Always a laugh, never tame and with firecracker energy that makes the Y2K firework display look positively drab.
> Seed Savvy /twitter.com/Seed_SistAs The Seed SistAs combine our passion for medicine, plants and creativity putting herbal medicine back where it belongs: in your hands.

hippies trigger your projection gland big time bro .... go take a look at the lorax account [or go down my fav'rites list] and take it easy realizing that you failed big time ....a until you learn to take it hard ... unfortunately the world seems hellbent on granting me the monopoly on that one and i don't know how to prevent abuse of the hardest core knacks so'll i've stopped giving the crucial bits away no matter how much fun i had weaving them into metaphors on completely 'different' subjects ... stopped seeking help for and/or with it. Root of all evil: rainbow family banking abuse is out of my league.

> Description
> Bernard Lietaer calls for three paradigm shifts - With specific actions by individuals and leaders > With unsuitable means we half-heartedly try to repair the complicated clockwork of our world. This gets us nowhere. It won't get us out of the crisis, because it will not result in a sustainable world. The time has come to lead ourselves and our world through "three paradigm shifts". This is what Bernard Lietaer demands in this book, which he dictated on his deathbed.
> First: Recognize and adhere to the law of sustainability.
> Second: Balance matrifocal and patrifocal values
> Third: Make personal information personal again.

Erik Buell connection to Barton and the 4 cylinder 2 stroke engines, as Erik Buell built the 4 cylinder engines after he bought the rights to the motor from Mr Hart.

> Brings back memories of my beloved North Wales where the Suzuki RG500 was born through the hands of Barry Hart of Barton Engineering Caernarfon who designed the square four cylinder motor in a chappel for a workshop, Suzuki stole Barry's design and were sued for copyright theft, the case was settled out of court, but all this led to Barry being financialy smashed and Barton ceased trading in Caernarfon, Eric Buell from America bought the engineering equipment and formed Buell motorcycles hence Buells in the pics,
> > There where two engines designed by Barry Hart and Graham Dyson of Barton Engineering, a 500cc three cylinder which was a 380 Suzuki bottom half with crank, gears heads and barrels designed by Barry Hart, The other was a Pheonix 500cc Square four that I think Rollason used, I don't know if he used the 3cyl maybe Ra chelcan answer that, I am not sure how many square fours they produced but they were all different in specs, development ideas i suppose, the Sparton solo bike was a Sponden framed Barton four engine marrige.

> The So-Called Prophet from Pittsburgh is Gabriel of Urantia, a self-proclaimed holy man who currently presides over a spiritual community (some call it a cult) in the desert of Southern Arizona. In a fenced-in compound, three generations of spiritual seekers soak in Gabriel's teachings as they wait for the end of the world.

Join investigative journalist Joseph L. Flatley as he travels around the country, speaking to Gabriel's ex-followers, cult experts, and people who knew him before he was a so-called prophet. You'll learn why people join a group like this, why they stay as long as they do, and the challenges they face when they decide to leave. And you'll hear some groovy music in the process.

> The dynamics of Nietzsche's 'slave revolt in morality' is not seen in the French Revolution or the decapitation of Charles I (wherein rejection or schisms within religious belief allow for the execution of those with 'Divine Rule') - it's seen in MLK and Ghandi. There the battle is entirely won on optics, via pacifism - but only because the entire argument of the aggressor was that their intervention was an issue of being a civilizing influence. In fact, Colonialism was a vastly outnumbered force dominating through their perception and pre-existing dominance hierarchies within those regions - it was a grand confidence scam.
> Ginsberg is interesting in terms of a true 'slave revolt' because here he directly makes the point about the hippies that they are the meek, the soft-natured, the pacifist - and plans to dominate and sway the wills of his opponents through 'moral argument' and optics again.
> The mistake is the one Nietszche makes, that the Elite live by the rules they instill - they do not.

> Nobody could look at Constantine or Justinian or the Borgias and say they were examples of 'slave morality' - yet they were the heads of the Church - as was Charles I. If anything, Colonialism was identical to the 'slave revolt' of Christianity in that it kept the lower strata in place by means of indoctrinating 'morality' rather than applying force (though guns, armour and horses helped in the New World).
> Even if we look at the Conquistadors, they were vastly outnumbered - their chief ally was the diseases they carried - or rather, the true enemy of the Native Americans was transatlantic passage.

"soft-natured" hippies .. yes, but what about the one on a million grippies among them ... softening nature where it matters ... where it is hard and the risk of falling deep, cause ... steep ... slowing water, meanderhelpmeet man ... is a little like setting traps, but the most charming and unhurtful type possible. It's the 'permiequence' that follows on sharing the bird's eye view that founder of organic ag in the US is credited with: a soil is but a mountain on it's way to the ocean floor. it's from 'landback[now]' hippies to the long since snowed under pacific and gentle portion of zionists [much abused as advertisement and startjumpers - then betrayed and overrun by bullies and much much worse - and the like, this heartsong / sentiment 'springs' eternal even in cities], even when they are poisoned to their very vitals by their own toxslib returning to their plates and guts, via the old dilution trick practicing maffia who managed to 'upgrade' it to cheap compost for the profit over all 'pricefighter* farmer who carts the hidden curses right back into town (who said the maffia don't have lofty goals eh?), or actually statesponsored back to the land thingies like the kindomain / familiensitz 'vedics' in russia, as wary of toxicity and toxic cities as all should be well, ... it does lack a comma, after 'like' ... 'soil is' should be .. soil. This IS

* = to me at least, it's obvious that a harmonization between prizefighter and pricefighter will do wonders and that prising minerals from stone AXSHULIE upgrades soil is the sweet spot between those extremes - it goes without saying for those who grasped the meaing of my quotes half of this comment ago .....

> This episode of the Green Flame is an interview with Kim Hill, a permaculture design teacher based on the South East coast of New South Wales, and Joanna Pinkiewicz, a women's rights activist and environmental activist, based in Tasmania. We discuss the Australian bush fires, land defense, grief rituals, and how corporations and developers with backing from the government want to open up fire-damaged land to development and mining. i'm not readin this cause i think a bet that nothing much has changed *(in my favor)*since enthusiastically and confusingly posting faultily and haltingly [haperende] phrased comments under articles like this (in the noughties, using 3 languages and a multiple amount of sites) is perfectly safe ..... and seeing rhetoric / outlooks stuck on repeat [always feigning suprise at 'incidents', aborting a sound reaction] at the other end of that generation and the next one is even more insulatory navel-straw 'claspage' and 'disrootery'. Newspeak socializzum is pronouncially correct i guess, go figure ... they won't understand my 'gritclock', much less defend it. Lost appetite to engage / 'repiet'. But don't want my efforts to be lost either, much less written off.
That's my main motivation for preparing a net and at least chronologically somewhat easy to search version for archive.org as a node to seed it around. i proved to myself my intuitions are top of the line and can prove it to you if you can handle it. throw it in your search pool ... you know ... the good nose thing ... and see if any of it comes up fragrant .. can't wait to make a wordlist of it all and showcase all the neolojizzumz ...

> Mark Shaw : The Reporter Who Knew Too Much: The Mysterious Death of What's My Line TV Star and Media
> 754 views -- Jan 21, 2020 = Ed Opperman - 13.1K subscribers
> Was What's My Line TV Star, media icon, and crack investigative reporter and journalist Dorothy Kilgallen murdered for writing a tell-all book about the JFK assassination? If so, is the main suspect in her death still at large?
> These questions and more are answered in former CNN, ESPN, and USA Today legal analyst Mark Shaw's 25th book, The Reporter Who Knew Too Much. Through discovery of never-before-seen videotaped eyewitness interviews with those closest to Kilgallen and secret government documents, Shaw unfolds a "whodunit" murder mystery featuring suspects including Frank Sinatra, J. Edgar Hoover, Mafia Don Carlos Marcello and a "Mystery Man" who may have silenced Kilgallen. All while by presenting through Kilgallen's eyes the most compelling evidence about the JFK assassinations since the House Select Committee on Assassination's investigation in the 1970s.

Called by the New York Post, "the most powerful female voice in America," and by acclaimed author Mark Lane the "the only serious journalist in America who was concerned with who killed John Kennedy and getting all of the facts about the assassination," Kilgallen's official cause of death reported as an overdose of barbiturates combined with alcohol, has always been suspect since no investigation occurred despite the death scene having been staged. Shaw proves Kilgallen, a remarkable woman who broke the "glass ceiling" before the term became fashionable, was denied the justice she deserved, that is until now.

4.2K views --- Sep 27, 2018 - Centre International de Rencontres MathÃ©matiques - 12.5K subscribers
Abstract: We will present work in progress, joint with Hexi Ye, towards a conjecture of Bogomolov, Fu, and Tschinkel asserting uniform bounds for common torsion points of nonisomorphic elliptic curves. We introduce a general approach towards uniform unlikely intersection bounds based on an adelic height pairing, and discuss the utilization of this approach for uniform bounds on common preperiodic points of dynamical systems, including torsion points of elliptic curves.

Now - The Invisible Committee - AudioZine

"Now (2017) is the phantom chapter to the Invisible Committee's previous book, To Our Friends: a new critique from the anonymous collective that establishes their opposition to the world of capital and its law of labor, addresses current anti-terrorist rhetoric and the ferocious repression that comes with it, and clarifies the end of social democracy and the growing rumors of the need for a coming "civil war."Now emerges at a time when the Invisible Committee's contestation has found echoes throughout the West, with a collapse of trust in the police, an inept weariness on the part of the political system, a growing urgency for opposition, a return of the theme of the Commune, a vanishing distinction between radicals and citizens, and a widespread refusal on the part of the citizen to be governed. As farcical political elections continue to unfold worldwide like a line of tumbling dominoes, and governments increasingly struggle to reclaim a legitimacy that has already slipped out of their grasp, Now clarifies the Invisible Committee's attitude toward all such elections and their outcome: one of utter indifference.Now proposes a "destituent process" that charts out a different path to be taken, a path of outright refusal that simply ignores elections altogether. It is a path that calls for taking over the world and not taking power, for exploring new forms of life and not a new constitution, and for desertion and silence as alternatives to proclamations and crashes. It is also a call for an unprecedented communism-a communism stronger than nation and country."

> The Shift 11: The Black Agenda Report with Danny Haiphong -- 294 views -- Sep 10, 2017 -- The Shift -- 1.01K subscribers -- Join host Doug McKenty as he discusses systemic racism in the wake of Charlottesville with Black Agenda Report journalist Danny Haiphong. The conversation ranges from corporate corruption and modern colonialism to the diversion that white nationalism creates to take attention away from the real underlying causes of racial and class based oppression. Once again The Shift closes the gaps within the left/right paradigm and shows the kernel of truth expressed in every point of view. If you want to find out more about Danny Haiphong, check out www.blackagendareport.com and as always, find out more about making The Shift at www.theshiftnow.com.

in my 'chronotes' ... a file with content blurbed by the file, half of which i managed to stick to minimal names for, like 03a, 03b ... to the tune of 8Mb for the JA material ... and 5 more folders, some including ZioSem files, others 'letters to Tx' (3 parts), ... not all of which that phat, only a couple for dutch and german each ... oh .. but you already know most of that.

i should not let myself drop in the large gaping hole of rearrangement to impose chronological order .... repiet 1000x

piet visited on his bicycle from Sliedrecht just now, where he lives (one grandchild, wife in a pharmacy .. so i told him not to bug her with my parmaffia phacts)
he went to canada to stay with relatives in his early teens and upon coming back wrote to request sponsorship for more permanent move ... to this family with over 10, he himself one of 5 bros, all of which visit demented momma in turn, but they decline his offer to emigrate. He's a very understanding man with grey hair and remarkably small feet (even smaller than mine)

> Space Monkey: Thanks, Zer0 Books! For keeping the language of resistance and revolution alive.
> Nicola Knight: It's a silly association but now I have the song "Calling To The Night" from MGS: Portable Ops running through my mind. Everything is video games I guess.
> jibdee: Great stream. Whether he knows it or not, Jason finds himself allies with a lot of the avant garde right wing theorists that are out there at the moment (which isn't a bad thing!)
> martin rach: this was good, for a night person > Hayao Kakizaki: Thanks for addressing the mixing!
> Oscar Hokeah: Love your channel. Have you thought of doing a Baudrillard critique of Tommy Orange's literary novel, There There? It has a lot of simulacra symbols throughout the novel. The copy of the copy then becomes applied to Native identity. A Baudrillard critique could unpack a lot in the novel.

zero books with a rounded, calm and deep rut turned shiny hiway between metropoli usin leftie (big artaud fan and of unnamable, slippery shadows, ... scorner of succesful revolt prizes .. that's what he calls open) and all other groupings lose the content of their message, their crystallization points which then calls strut strap, stellation stut and stage satrap onto the plan to fake due to loss of makin it ... "reduces ..... "
well yeah bud ... for those who are too lazy myopic and shortcircuited to leave their metropolitan perch and ground, let alone reground. forget preground altogether. Yet they know all about the inside seeding outside and outside convoluping the inside ... as long as we they get to keep it in and as needed, dole it out of, dish it up from ... their precious noggins transcript turned off? that stops me from finding the spot to find ot what exactly he, scorner of succesful revolt prizes, adds to "reduce their ... " .. message / content? Who says dumbing down dissolves, deadens and dissolutes by definition? a dutchman who stockholms the hell out of duh seeding ground for worldwide diabolistic dastardry??? i for one say, grounding well is post grind reduction optimizing .. can you help well and swell my rock?

is helping anybody with theirs reasonable?

wow, lucky guess .... 50 minute mark
"exponentially dilute your message"

well yeah bud ... for those who are too lazy myopic and shortcircuited to leave their metropolitan perch and ground, let alone reground and forget preground altogether. Yet they know all about the inside seeding outside and outside convoluping the inside ... as long as we they get to keep it in and as needed, dole it out of, dish it up from ... their precious noggins is 'message dilution' akin to muted and mutated emotifs?

can motivators in the structural mother of all root [pre]sense' be mangled and maimed, choked down 'wellÂ´ before up can come up? ven vilval vulcoinedge ever ...? Well, .. nazis were precisely NOT pure german but the admixture of grounding loss .. betrayal, etcetera the stellation artseecartfee that calls artificial enforcement tricks onto the plan to fake it ????

the 'open' ones (opiners / openers????) love a"riot and such inflammations [he actually uses the word "fever" and not gruesome but the verb for "growsome", opposes it all to 'cultic secrets keepers. So how pray tell do they paradaxocally degrade and 'reduce' into desert dust .. lose the content of their "message", lose their crystallization points and structural integrity which then calls strut strap, stellation stut and stage satrap onto the plan to fake due to loss of makin it ... rather than reduce desert dust in composting water protection "cults"??????].

i fail to hear and am afraid you fail to feel/see the positive sense of reduction

"you reduce it, in order for it to encompass more people"
The previous [49th] minute, this all begins with a 'system' discussion vs 'provisional' [malleable / dark] reason [sounds like a sniffer dog for treason to me, alcohol users for example maybe?]

so mohaghegh [muakek, big artaud fan .. and of unnamable, slippery shadows, wooooo spoookkey, prolly a CIA man] claims a sectarian avantguard w open membership has innards falling out and instead of reaching stated goals like prison planet escape, jail everything they touch EdDutton would argue the reverse: aliens thronging to get in on 'open sharables' ... punroara boxes .. which in turn poof out of existence as soon as they touch them also!!!!!!!!!!!!

me and the darkie behind my mirror are one

if you wanna review or publish my 3000 pages worth of surf note disguised truth [hitting the reduction theme again and again, cause that's a hobby i grafted onto my deadserious rockdust & rockroll evangelarium, be my guest]: .. link omitted

playin a mere few secs of the vid fails to trigger the transcript software ... but after my lucky slide it's on .... woops, nope ... wrong window

> Visiting Scholar at Institute for Gender, Sexuality and Feminist Studies at McGill University, Heather Davis answered questions regarding her opening keynote titled "Decolonizing the Anthropocene" at Ruderal Ecologies: Grounds for Change at The Sanctuary for Independent Media in Troy NY on April 13th, 2018.

> Heather Davis is an itinerant researcher and writer. Her current book project, "Plastic: The Afterlife of Oil," traces the ethology of plastic and its links to petrocapitalism. She is the editor of Art in the Anthropocene: Encounters Among Aesthetics, Politics, Environments and Epistemologies (Open Humanities Press, 2015) and Desire Change: Contemporary Feminist Art in Canada (MAWA and McGill Queen's UP, 2017).

SONIC ACTS ACADEMY
Heather Davis: The Queer Futurity of Plastic
28 February 2016 - De Brakke Grond, Amsterdam, the Netherlands

> Plastic is often thought of as a malleable material; its metaphorical connotation, plasticity, implies movement and shape shifting. However, plastic is actually one of the most durable compounds on earth and its presence is reshaping the ecosystems that it proliferates within. For many animals, chemical plasticisers â€“ most infamously Bisphenol A (or BPA) â€“ mimic natural hormones, rendering us less and less fertile. Plastic is also becoming the anthropogenic substrate of a whole new ecology of viruses and bacteria, termed the plastisphere. Plastic, and its associated plasticisers, are among the many anthropogenic compounds that are heralding-in an increasingly infertile future, or a future filled with strange new life forms. While this forecast is certainly horrific, what might queer theory, disability studies, and theoretical approaches to the notion of toxicity teach us? In other words, if instead of running from these toxic and infertile futures, as Mel Chen, Claire Colebrook and others suggest, what might we learn if we began to embrace the nonfilial progeny that plastic, and the plastisphere, might produce?

Hell is Other People? Modern Misanthropy
Sunday 19 October, 16.00 until 17.15, Cinema 2, Barbican Me, Me, Me Politics

> Just what is it about other people that makes us so angry? We seem to hear endlessly about road rage, online video rants, twitch-hunts and Twitter storms. There seems no end to the people that get up our noses - we hate our noisy neighbours, the â€˜1%', bankers, corporate exploiters, benefit scroungers, migrants, greens, feminists, men, foreign people, old people, young people, Gwyneth Paltrow. We seem to hate other people, full stop. The sheer number of people on the planet is viewed as one of the biggest threats to the future. Is Hell really being locked in a room with other people? Forever? With no way out?

For the French existentialist philosopher Jean-Paul Sartre, the struggle to be yourself was always tied up with the fact that while you may be clear just how special and unique you are (and you are), other people don't view you in quite the same way. Other people look on you as some-thing among other things â€“ often more as an object than a fellow subject. Has it got harder to see past the surface appearances to the real you? Have we become more easily typecast as just this, or that? Is it harder for the individual to stand out from the crowd and be seen as a person with a name, not just a number? Or in the absence of any sense of Heaven, has brotherly love been replaced with misanthropy? Is the problem that what we really can't stand (but can never admit) is ourselves?

extraction is the 'base' of capitalism. To schlepp something from abundance, surplus / low value to where it is rare (even unknown) lifts the value .. from the transport .. but this extraction is equal to theft cause it doesn't look at the process that informs ['intracts' / interacts] the original abundance but empties it and is therefore finite and crisis bound, in one word, theft. Marx is like Mcluhan that way, declaring figure as ground from which to raise, move and speculate value as ground faking and fucking figures up n away ad finitum.
'Plextractivizzum would be 'inplaceness' praxis andfactor. Everything best left inviolate or at least until you are sure replenishment mechanizzumz are 'in place'. Dutch windmills keep the water out but also the fructifying sediments, disastrously in the long haul. Perhaps 'transtraction' is a concept to fill in, up, out and .. full[fil].

> "Seely challenges the culturally-approved story that civilization is an inexorable march of progress, suggesting that in our quest to dominate the world, we have degraded and dehumanized ourselves and lost the ability to live authentically in the moment; in our attempt to enslave the planet, we have ended up enslaving ourselves to the infernal "machine" that we have created. But there is hope. Seely quotes a Turkish proverb: 'No matter how far you have traveled down the wrong path, go back.' The task is twofold, he says: we need to disconnect from the artificial world of our own creation and reconnect with the authentic community of life of which we have never ceased to be a part. Civilization Heresies is an engaging mix of personal anecdote, eloquent nature writing and philosophical reflection." ~ Richard Schiffman, What the Dust Doesn't Know

> On November 12 through 14, Eugene Lang College The New School for Liberal Arts hosted an international conference titled, "The Internet as Playground and Factory ," which explored the meaning and changing face of labor in the digital era. The event sought to advance the conversation about digital media beyond technological advances and commercial applications to touch upon vital issues facing the future of Internet users. For three days, 90 theorists, artists, legal scholars, activists, students, programmers, historians, and social media experts joined to re-evaluate what constitutes unpaid labor, value, leisure, play, fun, and exploitation in an economy that is increasingly driven by the expropriation of all our blogging, data entries in online profiles, and submitted photos and videos. The conference was comprised of discussions, panels, presentations, a film screening, a playroom, a conference game, and a re-enactment of Facebook by a performance artist. To view the full conference agenda and list of participants, please visit http://www.digitallabor.org . Video interviews with participants are available at http://vimeo.com/user2103510/videos . 22. Four Conclusions of Smythe " To summarize: the mass media institutions in monopoly capitalism developed the equipment, workers and organization to produce audiences for the purposes of the system between about 1875 and 1950. The prime purpose of the mass media complex is to produce people in audiences who work at learning the theory and practice of consumership for civilian goods and who support (with taxes and votes) the military demand management system. The second principal purpose is to produce audiences whose theory and practice confirms the ideology of monopoly capitalism (possessive individualism in an authoritarian political system). The third principal purpose is to produce public opinion supportive of the strategic and tactical policies of the stateâ€¦. Necessarily in the monopoly capitalist system, the fourth purpose of the mass media complex is to operate itself so profitably as to ensure unrivalled respect of its economic importance in the system. It has been quite successful in achieving all four purposes" [Smythe then goes on to elaborate three types of alienation and advocates "that the theory of work needs reconsideration"] (20).

Dallas Smythe, "Communications: The Blindspot of Western Marxism," Canadian Journal of Political and Social Theory 1, no. 3 (Fall 1977): 1-27

Blindspots and Blurred Lines: Dallas Smythe, the Audience Commodity, and the Transformation of Labor in the Digital Age -- in Sociology Compass 10*(9)*:747-755 - September 2016 -- 94 Reads --- DOI: 10.1111/soc4.12387
Brian Dolber ----- Abstract:
Dallas Smythe's notion of the audience commodity provides a starting point for much work within the political economy of communication. First advanced when commercial television was the dominant medium, the controversial idea has proven to be an increasingly useful way of conceptualizing media economics in the digital age. Originally posited as a critique of Western Marxism's concern with ideology over materiality, two generations of media scholars have elaborated upon the idea. First, scholars offered it greater specificity and utility by connecting the political economy of media to more general concerns regarding labor, gender, and race. More recently, the audience commodity has become an increasingly useful theoretical tool, demonstrating how digital technologies enable new forms of economic exploitation. Rather than binding media studies to a rigid structuralism, the audience commodity helps illuminate the fluidity of media economies and culture under neoliberalism. I conclude that scholars may productively utilize and expand upon the audience commodity to answer contemporary questions about media and alienation, the state, and social movements.

Media, Culture & Society
Micky Lee -- April 19, 2011
https://doi.org/10.1177/0163443710394902
This article renews Dallas Smythe's 'blindspot' argument by examining the economy of Google advertising. I argue that Google sells at least three types of commodities: keywords, statistics of keywords, and search results. Through a vertically integrated system, Google sells to advertisers commodities that have no exchange value outside the Google ads system. Moreover, Google creates an ideology that the world's information is at the users' fingertips, which encourages users to search more, and hence view more advertisements.

Dallas_Walker_Smythe
Dallas Walker Smythe (March 9, 1907 - September 6, 1992) was a political activist and researcher who contributed to a political economy of communications.He believed that research should be used to develop knowledge that could be applied to policies in support of public interest and the disenfranchised in the face of private capital.

267 audience commodity in a digital age - chapter 14
Dallas Smythe Reloaded: Critical Media and Communication Studies Today --- Christian Fuchs --- University of Westminster ----- Conclusion:
I have stressed in this chapter that Dallas Smythe's works are helpful in at least three ways today: Smythe reminds us of the importance of Marxism and Marx for critically studying media and communication in capitalism. Smythe stressed the distinction between administration and critical research that is a crucial line of struggle in the time of neoliberalism and the new capitalist crisis. Smythe's audience commodity concept informs what is called the digital labour debate.

Fracking | Not What It's Cracked Up to Be
In "A Dark Horizon" - Chapter 9 of the Boomtown podcastâ€”investigative journalist Bethany McLean describes the financial wizardry of fracking.

https://playlist.megaphone.fm/?p=END4821771759
In a rugged corner of West Texas, billionaire wildcatters and roughnecks are fueling an oil boom so big it's reshaping our climate, our economy, and our geopolitics.

This modern-day gold rush has sent both big oil companies and scrappy start-ups scrambling to secure a piece of the action. Texas Monthly's Christian Wallace follows characters along every rung of the oil field ladder, from the executive cutting billion-dollar deals to the itinerant pipeline worker risking life and limb, and from the traveling exotic dancer following the trail of money to those who worry that our planet is on a path to destruction. Meet the people cashing in and those just trying to get by as the world around them is turned upside down.

Boomtown is a 10-part podcast series, with new episodes publishing every Tuesday starting December 10, 2019.

The WetÊ¼suwetÊ¼en First Nation is a First Nations Band located outside of the village of Burns Lake, British Columbia, Canada.
They were formerly knowm as the Broman Lake Indian Band and is still usually referred to as Broman Lake, although, this is no longer its official name. Their members speak the WetÊ¼suwetÊ¼en dialect of Babine-WitsuwitÊ¼en, a Northern Athabaskan language.

The UnistÊ¼otÊ¼en Clan has held a checkpoint, since 2010, the UnistÊ¼otÊ¼en Camp, which has been stopping all pipeline crews from entering the area, since "they do not have permission from the Office of the Hereditary Chiefs of the WetÊ¼suwetÊ¼en", who are represented by their spokesperson, Freda Huson.

Starting in 2019, RCMP units were deployed to evict certain Wet'suwet'en People "from their territory" in order to construct the Coastal GasLink Pipeline, due, to decisions allowing development by the independent Canadian judiciary.

Numerous allegations of "human rights violations", suppression of journalism and "genocide" have been levelled against TC Energy, John Horgan and Justin Trudeau by independent news outlets, First Nations groups and the United Nations.

Under International and British law at the time of colonization., unless Indigenous Peoples were "conquered", or, treaties were made with them, the Indigenous interest in their land was to be respected by the law of the European colonizing nation.
The British Crown never "conquered", or, made a treaty with the Wet'suwet'en People.

flabby hoffman: but let me --21:48 -- ask you something about the big picture and this is just me as an outsider I am NOT you know truly well-informed but it just seems to me that we really and this is just right at the the heart the nitty-gritty of the matter is that how would we be allowed to give up fossil fuels at a juncture where the military is so desperately addicted to them in order to be able to power the war machines aren't we going to have to and you know this goes back I think goes back all the way to Eisenhower when he warned us about the military industrial complex we created a society in large parts to sustain the military and their ability to be able to build effective tanks and air and warplanes and fuel them and I think that our society has been created in large part to have private ownership of automobiles and our paying for those automobiles and the gasoline to fuel them enables the military to be able to have their weaponry and without that industry paying for it the military can never put an ever afford to be able to put a drop of gas into a tank it would cost trillions just to find I mean if you were just building a tank from scratch with no auto industry no private ownership so isn't part of our addiction to fossil fuels at this juncture because they can't build an engine strong enough an electrical engine strong enough to -- 23:33 -- effectively power and ones Abrams tank??????????????

> Occupy Wall Street began on September 17, 2011 at noon in New York City. Transiting Uranus was square Pluto within two degrees, having formed an almost exact square in July. This square encompasses the Venus-Jupiter conjunction in the United States chart. Venus and Jupiter, called benefics by the ancients, are the planets that signify wealth, abundance, and well being. This same planetary configuration also signifies extravagance. Malfeasance by the banking industry as well as overspending by the government and households worked to create the current financial crisis. The causes of the crisis are too many to enumerate here. Those interested may want to read All the Devils Are Here by Bethany McLean and Joe Nocera.

you are pretty much the exception in these here comments. Wray's method is obviously counterproductive. HIs mistake is to emphasize the state too much. in the mid eighties i used 'parables' such as how money began as a treasure map / promise with a 'claim by date' which the emitters used to pay with and had to accept back in exchange delivering whatever nomination specified, making themselves repute securing redeemers. Money was of course as diverse as production itself, at least at the bottom ... problems arise from bundling tricks. Have you ever listened to Bethany McLean????

These are some images from the Hermit Hut in the winter wonderland - it's buried in the snow. I have lots of ventilation holes in the Double Wattle walls - and in the front door - but since the clay slip hay insulation is 6 to 8 inches thick in the 12 foot walls - then the structure absorbs and radiates thermal heat.

Cosmo Philosophy ---------- 6 years ago
John Whitman Ray was a notorious fraudster and quack. He was also a cult leader who had 12 wives and over sixty children at one time. Then one day, he left all of them to fend for himself while he pursued an affair with yet another woman in Hawaii. He never returned to the enormous family he had in a polygamous cult and those women and children had to find their way into other polygamous families. This man was not a scientist or an accredited physician. He was a complete fraud.

Thanks Troy, I hope it's okay to use your real name to add credibility; I think you'll recognize me, and I'm at the point I'm "going public" after having to stay below the radar for a number of reasons.

I had Ray as a geometry teacher in Salt Lake in the Granite School District in the 1960's. He was a quack and a very poor teacher, something I realized when I eventually earned a BA and teaching certificate of my own. I was a National Merit finalist with a 1400 SAT score, and I suffered having him as a teacher in the accelerated math program for gifted students. I'm in touch with a number of classmates who feel similarly. There were rumors of his polygamy back then, and all of his "degrees" and honorariums are phony and/or from "diploma mills."

Just a few examples of what passed for education in Ray's classes: We were "treated" to a claim about flying saucers and how individuals who'd reported UFO's were "persecuted"; there was another gonzo at the same school who was a big fan of "Bigfoot," and he and Ray were given free reign to "poison young minds." I was looking for a "Math Fair" project and read a Scientific American article on "trisecting an angle" using a compass and straight edge and how it had been proven to be impossible. Ray gave me a Popular Mechanics article that "showed" how it could be done. Of course I've never seen it anywhere else, and the claim is dubious.

Seeing him again after all these years is still freaky. For those doubting these claims, I recommend a Google search including Rulon Allred (a notorious polygamist leader here in the 1970's who was murdered by members of a rival cult).

> Those of you who are familiar with my story will remember John Ray, the presiding apostle in the small polygamous community known as Pinesdale, Montana. Ray was a young favorite of Rulon Allred in the early 1970's. Ray was by far Allred's youngest apostle, and possibly the most radical. I first met him in 1973 when he was 38 years old. I've never known anyone in my life more charismatic than Ray. He converted my parents to Mormon Fundamentalism, then took them to his Montana community. He was one of the few high ranking priesthood members who actively pursued converts; and he found them in abundance in Utah. Several of his converts would become his wives. When I knew him he had 12 wives and about 65 children, including step-children. His was known to persuade LDS women to leave their husbands to join his harem.

about his confrontation with the other huge harem head honcho* will explain the billiard effect catapulting him away from his own ... he feared for his life a long time he claims ... and sure ... the point holding your described was horrific and wrong .. but i know and acknowledge has learned since then to prepare for the miracle he was no doubt also planning and anticipating at his first trial and effort overshoots. This can perhaps be ascribed to overeagerness, ironically the effect of enthusiam in general parliance .. but john put exactly that emotion at the end after all else be perfect, a top off capstone, not so much a desert as a valve, the point of achieving focus, a turning point after excavating and cleansing negative emotions and memories good enough to forgive and forget, to better deal with life at hand ... something to prepare for extensively. Sure, John tried to rigorize button pushing and design some that are unlike most of 'm presently, preloaded with malicious, weaponizable 'bijbedoelingen' [nefarious intent]. All hail John the hidden button sleuth.

You name a murderous one but neglect to mention this happened to be John's master ... i hope this helps you straighten out the 'conxzions' [white wannabe jews are even worse than the part jew nazis and zionists i'll give you that]; facts you bring up yourself, for which my thanks.

> Excerpt from Tree Crops: A Permanent Agriculture by Joseph Russell Smith
> "The creation of soil by the weathering of rock is a very, very slow process. Years may have passed in making soil that, if unprotected, may be washed away in an hour. Therefore, today an observer in the Old World might see myriad landscapes once rich with farms where now only poverty-stricken men creep about over the ruined land, while their sheep and goats, scavengers and destroyers, pick the scanty browse that struggles for life in the waste. A handful of men are now living uncomfortably where once there were prosperous villages. Similar examples, even of large areas, can be found in almost any hill country with a long history of occupation by agricultural man.
> Syria is an even more deplorable example than China. Back of Antioch, in a land that was once as populous as rural Illinois, there are now only ruin and desolation. The once prosperous Roman farms now consist of wide stretches of bare rock,2 whence every vestige of soil has been removed by rain. Greece, once so great, is shockingly ruined by soil wash. In parts of Europe people even pound stone to get a little bit of loose material in which plant roots can work.
> In our own South millions of acres are already ruined, and the same destructive agency has caused ruin and abandonment of land in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana - indeed, in every one - agriculture is based primarily on cereals that came to us from of our states. The total of this destruction has been estimated at 16,600 square miles, equal to the cultivated area of England. And yet, as human history goes, we came to America only yesterday.
> If we think of ourselves as a race, a nation, a people that is to occupy its country generation after generation, we must change some of our habits or we shall inevitably experience the steadily diminishing possibility of support for man."

STATION TIME 15:50 it says ... 6 hours later in holland ... the netherlands that is ... where, around 21:10 / 21:20 i hear a tune i spend the next over 2 hours trying to retrieve .... it's a black vocal / music wall type song ... can you help????

before it a few very to my taste grating songs got played ... during which time i paused .. perhaps that fucks up the ticker .... but my search began with 21:21 Liz Janes ... couldn't be further from what i heard ....

Live - Bombay Bicycle Club - Bad Timing
21:42 George Clanton and Nick Hexum - Under Your Window
21:32 Junip - Rope and Summit
21:30 Mitski - Remember My Name
21:27 Clinic - Tomorrow
21:24 Westkust - Swebach
21:21 Liz Janes - Lord, I Believe
21:14 Whomadewho - Heads Above

obviously (though not immediately, to me at least), this means a 6 hour diff ..... but i try a couple dozen songs before scrolling as far back as that .. and only then do i render myself count of the fact i saw the title unmoving through a couple of songs .. and in fact from the notes below one can deduce an additional 2 hours diff ... at least i did halfway this note, tapped after the rest (below), i'm about to give up ... again ...

13:03 American Football - I Can't Feel You (ft. Rachel Goswell)
12:59 - Dum Dum Girls - Mine Tonight
12:56 - The Beths - Happy Unhappy
12:52 - Boy Eats Drum Machine - Syncopated
12:48 - The Forest Fires - Hospital Bed
12:44 - Fake Laugh - Honesty
12:39 - The Love Language - Pedals wow, i got a hold of that before the playlist starts over for the new day ... (past midnite now .. 3 and a half hours into my retrieval search!!!!!!!!!)

but before i do i'll say this:

about 2 hours ago now i wrote:
I try and find the song playing when https://wths.hope.edu/ says 'liz janes' but all those listed are not the one i hear. Is this due to pressing pause a number of times causing the songs to be backed up while the spec ticker is current????
the song has an easily identifying black american voice 'timbre' can you help????

hahaa ... simply clicking the txt brings up a youtube .... which i was reaching via a search engine ... spares me 2x copy/paste .....

--- J.W Francis - Everything but what i hear is this: "... break you by any means necessary" stockholm syndrome -- barbara jean and sue you know there's no you without me" .... by: Andrew Bird - Bellevue Bridge Club Lyrics azlyrics.com/lyrics/andrewbird/bellevuebridgeclub.html ... which is down the list a ways ...
20:59 to be exact ... so we're ... an hour and half away there .... are they looping one of those kinda shortish playlists again or .... can Ã expect the song i'm after scrolling down an hour and a half ???????????

Anarcho-Pessimism: The Collected Writings of Laurence Labadie -- Son of Joseph Labadie (of the famed Labadie Collection in University of Michigan, Ann Arbor), Laurence Labadie out-distanced his father as a thinker and a polemicist, Laurence had the good luck to have been in consistent contact with some of the best writing by the American individualist anarchist tradition. Through a series of ingenious counterpoints and elaborations he managed to make of it something entirely new and much more threatening. The vanished anarchism of this deep-rooted radical tradition was the mutinous wellspring into which Labadie dipped endlessly throughout his life, but Labadie is set off from both his father and his other individualist predecessors (like Benjamin Tucker) by his confrontational tone, his sureness of purpose, and his un-matched disillusionment regarding the utter emptiness of all human endeavors.

There is so far only one reliable account of Sidney Rielly and that is the one written by the son of the Chief of MI5 during Reilly's time as a Spy. It was known where he was born and of his early life. The writer met him at his home several times, and described him as " acharming but very sinister man". It is not known how he met his end. The "he was shot" story is unconfirmed. There were reports of him beeing seen in parts of Asia that he knew well, and he had reasons to disappear from the scene - he had many debts and was racking up a few enemies. After Perestroika, the British asked Gorbachev to provide evidence that Reilly had been shot [some said on the Finnish border] but although he was cooperative, Gorbachev said he regretted that no records existed of Reilly's end.

Igor Kuznetsov: There is so far only one reliable account of Sidney Rielly -

> Chapter Five: The Wotan Gene - Saturday, January 25, 2020 -- excerpt
> Bancroft does not belittle these histories but writes that they prove "the existence in the remote past of a great and powerful empire in the Usumacinta region, and a general belief among the subjects of that empire that the beginning of their greatness was due to a hero or demi-god called Votan." The Votanic, he says, was not the first civilization in the Americas, but it is the first known to us.[18]
> As Cyclone Covey remarked in the early 1990s, when evidence for the multicultural origins of American Indians began to pile in:
> Recognizing what is unknown and how supercilious old theories fail to interpret the known may be the most salutary development of the last two decades. We had to discard an arrogant conviction of innate inferiority of Indians as well as of their unrelatedness to the same Old World ethnic groups we encounter in Eurasian and African history. We grossly underestimated both earliness and lateness of overseas migrations, their scale and impact. We did not appreciate how deeply traditions carried across both Atlantic and Pacific hybridized in the duress of regressive adaptation. Realization of false assumptions generated new discovery as discovery outmoded false assumptions. When baffled to despondency, we can contrast present grasp with that of the obsolete 70s and anticipate staggering evidence about to emerge.[19]
> Has anything changed since then? Let us turn now to the staggering evidence that is emerging about the Roanoke colony and the first "white" child born in Virginia [Chapter 6, to come]. Both DNA and epigraphy combine to tell an amazing story centered on Croatians, Turks, Armenians and Venetians. They, certainly, were new players on the stage of Indian history, with their own discrete genetic footprints.

SECRET OF HARD DRIVE FAILURE!
i had this fried circuit prob in 2011 ... found someone who seemed to help lots of people on forums at the time ... he claimed the green printplates [which cover the box with spinning discs] are not always interchangeable amongst contemporaries / siblings / same production series, not even if they have identical serial codes which sometimes leave off the truly unique part, a tiny resister that is unique for the disc ... but it can be transplated to an unfried plate in a tiny and targetted solder move ..... it still hasn't happened on my disc ... 2 months of work foetsj

https://lunduke.com/posts/2020-03-9-b/

> Lunduke: What do you see as the root cause of the issues you see with the OSI (which you call out in your blog post)?
> Eric S Raymond: The fetishization of â€˜nice' behavior, where â€˜nice' ends up defined as being any behavior some self-appointed censor doesn't like. Usually (and in this case) accompanied by a lot of bafflegab about "inclusion" and "diversity" so thay anyone who isn't a fan of the new, censorious rules can be cast as some sort of bigot.
> Lunduke: How would you go about fixing those issues?
> Eric S Raymond: Abolish "Codes of Conduct" and all the Orwellian doublespeak that goes with them. It's less bad that people sometimes got their feelings hurt than it is to institutionalize a means by which dissenting opinions are crushed under the rubric of "not nice".

> Posted on 2020-02-27 by esr
> The historian Robert Conquest once wrote: "The behavior of any bureaucratic organization can best be understood by assuming that it is controlled by a secret cabal of its enemies."
> Today I learned that the Open Source Initiative has reached that point of bureaucratization. I â€“ OSI's co-founder and its president for its first six years â€“ was kicked off their lists for being too rhetorically forceful in opposing certain recent attempts to subvert OSD clauses 5 and 6. This despite the fact that I had vocal support from multiple list members who thanked me for being willing to speak out.
> It shouldn't be news to anyone that there is an effort afoot to change â€“ I would say corrupt â€“ the fundamental premises of the open-source culture. Instead of meritocracy and "show me the code", we are now urged to behave so that no-one will ever feel uncomfortable.
> The effect â€“ the intended effect â€“ is to diminish the prestige and autonomy of people who do the work â€“ write the code â€“ in favor of self-appointed tone-policers. In the process, the freedom to speak necessary truths even when the manner in which they are expressed is unpleasant is being gradually strangled.
> And that is bad for us. Very bad. Both directly â€“ it damages our self-correction process â€“ and in its second-order effects. The habit of institutional tone policing, even when well-intentioned, too easily slides into the active censorship of disfavored views.
> The cost of a culture in which avoiding offense trumps the liberty to speak is that crybullies control the discourse. To our great shame, people who should know better - such as the OSI list moderators and BOD - have internalized anticipatory surrender to crybullying. They no longer even wait for the soi-disant victims to complain before wielding the ban-hammer.
> We are being social-hacked from being a culture in which freedom is the highest value to one in which it is trumped by the suppression of wrongthink and wrongspeak. Our enemies - people like Coraline Ada-Ehmke - do not even really bother to hide this objective.
>
> Our culture is not fatally damaged yet, but the trend is not good. OSI has been suborned and is betraying its founding commitment to freedom. "Codes of Conduct" that purport to regulate even off-project speech have become all too common.
> Wake up and speak out. Embrace the right to be rude â€“ not because "rude" in itself is a good thing, but because the degenerative slide into suppression of disfavored opinions has to be stopped right where it starts, at the tone policing.

The OSI membership page is here.

14 views --- Mar 11, 2020 --- Joshilyn Hoisington
81 subscribers --- The great William Byrd composed this magnificent motet to the text: Tu es Petrus, et super hanc Petram aedificabo ecclesiam meam = You are Peter, and on this rock I will build my Church ..... It is a marvel of polyphonic writing and also creating the sensation of the text within the music. For example, when a voice part sings of the "Rock" it dives low, particularly in the basses, where the rock line is low and drawn out for many bars--quite literally the rock on which the structure of the motet rests.

I've sadly lost the marriage of music and text by producing this instrumental version, 2 electric mandolins playing the top two parts and acoustic guitar playing the bottom four. It is otherwise a straightforward note-for-note translation from the score (with one small exception.)

I hope you enjoy it--I do things other than Beach Boys videos! But they have vocal harmony in common!

I always appreciate support, both moral and financial. Being an artist is hard without some patronage. If you feel like you can help, here are two options:

> The film begins with lumbering ogre giants known as the Bergens preparing for the holiday of Trollstice, the one day a year they get to experience happiness by eating a troll. Much to their surprise, the trolls, led by King Peppy (voiced by Jeffrey Tambor), have escaped to freedom. Cut to 20 years later, when Peppy's daughter Princess Poppy (Anna Kendrick) organizes a big, loud party to celebrate the trolls' liberation, over the objections of doomsday prepper Branch (Justin Timberlake), who's convinced that the Bergens will return at any moment to gobble them up. (A montage of Branch's panicky freak-outs provides one of the movie's very few instances of intentional comedy.)

> There are many trolls in Norway: all you need to do is look around! They live in isolated rocks, mountains, or caves, and they are rarely helpful to human beings. Some trolls are ugly and slow-witted, while others look and behave just like human beings. But a word of caution: they have been known to gobble up human beings. One thing for sure is that trolls do not like sunlight. If they get even the smallest glimpse of it, they will turn to stone. There are many famous landmarks in Norway that are said to be trolls who have suffered this terrible fate.

https://blogs.bl.uk/european/2015/10/the-goats-that-got-away.html

> The action unfolds as follows: three goats of different sizes, small, medium and large, have to cross a bridge on their way to pasture. Under the bridge lurks a fearsome troll intent on gobbling them up. The first two goats get over by promising bigger goats to come. The final, largest, goat confronts the troll and sees him off in style, with the following words (in Dasent's lively translation):

Well, come along! I've got two spears,
And I'll poke your eyeballs out at your ears;
I've got besides two curling stones,
And I'll crush you to bits, body and bones

So what made the story so appealing to my younger self? In part it was the satisfaction of the goats outwitting the troll, in part it was the structure of the plot, simple, but with clever use of repetition (the presence of â€˜three' being a recognised feature of folk tales). I remember too what fun it was to hear the story being read aloud. This is, after all, a story that was preserved for many years as part of an oral tradition. The narrator can do a lot with the goats' voices which are described as rising in volume according to the size of the goat. Stamping one's feet to echo the sound of the goats tramping over the bridge and joining in with the roar of the troll, brings a mounting intensity to the story which culminates in the thrill of the troll's resounding defeat!

> Family tests Rotterdam self-sufficient home inside greenhouse --- 346K views -- Apr 30, 2018 - 5.7K:219 - Kirsten Dirksen ---- 1.22M subscribers
> When Helly Scholten was offered the opportunity to spend three years living in a home inside of a greenhouse on Rotterdam's docklands, she immediately volunteered her family. Scholten, her partner and two teen daughters moved into the experimental home and immediately began planting the four greenhouses surrounding and atop the home in an attempt to grow enough food to feed their family.
> The experimental home, built by students at Rotterdam University's department of Applied Sciences led by architect Arjan Karssenberg, was constructed from recycled and recyclable materials. Built on stilts it can be dismantled or moved at the end of the experiment.

In order to keep heating and cooling requirements low, inside the greenhouses the walls are coated in loam stucco to act as a heat sink: the loam traps heat from sunlight during the day and releases it during the cooler evenings.

An exterior wall is covered in plants to create a bee-friendly habitat and help regulate temperature. Water is collected in rooftop storage tanks for irrigating the gardens.

Scholten loved her time in the light-filled home, but says there are things she would improve. She would never put a greenhouse above the ground floor, because without the earth as a heat sink, they get too hot. She'd also be sure to coat the loam with a natural finish as some of it deteriorated during the family's stay (the idea is it can easily be taken down at the experiment's end by simply turning a hose on it).

Take a closer look at his last two posts: the vegemite toast on the plate -- why is the edge of the glass of water on the edge of the plate, and if it is, why is the water still level in the glass? The post with the typewriter: why is it in what looks like a bathroom? The trash bin has the yellow biohazard bag seen in a previous post...it looks like a "facility" bathroom, so why is he talking about doing the laundry, and doing the dishes??

Anna Belden: @Penelopedinkledong S He turned off comments because of all the sickos who were posting libelous bullsh!t. Hanks is still loved and admired by all but you tiny band of lunatics.

> Peter and John discuss the worlds of developmental and evolutionary psychology, the way that the education system has changed, the origins of school, and much more. The conversation surrounds Peter's personal experience with the education through his son, which is what led him to studying development and education.

> 1922 Ace Motorcycle manufactured by the Ace Motor Corporation, started by William G. Henderson in 1919. In 1923, Red Wolverton rode a specially prepared Ace XP-4 and broke a new record by reaching a speed of 129 mph (208 km/h), which was an incredible speed for back then. Production ran until 1924 and ceased operations after filing for bankruptcy and eventually Indian bought the rights and tooling to the Ace Motor Corporation. Because production only lasted for four years, this is an extremely rare, vintage motorcycle.

> About "Murder Most Foul"
> At midnight on March 27, 2020, Bob Dylan released "Murder Most Foul", his first studio release since 2017's Triplicate and first original song release since 2012's Tempest. He noted on Twitter that fans "might find [the song] interesting" and also to "stay safe, stay observant".
> With a title likely derived from Shakespeare's Hamlet, the song revolves around the circumstances of President John F. Kennedy's assassination and its ensuing impact on popular culture, making many references to songs, films, musicians, artists, and celebrities who would come to prominence in the years following President Kennedy's death. As Bob Dylan's The Freewheelin' Bob Dylan took off the same year as Kennedy's death, the song also winds up being a retrospective on many cultural events running parallel to Bob Dylan's long career as a songwriter.

Sputkin: As Ryan McCarthy reported for The Grayzone, Falun Gongâ€™s followers believe that â€œTrump was sent by heaven to destroy the Communist Party.â€? The group also believes that modern science was invented by aliens as part of a scheme to take over human bodies; that feminism, environmentalism and homosexuality are part ofSatanâ€™s plan to make us into communists; and that race-mixing severs our connection to the gods. Since 2001, Zeng has worked as a reporter for Falun Gongâ€™s propaganda arm and ardently pro-Trump media network, The Epoch Times.

The site is situated in the tiny village of BeÅ¡enovaÄ?ki Prnjavor on the southern slopes of the FruÅ¡ka Gora National Park, a hilly, forested oasis in the middle of the flatlands of north-eastern Serbia. The project has been set up by two theatre-makers and nature lovers, Vivien von Abendorff and Kalki Aporia who also run the Balkan Producing House NGO, which produces cross-border theatre. balkan-retreat.com/

Faculty is partially owned by GMG Ventures, which is wholly owned by the Guardian Media Group, which also owns the Guardian. Its work for the Home Office concerns blocking extremist content from the internet. It claims 94% success rate in stopping uploads by Daesh. Its purpose in contracting to the UK government below is to block extremist content concerning coronavirus, ie any content undesired by the government. And this coincides with the Guardian newspaperâ€™s own mission to broadcast labour party (corporatist) propaganda disguised as news â€“ RB

> the soul's logical life -- Auflage: 1. Aufl., erschienen am 29.06.2019
> C. G. Jung's psychology was based on an authentic notion of soul, but this notion was only intuitive, implicit, not conceptually worked out. His followers forfeit his heritage, often turning psychology either into pop psychology or into a scientific, clinical enterprise. It is the merit of James Hillman's archetypal psychology to have brought back the question of soul to psychology. But as imaginal psychology it cannot truly overcome psychology's positivistic, personalistic bias that it set out to overcome. Its "Gods" can be shown to be virtual-reality type gods because it avoids the question of Truth. Through what logically is the movement of an "absolute-negative interiorization", alchemically a "fermenting corruption", and mythologically a Dionysian dismemberment, one has to go beyond the imaginal to a notion of soul as logical life, logical movement. Only then can psychology be freed from its positivism and cease being a subdivision of anthropology, and can the notion of soul be logically released from its attachment to the notion of the human being.

> In computer science, the clique problem is the computational problem of finding cliques (subsets of vertices, all adjacent to each other, also called complete subgraphs) in a graph. It has several different formulations depending on which cliques, and what information about the cliques, should be found. Common formulations of the clique problem include finding a maximum clique (a clique with the largest possible number of vertices), finding a maximum weight clique in a weighted graph, listing all maximal cliques (cliques that cannot be enlarged), and solving the decision problem of testing whether a graph contains a clique larger than a given size.
> To find a maximum clique, one can systematically inspect all subsets, but this sort of brute-force search is too time-consuming to be practical for networks comprising more than a few dozen vertices. Although no polynomial time algorithm is known for this problem, more efficient algorithms than the brute-force search are known. For instance, the Bronâ€“Kerbosch algorithm can be used to list all maximal cliques in worst-case optimal time, and it is also possible to list them in polynomial time per clique.

Even on television, you would see Bobby turning pages for him, and he travelled with him for a time. I heard him at Carnegie once, and should have heard him more. She even recently said that that $1200 stimulus checks were 'never going to go out', so she is so fucking crackers, I read her for entertainment. She was a big 9/11 'troofer', and once told Richard Seymour--ghastly far-left, but not quite that ridiculous, that "leninino, you shouldn't dispute that (the troofer inside-job) because it isn't helping the people you want to help". I almost died. She once emailed me that I had done nothing but tried to smear her about her 'trooferism', because, although there really were some mutts who took it literally, I knew she didn't believe it at all. So she tried to suck up to me by saying "I haven't said anything about it for a long time". Who but a cunt would say it that way? She also tried to get out of talking about it seriously by saying that "My husband and I have physicists staying at our [Paris] apartment for the weekend, and I am going to ask them if the 'pancaking' of the buildings was possible". That's what I mean about my naivete: I believed that she was really going to have the physicists in! She knew almost nobody when she lived in Paris, no French. Just had money. So then she tells those Midwestern theologian dumb-asses Anthony Smith and Adam Kotsko that "Well, we had a lot of foie gras and several bottles of quite expensive wine last night".
> Dejan was sometimes funny on her. She tried to smear Dominic several times. He has been writing some tediously pretentious tweets the last few days. Probably going barmy with new daughter and lockdown. UK second in deaths after US. I basically like him, but don't know why the fuck he wants to slum with all those Marxists. Except for Nina Power--she's the one who is 'total whore for cock', knows the finer things in life. Very sweet.
> There was another nice one of the London marxists. Not sure you're familiar with her. Close to k-punk and Dominic, very gregarious and pretty too. Used to come to the Chinese's Hyperstition all the time, and one of the trolls I had at Dejan said that when he met her "she couldn't keep her eyes off my crotch". That was funny enough, but much funnier was Arpege when I told her that story. She was so furious she said "THAT NEVER HAS EVER HAPPENED!"

Then she had the black one Carol Roper fall in love with her and Arpege had to tell her "I'm not a lesb'an". We all had a field day with that one. - May 7, 2020 at 1:24 AM

BUT WE TANKIES KNOW! SAY WHUT! WHAT SAY YOU ABOUT HOW WE'RE IN SUCH A MINORITY? Of TWO? NO, THREE, since we have to include airhead CHILDIE.
Nevermind, of course, that these 'workers' aren't ANY kind of communist, and these tankies even care about lowest-class Trump base trash. At least they aren't heeding the social distancing. As such, these 3 Tankies are as right-wing as possible, not to mention as low I.Q. as possible.

On another Now --- This ad she boasted that her quid pro quo - taking money from Gilead's counsel then diverting public money to help them _criminally_ silence & rob her HIV+ constituents injured by their products - is legal (untrue). Cunt never even mentions that remdesivir from Gilead has actually proved to have the best results, and by a mile, of the so-called 'anedotral drugs'. It only matters that it's from Big Pharma. And Miss Club is beating her tits about called Mayor de Blasio a 'power-drunk wind-up Hitler'. Nevermind, HE is the one who kept rents low, Cuomo finally signed it, but it would never have been done without de Blasio.

They're the same about Bill Gates, Childie even saying Gates wants to make us little cinders of softward that he and Melinda can pollute to if at least 6 feet apart. This one is hilarious: "The last bit is very sinister. AOC suggests every member of humanity is in infinite debt to her sponsors the ruling class simply for allowing us to breathe and to exist" ---- This sums up Tankie Philosophy: It's illegal.

I didn't bother posting what Miss Club calls 'illegal'. Because it's still that it's 'illegal' under U.S. law, which doesn't exist because capitalist, except for breaking windows and being indolent at commie protest marches.
These TANKIES are always fine hiding behind wicked U.S. law because they are the very parasites and shit-eaters they accuse literally everybody else in the entire world of being, short of Brown FemiPower. Even Carol Roper doesn't have carte blanche anymore, because couldn't quit wanting to enjoy dalliance with Arpege. Admitedly, that's good reason to take away her Driver's License as well, of course.
Well, late kudoes to Ross Wolfe for coining the term TANKIES. They're still singing Soviet weapon-parade songs.

This is Kampala, as in Time for Reckoning in Equala, from a torture-film on a fictional TV show back in the 60s. Torture in the sense that a man was shut in a room and the same film was played over and over like Chinese Water Torture. Film itself was just propaganda-lite.

RedKahina:
"What is the value of a bolt of linen," can mean "what do you mean by it's value," and it can be a question as Marx described laboriously, to be answered by concrete quality and _magnitude_ The concrete value of an espresso will depend on everything else that exists commodified in the world during the existence of the espresso. That is why the answer "what is the [concrete] value of an espresso in Piazza Navona" is a SET. And "it's value is it's energy, it's force" or even "it's roughly typical share of all the world's dead labour" would be a fatuous and tauologival answer. Like what's your height? "My height is the measure of my extension in space usually imagined vertically."

POST THIS ONE TO RY SOON:

Mar 23 One thing @AOC and @AyannaPressley are guaranteeing is the ruling class property is sacrosanct. They are treating them as feudal overlords who have a right to own the world, to expropriate your labour. They have no obligations. The State's job is to preserve their wealth. They're not even troubling themselves to make a real fraudulent pseudo-socialscientific case for this, for the continued existence of these firms and these fortunes. They don't even pretend they are "job creators" anymore because it's now up to the masses to pay their payrolls. There is no longer even a flimsy rationale for their property titles or social function. Their rights are simply divinely ordained. They are an aristocracy, a master race, Plato's Republicans, what the slaveowners of Dixie dreamed they could become in America. The public will be forced by their overseers like @AOC to pay _them_ to let us work on their plantations. The ruling class is getting all the advantages -- of waged labour, of sharecropping, of serfs, of chattels, plus new advantages (total bodily control via chips, total enclosure of earth) and none of the burdens. TO some degree for example Thomas Jefferson had to bear himself out of his plantation revenues the cost of terrorizing his slaves to retain them in slavery and to feed them. Now the slave owners of today are relieved of these costs completely. Increased technologies of use value production has allowed this. People think hey why do we have to work evern more if technology is making us so much more productive in terms of use vales? Well this is why. ALL the surplus goes to the overlords and NONE to you, and you spend your days policing yourselves and each other and building the overlords the tasers to stun you and the jails to cage you and the chips to control you and the screens to hypnotize you and the poisoned food to poison you etc. If we had a leaders -- and the cuckoos have prevented them from forming -- but if we had leaders, the course would be obvious. Let's make this lockout a general strike. Everybody go home. Make their dollars worth nothing but all their other claims too. They can't control us. We control us for them. It wouldn't be hard to stop. They're just parasites. We could stop recognizing their claims.

> Patrick J Mullins: Hey Piet! I just followed your link. You write such complex and detailed and highly esoteric things I can't fully review them--so what I'll do, is pluck details out of that and whatever else you lead me to, and respond to those. I already saw something interesting there, but as for the whole GIGANIC thing, it's so immense I won't be able to review it 'as a whole'.
> But I want you to feel free to come here and talk to me and Brendan. I hope you have found a place to stay in--I know Dutch are kinder than most people, but I don't like to think you are homeless still. But Brendan, my charming Australian who's back after 6 years, to my total delight and astonishment, has been through some hard periods where he was homeless, PLUS...I get free meals from this organization one of the NRx people told me about, and since I'm already so well-stocked with actual delicious things, I get all these 'crisis meals' twice a week and do go out every day and give to the homeless. New Yorkers in rich neighborhoods like mine are very generous to homeless, so they aren't that hard to find--athough they have been removed from the subway because very likely ill with the virus.
> When it comes to homeless, my only criterion for who to give food to is 'whoever I see first'. I'm not going to judge these people, because most of them are never going to escape this way of life, and my own dearest Dutch friend for 15 years who died last October said 'it's not to determine who is 'deserving' but whether they're hungry'. I saw a black man on the subway a year or 2 ago who was so gone he had no shoes or shirt and only a dirty pair of jeans. I think I gave him something because he gave me the impression he might last only another day. I'm not like the totally stingy 'Chinese' (Brendan calls him by his usual name, but I'm so fed up with his meanness over the years, and his stupid bullshit about China--although his talking about masks did make me get one much sooner than most here, although it was not to do anybody a favour but to tell the world how stupid they were, and they were, but that's all he's ever interested in, is telling people how much less intelligent they are than he is--so I recently started referring to our old old 'Hyperstition master' as 'The Chinese', and nothing you or Brendan can say will make me stop it!) The last time I wrote him an email, probably 2012, I told him that I thought of him as a 'phony and an asshole'. Although, as I said, he can still really turn a Mean Tweet and has a real sense of humour.

So you mean Robin Mackay did something about Amy Ireland, of whom I knew nothing till Brendan mentioned her the other day? I listened to the first couple of his 'plague-pods', but I can't say I was that interested. He's a nice fellow, but we didn't have enough in common.

What about crazy as fuck Northanger? I was looking through old Outside In threads to find Brendan's 2014 writing and saw her writing The Chinese. I have always thought she was crazy to be writing someone who is a self-proclaimed racist, although he would accept her because she is intelligent. Or mostly intelligent: She totally banned me because I wrote a naughty post once, and she was afraid her daddy would see it. I have to tell Brendan about this story, because I forgot to.

I hope you'll take part in any posts you want to. And I'm a big music posting period, but you'll need to narrow it to High Art. I don't give a FUCK what a snob I am, that's what I was trained in, and I'm one of the few (besides Dominic, and he doesn't try, would rather hear heavy metal) that actually knows the stuff.
I've looked at your old Indexterity from time to time, but not for about a year.
Good to hear from you.

> Jamieson Webster serves as a torchbearer for a field out of popular favour. Her practice, psychoanalysis, was last centuryâ€™s therapeutic craze. These days, we prefer to treat our mental ailments with gluten-free diets, astrology as self-help, mindfulness apps, and big pharma, the latter of which Webster, a Freudian with a private practice in New York City, elegantly critiqued in The New York Review of Books last year. To commit, as psychoanalysis asks of you, to multiple sessions a week for an indeterminate period of treatment, is so uncontemporary, itâ€™s due for a comeback. If anyone can make that happen, itâ€™s Webster, who is taking an on-the-ground approach to psychoanalytic advocacy, regularly publishing, lecturing, and performing in local academic, art, literary, and even fashion contexts.

> The Tao of Anarchy: There is no God. There is no State. They are all superstitions that are established by the power-hunger psychopaths to divide, rule, and enslave us. It's only you and me, we are all true and real existence though in one short life. That is, We all are capable to freely interact with one another without coercion from anyone. We all are capable to take self-responsibility to find ways to live with one another in liberty, equality, harmony, and happiness before leaving this world forever. We all were born free and equal among all beings on this planet. We are not imprisoned in and by a place with a political name just because we were born there by chance. We are not chained to a set of indoctrinated beliefs that have been imposed upon us by so-called traditions. This Planet is home to all of us. No one owns it. We share the benefits from and responsibility to this Earth. We pledge no oath, no allegiance to no one; submit to no authority. We are all free and equal. The only obligation we all must undertake constantly with consistency is to respect the same freedoms and rights of others.

> 4.69K subscribers -- Scott talks to William Van Wagenen about his recent Libertarian Institute article exploring the extremist roots of Syriaâ€™s civil war. Contrary to the popular narrative, according to which peaceful, secular, democratic protestors were met with violence by the Syrian government, Van Wagenen explains that Muslim Brotherhood activists were really inciting the protests and attacking Syrian security forces from the very beginning. Though the government has undoubtedly killed its own citizens, this was not a case of peaceful demonstrators being met with force, but one of force being met with force. Not to mention, of course, the fact that Americaâ€™s support for â€œmoderate rebelsâ€? has turned out to be, as usual, support for some of the most brutal and radical islamist militants. ---------- William Van Wagenen has a BA in German literature From Brigham Young University and an MA in Theological Studies from Harvard Divinity School. http://illegaldancesofnewyorkcity.blogspot.com/2020/05/my-two-poets-brendan-ii-piety-piet-i.html

I'll start with Piet and play with him for awhile, not having any idea what I'm doing except lifting morsels that I like. I'll later put Brendan's 2nd Surreal Prose-Poem, and will put the 3rd and last of this series up in the next few days.

I'm not sure what Piety means this very long, seemingly catalogue-like tract, means to be, although he asked me if I had 'reviewed' it. I used to look in and post at his blog Indexterity after finding him and northanger at Hyperstition. He is Dutch, knows near-perfect English and writes in a strange kind of personal dialect, often forming new words by combining old ones; the meaning of these is not always clear, but they have a kind of musicality and rhythm to them.

But most of these plucked seem to go back as far as 1996 and continue to 2019, and refer to files documents that are not herein linked, so I couldn't look beyond this. I pasted a good number of them a couple of days ago, but will reduce these to those in which I can find some especially appealing poetic turns of phrase. His are in chronological order, my pickings mostly are, but not precisely.

-pjm: I am already picking out some which have songsounds in them. 'Conflagatory wildfire of desire' is wondeful pjm: I am now cutting them severely, since I don't really know what I'm doing..But it brings them out of an insularity, which many of them have obviously been incarcerated by, and he is very prolific.

pjm: Piet organizes the history of his various internet writing, as in 'my commentarian career'

My commentarian career is delightful. And it has not been given enough 'press'.

pjm: That's Shulamith Firestone, whom I think I first heard mentioned in an old Joan Didion essay.

Unexpected mention of Arpege, aka Molly Klein.

pjm: He meticulously records his thoughts about his thoughts, about his writing. Anything enlarged is my emphasis. As below, with 'MORE STACCATO/TELEBRAM STYLE NOTE JOTTAGE New pjm: He is very particular about the hues on the net, and knows when older browsers were a different shade. Things that most of us wouldn't notice.

pjm: He refers to a 'hilite bow' as possibly seeming 'autistic? Most of these bits of his writing are insular and inaccessible, something he shares with Brendan, but in a different way.

pjm: clever thoughts and whorls, twists and obscure turns

Piet and Brendan are both str8, and involved more with 'mothershiplanding' as Piet once told me, educating me on the term. In general, I prefer st8 people to homosexual, except for fucking, and even then I want masculinity, unless it's a hung sissy top. --- a high refinement given to digital colours, something I have never thought about. But it becomes something that seems to actually have pith when a poet points it out. ....
-- I was stopped by the 'Texan pianist, who could be anybody. But there was a period in the 50s, when Texas produced top pianists, the most famous being Van Cliburn. My teacher, Jeaneane Dowis, was one of them, as was Ivan Davis
pjm: I loved this instantly, the combination of the digital world and the natural world pjm: more talk of 'staccato style', this one which lasts 'a few entire moons' pjm: He writes of 'jews' quite a lot, although it's not all clear, of course. 'djewd' reminded me an old formulation of my own--'de-jewed'.
pjm: Wagner's Norse god 'Wotan' implied?

pjm: Made me think of 'nut cutlets', a sarcastic reference by the character 'Julie' in the Masterpiece Theater miniseries based on J.P. Priestley's Lost Empires, which informed our (Christian and I) trip through parts of England. We went to the Liverpool Empire Theater, still as it had been, but showing movies. It had geen one of the great music halls, which Priestley's gorgeous book is about. The reference to 'health foods' Julie didn't want was contrasted to the whiskey she did want.

at 'be still my raging heart' midpoint is quite striking pjm's First Conclusion: I see what I was drawn to almost always had to do with his palette of colour. This was the most art-inducing, so to speak, although the random notes on 'jews' was also somewhat arresting, if unfathomable. I don't know if he would elaborate on this, although he's welcome to.

in the same post pjm reviews a poem by Brendon, ex drunk psychotic in Oz:

This is not the one that yet has the distinct Barthelme-reminisced images, which will appear in the final one, posted on his 2018 blog, where they appear in reverse-chronology. I will wait for the final one. But perhaps one of them, 'washing the buildings' can be applied. He wrote these in a deep black hole of despair.

pjm: Somebody didn't have to pay.

> Out and out was done for longing, the hemorrhage of a wanted now, instead of calling did but stand in restless quivers vaunting pose.

pjm: 'Vaunting pose' is something done when in all the low places, where one must show dignity under a sense of likely doom, or at least marking time till another 'high'.

> Paragon deputes hot-blooded in crepe-thin uniform strutted by candlelight in heavy weather, blown indoors, awaken removed the stepping pounded aftershocks from merry memory.

pjm: Cancelling the pretty images as he moves toward full cancel while staying alive, although it's become 'bare life' or close to it.

> No less for that, all the more for having no revenue of success. In laid-by homely bedding did rest, unmoved, unthought, aided by habitual temper.

pjm: No, it was this passage that made me remember from one of Donald Barthelme's stories in which he frequently uses the phrase "left sucking the mop". He was 'sucking the mop'. It may something he uses in several of the old New Yorker stories, like 'they had already started washing the buildings'. In hostels, and despite extremely fragile mental skin, with energies going every which way, he is a robust, strong-framed young man who not only 'sucked the mop' in some of the hostels, but was highly libidinous in others, "wanted to fuck all the backpackers". I was never this kind of normal young person who could 'wing it' in terrible places. I never wanted to go camping and when I was in a 'retreat' that resembled camping, I got out as soon as possible. I suppose I just don't like the rustic, or not for any length of time, despite being outdoors all the time as a child, and going far by myself even before kindergarten.

> I know the smell that goes with spaces that have such things as 'homely laid-by bedding'. Firmly shaken dwelt no less, in careful spirit held upwards its deafened vogue.

pjm: Not only is his 'spirit' being careful, its 'vaunted pose' is getting more difficult to 'maintain'. I bargained with his spirit last night.

INDENTION REVERSED

Parched teeth, down-shodden ellipses, bent corner-stones, wet appetites, shovel-fulls dusted mercury, fine-endowed frozen circus, horrendous gallant-knave Tupperware, encrusted designs in-wrapped overhang, fixtures pretty-pictured lying feminine-like Bismarckian earth-shelled droppings, all supposedly free but for their price.

> pjm: Indeed, those would be expensive.

> pjm: Definite 'tax motif' in this one. I didn't have to be that cruel, although I did the time before the time before.

> pjm: 'never worked a day in the life' is more of an attitude rather than to be taken literally, although it sometimes applies.

Gestured full-automatic, thought of killing and sex, coughed asthma, gleaned morality, stood in line, never stole

> pjm: Looove-li stoooff. I wonder if 'gleaned morality' was what led me to the concept of Immorality as Default Position I certainly had read this before formulating that.

Truth veiled itself by imposition, commanding vigor, told a few too many lies to perfect hide, cut off dialogue before it had a chance, mocking wisdom, herded into the company of food-talkers, ate chicken after chicken, made death as of love in elemental fusion, startled awoke, lost sleep, tested the tolerance of banality.

pjm: all these are thought-provoking and stimulate the 'personal forms', as with 'cutting off the dialogue before it had a chance'. Something the author and I have sometimes had in common, and all too often both.

Inquiry held aloft in ambitions of evidence, looking past what obvious was heard, stretched in veneer of objection caste a candid judgement beyond their chief concern, blameless be that they were to blame. Frantic ineptitude of prolific discovery borrowed twisted summaries of fitted flare, to turn mere cheek into praise of sullen vice made profit.

pjm: petty crime

What changed for good did but change with good, and so good was held inconstant, in rebellion of goodness passed.

pjm: What passes as 'general consensus'. No choice but to Play It As It Lays.

To judge not yet ye judgement is good.

pjm: Apocryphal correction, the truth.

Sir Roger Penrose sums up reality as Frequency = Mass as the Moebius Strip (yin-yang) as the 4th dimension of space (or 5th dimension as time)
Sir Roger Penrose likes to sum up his model of reality as Frequency = Mass. He doesn't explain the irony of this statement.

I don't find that you want to be inaccessible, but your language and 'new word-things' are not always immediately comprehensible from the outside....needless to say, Comefusion was right on the money.

> â€œIt is astonishing that Communism has been writing about itself in the most open way, in black and white, for 125 years, and even more openly, more candidly in the beginning. The Communist Manifesto for instance, which everyone knows by name and which almost no one takes the trouble to read, contains even more terrible things than what has actually been done. It is perfectly amazing. The whole world can read, everyone is literate, yet somehow no one wants to understand. Humanity acts as if it does not understand what Communism is, as if it does not want to understand, is not capable of understanding.â€?

global travel increases pandemic risks hence it stands to reason if the biggest health institutions play thru scenarios ... even if the border between warning prophet and wishful profit chasin programmer becomes razorsharp and too wildly unstable to follow with the naked eye.
In fact, my personal philosophy is in line with keeping virus libraries and virus cocktail stocks topped up, welcoming them, excercizing them ... like a dog eating rotten food, which i did again last nite after i began hearing popping sounds and soon discovered a small glass i had filled with left overs a handful of days ago was under gaseous and oozy pressures. I ate it after recooking even though it didn't exactly smell great and i did not feel great afterwards either.
So ... who am i to fault Fauci .. were it not for the likes of Mikovits who makes it clear that the borderline between virus and vaccine is erased, crossed and flipped with nefarious purposes (although if you ask them they have some sort of Gatesian 'clean up' and resource pressure relief memery packaging handy).

> Hydrogen peroxide administered intravenously works very well against emphysema, asthma and chronic lung disease. It cleans the lungs by producing oxygen bubbles in the alveoli, the tiny air sacs in the lungs, and lifting the mucus deposits out. This allows you to cough out the deposits, making the procedure natural and non-invasive.

The length of treatment for lung disease varies. More chronic conditions will need more treatments to fully clean the lungs.

Fracking, Plastics, Methane Emissions and the Gas Lobby
352 views -- May 12 -- Heinrich-BÃ¶ll-Stiftung -- 11.3K subscribers -- Fracking, plastics and the climate - the still widely unknown nexus and its implications for the European Green Deal

Thu, 07. May 2020
The Deutsche Umwelthilfe, Food & Water Action Europe and the Heinrich BÃ¶ll Foundation are organizing a two-part online debate series â€œFracking, Plastics, Methane Emissions and the Gas Lobbyâ€?. Guest speaker will be, among others, Prof. Robert Howarth from Cornell University, USA. -- lisa.kuch@eu.boell.org

Abstract. In addition to the supply of primary minerals and water flow the presence and growth of land plants are thought to drive rock weathering. While doubtlessly plants and their associated below-ground microbiota possess the tools for considerable weathering work, the quantitative evaluation of their impact relative to the common abiogenic weathering processes remains poorly known. Here we report on a strategy to decipher the relative impact of these two drivers. We did so by quantifying weathering rates and nutrient uptake along the "EarthShape" transect in the Chilean Coastal Cordillera where landscapes are subjected to a substantial north to south gradient in precipitation and vegetation growth, whereas rock type is granitoid throughout and tectonic process rates do not differ much along the gradient. We quantified the bio-available fraction of nutritive elements in regolith and we measured 87Sr/86Sr isotope ratios in the different compartments of the Earthâ€™s Critical Zone (bedrock, regolith, bio-available fraction in saprolite and soil, and vegetation) to identify the sources of mineral nutrients to plants. We thereby budgeted inventories, gains, and losses of nutritive elements in and out of these ecosystems, and quantified mineral nutrient recycling. We found that the weathering rates do not increase with precipitation from north to south along the climate gradient. Instead, the simultaneous increase in biomass growth rate is accommodated by faster nutrient recycling. The absence of an increase in weathering rate in spite of a five-fold increase in precipitation leads us to hypothesize that the presence of plants can negatively impact weathering through inducing secondary-mineral formation and by fostering a microbial community that is adapted for nutrient-recycling rather than nutrient-acquisition through weathering.

if you can't ever get anything back without all sorts of probs cropping up and overgrowing your overhead .. it's perhaps better to lose forth and surely best to lOOse forth ... 'loosen what', you ask? well, duuuh ... whatever's too tight. find out where the real money is too tight .. could be metoo money for all i know ... and loosen it. As rock is the ultimate female principle emboddiment of reserve in hiding, try loose some of and and lose in your garden or some area of wilderness you can keep an eye on for however long it takes before you agree with what i say and find it accurate, timely, prophetic and helpful.

From the late nineties on i tried to convert protesters and divert protests based on a vision i had at rainbow gatherings in the mid eighties as follows:
make the pageant go thru marginalized and subpar areas, use local rock to sprinkle dust strategically (croppable areas prefereably, liberal use of water advised at all times) and perhaps do a swale or two.
Presto, red guard type antifas become flourpowder grippies.
i have hundreds if not thousands of saved comments to prove this, ... starting at indymedia sites around the world [see link] and from around 2005 onwards mostly elsewhere [forthcoming].

https://ia601400.us.archive.org/29/items/piety-Piet-mid-80s-to-2005/chronotes-1988-2019-piety-Piet.html
It never went anywhere, didn't catch on ... got no help making the meme catchier and more obvious, let alone first nature honouring second ...
i'll go so far as to say that likely, some satanized geniuses who do indeed keep up with what really could threaten their game if it 'got out and a bout' have seen fit to present my idea in ways that prevent their fruition, still the only way repeal and heal perversions like we see at 3m14s https://youtu.be/6-ORI8ayWqA?list=WL&t=194

to Jonathan Jones: not much, maybe at most a mild disparagement intended ... but yes, it appears to be in a 'neighbouring' vid ... the one before this maybe ... sorry ----- ps: never do Q, hear enough peripherally ... guess the pros and cons leave very vast spaces for the saints and sinners pulling that rope in unison to rub

> TIRED: "SOMALIANIZATION BAD"
> INSPIRED: "Neo-Mogadishu is already here"
> It would be just as correct to call Somalianization a "re-territorializing" force, as it just transfers one collective to another place. Did Deleuze really think that all migration is simply "deterritorializing", and that that process must always be "accelerated"? There is always the spectre of destruction hanging over deterritorializing forces, so that they can't be said to be uncritically "good". Colonialism was also a "deterritorializing" force, if you take it as a collective movement, but these analysts would surely denounce that. But we have to take the "deterritorializing forces" whether we "like it or not". I don't really understand the positive feedback mechanism that is supposed to be "accelerated" here. Accelerationism is bricks through windows, and the more bricks through windows the more accelerationism it is... (to borrow a meme format).
> On Kezos page he is also supporting the protests in France for "migration reform". The protests were just an all-African affair. The Africans want still more Africans in France, and they are willing to take the fight to the streets to get it. Accelerate the "No-Go zones", nevermind if it reaps destruction, because it is supposedly "deterritorializing" and we all know that that is unquestionably "positive".

Thursday Trio! Prof. Hamamoto joins George and John for 3-way conversation, 8pm 06/04/20 compare the 41:11 to 44:41 section to my comment [below the quote] on the 'sent downs' [Mao move, do you believe stalin and mao were rothschildian halfbrows btw? Greg Hallett tale] ....Quote:

> there's a whole infrastructure ladies and gentlemen today that's funded by public fun dollars tax dollars public funding and this is something that the Trump administration needs to get a handle on or any administration because it has no role in a government of sovereign individuals. this is simply a an American spin on something that was put into play during the Cultural Revolution of Mao Zedong and they had about 20 million 15 up to 20 million young people from junior high let's say 13 to high school and college age kids from let's say not prosperous but at least families that were solid and and doing okay and they sent them into the country and they're called sent down students they were brought in to educate the students into the labors of the proletariat right these urban kids and so you had wiped out a whole generation of young people in China so that Mao Zedong would not have that youthful energy directed against him and this is the the danger that the Hillary Clinton's and the Pulaski's are going to face with ANTIFA > what if an Tifa figures out that they've been played what are they gonna do with all that energy that was once being directed against the the Nike stores they could experience blow so this is my prediction this is something that that we need to get a head up
> I think the next stage is to get these anti fatigues and to send them out into the countryside ------ you were talking about going leaving the cities and going out into into the rural areas ------ precisely agricultural regions growing regions because we got removed we talked about the ad cultures the land-grant culture colleges and universities they have professors there who are already you know want to be Maoist that can that could facilitate that but they are gonna go into the heartland of America for any type of regenerative growth is going to occur in the Midwest or in the deep south and they're gonna send these AnTiFa people just like Mao Zedong put the 'sent down' students 20 million of them into the countryside which only resulted in mass starvation and famine and it took them a generation to get out of it and from there of course it was really easy to engineer the current technocratic surveillance society of the contemporary China so this is where we're heading if we are not careful end Quote

> They tried to deescalate the issue before hand but as soon as he failed the breathalyzer test he refused to be arrested and decided to take the cops weapon it ain't no tellin what he was tryin to do. He probably thought it was a gun that's why he turned around and shot at the cops why did the bystanders not suggest something helpful, like 'for a busticket back i'll drive him home officer', want me to breathalize first?'.... instead they can't spell themselves out of spellbound mum till it's way too late ... THEN they have all kinds to say .... weird ... ps: in fact, he himself suggested giving up his keys just before they ask him to take a breathalizer. That puts the blame ball in the police court.

In May it emerged that Western war veterans were embroiled in mercenary plots from North Africa to South America. Five British mercenaries were offered up to $150k each by Russian-backed rebels to sabotage the UN-recognised government in Libya, according to a leaked dossier.
Margaret Thatcher's son Mark was arrested in 2004 and convicted under South Africa's anti-mercenary laws for his role in a coup attempt

ecomasteryproject.com - Technology
Apr 16, 2020 - Exposure to focused spray paint fumes can lead to neurological shock and suffocation in intense cases. Poisonous dangers are not just ...

The main propaganda thrust now is like Zizek and Rush Limbaugh with the Bush torture policy and Freids explanation of war: to say it's not a policy at all it's just the animalistic violent nature of the working class & the enlightened overlords failing to adequately control them
Naturally everyone bourgeois, everyone who aspires to be bourgeois and everyone who covets a stipend from the bourgeoisie LOVES this explanation and zealously supplicates Bezos and Gates and their subalterns to discipline us all.

*Freuds ...and recent versions like the wacky Islamix explanation for CIA terror programmes and rackets, the resentimental Serbs idÃ©e fixe explanation for the imperial destruction of Yugoslavia etc etc

And yes the mass media is run by a conspiracy that includes the white house and the parties' leadership, and it's all cooked, all of it. 100% and it's not possible to get from the viral video of another cop killing to this in an unplanned way that conspiracy chooses not to allow ....

Proletcultist - Jun 11: Ernst Bloch's Principle of Hope stands out amongst the Frankfurt set for a few reasons that led to him being both lumped in with their work & unread because he would so clearly stand closer to Benjamin and Brecht. Namely his understanding and use of Marx and Lenin, understanding firm insistence on class struggle, and his poignant understanding of anxiety and fear as politically rooted and mediated. Namely, he saw that hope is a tool that can be used, and that it can only be maintained by finding real solutions to real problems. Vague and false hope always lead back to fear or anxiety. When the bourgeois class sells you a solution its always in this form either unspecified solutions to specific problems (pandemic, addiction) or unspecified solutions to vague problems (drugs, terror). This way that fear and anxiety becomes a resource to be abused, it can be stoked and assuaged at will and keep populations afraid.
When real hope is realized and seen it offers a real solution to a definite problem. This kind of vague thinking requires a breakdown of critical reasoning and insistence that history is closed off and scripted, there are set outcomes you can reach. In reality history is always open ended and can be changed, but it takes effort and critical thinking.

i fault you for failing to focus on that.

> Rekieta Law - 14 hours ago: It's not relevant at all to the use of force question. The police determined they had sufficient cause to arrest. You can disagree, but you can't disagree by physically resisting arrest.
> Once they determine to make a lawful arrest, they're going to make it. You can fight it in court, but not on the street.
> The use of force question, in no way, needs to consider the reason the officer presented a field breathalyzer which Mr. Brooks failed.

my reply: well, ... alrite ... damn the de-escalatory gestures then.
Would the cop do something illegal, had he accepted RB's proposal?

> Toplak, A. (2018). "Pessimistic Meta-Induction", MCP (1); 14-22. --- The history of science is littered with examples of theory change - many theories that were once very successful have since been wholly rejected. Starting from this premise in his now famous paper from 1981, Laudan set up the stage for the so-called pessimistic meta-induction: If some empirically successful theories in the history of science were later refuted, we should expect that some of our current empirically successful theories will be refuted at some time in the future. A wide variety of responses to the argument had been given since. This article examines some recent attempts to reconcile the premises, from which the argument starts, with some basic sort of scientific realism.

Thursday Trio with George Webb and Prof Hamamoto! 062520
weathermen 2 .. docu suggested by hamamoto
he gets into 'az' places [bey] and slams sassen as a top down nazi wedge issue mongerer .. 55th minute

there's a topic switch to permindex ... leading up that ,they conclude the utopic / free zone / safe space as subversive wedge / stake thru heart issue with some attention to Wayne Madsen and a veiled confession by Hamamoto, which sparks the thought that sex is like water ... and the speakers here are the ones in the wrong mistaking measured, standardized equal ... like minute diffs & fashions and price classes in faucets for decency and universality ... it's the trickle to rapid conundrum people can't shift between easily after getting tainted with some urban tox or other ... none of these boys are actually country boys and they can't properly defend them.

go within ... guess the old stupid trick still works to quell uprisings ... read Ralph Ellis on how the Romans used it on jews ... and yet the jews were able to steal the potemkination of a man held in a UK fort w zodiac mosaic, a luxury guantanamo of it's day, nothing like palestinians and tibetan's fates today, ... steal this distortion / effigy / psyop back and point it back at the thief. it worked miraculously and now nobody can ground the 'revolution [samudra manthan] as it should be, except me for now, .. and i have zero status ... not to mention strangely distorted reception .. already. the type of thing that only gets worse. i need to switch to dust as my mediatic and mediatious outlet of choice ... as i say here:

> Book of Ours is an art collaboration between JP & Julie Collins. We observe, interpret, comment and critique politics, culture and current affairs through a variety of creative media. We try to connect disparate ideas that stem from a confusing and overwhelming landscape in a rapidly changing culture of 24 hour news cycles and social media, and place them into a context that we hope provides new meaning in a familiar landscape.
> We use conceptual art strategies to produce: video, commentary, digital art, installations, site-specific installations, sculptures, drawings, text and sound art. We critique capitalism, the state and society through a leftist lens. Our focus is on the environment, psychology, creativity and collective liberation. We consider Book of Ours a platform for us to address what we feel needs to be said, from an artist's point of view.

> The truth about Milk - Cow and Human
> There is no better person to express the duality of the meaningless and meaningful than the showman. The jester can be the mirror which shows us that the deep and the shallow are all part of the same swimming pool. How deep it is depends on which end you jump into.
> At the Carnival the duality of life's meaning and emptiness are like the full cream milk straight from a cow's udder or a mum's breast. If left to stand the fat separates out and floats to the surface. By stepping through the Carnival Gates we buy the ticket and take the rides. The rides shake us, roll us, and wriggle our bodies and our minds until the the separated mother's milk inside us all once again blend with the rest. On the gravitron, the Ferris Wheel and the Carousel the ridiculous and the vital becomes one again. Mechanically shaken by carnival rides some of us get so shook up the fat and the skimmed milk fuses so totally that it might never separate again. It balances us like the homogenized milk we buy in the corner store. The Carnival has the potential to heal us for life.

My suspicion is that i made a mistake beginning to use the terrabyte 'INTENSO' on Huig's old box, thinking i could run parallels and stop maxin out my workbeast to the point of crashing from copy + work loads [multipl times already] and creating a big stink .. which one forgets about with door closed ... but is very noticeable with the door open and breeze enough to switch between the diff often enough to locate the cause for sure.
it's crazy for me to work on a box that has to huff and puff like that .. which it prolly does cause it's clogged with dust and my one half assed attempt to open it nearly 4 years ago never had a follow up and Piet who promised me to bring his portable compressor for this chore, next time he came, hasn't recovered from his holiday enough yet apparantly.
Btw, i think my lung prob has much to do with said sordidity in my self harming decisions.

I get nods from a precious few anymore ... utterly demonized by the male parent alienating mommie who wasn't happy her little one had made a friend ... active offers go into a big nothing with virtually no fall out or backlash though ... but no direct benies either ... like me trying to get certain people to talk: Ryan Dawson w George Webb, Hallet BLGM and Bob w sidespook Ion ... Not that it would be more than momentary comfort and distraction though.

Linking US imperialism and police violence: Killer cop got start at dictator-training military base -- 02K views -- Jun 29 --- Moderate Rebels - 18.7K subscribers
The Minneapolis cop who murdered George Floyd, setting off a protest movement, Derek Chauvin, started his career as a military police officer at the notorious Fort Benning, a base named after a Confederate general that is home to the School of the Americas (now called WHINSEC), where the US Army has trained countless Latin American dictators, death squads, torturers, assassins, and coup-plotters.

Hambach Forest: BRAND (FIRE) III Widerstand im reichen Land / Resistance within riches -- 2 years ago
susanne fasbender & brandfilmePRO

THIS IS THE 3rd PART OF THE FILM TRILOGY BRAND (FIRE)
Coal MIning in Germany and Hambach Forest:

Long before the forest occupation in the Hambach forest became an at that time still unimaginable attraction, Susanne Fasbender began 2012/13 in cooperation with the Hambach Forest Film Collective with the first work on BRAND III. People who took a radical step by occupying the Hambach forest, without any reassurance of civil society acceptance or even recognition, have their say here. Thus the film becomes a rare document beyond the hashtag "Hambi bleibt". Susanne Fasbender looks back on the first climate camps in the Rhineland, visits citizens taking action against the threat to good health caused by power generation from lignite, and tells the story of the forest occupation in the Hambach Forest until its eviction in 2018. In co-operation with the Hambach Forest Film Collective, she followed some of the many key events of the resistance, not only to document these individual transgressions, but also to give them a space where the underlying concepts are explained and where personal thoughts can be expressed. Activists speak about tactics and motivation, and about their experience of living in the forest and at the same time, through their struggle for a future worth living for, being exposed to anti-ecological repression mechanisms. "The eviction is not the end". That's how the movie ends.

Artist and filmmaker. Films, video interviews, video series and reports on my blog (brandfilme.org) serve as analyses, research and artistic contributions to current discourses on ecological degradation and climate change. The film trilogy BRAND (FIRE) about the Rhenish lignite mining district and the Hambach forest simultaneously looks at the larger global interrelationships of landgrabbing, economic growth and climate crisis. The premiere was in March 2018 in DÃ¼sseldorf. The current work on BRAND FOUR is critically concerned with the historical development towards Green Capitalism or a Global Green New Deal.

> "â€¦ over in Detroit Bowie's followers were like something out of Fellini's Satyricon: full tilt pleasure seekers devoid of anything resemlbing shame, limits, caution and moral scruples. I distinctly remember a local lesbian bike gang riding their bikes into the foyer of the concert hall and revving them loudly just prior to Bowie's arrival onstage. This had not been pre-arranged.. Meanwhile, the toilets were literally crammed with people either having sex or necking pills. The whole building was like some epic porn film brought to twitching life. " - Nick Kent, Apathy for the devil
> The old guard, who were all in their early thirties when Bowie broke in the early seventies, hated him. Lester Bangs's contempt for Bowie's inauthenticity, as he saw it, was never surprised into reconsideration by anything Bowie ever did. Christgau, in a telling phrase, spoke of Bowie's relationship to rock as "expedient". In other words, there was always a distance, the distance of a man choosing. Bowie was always a changeling and never a convert. That put a huge bug up their asses. This was considered not the mark of higher artistry, by these guys, but the mark of a phoney. If you trawl through reviews of Bowie from the early seventies, you can come up with astonishing stuff - astonishingly stupid stuff. Martin Amis, for instance, reviewed a Bowie concert in 1973 by channeling his father, Kingsley Amis's, voice and gags - it makes for painful reading, as though Amis were already the superannuated clubman he has since become. It is as if he listened to the concert through an ear trumpet. Usually, when a singer dies, one goes through memory's rolodex: I remembering hearing song x here, or song y there, or this concert, etc. The death of celebrities brings out our own narcissism in spades.
> But Bowie was always a master of distances, and I'm not sure an album of fan experiences does him justice. What Kent saw, in Detroit, was a part of the same effect that repulsed the rock critics. In the underhistory of the 70s, where lesbian biker gangs are as important as Oil shocks, Bowie is onof the great monument - similar, in his mastery of the uses to which alienation could be put, to Foucault. Foucault debated Noam Chomsky in 1971 on a Dutch talk show hosted by an anarchist. Afterwards, Chomsky said of Foucault, "I'd never met anyone who was > so totally amoral." This, I think, comments on a style of presentation - and in that sense, Foucault and Bowie were on the same wavelength.

> Of course, it was a moment, a brief throb. Disorder is all too pitiably subject to order - a sort of reverse or negative entropy. Bowie moved on. The forces unleashed in that historic moment had their effect, but the larger forces that we contend with, now, every day, either confronted and defeated them or poisoned them through all the institutions at the disposal of the establishment. But I like to think about how he had this moment.

> The Distributist - @DataDistribute -- Jul 5: The most disgusting dishonesty involved in the campaign to tear down statues isn't the IMPLICIT lie involved in judging the past by present standards, it's the EXPLICIT lie that the vandals promote about why the monuments were valued in the first place. After the movement retroactively poisons the reputation of a subject, convincing the public that a man's crimes outweigh his achievements (usually using half truths), it then invariably goes on the retcon the REASON why he was celebrated, 'he was celebrated FOR his crimes'. Once the Overton window accepts the proposition to remove CONFEDERATE statues, progressives advance the notion that the objects were INTENDED to celebrate slavery, the contraposition is then use to defend statues of Washington & Jefferson, preventing the push from going too far. Everyone who knows anything about history (or even America outside the cities) knows that this premise is a lie, and therefore the defense of Jefferson & Washington under this standard is fraudulent. Once we roll from Lee to Columbus, the progression is inevitable. This is because this operation, this game, is not about understanding the past, but about a political narrative in the present. It's about suckering as many middle American rubes into defending and idolizing what has already (secretly) been declared a "hate symbol" by elites. Once the progressive elites triumph, they can then tell the story that they NEED to tell people to maintain power. Namely, that middle Americans are horrible racists that have only recently been convinced to give up their hatefulness (e.g. appreciation of Lee / Washington). Ultimately, I am not sure how to defeat this game. But I think an increasing number of people see how it works. I can say that I feel less inclined to defend any historical figures not directly tied to my faith or ethnicity. The cost otherwise is too great.

President Sunday: A man's crimes DO outweigh his achievements. Stop calling yourself a Catholic.

1/ Ok Emerican, Doug, look. I shouldn't still be using Twitter but let me take one last swing at this controversy. I know you think this an attempt to "own you" or something, this is not my intention. This is a request for awareness with how you want to deal with non-leftists.

@Zer0Books: If there is no misunderstanding then you are intentionally misrepresenting what was said in the video.

The Distributist - 2/ First, I will admit that I don't like Communism. I think the theory is wrong and I come from a family who was on the receiving end of a Marxist-led genocide/ ethnic cleansing.
Perhaps that makes me biased, but that's not my point. My point (or question rather) is this: How do you expect your ideas about "revolutionary social change" to be perceived by ANYONE who isn't 100% on board with your Marxist religion? No, seriously. Because anyone with ANY non-ideological perspective is now sitting back and witnessing all of the predictions of the anti-Communists come true, again.
Is this a problem for you? I suppose I would worry that my movement might not capture "hearts and minds" as they say.
I understand that ATM, you are doing great. People HATE globalist neo-liberalism and every populist NOT on the radical left is being purged by liberal capital. Hey, the businessmen are right about one thing, cornering a market is easy if the competition is eliminated. But ironic as your preferential treatment by Global Techno capital is. Your growth in current year is fundamentally limited. This isn't the 19th century anymore. Communism isn't a new idea. It's an old idea with 100+ years of REALLY bad history. Given this history, you can't just wave away criticisms of real-world radical actions that go wrong and hurt people.
A significant number of people (including many smart and motivated people) will see this game for what it is.
Look, I believe the left can be an ally to the right in bringing about radical change. I want to see more intentional communities and more depatures from mainstream liberal ideology. But how do you want me to react to something like CHAZ / CHOP? Be specific, no vagaries. What I see (what every non-leftist saw) is an explicitly leftist project to REDUCE violence which, in very short time, exploded into MORE violence. There has to be accounting for this and I don't believe that it was the result of a secret cell of "Nazis" in Capital Hill.
If this was a mistake in organization and policy then let's learn from it and commit to NOT MAKING THE SAME MISTAKE AGAIN. If we learn then people can move forward. Honesty about mistakes is GOOD. However, if the response is just an evasion and an attempt to sweep this under the rug, then I'm sorry. This confirms one of the big critiques of the left, that it makes way and apologizes for violent disasters, never taking ownership of their role in the process. Quite frankly, I think the net result of the evasiveness is going to be Communists convincing a huge percentage of the population that are a direct threat. And this time people who think this will have ample evidence from history and contemporary events.

no such thing as 'happy battlescar day' .... and besides ... isn't most 'honour' a sneaky euphemism for colonialism (i think you mentioned 'overseas'? or am i imagining that now) ... if you have to go waaaay out of your way just to catch the bigger meanies who's 'seed psy cling' is obviously a cover for a devious plot

> Wow - I'm surprised my comment appeared !! Yeah last night I had no comments appear on Going South and this channel - so I guess both of them must "approve" their comments? Oh well. I know Youtube definitely censors - has an Auto-detect word list. As for what's going on? I have not been commenting in the Doomosphere - been too busying learning about car mechanics - and trying to keep the car going - so I can harvest shiitake shrooms. Got about 8 pounds fresh so far - and we had lots of rain up north recently. So hopefully more shrooms. I mail them off to people but most Westerners have no idea just how scrumptious and healing Shiitake shrooms are. haha. Umami flavor is unknown - you have to DRY the shrooms but regulations say you can't "process" the shrooms and then sell them. So I just do custom batches in the oven - drying at 158 F or 70 Celsius - to maximize the Umami flavor. Very amazing Umami with tomato cooked in grassfed Carbon Storing regenerative Ag animal fat - and with Parmesan cheese - all strong Umami foods. Plus Shiitake grown in the wild is very rare as a farm crop - and has more than twice the Lentinan than the indoor sawdust grown shiitake. haha. Lentinan activates the deep immune system - its our age old adaptation to clean out the body....

a stupid christian site offers this:

> Isaiah 59: 11 We roar all like bears, and mourn sore like doves

... but it's just a [n african] version of the old 'bark vs bite' thing [Quora]

> Derek Alan West, lived in Columbus, OH - Answered April 24, 2018 - I heard this a lot growing up from my dad and uncles. it basically means your mouth is writing a check that your ass can't cash. I always assumed it was because they were "crying wolf" saying something that wasn't true or accurate. Therefore "Selling wolf tickets" when you use enough mirrors just right .. what you hear her say within 2 minutes and 3 seconds: nato ran my country town and life into the ground ... please stop nato. So smile when she says national socialism ... i'm sure i'm interested to say how many times more she will say nazis ... wait, the transcript is a click away: 0 .. and the same number goes for nato btw .. and a few more hot potato words.

the protest she recommends is duh contestation / disputation of the 'top rites' which are very capable and ready to turn it into a sacrifice in their honour, the relinquishment of doin the rite thing right, distributed, scalable, bottom up .. small beginnings, every rock too precious to waste and throw away towards the enforcers. good enough to contribute to a beat that announces stuff to eat .. a protest isn't complete if it can't do the whole 'rock to compost' cycle, never mind not even planning to.

her solution? 12th minit: gun training .... reversed my like > kingkeyworth and kingkeyworth rises: we should all like to do gun training, but in UK archery is compulsory still new to me .... or are you kidding?

> kingkeyworth and kingkeyworth rises: Been in law since 1500s not so widely used now but archers are aware, i am one, applies to all men between 7 and 70.
> The reason is that to draw a warbow muscles have to develop, and all freemen of England were the standing army, a system still used today by Switzerland the 'state' = short for 'state of soil' and it's money was, is and remains fresh rockdust, redeemable at soilbank nearest you ... if you have the time and plantsense to grow .. what? a bow? to unbind the bonded overdraughters *[dis]*figurin their grounds into deeply offendspeak?

pdf by Carolyn Dean, MD ND [680k advertizement]

> iON: But homeopathy, more times than every single time, without fail or exception, doesn't use enough. It takes the tenthâ€¦ it takes a gnat's ass and tries to make it be a whole gnat. "No, that's just a gnat's ass." If you could do "homeopathy on steroids" and blast itâ€¦ OK, then good!
> Bob: What was the delivery?
> Dr. Dean: OK! Well, thereâ€¦
> iON: You can do homeopathyâ€¦ homeopathy to the tenth square! OK, fine! Just like you're trying to take every mineral that's important to the replication of perfect cells, Carolyn - that you're trying to make them the smallestâ€¦ the tiniest that you can, these infections - and plights - and plagues - and nastiness. You need to make them as big as you possibly can, then they'll never get into the cells at the cellular level. You're going to blow them up and take the minerals and bring them down. So, in every conversation, if you think about it that way - you're going to win because the body is going to say: "Oh, pine pollen! We don't have any problem with pine pollen. It's so big; it can't even get in us. It makes our driveways yellow, but it doesn't cause us to have the sniffles - or aspirate - or have all these little problems." So, it's a balance. We're talking about balance while you're becoming an Ascended man. Now, we are for the Ascension, now. We're not much for the Little Man! If you want to get out, don't be wasting Dr. Dean's time because she's got better things to do.

be careful who you allow to hide behind your charms ... how many degrees of separation between the 'northrup king building' and northrup grumman? They be industrial thanatopians ... passed by and overtaken these days by the even scarier labcoat class ... my mom had to use lots of soap to turn my dad's butchercoats back to white .. not to mention all the factory fresh plastics ... fumes of which made me slightly less of a man than my dad wished ... the type of symptom celebrated forward instead of traced backwards cause it did cause new classes and cultures [cults bycause of the little pesky taboo i mentioned]. Guard your beauty well and strive for wisdom. i'd be happy if the likes of you came over in droves and picked over a few playlists, .. must have been an arab in a past life.

> The Celtic Forest God, Cernunnos, gets his name from a Latin word which means "the horned one". His original name was lost but the name Cernunnos was inscribed in the Pilier des Nautes , a Gaelic-Roman monument found under the Notre Dame cathedral, in Paris, France in 1711.

> The earliest known probable depiction of Cernunnos was found at Val Camonica in Italy, dating from the 4th century BCE, while the best-known depiction is on the Gundestrup Cauldron found on Jutland, dating to the 1st century BCE.
> On an altar found under the cathedral of Notre Dame in Paris is a large image of Cernunnos dating from 14 CE. This site was so sacred that the cathedral was built over it to entice worship of the new religion.
> In Britain, the first recorded instance of the continued worship of the Horned God was in 1303 when the Bishop of Coventry was accused of paying homage to the Horned God.

> Description of Revelation as per Heidi Taillefer:
> "Revelation is a painting about transformation of oneself, from sinister and malevolent to an evolution towards the light. The horse is Pegasus of greek mythology, who grew from the blood of the head of Medusa. A symbol of wisdom, Pegasus rides out from a blood soaked coach shell as a cloud of ominous ravens, giving the horse it's blackened color. But he moves from the sinister or left side towards the towards to glow of light and wisdom on the right, which characterizes his ultimate being."

Piety has no central authority and there is a direct connection between an individual and their God based on how Piety they hold. All followers of Piety will be united by their connection to God and sharing wisdom. Using these tools Piety serves the needs of individual morality and spiritual upliftment as well as the needs of evangelism without the needs of any centralized agency. Just love, harmony and peace.

Piety has already organized an Airdrop and Bounty campaign giving away more than 60,000 coins to it's followers, and is giving remaining 40,000 campaigns in a controversial and flamboyant poke at organized religion by organizing a competition to draw Prophet Muhammad, something criticized by Islamic clerics who rake in lots of money. The crowdsale begins on 11th November, so make sure to grab your tokens while they last and connect to God directly over the blockchain.

We're hoping this coin can disrupt the organized religion sector. Check out their project at http://pietycoin.net/ .

David W. Anthony on the origins of the Indo-European Languages
If you are interested in this topic, the book to read is The Horse The Wheel And Language: How Bronze-Age Riders From The Eurasian Steppes Shaped The Modern World -- by David W. Anthony.
He is the world's leading expert on the domestication of the horse and the development of the chariot. He engaged with Victor H. Mair, an expert on the opening of the Eurasian steppes about 2000 BC.
The book is online at the Internet Archive. I edited the text down to make it more compact. But the words are David Anthony's, not mine. I added the page numbers and emphasis (bold & font size). After you have read this, I would be interested in your thoughts. But please read first, write afterwards. ----- Peter https://folkonfoot.podbean.com/e/chris-wood-in-faversham/

Chris Wood in Faversham ---- Aug 7th, 2020 by Folk on Foot ---- The award winning singer, songwriter and guitarist Chris Wood has lived in Kent all his life. "If you keep moving around, how much can you trust your judgement?" he asks. "If you stop where you are, the world does eventually come to you."

Since the Brexit referendum and election of 2019, Chris has been in challenging mood. On this walk with his dog Dancer and Matthew Bannister, Chris performs his song "Take Back Control" and contrasts the commuters on the London-bound platform at 6 every morning with what he calls "the slope-shouldered, whey-faced broken people" in Faversham's greasy spoons and declining market place. "This is my muse," he tells me. "This darkness and this hypocrisy and these contradictions - I thrive on it". Sometimes he feels the only way forward is to follow the simple philosophy: "be kind and grow a garden".

As he takes Matthew out onto the marshes around the Faversham creek, Chris reminisces about sailing the coastal waters with his Dad, then waxes lyrical about lying down for a nap in the reeds and waking to the enormous expanse of sky. He sings his setting of a John Clare poem. There's also time to visit his allotment - although Chris says his wife Clare is the gardener and he is simply the "old, broken-down tractor". A fascinating and thought-provoking conversation with one of England's most acutely observant and poetic songwriters.

Google Sites creation will only be available in the new experience. Transition your active classic sites before September 2021.

Dear Piety Piet,
In 2016, we launched an updated Google Sites (referred to in this email as "new Sites") designed to help you create websites without programming experience, optimize across mobile and desktop, and co-build with real-time collaboration. In 2017, we announced that we are replacing the previous Sites experience, referred to as "classic Sites" with our new Google Sites product. Since that announcement, we've invested in the new Sites experience by building top requested features.
If you take no action, starting September 1, 2021 your active sites will automatically be:
1: Downloaded as an archive and saved to your Google Drive.
2: Replaced with a draft in the new Sites experience for you to review and publish.
Thanks for choosing Google Sites. -- The G Suite Team

> War Industry infests the American economy like a cancer, sapping its strength and distorting its creativity while devouring its treasure. Stunning in the depth of its research, Understanding the War Industry documents how the war industry commands the other two sides of the military-industrial-congressional triangle. It lays bare the multiple levers enabling the vast and proliferating war industry to wield undue influence, exploiting financial and legal structures, while co-opting Congress, academia and the media.

You might want to re-listen to the song while reading the line-breaks to make sure you agree that they are legit ahead of time. Otherwise, you may have a hard time believing this...
> This song has strong ties to the Fibonacci Sequence Wikipedia16 as can be seen in this version of the lyrics. The Fibonacci Sequence follows the same growth ratio (phi) as the Golden spiral Wikipedia16 which almost certainly has something to do with the repeated references to the spirals in this song. When he goes up the sequence, then starts down and up again, he may be thought to be swinging on the spiral. Listen along as Maynard sings, and you can hear the pattern in the number of syllables in each line (1, 1, 2, 3, 5, 8...).

> The Fertile Ground for Cults
> Posted by Henry Delacroix on August 11, 2020
> The spring's BLM eruption firmly demonstrated the religious nature of the left. The mainstream GOP crowd could not deny it any longer. The cult vibe was everywhere. There were tears, a martyr with a mythical story to cover up a horrible reality, religious call and response chants, self-flagellation, music and dancing, and even a dead body to venerate. The attendees were overwhelmingly white, especially the little BLM gatherings in small towns all across America where the only blacks they see are on screens. That population reveals though the subset of Americans primed for weird cult formation. The 2020s will only see a flowering of cults all across America.

> Wartime Farm Part 1 of 8 -- 731K views --- Jan 3, 2013 --- TheFarmvids -- 23.1K subscribers -- Historian Ruth Goodman and archaeologists Alex Langlands and Peter Ginn face up to the challenges of the biggest revolution ever seen in the history of the British countryside as they turn Manor Farm back to how it was run in the Second World War.
> When Britain entered the war, two-thirds of all Britain's food was imported - and now it was under threat from a Nazi blockade. To save Britain from starvation, the nation's farmers were tasked with doubling food production in what Churchill called 'the frontline of freedom'. This meant ploughing up 6.5 million acres of unused land - a combined area bigger than the whole of Wales.
> In this first episode, the farmers find themselves in a new location, a new time period and with a new team member. There is a new farmhouse to modernise, strict new rules to abide by and air raid precautions to contend with.
> The team begin by reclaiming badlands to grow new crops. Peter works with a blacksmith to design a special 'mole plough' to help drain the waterlogged clay fields. Ruth and Alex get to grips with a troublesome wartime tractor - and must plough through the night to get the wheat crop sown in time.

> The team tackle the conditions faced by British farmers in 1940, when the full impact of rationing took hold and which also saw Britain face the onslaught of Nazi bombing in the Blitz. Ruth finds out how about the impact rationing had in the kitchen as food became strictly limited - and also explores the temptations of the black market.
> Alex and Peter are confronted with vastly reduced supplies of feed for the animals, so attempt a method encouraged by the government: making "silage". This involves not only finding alternatives sources of feed to store for winter, but also creating a container to store them in. And for this they find out how the Women's Land Army could be of help. Along they way, they also discover how racial prejudice reared its ugly head during Land Girl recruitment - only to be overcome by the actions of a local farmer.

> Cultural Captivity: The Ecopsychology of Collective Trauma -- 24 views -- Aug 19 --- CIIS EWP -- 702 subscribers
> An East West Psychology PhD Dissertation by Vaughan Wilkins --- California Institute of Integral Studies
> August 13th, 2020 -- Abstract
> This theoretical dissertation explores the impacts of the loss of ecological participation across animal species, > including human animals. The field of ecopsychology and its applied branch, ecotherapy, focus on healing the relationship between people and the natural world brought on by this loss. However, due to myriad reasons the goals, focus, and effectiveness of these interventions have waned. In drawing from findings in the fields studying the collective symptoms of captive animals and modern trauma theory this dissertation seeks to refocus eco therapeutic efforts towards a unified approach to treating a collective and culturally transmitted form of developmental trauma - cultural captivity. By adopting trans-species psychology as a hermeneutic lens this dissertation traces the collective pathology first identified by ecopsychology across human and non-human animals to highlight and better understand the nature of the cultural captivity impacting ecological and psychological health in modern techno-industrial society. This dissertation provides new theoretical underpinnings for the development of ecotherapies that treat the cause of cultural captivity and lead towards collective liberation from this trauma.

> Why was the All Seeing Ewe having a "Live From Knowhere Illuminati Sheep Ball" AMA with Defango?

they swap roles to confuse the viewers / listneurs and pull them into the riddle ... all these big reveals and staged scuffles, politedia waves, etx, are hasbaraite larpfactorpro ziorbidity, including GW's .. it's part of a cordon 'sanitaire' around Palis more than anything.
Outtrim cooperated with JI on the hippy commeme, not very long ago but now writes:

> Jan Irvin - formerly anti-Zionist exposing #PizzaGate. After "flirting" with Nora Maccoby via Skype, did a complete 180 and became rabidly pro-Zionist and got involved with "the Knights of the Crystal Blade", convicted child sex traffickers. Falsely accused me of being a CIA agent.
> Folger Family

Izette Folger Nora Maccoby's sister. Folger's coffee. Abigail Folger was killed in the Manson Murders, linked to intelligence by Miles Mathis. Michael Aquino attributed Manson Murders to CIA in his last interview before his death, responding to a question from Thomas Schoenberger. One of the Folgers was President of Bohemian Grove

Cafritz Family - partners with James Alefantis in Transformer Art Gallery. Founders of NXIVM and its sub-cult DOS.

Tanya Cornwell Biss - claimed to have been imprisoned for years as a sex slave. Claims to have been caught bringing drugs into the U.S. from Amsterdam and to have been a drug dealer in college.

Jan Irvin - formerly anti-Zionist exposing #PizzaGate. After "flirting" with Nora Maccoby via Skype, did a complete 180 and became rabidly pro-Zionist and got involved with "the Knights of the Crystal Blade", convicted child sex traffickers. Falsely accused me of being a CIA agent.

Robert David Steele - Biss client. Ostensibly exposing #PizzaGate, went on InfoWars with his bizarre "Child sex trafficking to Mars" story to discredit with ridicule. Wears his college graduation gown to LARP as a judge in the "ITNJ", which appears to be trying to stop satanic ritual abuse but in fact wants high-level pedophiles to be let go without punishment through a reconciliation process.

Trevor Fitzgibbon - Biss client, PR specialist, former ShadowBox team member. Accused by multiple women of sexual misconduct but cleared of any criminal wrongdoing. Former friend of David Brock, has worked with John Podesta. One of the very first guests when George Webb and Jason Goodman got together, before the show was even called "Crowdsource the Truth".

Manuel Chavez III alias "Defango"- former Biss client. Host of Citizen Zone channel. Democratic operative. Infiltrated MAGA coalition then it broke apart. Infiltrated Q movement to discredit it, claims to have invented it. Promoted Jack Posobiec and Microchip's "Discord logs" LARP which was debunked at the time due to technical glitches. Recently LARPer JB came out to admit this was a hoax. Did many shows trying to debunk PizzaGate. Family connections to pedophilia. Introduced Isaac Kappy to Eliahi Priest.

this is the first vid of you*[and you]*rs i watch. liked the first half .. 'metrendemous' but .. stop playing with your food so much. the urgency worldwide is to help people become conscious of just how inalienable grounding is [if harmony counts, that is] and that a clear awareness of mineral cycles [the grand climate from below cycles as it were, quite apart from yet woven into yet further complexity w solar cicles] is essential for securing that rite/right in becoming actually inalienable. Anyway, here's to you*[and you]*rs never losing yours. Thanx .. you made my 'permacooledsure' list. In light of books like Saharasia perhaps it will become clear that the chinese are reeducating uygurs in order to imprint them with permie values and restore manmade deserts to levels of juicyness that people like you can deal with easily. And personally, i am put off by traces of turkic language popping up all over asia, parts of tibet for instance, etcetera, so i hope the fresh offensive to pin the boogieman mask on china will fail due to this info flowing thru channels such as yours ... thanx again.

When she grow up, she tried various job at the city.. once upon a time, she got a call that her grandma was sick so she left everything and cameback to hometown to take care of her nana. She was inspired by her brother who uploads singing videos on Meipai (Chinese social media) and thinking that she could do one of that too. Over the years through trials and errors she was able to build her channel. After learning this about her, I was really impressed. All i can say is, she is truly a hard working person and never leaves her family. We all should be inspired!! Ps: All that woodworking and cooking skill she learned from her grandpa. Apart from this channel, I heard that she is also a bussineess woman

> There is a growing movement by innovative, small-scale organic farmers to establish new standards for growing food with high levels of vitamins, carbohydrates, minerals, antioxidants and trace minerals that match or exceed re-1940 USDA mineral levels. The no-till organic revolution is being pioneered by visionaries like Dr Zach Bush who understands where humanity is headed. His Farmers Footprint movement is committed to regenerating five million acres of farmland by 2025.

> 3.1K views - Feb 7 --- ProfSteveKeen -- 19.1K subscribers

> This is a talk I gave to students at Vrije Universiteit in Amsterdam yesterday--where Richard Tol has a fractional appointment. It's probably the most impassioned speech I have given on this topic to date. The more I delve into mainstream climate change economics, the more ludicrous attempts I find to reach a pre-ordained view that climate change is no big deal. One of my patrons put this very well: "Tol and Nordhaus, in my view, quite obviously reasoned backwards from a minimalist conclusion and sewed up their data to make it fit. The IPCC did the same thing to create their risk evaluations."

> La Terra De Hochelaga Nella Nova Francia --- Venice / 1565 (1606) ----- The first printed plan of an American town. Jacques Cartier, the great French explorer, visited the village of Hochelaga on the island of Montreal in 1535. The village was near a mountain the explorer named Mount Royal or Monte Real. His account was published in the third volume of Ramusio's Delle navigationi et viaggi in 1556 along with this woodcut illustration based on the narrative. The map includes many of the things described by Cartier: significant advance in the mapping of the American West, calling it an advance of the first importance. The map reflects the lack of knowledge in the Northern parts of the Hemisphere, but does note the Strait of Magellan and retains the mythical large welcome is depicted in the clasping of hands by a Frenchman (presumably Cartier) and a native chief, and the advantage of two-story fortifications is demonstrated. The lodges within the fort are exceedingly symmetrical, but with each family unit indicated by a fire, they were probably intended to indicate that they were both single family and multiple family or extended family dwellings. It is not clear who the Hochelagans were, although most likely either Huron or Iriquois. The village was gone by the time Champlain arrived. Ganong, Crucial Maps p. 303-314; Goss, he Mapping of North America #7.
> Giovanni Battista Ramusio Biography
> > Giovanni Battista Ramusio (1485-1557) was an Italian geographer who worked within the Venetian Empire. His father had been a magistrate and he himself served as a civil servant to Venice. He served throughout Europe, allowing him to build up a network of informants and a collection of travel materials. He compiled this information into his enduring masterpiece, Navigationi et Viaggi, in 1550 (first volume) and 1556 (third volume). The second volume appeared after his death in 1559, as the original manuscript had been destroyed by a fire

> Leitmotif Siegfried (2015)
> Rickels tracks the career of Walter Benjamin's review-swap friend, psychoanalyst Alexander Mette, who remained in Berlin during the Third Reich. But when Mette tried continuing to pitch work on Dionysus and Apollo it was tossed in 1934. He reworked his language in the Romantic gobbledyspook mode of the Nazi talking heads, publishing studies of contemporary dream books and the Dionysian clown, which between the lines, however, give a record of decisive changes altering psychic reality in record time.
> Critique of Fantasy, Vol. 1: Between a Crypt and a Date Mark --- by Laurence A. Rickels addresses both the style or genre of fantasy and the mental faculty, long the hot property of philosophical ethics. Freud passed it along in his 1907 essay on the poetics of daydreaming when he addressed omnipotent wish fantasy as the source and resource of the aspirations and resolutions of art, which, however, the artwork can never look back at or acknowledge. By grounding his genre in the one fantasy that is true, the Gospel, J.R.R. Tolkien obviated and made obvious the ethical mandate of fantasy's restraining order.

With George Lucas's Star Wars we entered the borderlands of the fantasy and science fiction genres, a zone resulting from and staggering a contest, which Tolkien inaugurated in the 1930s. The history of this contested borderland marks changes that arose in expectation of what the new media held in store, changes realized (but outside the box of what had been projected) upon the arrival of the unanticipated digital relation, which at last seemed to award the fantasy genre the contest prize.

Freud's notion of the Zeitmarke (datemark), the indelible impress of the present moment that triggered the daydream that denies it, already introduced the import of fantasy's historicization. Science fiction won a second prize that keeps it in the running. No longer bound to projecting the future, the former calling which in light of digitization it flunked, science fiction becomes allegorical and reading in the ruins of its failed predictions illuminates all the date marks and crypts hiding out in the borderlands it traverses with fantasy. To motivate the import of an evolving science fiction genre, Critique of Fantasy makes Gotthard GÃ¼nther's reflections in the 1950s on American science fiction - as heralding a new metaphysics and a new planetary going on interstellar civilization - a mainstay of its cultural anthropology with B-genres.

Why was this farmer killed? | VPRO Documentary -- 898 views -- Sep 23 -- vpro documentary -- 229K subscribers -- Farmer Jerome Laronze wanted to work in an animal-friendly and small-scale manner, but that brought him into conflict with authority. Now he is dead. ---- Jerome Laronze was convinced: if you want to save the environment, you have to go back to traditional farming methods. He was emphatically against intensive livestock farming and chose his own path: animal-friendly and small-scale. His opposition to vaccinations, antibiotics and other European regulations brought him into conflict with authority. His farm was in danger of being evacuated, his cows taken away.
Then, on a Saturday in 2017, Jerome was killed in his car by three bullets from a gendarme. The circumstances of his death have still not been clarified.

> Have you ever thought about dropping your current vocation and selling your possessions to start fresh and start a farm?
> That notion certainly crossed the mind of our guest today! Joining us today is Mike "The Fit Farmer" Dickson, former natural bodybuilder and personal trainer turned farmer/homesteader. Mike and his wife Lacie sold almost everything they owned, left their 2600 sq ft house in the city, and started a new life in a 700 sq ft YURT in the country.
> They (and their three children) run a market garden on their homestead in North Carolina. Mike and Lacie are both passionate about living a healthy sustainable lifestyle, not just in taking care of the Earth, but also by sustaining their bodies with healthful foods, and sustaining their relationships with each other.
> As a mixed race farmer, Mike has a view on racism that contradicts the narrative currently being pushed by the media - Unity over divisiveness - a view he feels more people need to embrace. Join us as we discuss that as well as how Mike runs his farm, Youtube channel, and all aspects of his operation!
> Interested in eliminating waste, reducing costs and increasing profitability for your farm?
> Applying Lean principles on your farm will help improve your operational processes and assist in implementing a continuous improvement practice for sustainable profitable growth. There are five principles in Lean including 1) Specifying VALUE as seen by the customer, 2) IDENTIFY and create value stream maps, 3) Make value creating steps FLOW, 4) Production based on PULL not push, and 5) Strive for PERFECTION.

> Posted September 27, 2020 by The Final Straw Radio
> This week on The Final Straw, we present a conversation that I had with Lorax B. Horne, a non-binary writer and journalist from Canada, Ecuador and the United Kingdom who is currently the Editor-In-Chief of the data transparency collective, Distributed Denial of Secrets, or DDOSecrets. In June of this year, the collective released roughly 269 gigabytes of hacked information from 251 law enforcement agencies, dubbed BlueLeaks. The data comes from the shadowy hacker group, Anonymous, and was retrieved from Federal Fusion centers which facilitate information gathering and dissemination between high level agencies like the Department of Homeland Security, Department of Justice and the FBI with state and local law enforcement and are situated around the so-called United States.

For the hour, Lorax talks about the development of fusion centers, the contents of the #BlueLeaks trove, insights drawn by journalists who have used the data to cover things like far-right conspiracy theories entering law enforcement bulletins, their editing process, social media and governmental attempts to cover up the contents and the persecution of WikiLeaks' Julian Assange.

> 47K views -- Oct 3 --- Kirsten Dirksen -- 1.4M subscribers
> Since a "forced retirement" three years ago, Tomas Robison has been stretching his savings by exchanging labor for rent on an off-grid homestead in the Santa Fe mountains. Applying the lessons learned from 3 decades of intense camping (as a climber and river guide), Robison created his home from a yurt, outdoor camp kitchen, hand-crafted composting toilet (The Dood-R), and a "summer shower" from an old parachute.
> Calling it "voluntary homelessness", Robison believes his camp can be reproduced by others facing unemployment or eviction or simply looking to replicate his no-income, low-income lifestyle. It's not always a comfortable setup: in winter, Robison takes cold baths and makes regular trips up the hill to fill containers with water from the properties' only well. Having sold most of his power tools, Robison calls his new focus "paleo modern": he relies mostly on hand tools for chopping wood and creating furniture, though he has kept some modern tools like an electric chainsaw for the bigger jobs.
> For Carol - the property owner-, the location is a sanctuary where she has fled a job in international development work focused on poverty and the environment. Frustrated by a sense of powerlessness, she has chosen to apply the bigger principles of land stewardship and simple living to her own life. To the property, she has transported a traditional Ifugao hut (built by another resident of the homestead, Mamerto Tingdongan). She and Tomas have started work on a Cal-Earth SuperAdobe structure, but are currently looking for more help to finish.
> Despite the difficulty of the harsh New Mexican winters, Robison enjoys the challenge and works to cultivate what he believes is the necessary mindset to find fulfillment in the solitude and his daily tasks.
>
> "Solitude is independence. It had been my wish and with the years I had attained it. It was cold. Oh, cold enough! But it was also still, wonderfully still and vast like the cold stillness of space in which the stars revolve." - Herman Hesse, Steppenwolf

Transforming a former wasteland into Tianjin Eco-City | Full Episode - 21,002 views -- Jan 21, 2019 -- CNA -- 1.06M subscribers
It was once a desolate, toxic, uninhabitable wasteland. Today, Tianjin has been transformed into a cool, breathing liveable city. Go inside the Tianjin Eco-City to see how this bilateral project between China and Singapore has transformed over the past decade. Home to thousands of families and businesses, it's now setting new standards for modern living in China and beyond.

Follow us: channelnewsasia.com
Patrick Oh: It is a very big project, thus the challenge is how to get enough companies and people into the place to turn it into a city...currently, it is only 20% occupied. Development is not merely about infrastructure and having buildings cause currently in China there are many ghost cities which failed to atrract the people to stay there...
Steve Grayson: This is a SCAM. China is simply PRINTING money to build these GHOST CITIES. They are printing just enough to keep ppl alive and working (approx $9000 USD/a year). Welcome to COMMUNISM and it's manufactured GDP growth by the government. Trump's tariffs will BUST this Bubble.

rimpompin: What a moron if you don't know the facts then you're a brainwashed and follower of geroge soros media. These are facts, why are you here to spread nonsense don't make a fool out yourself and ridicule yourself with your words What a clown.

Today, money is the dominant measure of social achievement no matter where it comes from or how it is obtained. It's not about need; it's about winning. To compete in this race -- for zeroes, in bank accounts -- elites in countries rich and poor are rewriting the rules in their favor. They are rigging the system. That is what ordinary people mean by "corruption." And it is the existential threat facing our generation.
My intent is to combat it, and to help restore to their place of honor other values without which our society can not endure.

Author Gary L Stewart claims his father was the Zodiac Killer in sensational new book
A US man who spent 10 years researching his biological father claims to have uncovered compelling evidence he was a notorious, uncaught serial killer. - MARNIE O'NEILL - May 15, 2014
AN explosive new book by a US executive alleges his father is the Zodiac Killer â€" one of the most notorious and so-far uncaught serial killers in American history.
Publisher HarperCollins ordered its staff to keep silent about The Most Dangerous Animal of All by Gary L Stewart, until it hit the stands today but the book's main revelations were leaked hours earlier by The New Yorker â€" which now employs one of the lawyers who vetted Stewart's story.

"I am virtually certain that the writer of the marriage certificate between Earl Van Best Jr. and Judith Chandler is the same writer as the writer of the Zodiac letters." --- Michael N. Wakshull ------ Court certified Questioned Document Examiner ---- The Most Dangerous Animal of All (HarperCollins 2014) --- Los Angeles, California ----- May 25, 2014

SKH Note- Though I have read the book, and am myself an author of a Zodiac investigation, MOST EVIL (Dutton 2008), I am not going to comment on this book's merit or lack of, as some would claim, "I've got skin in the game and cannot be objective." The following article is written not to denigrate or judge another's investigation, but rather to underscore my own long-standing and frequently stated belief in the overall fallibility of handwriting analysis and its potential for misuse when introduced as "hard forensic evidence" in a criminal trial.

There were passages that made me cry - after what Gary comes to visit his fatherÂ´s grave in Mexico- the first time for him to ever be close to his real Father and the only chance to let all of his hurt and pain spurt out, and to finally find some peace. It is the thought of betrayal and abandonment by someone who was meant to love and care for you, and who, instead - caused so much pain and death all around him, twisting lives of others for no better reason than his own private sick enjoyment or feeling of entitlement.

There's almost no evidence Earl Van Best Jr. was the Zodiac Killer

The 408-symbol cipher was broken by an unlikely pair: Donald Harden, a teacher at Alisal High in Salinas, and his wife Bettye. The pair decided to buckle down over the weekend and crack it. By the end of the weekend, they'd done it. Perhaps unsurprisingly, Zodiac didn't give his real name, but the note was suitably creepy. "I like killing people because it is so much fun it is more fun than killing wild game in the forrest because man is the most [sic] dangeroue animal of all," it read.

-----piet: atrocious contortion of what is in fact an interesting side yarn going 3 generations deep:

Earl Van Best, Jr (14 Jul 1934-20 May 1984)
The name Earl Van Best, Jr. joined George Hodel, Guy Ward Hendrickson, Jack Tarrance and the other fathers accused by their own children, and Gary Stewart's book became just another sad chapter in the ongoing story of the unsolved Zodiac murders.

In his book, Stewart stressed an alleged connection between Best and the infamous satanist Anton Lavey. In 1966, Lavey founded The Church of Satan in celebration of what he declared to be Anno Satanas, the first year of the Age of Satan. Lavey's sensational publicity stunts earned him a reputation as an American bogeyman, but Stewart offered no evidence that Lavey or Van Best were responsible for any murders.

This is not just about a railway: meet the women at the forefront of the battle to save Jones Hill Wood Eliza Egret, The Canary, Oct 9 2020

After nine days of amazing resistance by activists, the battle to save Jones Hill Wood is entering its final phase, with nine people arrested on Thursday 8 October. Jones Hill is an ancient woodland which will be destroyed imminently to make way for the HS2 high speed railway, dubbed "the most expensive and destructive infrastructure project in Europe."

Why did Amnesty UK, Bellingcat and White Helmets sabotage Roger Waters webinar on corporate pollution?
Max Blumenthal, The Grayzone, Oct 12 2020

The campaign manager of Amnesty International UK, Kristyan Benedict, appears to have removed an Amnesty International tweet announcing an Amazon Watch webinar to raise awareness both of Chevron's pollution of an indigenous region of Ecuador and the company's ruthless persecution of environmental lawyer Steven Donzinger. A hard-line advocate of Western intervention in Syria, Benedict apparently deleted the announcement because of the participation of Pink Floyd co-founder Roger Waters in the event. Besides being Donzinger's most prominent public supporter, Waters is an outspoken opponent of US and UK regime-change policy toward Syria. Donzinger, for his part, is a self-described "corporate political prisoner" whose persecution began in 2011 after he won a multi-billion dollar legal judgment against Chevron over the oil giant's toxic dumping in Ecuador's indigenous Lago Agrio region. He is charged with contempt of court for refusing a federal judge's order to turn over his cellphone and computer to Chevron. With the order still under appeal on constitutional grounds, Donziger has refused to obey it. Chevron has never paid the $9.5b it owes in damages. Instead, it has retaliated with a multi-million-dollar campaign to demonize Donzinger, hiring a massive team of corporate lawyers to oversee an attempt to disbar the environmental lawyer and freeze his personal bank accounts. In Aug 2019, a federal judge ordered Donzinger placed under house arrest pending a contempt of court hearing, and confined him to his NYC apartment. Donzinger told reporter Sharon Lerner this January:

> I'm like a corporate political prisoner. They are trying to totally destroy me.

> Beginning with Ronald Hepburn's path-breaking essay, "Contemporary Aesthetics and the Neglect of Natural Beauty," which helped establish the modern discipline of environmental aesthetics, philosophers have provided sketches of what, after Hegel, might be called "philosophical histories of the aesthetics of nature." These histories are remarkably similar and can easily be blended together to create a "received history" of the discipline. This history has subtly influenced work in the field. Unfortunately, it is not completely accurate and, as a result, has had a misleading effect. A more accurate and expanded alternative history calls into question the received history's view both on the origins of the field in arts-based aesthetic theories and on the nature and value of the aesthetic categories, "the picturesque" and "the sublime." These categories were not borrowed from philosophy of art and inappropriately applied to nature, but instead were developed to appraise landscapes, which unlike natural objects could only rarely be judged beautiful since they are almost never symmetrical or ordered.

> Caliban is the savage son of the witch Sycorax, and was born on the island. :::::::::::::: When Prospero arrives on the island, he shows him all its secrets that he knows, and in return is educated by Miranda and her father. He attempts to rape the girl, however, and is thereafter enslaved. He is not a happy slave. Prospero keeps him obedient by sending his spirits to torment him with pinching and bruising, though he cannot lock up Caliban's tongue. He is more than willing to worship any person who brings him a hope of freedom, particularly if they give him alcohol, and so he falls in with Stefano and Trinculo, not realizing the extent of their foolishness. His thoughts towards Prospero are brutishly violent, but he is not immune to aesthetics, and enjoys the musics that can be heard throughout the island. When sobered up, he becomes aware of the madness of his revolt. Though distinctly human in form, he is considered deformed by many, and often called a monster; there is also something fishy about him, possibly his odor.

Videos, Audios, Documents, CIA Whistleblower, witnesses, and the Seal Team 6 Fathers! They reveal: Hillary, Brennen, Obama, Biden, Pannetta gave the kill order to kill Seal Team 6. The skinny of it: They made a back room deal with Iran to hold bin Laden in Pakistan and then move him into Afghanistan at the right moment for the trophy kill (on audio). Iran double-crossed them and instead of moving bin Laden, they sent in a body double. Navy Seal Team 6 went in and killed a man but it wasn't bin laden (so Bin Laden is still alive). Iran then blackmailed TTUSA (Traitor Team USA aka, Clinton, Brennen, Obama, Biden, and Pannetta). They blackmailed them for $1.5 billion of which $2 billion was airdropped in cash in duffle bag by Obama (who was forced upon deadly threats by Clinton/Brennen) he had to do this and so the terrible Iran nuclear deal was done and the cash paid. Navy Seal Team 6 realized they hadn't killed Osama bin Laden and knew they were going to be killed. Hence, the coverup, Hillary now caught selling arms to and through Quatar, missiles, of which one was used to take out Seal Team 6. Watch the videos. Look at the documents. It's explosive and if they aren't arrested and the election stopped now, along with all those you've already mentioned - then it will no doubt cause a Revolutionary Rage.

Synchiropus sycorax, the Ruby Red Dragonet

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sycorax_*(moon)*

> Sycorax /ËˆsÉªkÉ’rÃ¦ks/ is the largest retrograde irregular satellite of Uranus. Sycorax was discovered on 6 September 1997

https://www.dramainthehood.net/2017/10/sycorax-is-loved/

> Though presented simply as an evil sorceress in The Tempest, Sycorax undertakes a more nuanced interpretation of the character, utilizing themes of racial and sexual oppression to challenge the audience to redefine their preconceptions of good and evil, lest they be confined to understand history as written by the victor.

https://www.nosweatshakespeare.com/characters/sycorax-the-tempest/

> Sycorax is not a character we meet in Shakespeare's The Tempest play. However, although already dead before the action of The Tempest begins, she is an unseen presence in the play and she casts a dark shadow over it. When Prospero arrives on the island he finds evidence of a previous occupant, a witch who practiced a malevolent magic and left a son, the deformed, barely human, Caliban.

Sycorax is thus an important part of the back story to the play. Another important aspect is Prospero's back story. He was usurped as Duke of Milan and, instead of being executed, he was taken pity on by a friendly courtier, placed in a boat with his baby daughter, Miranda, and set adrift in the Mediterranean Sea, striking land on a remote island. Sycorax's story runs parallel to that of Prospero's, and Prospero's fifteen years on the island runs parallel to Sycorax's occupancy of it. Sycorax, while pregnant, was banished from Algiers to the Mediterranean island for practicing sorcery, in parallel with Prospero's being usurped because of his immersion in his studies rather than in governing his state, and ending up on the island. Like Prospero, too, she was spared death. Instead, she was taken to the island by sailors and abandoned there. When her son was born she taught him to worship the demonic god, Setebos and showed him how to use the resources of the island.

Sycorax's unseen presence is an influential force in the play. Her memory defines some of the relationships. Her son, Caliban, claims ownership of the island and, with the help of shipwrecked members of the royal party, Stephano and Trinculo, attempts to overthrow Prospero. Also, in order to control the rebellious Ariel, Prospero constantly reminds him of the cruel treatment he had suffered at the hands of Sycorax and threatens to do the same to him. Here, too, the parallel is evident. Prospero is a mirror image of Sycorax, doing much the same things, but laterally reversed: he releases Ariel and tortures Caliban. The similarities between Prospero and Sycorax throw Prospero's apparent goodness into ambiguity as his cruelty and dictatorial manner - his threats to Ariel and his treatment of Caliban - are underlined by that mirror effect.

In Act 1 Scene 2 Prospero tells Miranda, "for one thing she did /They [referring to the Algerians] would not take her life." It is something that has fascinated scholars. There are basically two ideas about that. First, there is a story about Emperor Charles V's invasion of Algiers in 1541 in which an unnamed witch predicts that the invading fleet will be wrecked before it can do any harm. She advises the city commander not to surrender. He takes her advice and Algiers does not fall. Shakespeare would have heard about that. The other idea is that she avoided execution by getting pregnant - a common practice among female thieves in Elizabethan England, where pregnant women were sometimes spared execution.

psychorrhax ("heartbreaker"), may be a play on the Greek word psychoraggia ("death struggle")
An especially odd and early guess at a meaning by one critic was sic or rex, a Latin homophone alluding to Queen Elizabeth's pride.[7][8]

Avoiding execution
Scholars have wondered what it was that Sycorax did to avoid execution, as described in Act one, Scene two by Prospero: "for one thing she did / They [the Algerians] would not take her life." Charles Lamb, a Romantic writer fascinated by Shakespeare and his works, and particularly intrigued by this question, found in John Ogilby's "Accurate Description of Africa" (1670) two versions of a story about Emperor Charles V's invasion of Algiers in 1541, relating that a witch (not named in the source text) had advised the commander of the city not to surrender, predicting the destruction of the besieging fleet, which was accomplished nine days later by a "dreadful tempest". The principal version given claims that she was "richly remunerated" but the alternative version, "to palliate the shame and the reproaches that are thrown upon them for making use of a witch," attributes the storm to the prayers of a holy man named Cidy Utica.[21]

Later scholars, however, have argued that Sycorax was saved from execution because she was pregnant. This was not uncommon, as many female criminals in Shakespeare's day got pregnant to avoid execution.[9]

Sycorax in later literature
In Ernest Renan's play Caliban the anti-hero states that Sycorax went to "all the devils" but left him as rightful ruler of the island.[25] Marina Warner reimagined the witch in her 1992 book Indigo, in which Sycorax is a healer and dyer of indigo who uses her magic to help slaves. Her attempts to give up sorcery fail, because "she cannot abjure, give up, control the force by which she is possessed".[26]

In Tad Williams' novel Caliban's Hour (1994), Caliban tells how, although Sycorax was a powerful witch, people in Algiers (especially the mayor) had needed her powers for their own needs and purposes, but eventually they had turned on her; after she was denounced and arrested,

"So frightened were they of her magical words, her curses, that they scorched out her tongue with a heated iron-but even that was not enough. Afraid that the killing of even a silenced witch would bring a plague of bad luck down on them, they put her in a boat, my pregnant mother, and towed her out to the open sea, where she was set adrift."

Caliban further states that although mute, Sycorax was able to communicate with him by putting pictures into his mind, and that her death was caused by her choking on a fish bone two years before Prospero and Miranda's arrival.

J.B. Aspinall's novel Sycorax (2006) places the origin of the story with a 14th-century peasant woman from Yorkshire.[27] The Indian poet Suniti Namjoshi in Sycorax: New Fables and Poems imagines Sycorax returning to the island after Prospero and the others have left (including Caliban). Namjoshi has stated, "The Sycorax in my poem is still alive... She is still defiant, still fierce, but she is old and knows that death is no longer so far away that it need not be thought of... I wanted to follow Sycorax, keep her company, as it were, up to the final moment".[28]

Sycorax is also revived in the "Baroque pastiche" opera The Enchanted Island, devised by Jeremy Sams, in the first production of which she was played by Joyce DiDonato.[29]

Every reference I can find to this analysis is sourced back to the same person, Craig Hubley. ... --The Trucker 07:26, 6 January 2006 (UTC).

References, please!
I'm concerned about a lot of the material in this article and related articles, in particular the analysis of the six "styles of capital". Every reference I can find to this analysis is sourced back to the same person, Craig Hubley. Hi!!!!not an economics professional, but rather someone who likes to post his ideas up on the internet. Unless the information can be backed up by a source other than Craig Hubley, it needs to go; an encyclopedia is not the place for articles that describe the ideas of one individual, where that individual is not well known. Enchanter 10:34, May 28, 2004 (UTC)

Sorry but that is really serious witch hunting. A lot of the assertions in this article are just regular stuff, and several names are mentionned as reference. If you object to one specific point, please do so, but just deleting the article because of its author is not reasonable. SweetLittleFluffyThing

Yes, there is plenty of stuff in there which is regular stuff, and I'm not suggesting for a moment that the whole article is deleted. But some of the material here is very dubious. I can find no analysis referring to "styles of capital" in any economics reference, or anywhere on the internet (other than by or sourced to Mr Hubley), at all. The same goes for instructional capital (which I've already reduced to a stub after trying and failing to come up with anyone, anywhere, who used the term instructional capital in the same way as the article.) If you disagree with me, and think that that part of the analysis is "regular stuff", I would be interested to see references, which is why I have asked on the talk page before removing any content.

This is not witch hunt; I don't care who wrote the article. What I care about is that the article should be a high quality summary of knowledge on the subject, rather than reflecting some new research by one individual. Enchanter 20:47, 29 May 2004 (UTC)

---Enchanter, I agree with you that this is a contraversial issue. When I studied economics these terms were not used as described here. However there is a legitimate literature that has developed in the last decade. For example, look at Thomas A Stewart, 1997, Intellectuall capital: The new wealth of organizations, Doubleday, NewYork. Stewart divides intellectual capital into Human capital, Customer capital, and Structural capital. The term Digital capital comes from Don Tapscott, David Ticoll,and Alex Lowery, 2000, Digital Capital: Harnessing the power of business webs, Nicholas Brealey Publishing, London. Knowledge capital is from Alan Burton-Jones, 1999, Knowledge capitalism, Oxford University press, Oxford. Charles Leadbeater, 1999, Living on thin Air, Penguin, London, uses the distiction between knowledge capital, social capital, and financial capital.

The proliferation of capitals is quite recent and still very much in flux. But I do not think that this warrants there exclusion on the grounds of original research. One of the advantages of an online 'opedia is that we can deal with the state of human knowledge as it evolves.

Just one suggestion, this part of the article should be moved to Capital (business) because these new capitals originate in the management literature (both popular and academic) rather than from economics. mydogategodshat 18:39, 2 Jun 2004 (UTC)

I agree with the need for references. Not because the information in the article is necessarily sketchy, but with only one citation, there's no easy way to follow up on the the more specific and peripheral claims the article makes. Some versions of classical economics include "organization, entrepreneurship, or management" as a forth kind of capital? Which versions, espoused by whom? I am new to Wikipedia editing, otherwise I'd give this article a tag saying it needs citations. Hopefully a more experienced editor reads this and agrees. human capital: individual, instructional and social capital https://openpolitics.ca/tiki-index.php?page=instructional+capital

https://lists.w3.org/Archives/Public/public-xg-eiif/2008Feb/0016.html
Capital assets that many people call "intangible" can easily and uncontroversially be categorized as the human "individual" (real actual non-corporate persons with bodies that eventually die), the "instructional" (made out of bits) and "social" (made out of > relationships between living beings, and not reducible > to any sequence of bits or individual body). Flesh this list out with "financial", "natural" or ecological, "infrastructural" or physical or manufactured, styles of capital as required. There are only those six in my opinion, and that opinion came from much research. Orthogonal to the capital asset type, one describes the authority or process by which they are defensible for inclusion in particular works or projects. For that I create a broad category called "defensible" and make the UN agencies, IEEE, ANSI, ITU, and other non-institutional sources of such instructions including widespread use in certain industries a subcategory of "defensible", i.e. "defensible in Don's home state due to widespread use in Fire Brigades" is just another subclass of this "defensible" category. Without having to invent a bizarre tangle of virtual authorities and pseudo-institutions just to fit into some incorrect model that standards necessarily arise from institutions. Similarly, "defensible with reference to Heidegger's claim that language comes at us from the future" is just another subcategory of defensible and can co-exist with any other rationale one might need to invoke in a design argument. These are strictly operational definitions and will save a lot of trouble compared to baroque structural category systems that make indefensible assumptions. For the benefit of those who wish to defend the above: I submit that any fool can tell a living body from a sequence of bits from a social relationship between living things. And that anyone qualified to become involved in a design argument recognizes such a wide range of defensible design constraints that there's more lost than gained in trying to pigeonhole all of them in advance. If it turns out that 90 per cent of the design arguments are resolved by referring to one of the accredited standards bodies, fine, you might wish to create a subcategory for such bodies and then invest in arguing what "accredited" means. But there would still be that 10 per cent resolved by some other means, and they'd remain in the catch-all "defensible". And, further, you can describe something as being in principle defensible without having to agree with it or appear to advocate it. So someone is unlikely to throw around the fact that you added it to a table or wiki category, representing it as an actual defense of that design precedent. So that's my defense of the concept of defensibility and why I prefer to avoid "standard", "accredited" or any implication that institutions authorize precedents. As Don implies, it's often saner to assume that use in real world deployed applications is what makes design precedents worth considering/copying in future designs. ---- Craig Hubley

Hubley is a self-acknowledged trollherd and also one of many trolls advocating protection of the infrastructure of democracy. The word "troll" means very little objectively and can be interpreted two ways - see usefulness of trolling and the paper Mediawiki and the public sphere.

Unlike most trolls, it isn't hard to attribute a view Hubley actually holds. He participates in some 20 yahoogroups and a few large public wikis under his own name, so his positions are well known and associated with himself.

Though reputedly hundreds or maybe thousands of others under pseudonyms or in support of secret factions he controls have apparently spread some materials he wrote, it is unreasonable to imagine that he controls all the people who merely agree with him, or to claim that everything attributed to him, is his.

Dark Journalist considers himself a follower of Peter Dale Scott but he doesn't realize that I was corresponding with Professor Peter Dale Scott around 20 years ago - maybe it was 19 years ago. haha.
So I have a long standing on these "conspiracy" issues. But apparently the Dark Journalist or his "moderator" felt the need to censor me - I was no longer able to post in the chat. What was my crime? I was just posting messages - too much information? Can't handle the truth?
I was just posting how everyone should watch the Mirage Men doc to expose how the ET Alien lies are from CIA military disinfo.

The Vanishing Mediator of chattel bond servants as a type of slavery in the US colonies that created the White Race: Theodore W. Allen

http://readsettlers.org/settlers-data/ii/02_THEODOREWALLEN_ClassStruggleAndTheOriginsOfSlavery_Somerville1976_p34.pdf

So if we check his claim - that in 1622 - there were 100 "dissolutes" or convicts brought over as forced labor - ... the thousands of "tenants" from Europe were turned back into "servants."

So this is why Democracy is a scam also because the "natural number" counting system is already predicated on a logarithmic and inverse exponential distribution of wealth (by then externalizing the costs of production via destruction of ecology and killing off of slaves, etc.).
Technically "bonded" workers were "chattel" in the sense that their work contracts could be sold off and were "bought" when arrived into the New World - and there was corporeal punishment. But obviously it was not nearly as bad as the chattel slavery of Africans. The goal by the elite was to get the poor whites to no longer be in solidarity with the African slaves.

And it still works to this day!! Why? Because technology as progress is based on automation of jobs - and so unions were racist because the better paying "technical" jobs are of course much more limited in number - and this just keeps getting worse. So now robots are farming and automation is the number one cause of job loss even in China! A good book on this is "The Religion of Technology" by Professor David F. Noble - and his follow up "Myth of the Promised Land."

i visited Dirk's info on the subject but that failed to make my up and so i put the following question to you:

My 2 rootcanals are for over 20 years old and one broke last spring, the repair soon fell out due to lack of support, or inexperience of young dentist [old one dropped me cause i missed an appointment] .. and a few more reasons prolly. I think i can do without the mastication surface. Should i have it taken out? In light of older age debilitation i'd say yes.

> Voidisyinyang Voidisyinyang: Actually dogs have droopy double eyelids due to adapting to human domestication - so they look "cute." I don't think that Neotony claim can be expanded to all mammals. I'm not sure but it smacks of evolutionary psychology which has been debunked by Professor Brian Ferguson. I'm gonna bail on that error right there. "Neoteny is seen in domesticated animals such as dogs and mice." Yeah not "mammals" as a whole. That's just strange. But not too surprising if someone is alienated from ecology - as most modern people are.

> Cultureel startkapitaal, een blijvend voordeel?
> Mens en maatschappij, Volume 92, Number 2, June 2017, pp. 125-152*(28)* June 1, 2017 ----- This article investigates how cultural capital influences occupational status, and the role of education in this dynamic. Using the cultural reproduction theory, we propose hypotheses expecting a direct and an indirect positive effect from cultural capital on occupational status. Drawing on the cultural mobility theory, we hypothesise that the direct effect would decrease with the level of education. Using data from the Longitudinal Internet Studies of the Social Sciences, we find support for the cultural reproduction theory implying that cultural capital is supporting inequality both in the occupational field and in the educational system. We find no support for our hypothesis based on the cultural mobility theory as we find no effect from education on the relation between cultural capital and occupational status

a few days later he crosses a 5500 plain w no complaints ... even tho he is pitting his assinine stubbornness against headwinds] ... then, after these few end 2018 weeks of utter aridity [clearly weakened from all the multicolored dusts] he meets up w a disciple who humors him turning around for a hard lesson, going the stubborn way ... it would have been more respectful on iohan's part to do a few loops to honour the occasion 1h7th minute his pride prevents him from standing downwind to actually record the answer to 'how does it feel to be pushing your bike against a wall'? Gazellion dealhour question.
he fesses up his blindness w a song after an hour and fourteen minutes things get cheerier .. they find 2 tiny pinkbrown domes, all furnished and wired ....

> Appalachian American Heroes Face Brutal State Repression in Virginia -- Posted on July 26, 2019 by Kira
> I recently went to visit my friends at the Yellow Finch Tree sit in Elliston, VA. My friends have been bravely resisting the Mountain Valley Pipeline (MVP) for 4 years, putting their bodies on the line to stop the wholesale destruction of the only ancient forest we have left in Virginia. The MVP project is a criminally insane 42 inch fracked gas pipeline currently being blasted and trenched into the most ecologically sensitive areas of Appalachia, poisoning our water and killing everything in its wide path. Living in the forest on the side of a steep hill and on tiny platforms high in the trees they intend to save, my friends at Yellow Finch are the bravest warriors protecting the sacred that I know and they need and deserve our support right now.
> Since their efforts at slowing down construction to give legal challenges a chance to save what's left have been successful in many ways, the State has become annoyed with their non-compliance with ecocide.

Based on the book of the same title by Professor Richard Werner, a visiting researcher at the Bank of Japan during the 90s crash, during which the stock market dropped by 80% and house prices by up to 84%. The film uncovers the real cause of this extraordinary period in recent Japanese history.

i beg to differ with the last line spoken: i'd allot them a place of honour and pride, one with the most inimitable and grandiose growth factor terrestrially possible .. .those of the micro realm, all you need is a wall to keep them in, shit buckets and rocks in proportions pushing the edge of their metabolism and sweat equity mixing one with the other in order to prevent the stink, feed the worms and plants they are allowed to grow ... as their feed allotments are phased out ... this is hard core zionism, a meme yet to mature, ripen and come to, literally, fruiition. I am sure they will restore every last palestinian olive orchard, regreen the levant and then some. Simply lend a hand with the prevention of distration, their weakness and talent, the abstraction, metastatization bug that dug itÅ›elf into their genes too deeply to grow out of it again in a mere 5 score and 10 generations. it's also hily infectious, hence better to speak of a 'same memeplex' rather than 'same people' as Anthony does a few times. But those thus afflicted, from within or without, can very well live with and for their love of growth factors and so can all that lives. Their love of growth factors GROUNDED will save the day, will save tomorrow too, and that, after all .. was the pure and clean, original crystallization point of zionism, unless you want to call it a potemkin / cover from get go ... in which case all we need to do is foster a live version.

> saxxxology ::::::::: CNN referred to Native Americans as "something else" on their voter demographic poll last night. The poll on the screen read like this: White --- Black ---- Latino ----- Something else ----- Asian ..... We weren't declared as citizens of our own stolen land until 1924. We didn't get the right to vote (in all states) until the early 1960's. And yet non-natives can't even refer us as Indigenous people when we're a part of the electoral process. Y'all wanna know why Arizona flipped blue? The Navajo and Pima/O'Odham (one of my tribes!!!) communities have been crucial in flipping this state. the Native vote in Arizona was MASSIVE - no doubt to the impact Covid has had on our communities there. I'm going to look at other blue-flipped states but what I'm seeing so far is that Natives have been critical for the Democratic vote regardless of voter suppression tactics designed to keep Natives away from the polls.

> I also noticed that CNN started running ads raising awareness for Covid impact on Navajo territories and my thoughts are: 1: it doesn't fix the mistake you made by calling us "something else" 2: the Navajo/Dine are not the only natives on that territory and the other tribes (including mine) deserve to be officially recognized.

forgive me for presuming but not really, cause from here [Netherlands] i may have a better grasp of the 'globautists' than you do [bluemeanie and redevil both, the former compete with the trump variety of 'dial back' ziocuckery].
Check George Webb, on point but biased. He fails to focus on the ultra promoted crisis actor component of Covid tho, unleashed by the blues indeed yo, in between dotting belt&road w minipowernuke deals, etc, etc. Funny if it wasn't tragicomic btw, he's great on pointing out petty stuff on the blue side, equivalents of the voter suppr you mention, he complains about unverified nite deliveries for instance, without the charity to see and admit it simply compensates for them very real red camp dirty tricks, .. but hey, voting itself is an empty meaningless husk from getgo.

https://saxxxology.tumblr.com/post/634014512632168448

> NOTE: I'm not saying that this year's turnout completely flipped AZ to favoring blue, but I will say that the votes of Native people, when they are made accessible to all Natives appear to be impactful. The voting process needs to be made easier - this means providing accommodations for non/limited-English speakers, those who do not hold recognized addresses for vote-by-mail ballot delivery, those who live far from already limited polling stations, etc.
> Long story short - the native vote is crucial and we deserve better than to be reduced to "something else" on CNN's demographic polls.

The endgame of the blockchain is for it to control the physical world so the driverless cars, drones, power grids, you can't shop for food without its permission,and ultimately they want things on (airway cap) and in your body, to turn on and off. Reterritorializing capital. Deterritorialized from a local condition and reterritorialized globally. But what is the blockchain network made of physically and who controls the blockchain network. This is the focus of all the mystification and the pseudo-socialism. And what lies outside (the ruling class. Estates which expand across the surface of the green and pleasant earth.)

What Blockchain is designed to do is remove the State, instrument theoretically of popular sovereignty, from money and allow a proprietor ruling class to exert direct control of property and people. The funny watchword is "trust" . That's a brilliant and no doubt extensively @brandonlovejoy: "the blockchain" is a neutral technology. It can be used to help the rebel alliance or to create a more perfect death-star. It isn't biased one way or another, but what the perspective expressed above misses, is that it can be a powerful tool in the hands of the people.

Red Kahina: No it's not neutral it requires large fortresses for massive data services surrounded by soldiers.

> â€œpolitical disenchantmentâ€? (Politikverdrossenheit), .. a hitherto little-noted system of serially connected parasitiza- tions must be considered in explaining the soundness of the ensemble of â€œsta- bilized tensionsâ€? that is called the status quo. At the base of this system, we can observe the nesting of children in their mothers, who are the most compliant of all hosts. In the large middle stratum is the so-called professional or labor world (Arbeitswelt), an integral parasite of the biosphere: it executes the unilat- eral attack of the productive human world on the resources of plant and ani- mal lifeâ€”an attack that Marx, in a rather euphemistic phrase, called the â€œmetabolism between man and nature.â€? At its top stands the fiscal system, that grandiose parasitism through which the modern redistributive state invites itself to the table of society as the guest who has decreed by law that he will have the largest slice. The integral communicator knows how to â€œconnect toâ€? each salary payment, each cigarette, each service performed by one citizen for another. The conclusion of the systems theorist must then be: without the tensegrity effects of â€œcommunicating needsâ€? and of the parasitized parasitisms, there can be no progressive differentiation of subsystems. - > is such a Nazi shes like oh yes I passed and enforce these laws, it doesn't mean I like them in my heart. I have nothing personally against the poor, people or color, immigrants but we just have to enslave and torture them for the Greater Good and National Unity. #ShootCry

Arpegeleh retweets John Steppling who does some thing called 'Resistance by Art' and says to read his new blogpost. I see why I enjoy reading Arpegeleh, but not Steppling. She once told me "I'm mainly a clown", and it's so true. She's as funny as the Chinese Sage some of the time. Amusing that my 2 favourite Tweetsters are one of them at the ass-end of the Far Left and the other is almost at the ass-end of the Far Right, and always totally capitulates to them when push comes to shove. Re: The Chinese and Moldbug by Arpegeleh; "They went berserk. Not my fault."
When will she go after Pelosi? It always has to be a womynge. I'm surprised she's managed to aspire to cunting AOC, after all those whippersnappers she's always sniping at, although Molly Crabapple survives as a Pinned Tweet more or less unscathed. Laurie Penny has been making anti-misogyny statements that she thinks make her look good, but Arpegeleh won't touch those. Laurie Penny is a fucking cunt too. About that Arpegeleh is right.

The way the video games hold people in this very tense present hypervigilant present surrounded by threats and make you concentrate on the moment is mind damaging

With increasingly mediated and scripted play children are left with lessened problem solving and imagination, ultimately reinforcing the kind-of objective nihilism that says "ill hope for the best" which is of course not hope but resignation. You just have to hope the script is in your favor and that fate gave you a good hand. Thats all.

Ernst Bloch's Principle of Hope stands out amongst the Frankfurt set for a few reasons that led to him being both lumped in with their work & unread because he would so clearly stand closer to Benjamin and Brecht. Namely his understanding and use of Marx and Lenin, understanding firm insistence on class struggle, and his poignant understanding of anxiety and fear as politically rooted and mediated. Namely, he saw that hope is a tool that can be used, and that it can only be maintained by finding real solutions to real problems. Vague and false hope always lead back to fear or anxiety. When the bourgeois class sells you a solution its always in this form either unspecified solutions to specific problems (pandemic, addiction) or unspecified solutions to vague problems (drugs, terror). This way that fear and anxiety becomes a resource to be abused, it can be stoked and assuaged at will and keep populations afraid. When real hope is realized and seen it offers a real solution to a definite problem. This kind of vague thinking requires a breakdown of critical reasoning and insistence that history is closed off and scripted, there are set outcomes you can reach. In reality history is always open ended and can be changed, but it takes effort and critical thinking.

> If one is looking for smoking gun evidence that this has indeed happened, then one need look no further than the case of republican Governor Matt Bevin whose democratic opponent Andy Beshear received the same 560 votes that were removed from Bevin's tally during a live CNN update last year. Similar â€œglitchesâ€? have popped up across the nation in the 2020 elections and occurred long before 2019. In fact whistleblower tapes released in 2015 by Federal Judge Murray Snow revealed that these programs had been used to flip Florida votes in favor of Obama in 2012 and the 600m pages released by Montgomery implicate Brennan and Clapper in managing Hammer's use since it was commandeered by the Obama deep state in 2009.

Moreover, it is being mooted that Republican legislatures in these states will appoint electors to the Electoral College who will nominate Trump as the winner, in defiance of the popular vote.

> Filing An Injunction Against The Georgia Secretary Of State
> 185 views -- Nov 17 -- Neighborhood News Studio -- 2.43K subscribers -- Engaging a foreign intelligence agency in election tampering is a treasonous act. We will document this long pattern and practice of the DNC for the Court, and we will outline specific examples in Michigan in 2020. George Webb documented DNC operative Warren Flood's interface with Russian FBI Informant operatives Krylova and Bogacheva in the 2016 election with the help of State Department recruiter Paul Whelan. George Webb showed how a DNC FBI Operative named Yershov used the Microsoft professional services organization to arrange visas for these operatives. for entry of Krylova and Bogacheva's cohorts to enter the United States from Russia.
> Webb again outlined Warren Flood's close association with the 2020 election in Michigan through his Microsoft professional services position in Detroit, and through the activities of his wife, Alice McAlexander who runs an election consulting company by the name of CIVIS.

you just don't understand, do you George? NATO is the best customer 'your' US dominating 'leftie ultrasophisticadres' ever had. What have you ever bought from them? .. and they can probably choke out [cordon sanitaire a la Belgians] the high court easily. Yeah, they bite the hands that fed them, that they defected from, that refuse their reform, that refuse to join their citification schemes and stack fuel on the Stockholm pire for wild celebrations

6 Things That Show China's Organ Harvesting Is Real - 252K views -- Nov 16 -- China Uncensored -- 1.48M subscribers -- China has been harvesting organs from prisoners of conscience, like Falun Gong practitioners and Uyghurs for years. It's a crime against humanity that should change US China relations forever. But sadly, media silence has helped the Chinese Communist Party carrying on forced organ harvesting for years. But thanks to the work of researchers like Ethan Gutmann, David Kilgour, and David Matas, as well as the China Tribunal led by Sir Geoffrey Nice, organ harvesting in China is being brought to light. This twisted aspect of the China economy must be stopped. -- patreon.com/ChinaUncensored

3.29K subscribers -- In this era of â€œreconciliationâ€?, Indigenous land is still being taken at gunpoint. INVASION is a new film about the Unist'ot'en Camp, Gidimt'en checkpoint and the larger Wet'suwet'en Nation standing up to the Canadian government and corporations who continue colonial violence against Indigenous people.

Full Length Film coming in 2020
The Unist'ot'en Camp has been a beacon of resistance for nearly 10 years. It is a healing space for Indigenous people and settlers alike, and an active example of decolonization. The violence, environmental destruction, and disregard for human rights following TC Energy (formerly TransCanada) / Coastal GasLink's interim injunction has been devastating to bear, but this fight is far from over. ---------- http://unistoten.camp/invasion

> 1. When heavy cocktails of anti-psychotic medications are forced upon someone who's brain doesn't actually need them, it can absolutely result in artificial, unnatural, on-going psychosis. Breaking out of this cycle isn't straightforward or simple for everyone, especially if there's discord or issues with immediate family you become dependent on once patterns have been established. Some are able to simply say â€œI don't need these, I'm not sickâ€? and that's that, quickly liberating themselves from the twisted agenda of the psychiatric machine. Others have this statement fall on deaf ears with those they used to trust, and also lose credibility once multiple hospitalizations have occurred because of â€œnon-complianceâ€? with medication.

2. Sounds weird, but I want to say thanks to those within this thread who (in sometimes backwards ways) demonstrated energies of concern towards what was happening. And to those who (again, sometimes in odd ways) complimented my artistic qualities.

3. I'm now (for real) working on a Master's degree in Metaphysics and mapping out the elements of my dissertation for a PhD in Parapsychology from a university in California. So, there's that. A humble brag maybe, but moreso an example of what can manifest for someone once their brain is no longer affected by toxic medications that were never needed in the first place.

NARRATIVE OF MY CAPTIVITY AMONG THE SIOUX INDIANS - Full AudioBook - Fanny Kelly - 146K views -- Aug 5, 2014 -- AudioBookBin -- 5.15K subscribers -- Full Audiobook reading of NARRATIVE OF MY CAPTIVITY AMONG THE SIOUX INDIANS by Fanny Kelly

Troy Bailey: @Veg Patch no. you don't get it...the subservience is in the denial of SOMEONE ELSEs FREE SPIRIT; by denying another groups free spirit, lifeway and pathway, you are subservient to a model of oppression, not expressing camaraderie with non-subservience. GEt it??
Veg Patch: @Troy Bailey The denial of someone else's spirit is not subservience - it's Psychopathy -- Get it now?
Troy Bailey: @Veg Patch Yes. Agreed that may be so...but still, to 'round up others and deny their true spirit,' necessarily entails 'subservience to a govt. or military power, social services etc., and entails following a chain of command, etc. who have enacted said 'self serving policies' to deny someone/a peoples original nature, connection to the land, use of the land, life way etc. That surely can't be denied. 'Power over others' doesn't always mean that one is NOT subservient to tyranny. Yes?
davearonow: I made it 2 minutes and 5 seconds into the reading before I had to give up. Maybe the worst recording I've heard yet on these audio books. Why does she accent the last word of every sentence? It Is the most idiotic thing I've ever heard. No one talks or reads like that and it is impossible to concentrate on the story because the mind is just trying to figure out why in hell she would be talking like that? Does she think this is her "style" that will get her noticed or something? Anyway, I can't figure it out. However good she may think she sounds in her head, she sounds like an idiot in real life. Hey, Lady! You want to make a really great reading that will win you praise amongst the audiobook listening community? Really? Then read it in such a way that you become invisible and non existent to the listener. The more they don't know you are there, the better of a job you are doing. As for you, not only are we painfully aware you are there, most of us are quite convinced that the "you" we are listening to also happens to be an idiot. NO ONE talks like that. - 61
quechitos coyote: Perhaps they are trying to imitate the Sioux accent. - 3
Robert Alpy: The accent sounds like it might be Minnesota. Nothing strange about it. No stranger than any other accent. - 4
KLH: Some people from Minnesota, North Dakota, etc., do speak in a similar manner; however, this seems to be very exaggerated. The original comment is true. It's very hard to listen to this for more than a few minutes. - 5
Marc Gosselin: I guess that you can do better. I'd be curious to hear you reading - 7
Graeme Williams: It's called rising inflection & females in particular are prone to it. - 3

Jacob Musacchia: I think the reading is fine it's just her way you have to just get into the cadence of the thing - 3
DALE thebelldiver: If you got to know the people and Women of the Sioux; when telling stories they do speak this way. This is a story even if it's read in a manner you are not familiar with you might find ease if you were to think it was read by a Sioux Woman story teller. - 3
Tony Alan Marchant: I've herd that the Australian accent came from having to ask there jailers stuff. Like asking a question when they were saying anything
Graeme Williams rising affection like what I was trying to say about the Australian accent who had to ask permission of the authorities
Fritz Basset: But at 44:13 she talks about losing "groceries". That probably included Folgers Coffee, mountain grown and all that stuff. No wonder she talks in a batshyyt manner - losing groceries is enough to push anyone over the edge.

Zin: @Tommy Desimone What a sad and pathetic little man you are. - 4
DadDog: This is the new "valley girl" accent which makes young women sound that they doubt what they have just spoken.....makes them sound lacking in confidence and weak.....too bad.....perhaps this works in California but I would not wish to hear this tone from anyone on my own staff who would need represent my firm to the public. - 1
Frank Bolger: I don't find her particularly annoying, but she does sound like she is hosting a cooking show on The Food Network.
ian sing: @Tony Alan Marchant you've herd? rising affection? I know what you're trying to say, But no, that's not the Australian accent I've been listening to for the last 66 years. Our accent has been described as being "nasal and monotone." I'm no linguistics expert, but "rising inflection" at the end of sentences is more an "affection" used by some teenagers trying to either find their voice or be hip... gene dietz: Davearonow, you are probably overly accustomed to the electronics of the present times, that leave little to the imagination.
Gregory Monacelli: Dang that was a harsh statement gene dietz: @Gregory Monacelli sorry, it was more a self reflaction. Back in the 1950's, my family had only a radio to listen to for electronic entertainment and I could become more engrossed in the verbalized story, then present times.
K Brennan: DadDog I'm a succesful migtow channel uses a variant of this style, 'Sandman', so you are wrong.

This is a new forest garden project. Based on a 5 acre site within a 300 acre traditional farm and it is part of a permaculture smallholding which operates as a not-for-profit workers co-operative. All the trees have been bought and planted by local people who will benefit from shares in the harvest of the trees they own. In the centre of the garden there is a Druidic Wood Henge being developed which will create a sacred grove of the 13 trees that the Druids used to mark the passage of time and seasons. This space is available for quiet seasonal celebrations and rites of passage, please ask for details. Visits can be at any time during opening hours which are Monday to Saturday from 10am until 3pm in the winter and 10am until 6pm in the spring and summer. We would like visitors to help us develop the gardens, bring their ideas and energy but above all the come and enjoy being around the trees. There is much work to be done to complete the planting areas and we welcome work parties small or large! > Marshall Smith: Sidney Powell said in an interview with Rob Schmidt on "Newsmax" yesterday that both Democrats and Republicans had cheated in elections in years past. Just as with both Republicans and Democrats getting illicit campaign funds channeled through Off Shore accounts (Paul Manafort's notes on his phone during the Trump Tower meeting with "the Russian lawyer" N. Veselnitskaya whose talking points were about the Democrats getting these funds just as Putin said at the Helsinki Conference), the Establishment parties will join together to conceal their mutual crimes in rigged elections just as both parties were determined that Dana Rohrabacher would not be re-elected as part of the joint effort of sanctions against Russians not in exile based on the Magnitsky Lie that Rohrabacher attempted to expose in Congress. The plan to retake Russia requires the elimination of populist leaders, starting with cheating Pres. Trump no matter the cost.

the comfortingly 'biblanic' grounding father magnitude tale, to which ZwPi is a breadcrumb shard ... how long before you find cernunnos effigies ritually buried under the Paris Notre Dame 'Boatman Pillar'? And how long before you find him echoed in the gospels and understand him as conveyor of far east wisdom already being forgotten there at the time, hence he was more like a would be rescuer and damn near succeeded. Some embers manage to survive now even. .... other than that, i am unmotivated to bring down and string out the 'goostilt' with all of your loose ends [funny how that works] in a flash thru me mind minutes before starting this vid, from hearing a ZwPi agitator get vip treatment and nothing critical even after he calls those who require the protests to be peaceful as "nasty" [first hour of the afternoon]. > Bob Drury, Tom Clavin:The Heart of Everything That Is [Audio Books] --- 19K views -- Oct 10, 2016 -- Grant Naylor -- The great Sioux warrior-statesman Red Cloud was the only American Indian in history to defeat the United States Army in a war, forcing the government to sue for peace on his terms. At the peak of Red Cloud's powers the Sioux could claim control of one-fifth of the contiguous United States and the loyalty of thousands of fierce fighters. But the fog of history has left Red Cloud strangely obscured. Now, thanks to the rediscovery of a lost autobiography, and painstaking research by two award-winning authors, the story of our nation's most powerful and successful Indian warrior can finally be told.

Nanye-hi, or Nancy Ward

Native Woman Crush Wednesday: Nanye-hi of the Cherokee Nation ---- June 4, 2014 Charlie Roe
Nanye-hi, or Nancy Ward was apart of the Cherokee Nation and lived in the area now known as Eastern Tennessee. Having been born in 1738, Nanye-hi grew up in the time of European colonialism and warfare. In her lifetime she had two children and her husband was killed during the 1755 Battle of Tailwa during a Cherokee raid on the Creeks. While in the Battle, Nanye-hi fought along with her people and the Cherokee people won. The actions she was known for in the battle was biting the lead bullets of her husband's gun in order to make them sharper and more deadly. These actions had made her one of the Beloved Woman of her Cherokee clan.
As a Beloved Woman, honored woman are able to make decisions in tribal government. Nanye-hi, according to the National Woman's History Museum, was the head of the Women's Council, apart of the Council of Chiefs, and was fully in charge of the tribe's prisoners.
In her early twenties, Nanye-hi married Bryant Ward, a trader who was known to live among the Cherokee Nation. They had a daughter together and Nanye-hi had learned English and taken the Anglo-American name, Nancy Ward. Meanwhile, Bryant Ward had another wife and children in South Carolina; however, he continued to visit back and forth to both families.
During this time, the Cherokee Nation was involved with the English in its attempts to breakdown the colonies. However, with her nation in this mindset, Nanye-hi tried to maintain peace. In doing so she had let two prisoners free to warn settlers of an attack, which in turn had created discourse between her and the tribe. The tribe then decided to kill all the prisoners and in defense of her position Nanye-hi tried to save the prisoners from execution. She was able to save only one however. Lydia Bean, who later helped Nanye-hi learn how to make butter and cheese, which had contributed to her decision to buy and raise cattle. This decision was one of the first that introduced cattle into the Cherokee Nation's economic standing.

Although the battles between the settlers and the Cherokee Nation continued, because of Nanye-hi's reverence between both sides, her tribe's clan was left alone.

By 1781, Nanye-hi's tribe was captured by the settlers. While imprisoned â€œthe settlers ordered the Cherokee to conduct a peace treaty and selected [Nanye-hi] to lead the negotiations.â€? In her new position she spoke to the settlers saying that women only want pant peace for those she cares for. This speech changed the minds of the settlers' commissioners and returned some of the lands back to the Cherokees. This peace lasted 7 years until a chief was killed and the negotiations ended. -------- By 1817, Nanye-hi was the last Beloved Woman of the Cherokee, and was seventy-nine when she plead to her nation to keep as much of their land as possible for the next generation.

She lived the rest of her life running an inn after her land was sold. She died in 1822. Today, there is a monument from 1923 (featured left) by the Daughters of the American Revolution by her grave in Benton, Tennessee.

Kidding aside, i prefer to believe that mixing and harmonizing distinct infochunks*[, -batches, -nodes and/or -flows, netted, knotted and/or not]* are 2 very different things. Time for you to realize that. For example: Mixing metaphors is hazardous, but unravelling metadata converges with your findings via a very different route [George Webb]. Another: 'space aliens' is just a euphemism for lifespans. The seeds of 9/11 were sown in 1945 .. if you can fit your clock with enough hands to make it make sense [jose arguelles did and he is wwwaaaaaaaay out there on particles and planets].

> The Biden Blackberry Mystery Continues - Election Hackers As Well As Energy Hackers? - 1.3K views -- Dec 1 -- Neighborhood News Studio -- 4.29K subscribers ---- Engaging a foreign intelligence agency in election tampering is a treasonous act. We will document this long pattern and practice of the DNC for the Court, and we will outline specific examples in Michigan in 2020. George Webb documented DNC operative Warren Flood's interface with Russian FBI Informant operatives Krylova and Bogacheva in the 2016 election with the help of State Department recruiter Paul Whelan. George Webb showed how a DNC FBI Operative named Yershov used the Microsoft professional services organization to arrange visas for these operatives. for entry of Krylova and Bogacheva's cohorts to enter the United States from Russia.
> Webb again outlined Warren Flood's close association with the 2020 election in Michigan through his Microsoft professional services position in Detroit, and through the activities of his wife, Alice McAlexander who runs an election consulting company by the name of CIVIS.

141-Abducted by Indians, a Captive of Whites --- 6.1K views -- Feb 13, 2017 --- Futility Closet --- 1.72K subscribers --- In 1836, Indians abducted a 9-year-old girl from her home in East Texas. She made a new life among the Comanche, with a husband and three children. Then, after 24 years, the whites abducted her back again. In this week's episode of the Futility Closet podcast we'll tell the story of Cynthia Ann Parker, caught up in a war between two societies. We'll also analyze a forger's motives and puzzle over why a crowd won't help a dying woman.

George, one cannot play catch up to rootless capital, being slippery is too old and routine a 'pass' time for them, child's play, they're laughing at your sophistication hitting the general populace .. incongruously if at all [like a 'tang op een varken'], like a savious does duh sheeple .. better try at the other end, furthest from them and try to grow / grow out and outgrow 'm, .. big enough for them to take notice and perceive you as a threat that way, except you'd have a better chance of having lots and lots grow right alongside you cause the growthing can be dumbed down to meme speed ever so easily, your good receivers will be, as now, few and far between at first but soon borderdissolvingly merged to nearest dearest you have to stop wrecking yourself w karmamiles ... find some trainsounds on the net, a pic of that infamous place ... and forgo the serendipitous tips, at least half the time. Nobody can force the hour. In fact, that was, claims ['aldus' = according to] Robert Graves, the downfall of the man known as jesus. I wonder how RG would have gotten along with Ralph Ellis but we'll worry about that on the other side of the needle's eye.

> Nations, like individuals, reap exactly what they sow; they who sow robbery reap robbery. The seed-sowing of iniquity re- plies in a harvest of blood. The American people have accepted as truth the teaching that the Indians were a degraded, brutal race of savages, whom it was the will of God should perish at the approach of civilization. If they do not say with our Puri- tan fathers that these are the Hittites who are to be driven out before the saints of the Lord, they do accept the teaching that manifest destiny will drive the Indians from the earth. The in- exorable has no tears or pity at the cries of anguish of the doom- ed race. Ahab

... i got 9 .. cause this is what it says behind one of the [1 in 10] hypered songs i clicked:

> Thurston Hunger 8/2/2006 A Library, CD
> Just about a perfect record by my reckoning. Has a consistent > sonic air, and lyrically it is heavy and thick with southern gothic. Sins with no avenue to redemption. Crows nesting in ribcages, eyes gouged out, disconnected testicles, geese walking over graves. Now maybe I shouldn't have given this album to a pregnant with child reviewer, what with the sordid tale on #9. And this album often toys with the mean-spirited and wrong-hearted. Melodies get cycled and recycled with the deftness of crack grave-robbers, we first flirt with one such > powerful chune on the 'Ragin Cajun' but when it returns as "The Leavening of the Spit-Bread Girls" it is unstoppable. That song always runs shivers through my liver, the do-wop Harlot background vocals are just perfect. Go-go dancers for the damned, I love the Harlots on this, with a passion that is deep and misguided. Violins, fiddles, and one of them nordic sounding string things - all droney as a dead pony. This thing is strung tighter than the noose on a horse thiefâ€™s neck, tighter than the nodules on Munlyâ€™s larynx when he saddles it up for one of them he-demon wails. I like this release too damn muchâ€¦but I ainâ€™t apologizing.

Drew: OK so a third of my college degree was in economics. The FED "loans" can't be paid back because they're too big. That's why the interest rate can't be increased on loans. It's called the Petro-Dollar because the value of the dollar is from the US Military enforcing the value. China was the first empire to create PAPER money and it's value (collected by taxes) was also enforced by the military. Nothing has changed. As for my "cut and paste" that was my OWN writing published in the University Minnesota Daily serviing 50,000 people. So just because I wrote in 2000 doesn't mean it's not still valid. Nice attempt to use "form" to dismiss the content - sorry it didn't work for you.

Bob Drury, Tom Clavin:The Heart of Everything That Is [Audio Books] -- 19,685 views --- Oct 10, 2016 ----- Grant Naylor --- The great Sioux warrior-statesman Red Cloud was the only American Indian in history to defeat the United States Army in a war, forcing the government to sue for peace on his terms. At the peak of Red Cloudâ€™s powers the Sioux could claim control of one-fifth of the contiguous United States and the loyalty of thousands of fierce fighters. But the fog of history has left Red Cloud strangely obscured. Now, thanks to the rediscovery of a lost autobiography, and painstaking research by two award-winning authors, the story of our nationâ€™s most powerful and successful Indian warrior can finally be told.

Protecting The Rare Gibbons Of Indonesia | 1000 Days For The Planet | Real Wild --- 23,924 views -- Mar 28 ---- Real Wild --- 922K subscribers ---- AurÃ©lien BrulÃ© moved to Indonesia to save the gibbons--small tree-dwelling monkeys whose native forests are being ravaged by oil palm production and who are then often captured and kept as pets, or held captive in deplorable conditions.. A crew of mariners, scientists and filmmakers are followed as they cast off on the Sedna IV, an oceanographic schooner, to sail around the world exploring the beauty of nature, how ecosystems work and conservation challenges facing the planet.

life is full of contradictions, practically and periodically literally bursting with them ... that is, .. most of the time they glide and roll by, past and around, wearing each other down and out .. but past a certain pressure build and gang up, some of them crack into fragments leaving sharp edges for a good long while, fit to break others. what i write below this line applies to the climax of the first half hour, after that the worst of it is clawed back under the 'recycle' nomer only to be fucked & fenced with, 'fended, laters.
"Moral stances" are offlimits? Yes, to those who misconceive them as impeding probes [without probity and propriety which introduce perps and victims, question kneejerk drivers of appetite and metabolism, etc] which 'those[who ..' etc] care not to notice is really attrition, escape velocities of death drives cause dem loves to measure, meter, subject and consume the other, not self [thus, toddling along, betrayed, ruined], thank your autocide very much but a cleaner and quicker way is possible.

> The Accidental Anarchist: Inspiration for Overcoming Hardship with Humor --- by Bryna Kranzler
> CLICK HERE TO READ THE FIRST THREE CHAPTERS
> BY THE TIME HE WAS TWENTY-FIVE YEARS OLD, JACOB MARATECK HAD BEEN SENTENCED TO DEATH THREE TIMES â€" YET LIVED TO TELL ABOUT IT.
> THIS BOOK IS HIS STORY, TOLD WITH THE SAME SENSE OF HUMOR THAT HELPED HIM SURVIVE.
> true story of an ordinary man who gets caught up in the history-making events of the early 1900s in Russia. Follow Marateck, in this historical biography, as he leaves home at age 13 seeking â€œgreat adventure,â€? organizes a workersâ€™ strike in Warsaw, gets conscripted into the notoriously anti-Semitic Russian army and earns his 1st death sentence, becomes a non-commissioned officer during the Russo-Japanese War (which meant that the men under his command wanted to kill him at least as much as the enemy did) and earns his 2nd death sentence, and joins the incompetent Polish revolutionary underground to overthrow Czar Nicholas II and earns his 3rd death sentence. While his sentence is commuted to merely ten years of hard labor in Siberia, Marateck escapes, along with Warsawâ€™s colorful â€œKing of Thieves.â€? Together this unlikely pair travels nearly 3000 miles home, without food, money or legal papers, while dodging Cossacks and the secret police.

Despite poverty, starvation and the horrors of war, Marateck never loses his faith, his sense of humor, or the optimism that helps him survive.

Jumbo Wild - a judeo italian wants to build a ski-resort [in a valley that would have a huge inversion problem] between Vancouver and Calgary, a decade of paper battles begins, then a huge ignored protest, next, a blockade ... and that's only the first fifth of this docu, reminiscent of the Austin one. Tipped off about the arrival of a bunch of french investors in 2012, they painted [colourful] slogans like 'no to greeds' / 'grizzlies, not greed' big enough to be seen by the prospective appropriators from the heliride that was supposed to 'turnn them on'. There ARE 19 resorts within 5 hour rides from there already. Despite clever deflations like pointing out gvt support was to go to a 'town' with zero population, construction for a lodge began in 2017 .... at a third thru w hear a few sentences in the native language. joe pierre speaks for the 'tenaga' people. -- qatmuk.com/ [Ktunaxa]

> Matt Larson ------- 5 years ago: What I'm seeing here is one film wrapped inside the clothing of another. Patagonia, if you're going to make a documentary, make a documentary. Don't give in to the temptation to turn it into an ad spot. What it amounts to is manipulating a valid Native American argument - to preserve their sacred space - for the glory of professional heli-skiers and wealthy white thrill-seekers. If you can't set aside a small budget to make a real documentary about this issue - and minus all of the expensive TGR / Red Bull extreme glam skiing cinematography - then leave that to the real nature documentarians and just make ads. Believe it or not, Vimeo viewers are smart enough to see the difference. ----/Q

Set against a backdrop of incredible backcountry ski and snowboard footage, Jumbo Wild documents all sides of a divisive issue bringing the passionate local fight to protect the Jumbo Valley to life for the first time.

> Selkirk Mountains ski resort threatens wildlife
> Posted on Thursday, June 11, 2020 By Eddie Petryshen
> A massive ski resort development has been proposed in the Central Selkirk mountains between Kaslo and New Denver.
> The proposal would cover 55 square kilometres of the mountains north of Highway 31A, bordering Goat Range Provincial Park.

> https://wildsight.ca/programs/jumbo-wild/> Jumbo will be wild forever!
> The Jumbo Glacier Resort was a year-round ski resort proposed in the Jumbo Valley in the heart of BC's Purcell Mountains. Located in the traditional territory of the Ktunaxa Nation, 55 km west of Invermere, the resort would have occupied 6,000 hectares and accessed four glaciers. For nearly 30 years, local residents, concerned citizens and the Ktunaxa Nation strongly opposed this development for environmental, economic and spiritual reasonsâ€”and we won!
> In early 2020, the Ktunaxa Nation, with the support of Federal and Provincial governments, declared the Qatâ€™muk Indigenous Protected and Conserved Area, protecting the Jumbo Valley and 700 square kilometres around itâ€”forever.

yeah, .. frustratin, ... in fact, horrid [i have lists named such, 11 already], ... but .. you know what els is frusty? a dutchman, raised according to locally dominant hasbarite standards, becomes commentarian on indymainwires and slowly learns to where over the course of 20 years his ultra leftism morphs into green grounded rightiehood on account of the blessed free speech policies at the time, ruined by hysterical repetitivess and underostentatious gifts to the wires from the right. My worldviews ripened into unique features like acknowledging that the push for max growth fails to model on whales and compost, iow, fails to focus on liddulest mouths, hence the obsessive and counterproductive econ models, operational even now.

LAP: a little language for OS emulation ---------- Donn M. Seeley, Berkeley Software Design, Inc.
ABSTRACT
LAP, the Linux Application Platform, is a Linux emulation package for BSD/OS which uses a "little language" [Salu98] to describe transformations from Linux data types and values to BSD/OS data types and values, and vice versa. The little language simplifies and regularizes the specification of transformations, making the emulation easier to maintain. This paper describes the language and its place in the framework of LAP.[BSDI00]
--.bsdi.com/

6.2 General results
The emulation is quite successful. We can run a number of interesting Linux applications, and they run quite efficiently. Among the programs we have tested are the Adobe Acrobat Reader v4, Netscape Communicator v4.7, and WordPerfect v8. (In fact, this document was composed using Netscape Composer for Linux running under BSD/OS.) Only very minor BSD/OS kernel modifications were required, and the kernel contains no emulation code itself, so we avoided any significant kernel bloat. The implementation is remarkably robust so far; we have had to make very few bug fixes after the initial coding and testing. I attribute this to the small size and the simplicity of the specification.

spend 15 minutes a day walking among the trees you are plotting to cut and tell them that if they'd rather be treehouses, they better prove it helping you envision them. Panama must be a good place for cheap second hand cable and bungie.

Francis Parkman - Oregon Trail --- his other titles:

> Conspiracy of Pontiac (1851)
> The Pioneers of France in the New World (1865)
> The Jesuits in North America in the Seventeenth Century (1867)
> La Salle and the Discovery of the Great West (1869)
> The Old RÃ©gime in Canada (1874)
> Count Frontenac and New France under Louis XIV (1877)
> Montcalm and Wolfe (1884)
> A Half Century of Conflict (1892)
> But The Oregon Trail is in a different register. There are moment when I gnashed my teeth about his snobbism, but I was found myself being carried away just as I was by Darwin's The Voyage of the Beagle journals, and Bruce Chatwin's quite different but similarly thought-provoking The Songlines. Great reading when Fall begins to settle down around us, but wanderlust persists.
> Glen Pekin: I don't know much about Francis Parkman - New England upper crust. I suppose he would like you if you were one as well. The guy goes west and all is ugliness to him. The ugliness unfortunately is being spoiled by all the ugly people moving west and dispossessing the ugly natives. He helped by killing as many ugly buffalo as possible. He also saw a lot of ugly mountains. Oh, as he tells you over and over - he is sick all the time. He is disturbed by all the other sick people - they are ugly and useless. It was all just ugly - how nice to get back to boring Massachusetts. By the way, the book is considered a classic. (less) from the longest review [on the first of 6 pages worth - 186 total] at goodbooks:

> He saw only the surface of Indian lives. Had no interest in their religion, in their rituals, in their ways of thought, their history. He does not write about these things, because he believes that they have no importance, are only the foolish ways of primitive people. He does not respect Indian culture.
> A 1892 edition of the book was illustrated by Frederic Remington. His line drawings are magnificent

> Just like 2008, down-bettors got smashed, only this time, there were no quotes from economists celebrating the â€œgood newsâ€? that shorts had to cover. Instead, polite society was united in its horror at the spectacle of amateur gamblers doing to hotshot finance professionals what those market pros routinely do to everyone else. If youâ€™ve ever seen Animal House, you understand the sentiment:
> Only we can do that to our pledges [video]
> The press conveyed panic and moral disgust. â€œI didnâ€™t realize it was this cult-like,â€? said short-seller Andrew Left of Citron Research, without irony, denouncing the campaign against firms like his as â€œjust a get-rich-quick scheme.â€? Massachusetts Sec State Bill Galvin said the Redditor campaign had â€œno basis in reality,â€? while Dr Michael Burry, the hedge-funder whose bets against subprime mortgages were lionized in â€œThe Big Short,â€? called the amateur squeeze â€œunnatural, insane, and dangerous.â€? The episode prompted calls to regulate Reddit and, finally, halt action on the disputed stocks.

> Fake news about communism in Indonesia blamed for triggering riot in Jakarta ----- By Jewel Topsfield --- September 19, 2017 -- Fake news about Indonesia's omnipresent bogeyman - communism - has been blamed for a riot in Central Jakarta that injured five police officers and damaged vehicles in the early hours of Monday morning.
> The Indonesian Legal Aid Institute claimed "clearly hoaxes or false news have been broadcast ... with instructions for attacking (the institute) done systematically and extensively".
> It asserted false claims included that the planned historical seminar was a re-emergence of the PKI and participants intended to sing genjer-genjer, one of the most controversial songs in Indonesia.
> Genjer-genjer, which was adopted as a protest song by the PKI, was banned under the Suharto regime, amid military claims that female communists had tortured six generals while singing the song.

"People said we are PKI - that's the hoax," Muhammad Isnur from the Indonesian Legal Aid Institute told Fairfax Media.

Genjer Genjer - Banyuwangi Folk Song - With Lyrics
84K views -- Jan 3, 2020 ----- Second Kamerad RAR
9.74K subscribers -- English : "Genjer-Genjer" is a popular Osing language song composed by Banyuwangi artist, Muhammad Arief, in the 1940s.

Around 1942, the famous Angklung Art song called "Genjer-Genjer" developed. This song verse was created by M. Arif, an Angklung instrument hitter. Based on the information of a late Arif colleague, the Genjer-Genjer song was lifted from a dolanan song entitled "Tong Alak Gentak". Folk songs that live in Banyuwangi, then given a new poem as in the song genjer-genjer. Genjer-Genjer song poetry is intended as a satire of the Japanese occupation of Indonesia.

After Indonesian independence, the song "Genjer-genjer" became very popular after many singers were sung and broadcast on Indonesian radio. The singers who are best known for bringing this song are Lilis Suryani and Bing Slamet. I was so famous that even later recognition emerged from Central Java, that the Genjer-Genjer song created by Ki Narto Sabdo was a famous puppeteer. In a paper Hersri Setiawan, giving an explanation of the origins until the song Genjer-Genjer became famous.

After the end of the New Order regime in 1998, the ban on the formal distribution of the song "Genjer-genjer" was over. The song "Genjer-genjer" began to circulate freely through internet media. Although it has been permitted, there are still a number of cases involving stigmatization of this song, such as a demonstration by a group of people against a radio station in Solo due to airing the song. after the fall of Soeharto, the Genjers became popular again even the reage band group from Jogjakarta has popularized the song again. The song Genjer-Genjer was also used as the opening song and ending song in the documentary series "40 years of silence" which contained a number of testimonies regarding the years 1965-1966.

Helping the Throat
Several herbs have been known to help the throat during episodes with dysphagia. Licorice (Glycyrrhiza glabra) can reduce swelling and spasms and relieve pain in the gastrointestinal tract. The typical dose is 380 mg per day. Slippery elm (Ulmus fulva) is a demulcent, which means that it promotes the healing of and protects irritated tissues. The dose is 60 mg per day. Marshmallow (Althea officianalis) is also a demulcent and an emollient (a soothing substance) and can be made in a tea with 2 to 5 g of dried leaf or root in 1 cup of boiling water. Other herbs that may be helpful are valerian (Valeriana officianalis), wild yam (Dioscorea vilosca), St. John's wort (Hypericum performatum), skullcap (Scutellaria lateriflora) and linden flowers (Tilia cordata).

Homeopathic Remedies
Here are a few homeopathic remedies that may also help. Baptesia tincotria is used if a patient has a red, inflamed and pain-free throat that can only swallow liquids. Baryta carbonica is used if the tonsils are enlarged. Carbo vegetabilis is connected to dysphagia that is accompanied by bloating and indigestion that is worse when lying down. Ignatia should be taken when there is a feeling of a lump in the throat, back spasms, coughs and after experiencing grief. Lachesis can be used when the patient does not like being touched around the throat, which includes clothing that is tight at the neck. Make sure to consult a licensed homeopathic doctor before choosing a remedy and dosing.

The Prophet Mohammad described the healing powers of the Black Seeds against a variety of diseases. According to common Islamic and Arabic belief, Habbatul Barakah is a remedy for all ailments (universal healer). Black Seed is also mentioned as the curative â€œblack cuminâ€? in the Holy Bible and is described as Melanthion by Hippocrates and Dioscorides and as Gith by Pliny.

Anarcho-Primitivism -- 536 views -- Feb 10, 2021 --- Kane B --- 14.8K subscribers --- Anarcho-primitivists argue in favour of dismantling civilization and shifting to a hunter-gatherer lifestyle. This video explains three central arguments for primitivism: (1) the reappraisal of hunter-gatherer life, (2) the environmental impact of civilization, and (3) the loss of autonomy under sophisticated technological systems. Next, I outline Zerzan's critique of symbolic thought, and finally, I discuss some standard objections to primitivism.

zero hedge says 'robinhood' was never more than a high-tech scam

Exposing The Robinhood Scam: Here's How Much Citadel Paid To Robinhood To Buy Your Orders
Tyler Durden, Zero Hedge, Feb 14 2021
https://www.zerohedge.com/markets/exposing-robinhood-scam-heres-how-much-citadel-paid-robinhood-buy-your-orders
We also know all this is true because we were also among the first to expose Robinhood as a client-facing front for Citadel back in 2018, when we wrote â€œRobinhood Is Said To Get 40% Revenue From HFT Firms Like Citadelâ€? in which we said:

> Stealing from millennials to give to the rich. Robinhood app sells user customer data to make a quick buck from the high-frequency trading (HFT) firms on Wall Street,â€? that is what we wrote last month, in one of the first articles that expressed concern over the popular Robinhood investing app for millennials, which has shady ties to HFT firms and undermines its image of an anti-Wall Street ethos.

The conclusion was a searing prediction of what would happen a little over two years later:

> A few anonymous venture capitalists told Bloomberg that Robinhood has already begun to see the consequences of their cozy relationship with Wall Street firms, which has degraded the companyâ€™s image. With six million clients, most of whom are millennials, seeking an anti-Wall Street investing culture, could soon find out, that, they too, have been conned by Robinhood founders into thinking the app offers free investing. The lesson at play: nothing in life is free, even if it is from Silicon Valley.

That said, we were not the first to expose Robinhoodâ€™s ways. That honor falls to our friends Joe Saluzzi and Sal Arnuk, who for over a decade have led the crusade against high frequency trading, and who in Nov 2014 wrote â€œBeware of Those Offering Free Retail Trades.â€? https://blog.themistrading.com/2014/11/beware-of-those-offering-free-retail-trades/

Chapter 3 examines Hopkins's representation of 'being in culture': the subversive use of political discourse, his struggle with the anxiety of poetic influence, and the images of metaphysical indeterminacy. Finally, chapter 4 focuses on poetic strategies that create a discontinuity between the theological and the existential realms, or between the poetic and scholastic modalities of discourse.

> En una ciudad andaluza, de nombre desconocido, viven enamorados y en pacÃfica convivencia el tÃo Lucas, hombre feo y contrahecho, y su mujer, bella y codiciada por todos los vecinos, la seÃ±Ã¡ Frasquita: ella navarra y Ã©l murciano. Ambos rigen un molino de harina en que se reÃºne la tertulia de los notables de la ciudad. D. Eugenio de ZÃºÃ±iga y Ponce de LeÃ³n, corregidor del lugar y hombre todavÃa mÃ¡s feo y contrahecho, con la complicidad del alguacil GarduÃ±a, tiende una trampa al molinero para que se ausente de su casa y poder asÃ manifestar sus amores a la molinera, pero por una serie de circunstancias casuales el corregidor se va a ver envuelto en un embrollo considerable. Letter from Ulrich von Beckerath, Berlin, to Dr. E. Foerster, Vienna from 1933/08/28, with notes on the railway money
Dear Dr. FÃ¶rster, I believe the possibility that the railway vouchers will at times not pass at par is not entirely theoretical, but will actually occur. This event will even occur from time to time in spite of careful and proper issuing; in addition to the fact that, as you write, carelessness, ignorance and even fraud can never be completely ruled out. The system must take this into account and, moreover, be arranged in such a way that possible damage to the public will remain minimal.
If I myself had to draw up terms of issue, I would introduce two main protections:
1.) I would make sure that in as many places as possible the bills will have a free market and thus a free market rate. No tendency to offer the bills cheaper than face value should be inhibited, to the contrary, if anything, such a tendency should be encouraged.
2.) the railway would have to be obligated to spend a certain part of their gross revenue to purchase its own vouchers, as long as the amount of its normal reflux is smaller than this part.
The free market rate is the major additional insurance of the people against inflation. Great statesmen have always been aware of that and have therefore turned against the legal tender of paper money, Frederick the Great, Baron von Stein, Bismarck, Metternich, who has certainly influenced the Imperial Patent of 1816/6/1. Even Napoleon considered it right to assure from time to time that under his government the paper money will not have legal tender status.
Suppose the railroad did recklessly mismanage and it issued too many vouchers; then - in case of a free market rate of the vouchers - punishment follows immediately. A voucher that is now 95 and tomorrow 94, is not accepted in any store where things get somewhat busy. The salespersons simply cannot manage currency translation into full-value money. At most, art shops, antique shops and jewelers will take the lower value vouchers, because they have the time to calculate and later have time to use the certificates.

There was no interruption to gas, heat, electricity, water, sewage, or the telephone service they provided. No one inside felt it move.

Mar 23 -- Molly:

Time grasping this regarding the empire's wars for oil. The idealism is very ingrained and of course rewarded and latched to self interest.
Always reminds of the petty bourgeois craze for Sade and Beckett in academy: because they naturalize the state of dispossession and make the elaborate and costly mechanism of class that reproduce it invisibile. This has always been the petty bourgeois fantasy -- that freedom/state of nature is nakedness loneliness competition destitution and homelessness. Classic Petty Bourgeois Thought, made Faith by Freud. contrast the perennial working class vision of the classless society: Land of Cokagne .. Silvia Federici discussed this in her hit book. People read it in undergrad courses and love it yet somehow it gets sealed in a ziplock bag of perceptions so it doesn't leak into the mind. There are new use values. Social relations have been changed by ruling class proactive war on the ruled. The ruling class is not just scavenging surplus labour opportunistically. They're not atomized operators run on programmes derived from the models of Nobel laureate econz. This is the self portait of the ruling class in modernity Creating VALUE (Notice the caravaggesque light is de-sanctified and produced and captured as commodity). The cockatoo is the working class and nature. Idealism and constant reification is mind damage.

A lot of people scratching their heads why are my rich friends zealous covid cultists

This is the class enemy, tne political enemy of humanity. When you like/love one of them of course you want to somehow evangelize them. But everyone else needs only to defeat them, not bring them to Jesus.
There is no one psychological answer to the real release effect of class interest determining politics and beliefs. Individuals produce individualizes rationalizations. That mot of Benjamin Franklin is very true. Propaganda homogenizes rationalizations like all other immaginativa produce but it is issued in many flavors and personalizzabile. Knowing the specs of your rich friends rationalization is not going to help anyone defeat them. We can never compete as manipukators witb the mass broadcast and social media. They understand class. It is those who think they can manipilate the bourgeousie against their class interests with moral suasion or cool rhetoric who don't understand class.
The only check on proprietor class is a more powerful force of humanity capable of limiting and finally dispossessing them. My phone dislikes english People asking why is the resistence led by "the right wing" which it isn't, but it's how it looks online. So it's a way of asking why the online media that dissents from the ruling class programme is dominated by rifht wing motifs and paradigms, and the answer very simple : The programme is splitting the petty bourgeoisie (who dominate online content production). It's enriching the urban professional and clerk classe, the courtier courtesan parasite fraction, and targeting the small business owners entrepreneurs and productive artisan petty bourgeoisie for plunder and destruction. Those class fractions and classes tend to be libertarian, individualist, and conservative or anarchofashy. The dissidents in this class among celebs etc tend to be producers, direct to audience traders, or exceptional laborers (ATHLETES AND musicians) while the restauranteurs... are either 'don't tread on me's (and conservative and rightist) or confused and advancing incoherent liberal pragmatic postures about trade-offs and ventilation and safe dining like safe sex etc. These targeted classes who are dominant social media producers skew conservative -- tho diverse-- and their ideology is reflected online. Secondo: there are billions of dollars of intelligence ops to persecute, silence, contain, marginalize, frame, and infiltrate communist orgs, network and individual intellos. The operations are skillful, flush & effective in the petty bourgeois mind one bourgeois celebrity or one bourgeois doctor ("everybody is going along!") is literally considered 'more people' than half a billion indian workers ("nobody is resisting!").

Class is not a scientific term but an ordinary word. Marx uses it coloquially. But in his analysis of social relations, it especially refers to the antagonistic division of humanity and consequent relations created by enclosure/property (domination,exploitation) if you are a bailiff and you make your living collecting part of the peasants produce , then you and the peasant exist on a relation of antagonism. this is your sheaf or his. It may be there is enough for you to negotiate and it may be there are times when one of you cease to reproduce yourself.

There is a true advanced fetishism, a true magic thinking about money now.mark said it as a wisecrack at hegel. But it was prophetic. The youths on screens now believe the money actually makes the cupcake. So that if they are in a room with one cupcake and 20 people, AOC just has to wave her wand and pass out forty magix chits for 1 cupcake each and everyone can have the cupcake. The yoots believe the chits make the coffee

So because the US gov can "print as much money as it likes" that magically guarantee as much coffee as the yoots want the money to buy

> I'm not exaggerating. They believe "money from helicopters" _creates_ use values by magic.

> The Truth About Hill Tribes --- by globaljournalneu --- January 20, 2016 --- Caroline boschetto.c@husky.neu.edu -------- The day that the deafening military helicopter descended upon eight-year old Nitiâ€™s Akha village in northern Thailand was the last day that she saw her father for over twenty years. Never having had contact with the people, culture, or technology outside the bounds of her isolated hill tribe, this child must have experienced the invasion with the shock and horror akin to that of an alien abduction. But, for Niti, this was not a passage in a sci-fi novel that she could close and put away; this was her reality.

> Yeet not, unless ye be yoten upon
> This is an answer I posted to Stack Overflow: Linguistics that was so much fun to write that I feel like sharing it with my blog audience. The question is: What is the past tense of 'yeet'?

Among the many memes and images posted on social media to express concurrence with this goal was a sort of cartoon of plucky musket-bearing rebels in Revolutionary War costume. The caption read: Yeet not unless ye be yoten upon!
You canâ€™t tell gun-culture folks to be passively nonviolent; theyâ€™ll just laugh at you. You can preach an ethic of alert nonaggression, and thatâ€™s what this memester did. That fits their values, and works.

So we see â€œyeetâ€? being used for the act of firing a weapon (no surprise; I already knew videogamers used it that way before this). We also have â€œyotenâ€? as past tense in perfective aspect.

Homestead Paradise: got barren land, boosted it at a profit 173K views -- Mar 27, 2021 -- Kirsten Dirksen - 1.49M subscribers ---- In the early 90s, Mark and Jen Shepard bought a degraded corn farm in Viola, Wisconsin, and began to slowly convert it from row-crops back to a native oak savanna that would become one of the most productive perennial farms in the country. ---------- After 8 years of homesteading in Alaska (arriving just as the Homestead Act was expiring) where they had been forced by low-paying jobs to discover â€œwhich trees, shrubs, bushes, and vines we could get food fromâ€?, they arrived in the Driftless Area of Wisconsin ready to apply their knowledge of permaculture (â€œpermanent agricultureâ€?). ----- Over the past nearly three decades, Mark has planted an estimated 250,000 trees on the 106-acre farm. The main agroforestry crops are chestnuts, hazelnuts, and apples, followed by walnut, hickory, cherry, and pine (for the nuts). For short-term income, the couple planted annual crops, like grains and asparagus, in alleys between the fruit-and-nut-bearing trees. Cattle, pigs, lambs, turkeys, and chickens act as pest control and free composters as they roam the savannas of the farm. ----- Not content to rely on commercially-produced seeds, Mark does his own breeding to find the best-adapted trees to his region using the method heâ€™s dubbed STUN (Sheer Total Utter Neglect). He plants trees at a higher density than recommended and with as much diversity as possible (at one point they were farming 219 varieties of apples) and then lets pests and disease run their course. He fells diseased trees or those that donâ€™t bear enough, or early enough, fruit. The result is orchards hardy enough to survive even Chestnut Blight. --------- As more and more of the alley crops have been replaced with trees and pocket ponds to help manage water on the farm, the land here has returned to the native savannas where the mastodon once grazed 12,000 years ago (in 1898 bones were discovered 5 miles down the road). ---------- New Forest Farm has inspired many other perennial farms, especially chestnut farmers in the region, and Mark hopes that every schoolchild will plant their own apple seeds (and perhaps subject them to STUN) and that every family can plant a backyard food forest.

> In Quest of a Multipolar Economic World Order with Michael Hudson and Pepe Escobar - 17K views - Mar 24, 2021 -- Henry George School of Social Science -- 8.87K subscribers -- In this second round of conversation, Professor Michael Hudson and Pepe Escobar discuss the emerging economic world order which they define not so much as a conflict between nations, but a rivalry between two competing models of the economy. The finance capital driven model of the West with a domination of the FIRE sector, versus the mixed economy model represented by China and Russia which seeks to rein in rent seeking, combined with public banking and state funded infrastructure to support market compliant industrial development. In Professor Hudsonâ€™s view, this model was advocated by classical economists, from Mill, Ricardo, to Henry George; and is largely responsible for the Westâ€™s past successes.

Is John building his own collection of pebbles and rocks? I collect a few beach stones. I would pick up more but it is against the law to take pebbles from some of the beachesâ€¦â€¦and even if I could take them, Iâ€™m not certain I could carry them all back home â€“ they are so heavy. So, although I often feel that I would like to take almost the whole beach home, I have to content myself with photographs!

> August 27, 2016 - February 26, 2017 -- Gallery 241 ----- The Triumphal Arch is one of the most ambitious prints ever produced. Constructed from imprints of 192 panels, the enormous woodcut was part of a propaganda campaign waged by Maximilian I (1459â€“1519), emperor of the Holy Roman Empire. Albrecht DÃ¼rer (1471â€“1528), the leading artist in Germany at the time, oversaw the production of the Arch. This focused exhibition invites you to explore the amazing print. A new video tells the story of Miaâ€™s example, printed centuries ago but only recently assembled. An iPad ArtStory introduces the Archâ€™s many symbols deployed to shape Maximilianâ€™s image.

This project has been supported by a grant from the Samuel H. Kress Foundation.

> Blowing Bubbles - John Gray in NYRB October 12, 2017 issue
> In â€œThe Plunge and the Turn,â€? the first chapter of Not Saved: Essays After Heidegger, the German philosopher, polemicist, and sometime television host Peter Sloterdijk recalls walking around the campus of Bard College, â€œone of the academic institutions in the state of New York favored by students from the upper-middle classes,â€? and discovering â€œalmost accidentallyâ€? a cemetery containing the grave of Hannah Arendt. At the time, he reports, â€œI was in the process of beginning to contemplate whether I should take up the expected call for a professorship in Germany.â€? These ruminations on his future career path led Sloterdijk to consider the different places occupied by professors in â€œthe Old Worldâ€? and â€œthe United States of America, the hyperbolic European colony.â€?

The existence of â€œa cemetery of professorsâ€? fills him with amazement: â€œWhat European professor would today be laid to rest at a universityâ€™s own cemetery?â€? The discovery of Arendtâ€™s grave provokes a contrast with Heideggerâ€™s chosen resting place:

> Professor Heideggerâ€™s grave is not found on campus but rather in a rural cemetery, not in a university town but rather tucked away in a little town with a pious name, not in the vicinity of lecture halls and libraries where the philosopher had been at work but rather not far from the houses and fields of his childhood, as though the tenured professor at the illustrious Albert-Ludwigs-UniversitÃ¤t refused moving to the urban world even in extremis.

The lesson Sloterdijk thinks can be drawn from these graves is not altogether clear. At points he seems to be critical of Heideggerâ€™s choice of resting place, which could be construed as revealing a preference for provincial quietude over engagement with the historical forces of his time. At the same timeâ€”possibly bearing in mind Heideggerâ€™s engagement with Nazismâ€”Sloterdijk seems to detect an ennobling significance in this retreat .. not free

In Vol. 25(02) (2017) we published a typically rich intervention into the contemporary politics of democracy by the world-renowned philosopher Peter Sloterdijk. â€˜On Pseudonymous Politicsâ€™ is an insightful analysis that illuminates the other phenomena that Sloterdijk sees the term â€˜democracyâ€™ as concealing â€“ as giving alias and alibi to. Sloterdijk grounds his argument in extensive historical analysis of the â€˜pseudonymousâ€™ condition of democracy and identifies four phenomena to which democracy is a nom de guerre: Oligocracy, Fiscocracy, Mobocracy and Phobocracy.

The Sacred Tree of Takeo Shrine (Takeo's Okusu Tree)
Location: Outside Mifuneyama Rakuen Garden

Over 3000 years old, this camphor tree is the 7th largest tree in Japan. It is 30m tall with a trunk circumference of 20m, its branches span 30m wide from east to west, and 33m wide from north to south. This is the sacred tree of Takeo Shrine, which was built in the Nara period (735 CE). The roots of the tree resemble the feet of elephants and are wrapped in rough bark, with their central section split open near the surface of the ground. Inside is a gaping cavity with an area of 12 tatami mats, which houses a stone shrine deep within.

i had some of those 'spaces' reserved for fabulators and each period had it's own set ... now i am trying to turn this inside out and decided on 'charts' and 'meta', each containing multiple periods.

Charts for more neutral and comprehensive [with a side order of 'evil nerds' ... the 'sickbocks' amongst us .. he is one of the characters in Toonder stories, i think i must have sent you that page with short characterizations for his regular stars i found long ago]. I'll prolly add models ... for my wheeled balls .. as duh grounding for 'PerTab' [periodic tables, i found a site with very creative arrangements ... flourings, florishments, flowy framins snapshuttered] .. for collectors to come sweep'm into piles. And of course Orr, as an even closer to principle modeled good enough to be engageable.

was Bowie reffin this tune? it appeals to me foh reasons obvious long before you're tempted to tunnel into too luong a wave to not get wet; teaser: why is poouring water into rock the future of music by that name and why would a jewcuck headspinner distract from such grounding, let alone one leading anything ... a bank, a band, a barking madness tavern, a pilpul pulpit ... drugged or not.

the song [so far] signals good healthy centralismo skepsis ... but also obeisance [sp?] to the nighttime hunter trying to stem the tide, cull and trim scaredikit kreepee cruisers.

> An oxymoron: the brightest of objects, seen as the absence of brightness. The phrase seems to have come to the English language by way of the astronomers who spoke Middle High German, who in turn borrowed it from Latin, translating the phrase â€œstella obscuraâ€?, used by Roman astronomers to describe a faint star. This was translated into the German of the Minnesingers, and of the medieval German astronomers, as â€œdunkler Sternâ€?. The astronomers, according to an article by Arthur Groos, used it in a comparable manner to the meaning of the Romans, while the Minnesingers adopted it as a literary metaphor for â€œone whom hides himself.â€?

"recurring earache" herbal remedies
"metastatizing earache"
"metastasizing earache" that's the correct spelling apparantly

Occipital Neuralgia = a distinct type of headache characterized by piercing, throbbing, or electric-shock-like chronic pain in the upper neck, back of the head, and behind the ears, usually on one side of the head. Typically, the pain of occipital neuralgia begins in the neck and then spreads upwards. Some individuals will also experience pain in the scalp, forehead, and behind the eyes. Their scalp may also be tender to the touch, and their eyes especially sensitive to light. The location of pain is related to the areas supplied by the greater and lesser occipital nerves, which run from the area where the spinal column meets the neck, up to the scalp at the back of the head. The pain is caused by irritation or injury to the nerves, which can be the result of trauma to the back of the head, pinching of the nerves by overly tight neck muscles, compression of the nerve as it leaves the spine due to osteoarthritis, or tumors or other types of lesions in the neck. Localized inflammation or infection, gout, diabetes, blood vessel inflammation (vasculitis), and frequent lengthy periods of keeping the head in a downward and forward position are also associated with occipital neuralgia. In many cases, however, no cause can be found. A positive response (relief from pain) after an anesthetic nerve block will confirm the diagnosis.

Treatment is generally symptomatic and includes massage and rest. In some cases, antidepressants may be used when the pain is particularly severe. Other treatments may include local nerve blocks and injections of steroids directly into the affected area.

> I will miss Sven and his videos at geocachespoilers. I am a high school geometry teacher from Missouri who was and is inspired by Sven's intellectual curiosity. My Sven story is about a GC video he published originally with a word I could not show in my classroom. When a certain prudish teacher asked if he would consider not using the word so she could share his videos with her students, Sven graciously complied substituting the original word with a more classroom appropriate one, and, yes, the video really was "freakin' awesome." Tool to Compare 2 directories and handle the files.
Did you ever copy many files to a portable usb-harddisk and use another system to update or delete files ? And later have trouble to find the few files you changed among all the others ? CompareDir does just that: it can compare 2 directories + subdirectories and you decide what files you want to keep, copy or delete. Manual: point it at a MasterDir, a SlaveDir than click "Diff" = show only the files that are available in only 1 directory-tree. Or click "All" = show all files in both...

Ecomentaries is a production and media company that raises awareness for critical wildlife, community and environmental issues. We produce emotive mixed media content to provoke discussion, action and, ultimately, change. Formed in 2012 by Gemma Catlin and Aaron Gekoski,

The Wondering Tuna: April 2014
https://thewonderingtuna.blogspot.com/2014/04/
Ecomentaries.org recently begun production on a documentary titled: Paying the Price: the trouble with tuna
Every year, thousands of malnourished elephants roam Hwange National Park's arid pans in search of food and water. The area may be home to one of the world's most incredible wildlife spectacles, but each summer the Park moves further towards crisis point.

Myriad factors, including prolonged periods of drought, human encroachment and artificial water supplies have created catastrophic effects in Hwange. Whilst up to 50,000 elephants battle their way through the harsh summer months, all potential 'solutions' appear futile. The Park now faces an impossible predicament.

Letter from Ulrich von Beckerath, Berlin, to Dr. E. Foerster, Vienna from 1933/08/28, with notes on the railway money
Dear Dr. FÃ¶rster, I believe the possibility that the railway vouchers will at times not pass at par is not entirely theoretical, but will actually occur. This event will even occur from time to time in spite of careful and proper issuing; in addition to the fact that, as you write, carelessness, ignorance and even fraud can never be completely ruled out. The system must take this into account and, moreover, be arranged in such a way that possible damage to the public will remain minimal. If I myself had to draw up terms of issue, I would introduce two main protections:
1. I would make sure that in as many places as possible the bills will have a free market and thus a free market rate. No tendency to offer the bills cheaper than face value should be inhibited, to the contrary, if anything, such a tendency should be encouraged.
2. the railway would have .....

Caveat:
*In the last minute, just before the end, he mentions the UK Column in a favourable light which is very suspicious _if_ he knows anything about them, which he should or maybe they've been at him to get publicity from his slip stream. Before I knew any better I'd've known to call them out within a month, but I didn't; I know better. This is the problem. He should know better or maybe he's not found anything amiss and thinks he'll just give them a mention.

He also mentions some other publications in that last minute, so if anyone knows anything about them, negative or positive, then I'd be pleased for this information to be made available to me.

The Dragon and the Ice Castle
Rediscovery of Sacred Space in the Finger Lakes
Â© 1989 David Yarrow --- a true tale of adventure

In 1988, David Yarrow became a Folk Hero when he halted construction of a new Pyramid shopping mall, warning it would be built on a site with hazardous wastes and an ancient Onondaga Indian village buried beneath it. He also learns this is "the place of beginning" of the 1788 Salt Treaty between Onondaga Nation and the State of New York, and discovers a geomantic dragon coiled around Onondaga Lake and Syracuse, the Salt City, where Earth's crystal castle attunes to the harmonics of the geomagnetic grid.

https://dyarrow.org/eco-spirituality-to-be-and-feel-like-earth/

It is necessary to put down roots in the depths of our humanity and awaken all the creative energies, all the great dormant motivations, all the goodness present there, all the decision to assume oneself as cooperator and craftsman of a new time. From this awareness comes praise, reverence and service. It is to God that everything converges. It is He who sustains everything. It is He who, in Love, attracts everything.

CHAPTER 5 Avant-garde or Savant-garde: The Eco-Tourist as Tarzan --- (pp. 75-90) -- A. David Napier
Every adventure novel at some level owes its successes to our shared perceptions about how the dignified person (as far back as Homer'sOdyssey) behaved under trying circumstances in alien places. By the eighteenth century, such trials were socially formalized in what came to be known as the grand tour, an extended journey in which any gentleman of means was meant to show his mettle by carrying his manners to places where they might be unusually tested. Like a controlled experiment in the laboratory of life, such journeys depended upon specific and sometimes extreme conditions.

CHAPTER 4 Tarzan and the Lost Races: Anthropology and Early Science Fiction --- (pp. 58-74) --- Alan Barnard
In the realm of popular literature, the incipient science fiction of the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries (roughly from 1870 to 1939) is of special interest for anthropology. Unlike the science fiction of more recent times, such early works had terrestrial rather than extraterrestrial settings.Â¹ Three dominant motifs were those of â€œlost races,â€? â€œfuture wars,â€? and â€œearly man,â€? and some writers, notably Edgar Rice Burroughs, combined all three. These motifs have great potential for the revelation of popular attitudes toward the â€œotherâ€? during the period, and indeed since then. Much of the imagery of such literature constitutes a transformation...

multiple chapters refer to GSimmel, who, for instance, "frets that the tightening imperatives of mass society have corroded and subjugated humanity. In response, he produces a series of optimistic portraits of individuals who manage to..."

"The butterfly counts not months but moments, and has time enough" -Rabindranath Tagore

THE CASTLE is a 10:47 min. video piece that talks about the passage of time and instances of memory. The piece shows a series of 5 sequences where the element of time is present. The relationship with objects and time is what constructs each one of the sequences, just as objects in/and time construct memories of my life in a different set of chronological and physical space.
hd video_no audio

The seminar from where this piece sprung (haunted art and thought: on specism), was dedicated to the theorization of the animal relation as a basic to the definition of the human, dead and alive. There were a number of films shown during the term such as The Company of Wolves, Mr. V and White Dog, among others. Some of the texts read during the course as well comprehend "A Thousand Plateaus" by G. Deleuze and F. Guattari, Phillip K. Dicks "Do Androids Dream of Electric Sheep", "Totem and Taboo" by Sigmund Freud and Kafka's complete stories among other texts.
Diana Thater presented some of her work where she posted questions about the natural and the animal world when it overlaps with a manipulated environment and how this influences their world and ours. Her work is highly abstract and the manipulation of the media is embodied in video installations.
Laurence Rickel's input was on the intersections between psychoanalysis and technology, as well as our relationship with the animal world. (We also read texts from his work, such as "Pet Grief" and his own "Totem and Taboo").
The midterm and final critiques where conducted by Diana Thater, Gabrielle Jennings and Stan Douglas.

Olivet fan sums up:

> OUR SEVEN witnesses can scarcely be expected to give us more than the broad outlines of the story. We have hied from time to time to give a bird's eye view of the growth of the state by means of diagrams. Such diagrams however introduce a definiteness of detail which is certainly not in our evidence.
> It may never be there, for it is not the purpose of the comparative anatomy of society to reconstitute the past in all its details, but to sum up growth in formulae. In the present state of our science however diagrams such as we have used may be admitted as substitutes for general formulae; for they can bring out the general idea more vividly than pages of discourse, provided we look at the form, and do not take the details too seriously.
> In chapter 9 we tried to express in this way the change > from representative to administrative offices. We were at that time ignorant of the dual organization. In the light of subsequent evidence we can revise our formulation in some such manner as this:-

> thanks for sharing - this whole "permit to log" thing is fascinating. State forest land? Or county? I'll have to watch again. Balsam is for xmas trees? I'm looking at a permit sold by the county for harvesting on tax-forfeited land. Says to leave down snags and "den" trees. interesting. Also to leave Ash and Cedar trees...And leave Balsam and Spruce less than 5 inch diameter. Cool. And the person paid up front $1300 and then is expected to pay another $12K or so - once the timber is cut and sold. Fascinating.
> And then says the County Forester can stop the sale if the site is being damaged. (I don't imagine this every gets done?) hmm. Also the difference between Appraised Price and Bid price? So you already have a buyer lined up before you bid - I wonder if that is the norm. Is it typical to then just haul the harvest to the local mill to sell your harvest?
> "Minnesota has 20 million more large trees (19 inches or more in diameter) than it had 60 years ago. Only 1% of Minnesota's forestland is harvested each year, and more than three times as much wood is grown each year to replace it. The DNR administers nearly 5 million acres of forestland, half of which â€" by law or policy â€" will never see a logging truck. State parks, Scientific Natural Areas, designated old-growth and other buffer areas provide 2.3 million acres of older forests for fishers and associated species, deer thermal cover and other values.

Bob: "orchestrate" ... he means censor

> This majority of this chapter is based on worked published in Gonzalez-Cabrera (forthcoming) and has been modified to meet university guidelines. 472010; Stanford & Allen, 1991; Tooby & DeVore, 1987. These discussions usually portray the Pan/Homo last common ancestor (Pan/Homo LCA hereafter) as a chimpanzee-like hominid (see, for instance, Dart, 1953; Lee & DeVore, 1969; Wrangham & Peterson, 1996; for a historical reconstruction of this debate, see also Pickering, 2013). This has long been the prevailing view in the philosophical and biological literature, and normative cognition is no exception. Recent accounts of the evolution of the human capacity for normative guidance such as Kitcher (2011) rely on this approach. I will argue that since the demonic male view and evolutionary models of normative thinking based on it no longer stand up, we need an alternative explanation of this capacity that relies on a different view of human origins. This view has been challenged in different ways. According to some theories, the bonobo is in some important respects a suitable model of early hominins (de Waal, 1995, 2001; de Waal & Lanting, 1997; Zihlman, 1984; Zihlman & Bolter, 2015; Zihlman, Cronin, Cramer, & Sarich, 1978). Other models have focused on more distantly related great apes such as gorillas (Geary, Bailey, & Oxford, 2011; Geary & Flinn, 2001) and orangutans (Crompton, Vereecke, & Thorpe, 2008; Grehan & Schwartz, 2009; Schwartz, 1987; Schwartz, 2004), while yet another group, thinking in terms of convergent evolution rather than shared ancestry, have looked beyond the apesâ€”e.g., through comparisons of human ancestors with savanna baboons (DeVore & Washburn, 1963; Jolly, 1970, 2001; Skybreak, 1984), capuchin monkeys (Fernandes, 1991; Perry, 1997; Perry et al., 2003), or even wolves and other social carnivores (King, 1976). Regardless of whether they are based on convergence or shared recent ancestry, what all these models have in common is the idea that reconstructions of human evolution can take advantage of much broader phylogenetic comparisons. I will argue in this chapter that we are more justified in using an alternative model of early hominins, and perhaps even the Pan/Homo LCA, than we are in believing that early ancestors were chimpanzee-like. According to this model, early hominins were much more socially tolerant and less aggressive than usually assumed. I ground this claim in both the comparative evidence and the paleoanthropological record. As a result, I will argue that this model does not fit well with views such as the demonic male view (Wrangham & Peterson, 1996) or the killer ape hypothesis (Dart, 1953). 12 ------- 63 Play is a valuable social interaction and can be used to establish social preferences depending on the amount of playful interactions between individuals. Thus, play behavior could also have a crucial role in the bonobo social organization and its typically weak dominance hierarchy. To the extent that the above neurobiological similarities are correlated with the more egalitarian social structure of bonobos, they would suggest that early hominins lived in (vii) less hierarchical and arguably (viii) less male-dominated social groups with respect to a hypothetical chimpanzee-like model of the Pan/Homo LCA. Explanations of the evolution of the bonobo usually argue that reduced male aggression toward females was sexually selected (Hare et al., 2012; Wrangham & Peterson, 1996). But it is at least equally likely that this trait was inherited from the common ancestor, especially in light of the fact that the traditional evolutionary scenario for the split between chimpanzees and bonobos is not supported by our current knowledge about the formation of the Congo River (Takemoto, Kawamoto, & Furuichi, 2015). 17 17 According to this hypothesis, the formation of the Congo River isolated an ancestral population of the common ancestor of chimpanzees and bonobos around 2 mya (Wrangham, 1993; Wrangham & Peterson, 1996). This population did not have to compete with gorillas for resources, which allowed females to form coalitions and resist the advances of males. Since coercion was not an efficient mating strategy, sexual selection favored less aggressive males. This led to the evolution of bonobos and their distinctively low levels of aggression. However, the current geological evidence contradicts this scenario because it indicates that the present Congo River was formed much earlier, around 34 mya. -------- 174 .... normative guidance, I suggested that a better explanation of the shift toward a top-down capacity to understand and respond to commands could be framed in terms of shared intentionality (Tomasello, 2015; Tomasello & Carpenter, 2007; Tomasello et al., 2005).

Your all too brief post offers no stirring info despite title

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=vRl4pFUg_qY which, at 37m dirties or shakes rather, the waters instead of stirring them. It's the Randi trick all over again, 'banana' or no 'banana' [reference to (codespeak for) criminals too big to prosecute and for youtube to say no to, resulting in over 10 channel erasures thus far, talk about dilutions ... hah!!!!! the oldest maffia trick off the books is to dilute the toxic material they get paid to 'disappear'] hi, i got here via 'related' below your 'shaken not stirred'

https://homeopathy101.wordpress.com/2010/04/06/shaken-not-stirred/ which is only flippantly related to your meager content there cause it has isn't about stirring vs shaking at all. i know the stirring is a big deal in biodynamics [Demeter brand, homeopathy for soils and plants ... or people VIA sols and plants] .. would you like to flesh it out a little?

> Allegoria Paranoia is about pattern-making and the creation of meaning. It is about choosing a pattern or explanation that fits all the facts but is no more elaborate than the facts demand. This thin edge between too little and too much is sometimes referred to as Occam's Razor, the rule created by medieval logician William of Ockham, who said that the simplest explanation that covers all the facts is best. When our explanations fail to explain all the facts, our patterns are inadequate and logically unconvincing. When our pattern-making extends beyond what the facts allow, we fall into the trap of allegoresis, the imposition of patterns that are not actually there. A severe form of this sort of imposed allegorical reading or interpretation is paranoia.

> China basically only had mask restrictions, letting people do whatever > China released a vaccine that has no side effects > China has been fully open for about a year
> The vaccine having no side effects implies it is a placebo. Everything about the series of events implies that China at first didn't know what was going on, then figured it out, but couldn't admit that the West deceived them on that large of a scale, so they had to figure out how to manage things, covering up that they fell for a hoax. Right wingers who have been promoting this Wuhan lab leak theory need to ask themselves a very simple and very important question: why would the media all of a sudden start telling the truth about the virus?

> (147). Dick's half-life system in Ubik is violated, when a teen delinquent among the ghosts starts consuming, depleting, and liquidating all ghostly others. But the life suck brings up the arrears in testing, and carries out the sentencing of finitude in the afterlife: the second death, which is murder. Modern spiritualism turned absence of proof into a promo for testing, which by testing for it confers more and more hypothetical reality. That's its sciencefiction aspect. But spiritualism also faces toward horror fantasy. The planetary animism that spiritualism updates to allow for the hypothetical reality of ghostly correspondents via media gets subsumed, according to Freud's Totem and Taboo, by the psychic reality of the living dead moving against us. == The Psychopathy Test ==

> Soroush Mirghasemi
> That wouldn't make sense, if crypto-chromes are in fact the main chemicals involved in magneto-reception they need to exist somewhere where they are exposed to light to generate the radical pairs of electrons involved in this hypothesis, and the brain and by extension the pineal gland is buried deep inside the skull where it has no access to light, if there is any magneto-reception in human being (or any remnant of receptor organs from evolutionary ancestors) it will have to be close to the surface of the human body (at least according to this current hypothesis)

@Soroush Mirghasemi Stuart Hameroff and Penrose give the details. The cytochrome or cyrptochrome are just one venue. reality starts from the inside out. "When using de Broglie-Bohm approach, we escape the need for binding and quantum coherency in signaling at the atomic scale. The formation of a macro-quantum state is a way of preventing against dissipation and could be the result of pairing molecular dipole-bound electrons of opposite spins, enabling the formation of strong bonds for atoms to form molecular ions. Spin pairing in molecules is dependent on the Pauli exclusion principle, yet molecular dipole-bound electrons can aid the formation of a macro-quantum state through quantum (electron) tunneling by way of a chiral potential (or selective guidance of electrons by the accompanying magnetic field) selecting spin polarizations in a dynamic network of atoms (Naaman:2016, Michaeli:2016, Banerjee-Ghosh:2018). which may give rise to more â€˜electron smears' without the need for quantum coherence." "The â€˜consciousness guidance' is encoded through the non-zero real component of the mean approximation of the negentropic force to form a â€˜consciousness code'. " Dr. Jack Tuszinski, et. al. "This implies that zero amplitudes reflect coherence, while non-zero amplitudes, designate incoherency necessary for the negentropic action (or experiential flow of thermo-quantum internal energy that results in a negentropic force) to be encoded. The negentropic action representing experiential flow of specific energy that results in a negentropic force appears to be on-going without dissipating, defining what is meant by negentropic entanglement." thanks for asking. Time is asymmetric and noncommutative. See Fields Medal Alain Connes youtube talks on "quantum of the sphere" or Music of the Quantum Sphere - for details. "This is because polarized regions associated with cognitive neural signaling are completely omniscient of guidance waves, whose abode is hypothesized to be in nonpolar hydrophobic regions of cytoskeletal proteins bound to actin filaments. Figure 1.. Schematic diagram illustrating (top left) a neuronal branchlet studded with spines and (top right) shows a nonsynaptic spine shaft containing cytoskeletal molecular proteins bound to actin-filament networks within the spine shaft of uniform length approximately 0.7 Î¼ m and 100 nm in diameter. The quantized subspace is where pilot-waves originate at picometer scale (âˆ¼ 0.1 nm) within apolar hydrophobic regions of actin-binding proteins shown (bottom left) form clathrate-like structures with water molecules (adapted from Mentre:2012). The electron clouds at âˆ¼ 10 pico-meter scale (bottom right) is an order of magnitude smaller than most chemistry transformations and measurements and therefore below physical chemistry." so "Preconscious experienceability is not expressed through perception like conscious perception must be. Thus, the notion of subjectivity comes from the intrinsic information and not from outside of the brain. This intrinsicness does not evolve, but is inherent in qubit-like properties of electron clouds. For this reason, we have advanced panexperiential materialism, where biological evolution is bounded by a materialistic pre-existence of the physical nature of subjective experience."

@Soroush Mirghasemi that vagus nerve stimulation prompts secretion of melatonin from extrapineal sites rather than from the gland itself. However, since usual pinealectomy removes only the superficial portion of the gland, leaving the deep pineal intact, one cannot discount the possibility that circulating melatonin levels may be due to contribution from the deep portion of the gland. Yet, atrophy of the deep pineal is apparent following superficial pinealectomy in rats (Heidbuchel and Vollrath, 1983), which most likely results in impaired function, although this has not been confirmed. This is not surprising since the sympathetic fibres that innervate the gland first supply the superficial pineal before coursing down the stalk and supplying innervation to the deep pineal. This suggests that removal of the superficial pineal disrupts the sympathetic input to the deep pineal, which would account for the observed atrophy. If sympathetic input is disrupted, then one may speculate that the likelihood of the deep pineal contributing to systemic melatonin levels is low." Neuromodulation of the Pineal Gland via Electrical Stimulation of Its Sympathetic Innervation Pathway So the photons go into the eyes and are converted to electrons but originate as Photon signals - and then travel via the sympathetic nervous system to the pineal gland. Whereas Yoga relies on deep vagus nerve activation with the charge stored in the increased lecithin that myelinates the nerves (from celibacy) - just like an Electric Eel switches charge of potassium based on lecithin. Thanks for asking. You can see my arcticle, "secret science of spiritual healing" for more details - or my channel, etc. for links to lots more details with images, etc. books with scholarly references, etc.

> "Geometric Games. A Brief History of the Not so Regular Solids" ---- Kim H. Veltman
> For Archimedes geometry at play was limited to mechanics. For Roger Bacon and other mediaeval philosophers the geometrical game was extended from the realm of man made machines to all regular shapes in nature, but it remained primarily an activity of God which man could merely imitate. In a sense we are still doing that. Except now examples of the past are challenging us to create even richer geometric games in the future and in a mysterious way the search for nature's outer forms is also an exploration of the inner contours of the imagination which are unending.

Hi Professor Dr. Manfred Euler: Thank you for your response before regarding our discussion on de Broglie's Law of Phase Harmony and human hearing/listening explained, as you do, with atomic forced microscopy. I wanted to let you know that Dr. Andrija Puharich had a self-published book called the ELF Magnetic Model of reality - it's free pdf online - but his earlier book published as "Beyond Telepathy" - also relies on de Broglie and hearing to explain his research into parapsychology and philosophy of science. Puharich ended up collaborating with Professor Oliver L. Reiser for a UN-based think tank - but Dr. Puharich did not understand the "dynamic" aspect of the Pythagorean noncommutative phase harmonics as you have grasped (in de Broglie's Law of Phase Harmony). So Puharich was still trying to impose the equal-tempered music tuning model on to science as a philosophy of the Golden Ratio, symmetry, etc. Whereas as a physics professor you understand that the "emergence" of matter is from this "ghost field" resonance (Einstein's term) with the superluminal massless nonlocal information pilot wave that ties back to the "pre-established harmony" of Leibniz.

Where the Dead Are ---- Fantasia ---
The â€œmusic of the spheres,â€? the wrap of music in mathematics and astronomy, can also mean that when the music plays we wish upon the stars. Going into the â€œPastorale,â€? his Sixth Symphony, Beethoven took along Jean-Jacques Rousseau's Reveries of the Solitary Walker. A run of works of Romantic program music fol- lowed the stroll through the countryside. In 1940, the â€œPastoraleâ€? entered Walt Disney's Fantasia, a title that also designates a form of musical composition that harnesses improvisation.
Beethoven, who composed in the form, was according to legend better even than Mozart at improvisation on the piano, the performance called in German Phantasieren. In order that such legends might also be mapped, pianographs, melographs, and Phantasiermaschinen were designed to transcribe an improvised performance into a repeatable score. In a 1956 Disney comic book made in West Germany, the local engineer DÃ¼sentrieb invites the Duck family to try out his newly invented Phantasiermaschine, and Donald promptly takes along his nephews on a fantasy trip to Jupiter. 1 In Walt Disney's original design for the main building of CalArts, the art school he founded in 1961 as tribute to his Gesamtkunstwerk Fantasia, there was an amusement-park train circling close to the ceiling, guiding visitors through the complex, allowing them to gaze down upon the artists busily at work in the Phantasiermaschine, the happiest place on earth.

> In early fragments, Benjamin formulated and reformulated a brief theory of color that was specific to fantasy, that of German Romanticism to be sure, but which already indicated the predilection he would realize in his outright appreciation of Disney's art of animation: â€œThe rainbow is a purely childlike image. [...] The color is [...] moist in nature, the medium of changes and not symptom.â€? Like in a rainbow and the laterna magica, too, â€œthe color is completely contour.â€? What is typical of fantasy (in contradistinction to the â€œfantasticâ€?) is an intrinsic Entstaltung, de- or un-formation: â€œAll fantastic forms have in common a constructive moment â€“ or (from the perspective of the subject) a moment of spontaneity. True fantasy in contrast is unconstructive, purely un-forming â€“ or (from the subject's vantage point) purely negative.â€? Benjamin, â€œPhantasie,â€? Gesammelte Schriften, in Gesammelte Schriften, Band 6: Fragmente, Autobiographische Schriften, eds. Rolf Tiedemann and Hermann SchweppenhÃ¤user (Frankfurt am Main: Suhrkamp, 1991), 115. My translation.

my comment: oh how poorly did Larry digest his encounter with poetpiet .. but i appreciate his efforts to elucidate color and illuminate some daubs, dabs, a klecks and vlek along the varishadacious ways towards getting a better and friendlier grip on the very darkest tactile memorabilization factor when it comes to fungibilize it's fantasy force factorization .. i just would not call that "violence" myself, rocks arub and arumble, proposing to heavenmade partner water in order to wed music to color ... that's a peace force, not violence. If BDSMers would mime that shit i'd jump rite in ...

> We saw that in "On Fairy-Stories" Tolkien responded to a dilation of the sense of an ending by identifying "the good catastrophe, the sudden joyous "urn" that anticipates a happy ending in the Gospel, not in the works themselves since "there is no true end to any fairy-tale." And phrases like 'and they lived happily ever after' or "And if they have not gone away they are there stillâ€? are like the margins and frames of pictures, 9 which flex the enigmatic force of upending or unhinging. From within the walls of the world, the eucatastrophe gives a fleeting/fleeing glimpse of joy, "poignant as grief."
> Nature, Fechner concludes, would be a marbled palette of paints if memories did not jog our perceptions (193). A signal familiar to us from Schopenhauer's treatise keeps the traffic going one-way. We feel the proximity of the ghosts or spirits, but we don't feel that they feel anything in exchange (194).

thoroughly disagree with his 'fake' [dis/]qualification:

> Hitler was adept at manipulating the fake-news guilt of the first war's victors, but then the good people believed and they rose to the occasion like Hobbits to fight pure evil and re-secure the inheritance of the meek. The fantasy genre could come back or re-start at the border to science fiction (Nazi Germany was the first realization of a science fiction), and by occupying the edge of the present that belongs to science fiction by its hit and miss extrapolations of future worlds forestall the end of history.

(R)EVOLUTION IN BERLIN: GOLEM Ushers in the Shadow Dialectic
12/02/2016 06:44 pm ET

> Today's leading Kulturindustrie theorist, Dr. Laurence Rickels, has been the pioneering interpreter of the Shadow in academia through his psychoanalysis of the popular genre of the horror film. His penetrating research of the past two decades reveals the vampire to have entered German literature through the doppelganger. The utilization of the terminology of doubling (Doppel) for the Shadow associated with the life-draining vampire is significant. This is the external projection utlized by the film medium of celluloid to evoke the internal barrier to human transcendence out of realism.
> 2016-11-14-1479105495-2179357-LARRY1.png
> 2016-11-14-1479104824-1878368-LARRY2.png
> By way of his 2016 entry into social media, a dialogue on his Facebook page drew direct correlation between his terminology of â€œVampire Integrationâ€? and Shadow integration, thereby creating a direct parallel between the Jungian terminology and that of continental philosophy:
> The occult associates ego with Saturn, known as Old Man Time depicted with an hourglass, thereby projecting the inner barrier outward; Saturn is the last planet revolving around the Sun with the Earth that can be seen by the human eye. That the ancient cultures projected this feeling of fate onto the planets (the wanderers) established the art of astrological prediction. Saturn represented the ego boundaries to the transcendental expression of the outer planets that could not be seen, but only felt in fleeting impressions of the spirit. The effect of this energy on the human body is that of time and therefore as fate, i.e. the agonizing feeling that the outcome of events is a result of measures adopted through time reaching a culmination that is beyond human means of control.
> Indeed, the bible story of Enki, the Aquarian god, out to prove that men don't need a womb to create life as he fashions a human out of clay, might be taken for an Aquarian mythology. Yet, more likely, this mythology reveals the Shadow of the Aquarian Age neglecting the feminine role as an equal partner in natural creation as germination of a seed.

> Salima Essakkati is an artist with a Muslim background who, in her artwork explores the possibilities of her alter-ego: Salima el Musalima, an Avant-Garde Imam who re-invents the concept of an imam and how the extra-polarities of freedom and non-freedom can be both liberating and limiting at the same time. The idea of a female imam being refused by tradition can be seen as limiting, but it also can be a tool of emancipation and freedom, because while the traditional male imam is confined within the walls of tradition, the woman-artist-imam is outside of it and is able to explore all the possibilities of Islamic expression. In her work Salima tries to look beyond the veil.
> Part of her work was part of a project called AKI ELECTRIQUE where she had searched for Allah for three months where an Odyssey of synchronical experiences resulted in a series of portraits showing the divine pattern expressed within her own body. In another one she created 1001 couture garments from old garbage she would have thrown away. With this act she researched and questioned if the things we throw away might actually be the things we are looking for. Currently she is on a vacation in Paris, the city of love, where she tries to find out if the religious institutions of Paris are able to give love to orphan girls in Sierra Leone, the poorest country in the world. With this project she tries to find out if the institutions truly practice what they preach or that she will find the love for the girls elsewhere. i've had a playlist called 'my crushing passion' on youtube for years now ... it's due to the underwhelming popularity and 'begrip' that nature punishes those blind to the obvious [harsh to the kind, accusatory to the healing ... etcetera] with a flushing passion.

told you hardplace stuckos to take stone and crush, nobody listened and now nature helps me givin your ears a flush the forces i pioneered, mind [mined] and showed the way, are wildly undisciplined, very bad students [it's never the teacher's fault right? right, let me proceed], unruly the polnt of reaching almost total counterproductivity and so i cannot claim to 'lead', spearhead and cheer so much as, at the end of the day and those that were mine, to have given a bad example, a breadcrumb trail to hard to follow, got waaay to far ahead of the bumbling masses. My androgyny is peaking and last nite i yelled at 5 young men 400 meters away on bicycles, looking back with puzzlement, after losing my shows and one sock dashing after them ... which has caused all muscles around my kidney to catch a case of acute hangoverness. They had whizzed by the window, one of them cracking a joke about cutting trees and another ripping what i thought was a branch from my live shades but turned out to be from the tree across the walkway. I went: "lafbekken, smeerlappen" after which a quiet evening passed, even my stomach quieting better than in the whole last 7 days, after a brief flarepang ... i looked up some stomach herbs and remembered i could target the pain with chlorella.

> Gerrit Rotman was a very politically conscious man. Witnessing the rise of the German fascist regime, he became quickly disillusioned. During the first years of the second World War, he lost almost all of his artistic drive, which was reflected in his work of the time. He even got a visit from a representative of the "Kulturkammer", admonishing him to adjust his comics more to the aggrandizing of the German ideals. Already in ill health, he died in 1944. During the severe hunger-winter of 1944, his children survived by selling some of their father's work for food.
> After the War much of Rotman's work was reprinted in regional magazines like Amstelveens Weekblad, Vlissinger Courant, Het Amusantje and Lente-leven. His work has appeared abroad in Germany, Yugoslavia, France, Ireland, Iceland, Denmark and in the Frisian language. In the Dutch city Almere a street was named after Jantje Joppe, a park after Pietje Pluis and an avenue after Gerrit Rotman himself, as part of the "Comics Heroes" district.

The Danish Red is a rare breed of cattle, and Niels Stokholm, who is approaching 80, has made it his life's mission to save it, working together with his partner Rita on his biodynamic farm in the Danish countryside. Filmmaker Phie Ambo follows their lives over the course of an exciting year in which government inspectors regularly visit the farm to point out that Stokholm's methods for keeping his cattle contravene animal welfare regulations. He faces substantial fines and perhaps even a shutdown of the business, but Stokholm is a stubborn man.

MH17 WITNESS BRINGS BELLINGCAT TO JUSTICE --- 902 views ---- Jul 17, 2021 --- Bonanza Media -- 2.38K subscribers ---- Artyom is one of many witnesses of fighter jets' presence in the sky the day Malaysian Boeing MH17 was shot down and fell on the rebel territory in the East of Ukraine. His testimony to a journalist Graham Phillips was shown by the defense lawyers in MH17 court last June. After that Artyom became Bellingcat's target. Christo Grozev wrote an article where he claimed the witness admitted he lied. We found Artyom, showed him the article. He was quite surprised to say the least. The details are in this video:

> I go on binges of focusing on China a lot because the success of the imperialist propaganda campaign against Beijing honestly freaks me the fuck out. It's really, really creepy watching more and more people's minds fold and transform into tools of the Pentagon in real time. It's like watching a zombie outbreak. A big part of the problem is that just as the insane don't know they're insane, the propagandized don't know they're propagandized. Criticize all the anti-China propaganda that's going around and people say â€œWhy are you defending a government that wants to take over the world and harvest my organs and give me a social credit score?? â€œAnd they think that's normal. They have no idea their mind has been hijacked and made into a tool of cold warriors and the military-industrial complex; they think they're defending an objective reality. This is a major challenge, because nobody's going to remove a blindfold if they don't believe it exists.

> Hey Spooksters! Today we are diving into the death of Kurt Cobain. Kurt, the lead singer of Nirvana, was found dead in the greenhouse above the garage of his home on April 8th, 1994. While it was ruled a suicide by Seattle PD, many wonder if there is more to this case. In Part 1 we'll dive into Kurt's life, music career journey, marriage to Courtney Love, his death, & more. ------ 3 Spooked Girls PO Box 5583 JBER, AK 99505-0583 https://linktr.ee/3spookedgirls - www.3spookedgirls.com/sources Have a personal true crime story or paranormal encounter you'd like to share with us? https://eoht.info/page/Lawrence%20Chin
In human thermodynamics, Lawrence Chang-Lung Chin (c.1969-) is a Chinese-born American philosopher and science writer noted for his treatise A Thermodynamic Interpretation of History, written over the years 1999 to 2006, in which he argues that human history can be best understood as being under the guidance of a Prigoginean thermodynamics like form of evolution. In philosophical thermodynamics, Chin interprets a human thermodynamic meaning of life as a process focused on dissipation and defecation. [1] His treatise or history thermodynamics project, according to Chin, â€œis essentially a theory of everything in terms of thermodynamic laws, both the first and second.â€?

In 2005, discussions between Chin and American chemical engineer Libb Thims, on the topic of the thermodynamics of evil, as discussed in Chin's chapter â€œPower, the Second Law of Thermodynamics and the Problem of Evilâ€?, resulted, in part, to stimulate the writing of the first article for the Journal of Human Thermodynamics, titled "Evil, Structural Stability, and Pre-disposed Movements.â€? [2] In addition, in regards to the field of cessation thermodynamics, parts of Chins theory are mentioned Thims' 2005 manuscript Cessation Thermodynamics and his 2007 textbook Human Chemistry. [3]

(b) Chin, Lawrence C.L. (2006). A Thermodynamic Interpretation of History (ch. 10: â€œPower, the Second Law of Thermodynamics and the Problem of Evilâ€?). GeoCities publication.

Human thermodynamics
In circa 2010, Libb Thims was testing the extrapolation, in respect to the science of human thermodynamics, knowing that Mars "Ã¢â„¢‚Ã¢â‚¬Å¡Ã¢â€š¬" and Venus "Ã¢â„¢‚Ã¢â‚¬Å¡Ã¢â‚¬Â¬" symbol symbolically represent man and woman, respectively, and knowing that the triple parallel line symbol "â‰¡" is a representation of bonding between molecules, such as between human molecules, then the symbolic representation shorthand for human thermodynamics may be: Human (Ã¢â„¢‚Ã¢â‚¬Å¡Ã¢â€šâ‰¡Ã¢â„¢‚Ã¢â‚¬Å¡Ã¢â‚¬Â¬) Thermodynamics (Î¸Î”ics) or "Ã¢â„¢‚Ã¢â‚¬Å¡Ã¢â€šâ‰¡Ã¢â„¢‚Ã¢â‚¬Å¡Ã¢â‚¬Â¬ Î¸Î”ics".

> Finally I urge you to consider this truly remarkable speech from Kenny MacAskill MP. Scotland's former Justice Secretary, and consider its quite staggering implications. It tells you everything you want to know about the British Establishment's capture of the Scottish government, that the mainstream media felt no need to report the main points he was making, which constitute a simply astonishing outline of corrupt abuse of power.

> By spreading a thin rock dust layer over six acres of land in Scotland's otherwise largely infertile foothills of the Grampian Mountains, the Thomsons mimicked the earth's glacial processes that naturally fertilize soils. Their regenerated soils produced giant vegetables and huge biodiversity.
> The fast growing popularity of the soil remineralizing with SEER Rockdust spread across the North Sea to Sweden. The development came about because the pioneering work of Cameron and Moira Thomson at the SEER Centre near Pitlochry was featured in Graham Harvey's seminal book We Want Real Food. Ten years after forming their center, Swedish journalist Henrik Ennart visited Cameron and Moira. He was inspired by their farm and wrote an article in Sweden's leading â€˜Svenska Dagbladet' newspaper, which helped lead to increased demand for rock dust solutions in the Scandinavian country.
> SEER Centre Garden
> As such, Angus Horticulture Ltd., which marketed organically-approved products on behalf of Rockdust Ltd. (the trading arm of the SEER Centre Trust), eventually despatched their product to Wiksunds Tradgard â€" a farm shop and place for courses and events just outside Stockholm, and the general agent in Sweden for rock dust. Lars Angstrom, a member of the Swedish Parliament, and his wife, Katharina, who ran Wiksund Tradgard, recognized that soil remineralization could improve the quality, taste and nutritional value of crops, as well as improve pests and drought resistance and reduce synthetic fertilizer runoff. Further, SEER's rock dust was combating climate change by taking carbon dioxide out of the atmosphere.
> â€œGrinding out rocks and plowing them into this all sounds a bit daft â€" until you see the giant cabbages and cauliflowers which grow there with abandon.â€? ------- Auslan Cramb, The Scotsman, October 2, 1993
> â€œmagic dust: the minerals in the ground-up stones rejuvenate the microorganisms in the soil

â€œRemarkably, a stone with surface area of one square foot will grind into rock flour or dust with a surface area of 8 acres.â€?

> After having lived almost 15 years in China, I finally arrived in Auckland, New Zealand a few days before Christmas 2020 to reunite with my mate from whom I'd been separated for the past year due to Covid border closures. Having to first spend the holidays in mandatory Managed Isolation & Quarantine (MIQ) for 14 days, I brought my gear to assemble a little radio station in the hotel room that I've bound to, so that I could create, play and mix some sounds to pass the days. Free of China's live-stream killing firewall, this archive is just under 7 hours (broken into 1-hour chunks) of my New Years LIVE-stream to celebrate the arrival of 2021 â€¦alone in the room â€“ but with any & all who decided to tune in! Thank you s&S Radio friends, for getting me through the darkest days of the past year. I'm out of here on January 5 and WE'RE hitting the road for a few days on our way south. Stay tuned! -RemOp (FC)

> For those who are curious, this is the beautiful flower of the snake gourd, Trichosanthes cucumerina. It's a climbing vine, grown on aerial racks for it's edible fruit, which can grow to be over a meter long. It's native to Southeast Asia and, strangely, Australia as well, and it's also grown in many countries in Africa. It's very uncommon to see this plant cultivated elsewhere. The gourds are described as mucilaginous, and sometimes are faintly bitter and odd-smelling before being cooked.

Chinese President's Visit to Tibet Sends a Message to India | Threat to India | Arunachal Pradesh -- 12K views - 9 hours ago - China Observer
128K subscribers ---- Dalai Lama Impact Xi Jinping Visits Arunachal Pradesh Border ---- Chinese President Xi Jinping visiting Tibet is a threat to India, says senior US Congressman -------- Was Xi Jinping sending India a message with his â€˜secret' recent visit to Tibet? ---------- Xi Jinping visits Tibet while 14 million people are affected in Henan Flooding.
From July 21st to 23rd, Chinese Communist Party leader Xi Jinping led a delegation to inspect Tibet. And just a day before Xi's arrival, Henan suffered severe flooding, with the official website of Henan Water Resources Department releasing information that it is "once in more than 5,000 years." On the 20th, a huge flood occurred in Zhengzhou City. The metro line 5 and the Jingguang Expressway tunnel were flooded and many people died.

In the case of serious flooding in Henan, why didn't Xi Jinping go to Henan to inspect and guide the relief work, and instead went to Tibet? Xi Jinping has also repeatedly emphasized to "always put the people's life safety and physical health first".

A netizen commented that: â€œXi Jinping has a Ph.D., of course, he knows to run to higher ground when there's a big flood, and it's obvious that Tibet is higher than Henan!â€?

Combined media reports and China experts' analysis believe that: Xi Jinping visited Tibet for three reasons: the first is the tension on the border between China and India; the second is to investigate the Motuo Hydropower project that has a total installed capacity of about three times the Three Gorges Dam, and the third is to avoid responsibility.

As seen in the photos released by the official media, those accompanying Xi Jinping to Tibet includes Vice Chairman of the CCP's Military Commission Zhang Youxia and Vice Premier Liu He.

In 1962, China won the Sino-Indian conflict but gave South Tibet back. Why didn't they keep it? Because they can't hold onto it. If one comes from India, they have to go through the great plains and up to the middle of the mountain. While the Chinese side needs to climb from the highlands, up and over the top of the mountains. With less than three months of transportation time per year, if the Chinese army was stationed in southern Tibet, the material transportation would not be efficient. The army simply can't stay there for a long period of time, so China returned the land they conquered.

The second purpose of Xi Jinping's visit to Tibet is to inspect the Motuo hydropower project. The planned hydropower plant in China is located near the entrance of the Niyang River, at the "big bend" canyon section of the Yarlung Tsangpo River, which has a drop of 2,350 m. The plant has an installed capacity of 60 GW (gigawatt), about 2.5 to 3 times that of the Three Gorges hydropower plant. The plant is currently in the survey stage. In 2019 it was reported that the Motuo hydropower plant will be built in 2030-2035 and completed by 2045.

Water Conservancy Expert Wang Weiluo said in an interview with Radio Free Asia that the Motuo hydropower project has been written into the 14th Five-Year Plan, meaning that it will go ahead regardless of whether the Tibetans and Indians agree or not. The investment in the project maybe five times that of the Three Gorges project. In addition, the Great Western Water Transfer Plan, which is the water transfer from Tibet to Xinjiang, has also been included in the 14th Five-Year Plan, with a project scale of about 309 billion US Dollars.

So Xi Jinping's decision not to go to Henan actually saves them trouble as well. Wen Zhao said that the main reason Xi Jinping didn't go to Henan is to avoid trouble. The CCP is such a system where from the top to bottom no one wants to take responsibility, and everyone wants to put the blame on someone else to save themselves, so the Zhengzhou flood is no exception.

Utrecht: save the Reactorweg
- May 2nd, 2021 Filed under: Communique, News
A squat in the city of Utrecht at Reactorweg in the district of Lage Weide is being threatened with eviction. The reason? The Utrechts Studenten Corps (Utrecht Student Association, USC from here), a Fraternity, wants to throw its 77th annual "lustre" party in the 3 squatted buildings that house 25 people and numerous social, cultural, and political initiatives. To make such an eviction during the COVID-pandemic and a housing crisis in Utrecht, the students are essentially helping the owner evict the 25 squatters, putting them on the streets.
But we still have hope! If we manage to raise sufficient funding we can initiate a higher appeal, in which other judges will revise the case.

- July 27th, 2021 - Staats Woonbedrijf Aardbevingsgebied Groningen Foundation (SWAG). According to their own website, they act in the public interest and without a profit motive, have a specific focus on the liveability in the area and manage the acquired properties to prevent vacancy, deterioration, squatting and vandalism. Unfortunately, it remains with this general vision, because practice shows a very different picture."

Currently, the foundation owns 35 properties. Of those properties, 3 are used as temporary housing and 8 are in use through vacancy management (anti-squat). Of the remaining 24 properties, no use, destination or future vision can be found in the foundation's overviews.

> It is the lines engraved and angles deliberately created so long ago that is our major concern. In what was an unexpected turn of events, Dr. Derek Cunningham's measurement of the angles of the Bosnian rock, although incomplete and subject to additions once a better photograph is taken, managed to identify 15 angles. A comparison of the Bosnian rock to the angles on Ros' Rock 1 and a Canadian rock Derek had already investigated, resulted in an incredibly high rate of repetition of the same lines and angles. The chances that these engraved lines bearing the same angles spanning three continents were either made by natural forces or are a random

LETTER OF DISASSOCIATION ... Kleiner
As some of you may already know, the P2P community has a major issue with P2P Foundation founder Michel Bauwens who has, in my view, turned the foundations Facebook groups and other forums into potential recruitment vectors for the "alt-right" and has created an environment where many people feel unwelcome and unsafe, including women, people of colour, and LGBT+ people.

As I have been involved with the P2P Foundation, Michel himself, and other parts of the P2P community for almost two decades, I have joined other colleagues who are alarmed by this right-wing pivot in signing this statement of dissociation.

Left and right (derived from the seating arrangements of two elitist factions centuries ago) have lost meaning and a fundamental struggle is perhaps emerging, the endgame it may be: "there are two sides: the agents of waste and the lovers of the wild. Either for life or against it. And each of us has to choose." (Jay Griffiths, Wild, 2008: 9)

Variations of Gender and Technology Trouble
by Cornelia Sollfrank

Technofeminism is based on two basic assumptions: 1) technology is not neutral and 2) technology is a highly gendered field. These presuppositions open up a field of questions, problems and related practices. Based on selected positions in theory and practice, the talk exemplifies some of the tensions and openings from which to > rethink ways of encountering the current technopolitical crisis. Commoning here serves as a framework for the process of vision and implementation, of experimentation and evaluation, of responding to the contemporary condition by creating new forms, formats and formations and questioning them again.

> Next week will continue with another lecture series on "Commoning education" with Femke Snelting, Jara Rocha & Martino Morandi, Gregoire Rousseau and Nora Sternfeld, Marcell Mars.

> Angelika Yelapaangel ------ "Yahoo News: Fri, July 2, 2021, 8:20 PM --------- An oil pipeline fire in the Gulf of Mexico was reportedly brought under control and extinguished after a hellish scene of massive flames erupting directly from roiling waters Friday.
> The blaze west of the Yucatan Peninsula broke out at an underwater pipeline that connects to a platform operated by Mexican state oil firm Petroleos Mexicanos (Pemex) at its flagship Ku Maloob Zaap oil development in the southern gulf, Reuters reported.
> The national company attributed the blaze, which resembled molten lava on the water, to a gas leak in the 12-inch-diameter pipeline, apparently linked to an electrical storm, according to Reuters.
>
> "The turbomachinery of Ku Maloob Zaap's active production facilities were affected by an electrical storm and heavy rains," stated an incident report shared by one of Reuters' sources.
>
> The operation was reportedly pumping out 726,000 barrels a day of crude at the moment of the incident.
> In an eerie scene, ships poured fountains of water onto the flaming gulf. Reuters reported that Pemex's crew used nitrogen to finally control the fire from the pipeline.
> The blaze erupted at 5:15 a.m. local time about 150 yards from an oil platform and operations returned to "normal" at 10:45 after the fire was extinguished, Bloomberg reported, citing a company statement."

> Money, Language, and Thought: Literary and Philosophic Economies from the Medieval to the Modern Era by Marc Shell
> In Money, Language, and Thought, Marc Shell explores the interactions between linguistic and economic production as they inform discourse from Chretien de Troyes to Heidegger. Close readings of works such as the medieval grail legends, The Merchant of Venice, Goethe's Faust, and Poe's "The Gold Bug" reveal how discourse has responded to the dissociation of symbol from thing characteristic of money, and how the development of increasingly symbolic currencies has involved changes in the meaning of meaning.
> Pursuing his investigations into the modern era, Shell points out significant internalization of economic form in Kant, Hegel, and Heidegger. He demonstrates how literature and philosophy have been driven to account self-critically for a "money of the mind" that pervades all discourse, and concludes the book with a discomforting thesis about the cultural and political limits of literature and philosophy in the modern world.

> The New Polis is honored to present Dr. Tinker's follow-up piece to "Redskin, Tanned Hide: A Book of Christian History Bound in the Flayed Skin of an American Indian: The Colonial Romance, christian Denial and the Cleansing of a christian School of Theology," published in The Journal of Race, Ethnicity, and Religion, Volume 5, Issue 9 (October 2014). Due to the importance of source work for this piece, we have left all of Dr. Tinker's own notes and citations intact at the and of the draft. We have only added hyperlinks when helpful and broken paragraphs for online readability.

In this regard, one should also note the work of Anthony Anghie on the development of international law under euro-christian imperialism. The quickest introduction to his analysis of the legal processes invented by euro-christians to facilitate land theft might be his essay, "The Evolution of International Law: Colonial and Postcolonial Realities," Third World Quarterly, 27 (2006): 739-753. Available on-line at: https://collections.lib.utah.edu/dl_files/fb/5e/fb5ecb0217f1089ce9d43ca244de1c422bb752cb.pdf. Property becomes the euro-christian legal designation that emerges particularly in their early modern period. And here we must remember John Locke's chapter v: "On Property," in the Second Treatise on Civil Government; and note my critique of Locke: T. Tinker, "John Locke: On Property," in Beyond the Pale: Reading Christian Ethics from the Margins, edited by Stacey Floyd-Thomas and Miguel de la Torre (WJK, 2011), 49-60.

Went homeless. Done Guerrilla Grazing by choice ever since 51K views - Aug 15, 2021 --- Kirsten Dirksen --- 1.54M subscribers ---- Aaron Fletcher has grazed his sheep and lived off the land as a traveling shepherd for 12 years. He calls it guerrilla grazing (a step above guerrilla gardening, he says) and he lets his sheep graze - with permission- public parks and side lots. Homeless by choice, he offers his services to small farms in exchange for food or a place to stay (though half his calories come from his sheeps' milk).

With a tiny metal cart home pulled by his sheep he has a bed, a refrigerator/evaporative cooler, a shower (he uses a pesticide sprayer to pump up the water pressure), power (solar panel), sun oven, a mailbox stove for heat, bicycle tire wheels and a corrugated plastic roof.

Fletcher makes cheese and butter from his sheep milk and forages for seeds, fruits, vegetables and herbs. He's created a map for foragers in his region. He makes some money with his scythe business - cutting noxious weeds for locals -, but he insists he's not interested in making money and just hopes to serve as an example for other homeless interested in guerrilla grazing.

p532 [on the 107p excerpt i found] of scribbles by jesuits in the midwest [most of it is 'accounting' style prose ... to emphasize their phoniness i guess]:

Then Brother O'Donnell, as surveyor, staked off the lots, which were to be assigned in equal dimensions to the individual Indians, while the squaws followed after him, dexterously shifting the stakes so as to obtain a larger share of land The Indians showed great zest for the initial processes of raising a crop such as ploughing, harrowing, and planting the seeds furnished them by Schoenmakers But here their labor ceased, the protests neither of the father nor of the brother could induce them to go further in cultivating the field If the seeds would not spring up into crops without further attention, they were plainly of no account The Indians pointed with a sense of triumphant logic to the grass which year by year came forth from the bosom of Mother Earth with no human toil to coax it into being If crops of corn and wheat and barlev could not be got except by laborious cultivation of the soil, there was evidently here some perversion of Nature's processes in which the Indians preferred to have no hand After all, Nature had intended them to be hunters, not farmers, and while buffalo remained plentiful, it was the height of folly to go to work And so this first agricultural experiment of good Father Schoenmakers issued in downright failure By the end of July weeds, brambles and sun-flowers covered the entire field and when these disappeared in the fires the Indians were accustomed to start in October to consume the piaine grass, the very site of the forty acre field became obliterated The conclusion reached by Father Schoenmakers and Brother O'Donnell was that Indian grown-ups were proof against the seductions of farming and that success in teaching the Osage to farm, if it came at all, was to come through the rising generation. And indeed the young generation of the tribe became in the end the occasion of at least a qualified success in Osage farming of which Father Schoenmakers felt that he could legitimately be proud Having formed a class in agriculture among the larger boys, the father was accustomed to take them out to the fields for the necessary instruction in this vitally important part of their education On those occasions he could not but notice the keen interest displayed by many of the older Osage in the agricultural training through which the boys were being put Standing by and watching the latter as they worked in the fields, the Osage adults finally threw off their blankets, took a spade or other implement in hand and went to work with surprising earnestness H e r e was Father Schoenmakers's opportunity If these Indians showed so much readiness to work with the boys, they might be induced to do a little farming on their own account And so it turned out to be A number of Indians staked out small plots of land on which they began to raise grain and vegetables This was in 1858 The example of these farmer-Indians was contagious The following spring a still larger number of Indians were engaged in farming and soon formed a regular settlement of some fifty families Without quarrelling of any kind as to the limits of their respective fields, they had picked up their claims along the fertile valley of the Neosho, the settlement starting at the point some three miles south of the mission and extending over an area of about twenty-five miles, as far down as Little White Hair's town By disposing of some of their horses, the Osage farmers were able to procure for themselves agricultural implements and farming stock while Schoenmakers supplied them with seeds The Osage had their reward

Dear LJ coders, ... you need to update this:

> " How do I share my entries on Facebook, Twitter, Blogger, and other services? - The sharing feature allows you to easily repost an entry on LiveJournal or link to any public LiveJournal entry on other social networking services."

there is no blogger share button ..... so don't mention that beautiful predecessor or better yet, ADD THEM as a share option!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Keep It Dirty
Imprint Editor: Christian Hite (christianhite@gmail.com)

Keep It Dirty is an affiliative network, a desiring-assemblage, .. calls for a full-hearted embrace of everything we do bad, for good. .... also a love-in that practices Leo Bersani's impersonal narcissism. It wants the shock of the touch of everyone's dirtiness, but without any claims. Except on the future. You say you love the earth? Well, you need to get dirty, then. And tell others how to do it, too.

Uitgeverij started as a stand-alone, Creative Commons publisher founded in 2010 by Vincent W.J. van Gerven Oei. Its catalogue was included as an imprint of punctum books in 2018 and made fully open access. The following text was used as its publishing manifesto:

We publish under no name, the word â€˜publisher' in all languages. We fight for language: poetically, epically, philosophically, linguistically, ethnographically or otherwise. We put our faith into five maxims. We enjoy working with authors who recognize themselves in them. And even though this is written in English, you have to trust us.

TheBeardedSatanist ----- 4 years ago, on June 8th 2017, YouTuber Randy Stair went to his local Wei's supermarket and killed 3 people and then himself. He did this to reincarnate himself and 3 others as Ember's Ghost Squad, which is a fan series of Ember McClain from Danny Phantom that he made. .....Let me guess, it was the MisterMetokur video? That one does a fantastic job of showing just how pathetic Randy was, to the point that you almost start feeling bad for the guy before you're starkly reminded that he committed a workplace shooting essentially just to say "Fuck you, Mom and Dad"
And yeah... That cartoon was just fucking bizarre, it was like a love letter to the Columbine Shooters, but also a Danny Phantom fanfic

'one' might as well drop the hopeful hintin .. or at least i should .. i find causes i pick up and 'jugglepun' with and upon [give or take anywhere from months years or decades later] but invariably twisted, mangled, dismembered, contorted and whatnot. if i had chosen the opposite tack, pure and mumdumb 'promonstration' [let others try de-, in-, sub-, para- and proscribe it] things might have turned out different. Now i feel responsible, an invert messiah, causing people to sin, the attraction of my memes being large, but that of my presence/direction .... my fixture, my iconian 'seethruer'dom, to keep them all ringed and ringing, resolve in/as clayballs [like a churchbell's 'klepel' to be[ ]at time] rolling around gentle slopes nice and orderly enough to run a wheel that 'pow[d]ers' everywhere the finery rubspinoff 'lies' .... being small.

a resolution yarn on a vanity segment in a george webb vid caused me to comment, 'don't worry about it, it causes hiccups and besides, i keep mine set to 144p standard'. ... Well, all hell broke loose almost immediately ... someone killed 'my' standard at youtube and they insisted i try others, upwards of 720, which with my processor size, immedately freezes display ... at odd moments too ... first after commercials .. then in the middle of a session ... it's gotten better since then .. but not back to 'normal'.

> Where did the Snake River go? -- 22 views -- Aug 26, 2021 --- Honor The Earth -- 1.82K subscribers -- As of August 9th, the Snake River in northwestern Minnesota has dried up. At the site where Enbridge's Line 3 crosses beneath the river, the flow ends. Remaining, are a few shallow puddles, some filled with small dead fish. ....potential frac-out at the Snake River crossing. A frac-out can happen during the drilling process when the pressure below a riverbed is greater than ontop. This causes drilling fluid to be forced up through the riverbed. Enbridge says their drilling fluid is not considered toxic but can damage aquatic life. The Minnesota Pollution Control Agency said the state water permit issued for the construction does not authorize the release of drilling fluid to a wetland or river. Enbridge has released drilling fluid at least 28 times at 12 river crossings.

blew my mind ... first rut i ever saw

please note, these 'amammals' are very closely related to the tibetan yaks .... i think a parallel campaign is prolly in order and not done until we have moved all colors back to their homeground ... where nobody is tempted to find them dastardly pill substitutes [psyhauntsy / teccy amputations :: prosthetics and whatnot] for skin that [is obviously most 'engaged'/happy where it is home, iow] matches sunlight and place ... iow, until we have persuaded, cajoled, lured, tempted, reasoned ... or as very last resort, bribed .. [should be bearable after the money clean up it's gonna take anyhow], ... sent even [the last most stubborn one] chinese home from tibet and blackie/whitie back to africa and eurasia off of yar turtle isles, H@@, i mean Hoo!!

> If only one thing has brought me joy in the last few weeks, it began when the matriarchs at Unist'ot'en burned the Canadian flag and declared reconciliation is dead. Like wildfire, it swept through the hearts of youth across the territories. Reconciliation was a distraction, a way for them to dangle a carrot in front of us and trick us into behaving. Do we not have a right to the land stolen from our ancestors? It's time to shut everything the fuck down! - Tawinikay (aka Southern Wind Woman)

> praestant8: Mr Schafer's assertion of celestes in the US being 20th century post Cavaille-Coll is false... The 1st example in the US is in the 1850's. It may not have been ubiquitous as with post war unit organs, but was not the rarity he suggests. The talking of a museum quality restoration while also being apologetic with speech issues is also incongruous.
> J C: i have seen many 19th century American instruments on OHS. Mostly small instruments, but a few large ones. I cannot remember ever seeing a celeste. Were there certain makers who tended to use them?
> praestant8: @J C yes it was adopted more readily by more progressive builders (Roosevelt, Jardine, Hutchings, Woodberry) than it was by established names, Hook/Hastings, Erben, Steere. True it was less likely to be found on modest instruments without complete choruses and reeds. I would consider this Steere to be modest in the older Hook style.
> Velostigmat: Celestes were integral to the French Romantic tradition, but American organbuilders seem to have been more influenced by English and German tonal design through immigrant builders and the Boston Music Hall Walcker. It's also interesting to note that American Victorian builders seemed to avoid 8' harmonic flutes, but they built countless 4' harmonic flutes. As for the string speech, well, 19th century string stops can be fussy. The organ was restored in 1997, and some of the Violina pipes may have gone out of regulation over 20something years. And this was recorded in August. Even the best restored instrument can sound "off" during a temperature swing.

> The SEER Centre a Showcase for Soil Remineralization
> https://hippocratesinst.org/learning-centre/blog/archive/the-seer-centre-a-showcase-for-soil-remineralization/
> The SEER Centre Trust owns a trading subsidiary, Rockdust Limited, which sells their very own brand of minerals, called Rockdust, all over the UK and beyond. Sales information links can be accessed directly from the Centre website. They make and sell two different rock-dust/compost mixes as well: Rocksoil is their growing medium used in the ...

https://www.remineralize.org/2019/12/tribute-to-remineralization-pioneer-cameron-thomson-of-the-seer-centre-1947-2019/
The fast growing popularity of the soil remineralizing with SEER Rockdust spread across the North Sea to Sweden. The development came about because the pioneering work of Cameron and Moira Thomson at the SEER Centre near Pitlochry was featured in Graham Harvey's seminal book We Want Real Food. Ten years after forming their center, Swedish journalist Henrik Ennart visited Cameron and Moira. He was inspired by their farm and wrote an article in Sweden's leading â€˜Svenska Dagbladet' newspaper, which helped lead to increased demand for rock dust solutions in the Scandinavian country.

SEER Centre Garden
As such, Angus Horticulture Ltd., which marketed organically-approved products on behalf of Rockdust Ltd. (the trading arm of the SEER Centre Trust), eventually despatched their product to Wiksunds Tradgard â€" a farm shop and place for courses and events just outside Stockholm, and the general agent in Sweden for rock dust. Lars Angstrom, a member of the Swedish Parliament, and his wife, Katharina, who ran Wiksund Tradgard, recognized that soil remineralization could improve the quality, taste and nutritional value of crops, as well as improve pests and drought resistance and reduce synthetic fertilizer runoff. Further, SEER's rock dust was combating climate change by taking carbon dioxide out of the atmosphere.

Reading Franz Kafka's "Paradise" - 1.1K views - May 24, 2020 -- Not Actually -- 5.58K subscribers --- Sorry to everyone about the delay in the livestream, new router is already on the way.

a sample of [with and] 'writ[h]' by Laurence Rickels, about whom i hope you will do a vid someday:

> According to Adorno, Kafka saw the Nazi death-wish factory realize the creaturely estate according to a malignant superegoic model of a punishing fulfillment without rescue or hope. ---- "In the concentration camps [...] the line of demarcation between life and death was erased. They produced a liminal state, living skeletons and the decaying, victims whose suicide fails, Satan's laugh at the hope of an end to death." 8 ------ Adorno's emphasis in his essay on a Freudian infrastructure in Kafka's works offered a stay against the forwarding of all unidentified liminal states to philosophy's new "uncanny" address. The Odradek story ("Die Sorge des Hausvaters") was published the same year as Freud'sanalysis of the uncanny. A few years later, the Enge ("narrowness") that is the etymon and strait place of Angst ("anxiety") is for Heidegger a misapprehension of the embarrassment of possibilities we lag behind. We take flight into "fantasy worlds" from das Unheimliche, our literally "not being at home," which is our situation or condition. 9 ---- "Notes on Kafka" opens with the author's dissatisfaction that the work enjoys such a great popularity with those seeking it out as their "information desk" for the insider knowledge that allows them to reduce untenable situations to what's already known, seen through, and throwaway.
> ----- "But it is the false fame (der falsche Ruhm), the fatal variant of forgetting, which Kafka wished for himself in bitter earnest, and which compels our insistence before the riddle." 10

> This creative practice Ph.D examines the nature of contemporary military atmospheres through the work of Peter Sloterdijk. On the 100th anniversary of the beginning of the First World War, this research starts from Sloterdijk's claim that the modern â€˜air-condition' is inherently linked to the atmospheric warfare of 1915. It critically analyses this and Sloterdijk's broader spatial theories of human â€˜atmospheres' in the context of contemporary militarism through both theoretical and practical methods. The resulting proposition of this research is that the defining characteristic of military atmospheres is not only their â€˜aerial' capacities, as Sloterdijk suggests, but rather their surreal spatial practices - a basis for which is found elsewhere in Sloterdijk and the writings of Roger Caillois, > Rosalind Krauss, Roland Barthes, Michel Serres and Jakob Von UexkÃ¼ll, along with several artists, including Char Davies, Trevor Paglen and Marcel Duchamp. This is presented through close interdisciplinary analysis of two examples of contemporary â€˜atmospheric' military practices: unmanned drones and military mythology. It demonstrates through two major creative works that both military mythology and atmospheric weapons share a surreal operational logic that expand current categorisations of these fields.

oedip's dad raped a male child .... i thought there was a more perfect mirroring .. a father daughter thing ... which LR does go into extensively ... but i can't find it again, not even on my second try ... here's a few relevant quotes [vol 3's first champter has lots on oedip too] > page 130 Vol 3 ------ The wish fantasy that someday one will be delivered of one's parents by the evidence of true blue progenitors goes into what Otto Rank identiied as the birth of the hero - for better or worse. Oedipus benefits from the family romance only as long as he enacts it without knowing it. Oedipus started out a baby left out to die because the father sought to undo what he was foretold, namely that an heir would be his undoing. Oedipus, rescued and entrusted to foster parents, hears the same prophecy in adolescence, whereupon he loves and leaves the only parents he knows. But young Oedipus, grown strong enough to act on his wishes, walks straight into the prophecy's fulfillment. He kills a belligerent stranger, his father. Did the altercation between young Oedipus and the older man qualify the murder as homosexual panic? As a young man, Laius, the father of Oedipus, kidnapped the teen son of his host and raped him. Sometimes a pun that seems to come from nowhere or is too close to home doubles as a direct hit: Kenneth Burke's "riddle of the sphincter" upends the saga like a spoiler. 45 There's more on all fours than babies.

> MIT Senior Scientst States that Half of All Children May Be Autistic by 2025 due to Monsanto ----- 23rd Feb 2015
> A senior scientist at MIT has declared that we are facing an epidemic of autism that may result in one half of all children being affected by autism in ten years.
> Dr. Stephanie Seneff, who made these remarks during a panel presentation in Groton, Massachusetts, last week, specifically cites the Monsanto herbicide, Roundup, as the culprit for the escalating incidence of autism and other neurological disorders. Roundup, which was introduced in the 1970's, contains the chemical glyphosate, which is the focal point for Seneff's concerns. Roundup was originally restricted to use on weeds, as glyphosate kills plants. However, Roundup is now in regular use with crops. With the coming of GMO's, plants such as soy and corn were bioengineered to tolerate glyphosate, and its use dramatically increased. From 2001 to 2007, glyphosate use doubled, reaching 180 to 185 million pounds in the U.S. alone in 2007.

> Synopsis by Rovi
> When jewel thief and womanizer Petrovich is caught and imprisoned he manages to escape to the Riviera where he takes up his craft until he is caught again.

In Thomas Mann's unfinished development novel "Confessions of the impostor Felix Krull", on which the Nobel Prize winner worked from 1910 to 1954, the 40-year-old first-person narrator Felix looks back on his eventful life. "Carved from the finest wood even as a little boy", the son of the Rhenish Lorley sparkling wine producer has shown himself to be a gifted idler and notorious truant, but above all to be highly gifted for love-making, which is known as "great joy" - initially with the chambermaid Genovefa, who is twice as old .
When the sparkling wine factory goes bankrupt and his father shoots himself, Felix moves with his mother to Frankfurt am Main to open a small pension there, while his older sister Olympia goes to the operetta. After he withdrew from military service at the Wiesbaden muster, with a real-satirical ruse, he was able to lead a bohemian life on the Main as a "heartfelt partner" to the Hungarian prostitute Rosza, before he, through the mediation of his godfather Felix Schimmelpreester, went to the Seine with General Director StÃ¼rzli in the Parisian grand hotel Saint James and Albany begins as lift boy Armand.

> If you want to read about how Lyme disease got to the US, read this book. It's possible that Lyme was deliberately introduced and, for various reasons, there is disincentive to treat and cure it. This book is full of shocking information but it's a must-read for anyone who's been affected by this awful disease.
> Lyme Disease and the SS Elbrus - smashwords.com
> Ebook Price: $2.99 USD. 133440 words. by Rachel Verdon and published by Elderberry Press, Inc. on November 3, 2009 ..... based on decades of FOIA requests, scouring archives and interviewing principals, shows her warnings were tragically true, with widespread international collusion even in America as aided by Russian gold carried by the same Liberty ship-freighters from Russia that brought Lyme Disease to the USA.

> COASTAL GASLINK DESTROYS ARCHEOLOGICAL SITE ON CAS YIKH TERRITORY - 143 views - sep 26, 2021 --- Gidimt'en Access Point --- 105 subscribers ---- SMITHERS, BC: On September 22, 2021, after days of conflict between Gidimt'en/Cas Yikh Chiefs and members, Coastal GasLink and the RCMP, contractors completely cleared an archaeological site which has been destroyed with heavy machinery for the construction of a methane gas pipeline.
> Gidimt'en chiefs and supporters have been defending a number of culturally significant archeological sites from destruction on unceded Cas Yikh (Grizzly House) territory belonging to the Gitdimt'en clan of the Wet'suwet'en people. The Coastal GasLink pipeline company has obtained a Site Alteration Permit (SAP) from the BC Oil and Gas Commission (OGC) through a flawed and ineffective consultation process and without the Free, Prior and Informed Consent of the Wet'suwet'en Hereditary Chiefs > AntiMarketing touches deeply into the underpinning of most human beings once you strip away the veneer of their political stance, culture, religion, race, and creed. AntiMarketing is politically incorrect, pokes fun at traditional, overused, marketing tactics, and moves more people to purchase your product or service. This means creating the groundwork for a very powerful brand. It also creates a differentiating factor even when your product or service is just a commodity with no real brand depth.

Mark Dery, "The Politics of Style" -=- 9 years ago --- SVA MA Design ResearchPRO -- 352 views -------- The cultural logic of the Twentieth Century informs, even now, our notions of what constitutes good writing. Mark Dery excavates the Machine Age biases, not to mention the chest-thumping gender politics and latent homophobia, on which Anglo-American ideas about "good writing" are founded, directing our attention to the stylistic countercurrent running beneath the surface of Modernist prose styleâ€”a polymorphous, perverse tradition of exuberant overwriting and overthinking whose Proustian syntax, hothouse neologisms, polysyllabic exuberance, unapologetic embrace of the much-maligned adjective, and associative, digression-friendly mode of thought rejoice in the criminality of ornament.

Defining Afrofuturism -------- The term â€˜Afrofuturism' was coined in 1990s by, cultural critic, Mark Dery in his edited collection Flame Wars: The Discourse of Cyberculture. Dery uses the term Afrofuturism to define "speculative fiction that treats African-American themes and addresses African-American concerns in the context of 20th century technoculture â€” and more generally, African-American signification that appropriates images of technology and a prosthetically enhanced future." (Dery 1994: 136). --- jstor.org/stable/20719430 - (Yaszek 2006)

Other definitions of Afrofuturism come from Ytasha Womack, in which she defines Afrofuturism as " an intersection of imagination, technology, the future, and liberation." (Womack 2013: 9).
Lastly, Adriano Elia describes Afrofuturism as "a transdisciplinary cultural movement based upon the unusual connection between the marginality of allegedly "primitive" people of the African diaspora and "modern" technology and science fiction." (Elia 2014: 83) In his article, "The Languages of Afrofuturism," Elia considers the different languages of Afrofuturism through the art of Basquiat, music of Sun Ra, and literature of W. E. B. Du Bois, Ralph Ellison, and Octavia Butler.Though there are many definitions of Afrofuturism, they all have themes of reclamation, black liberation, and revisioning of the past and predictions of the future through a black cultural lens in common.

Afrofuturism 2.0 - A New Cultural Enabler for the Digital Age
1 year ago -- IAFORBusiness --- Afrofuturism as a concept is about 25 years old, with Mark Dery's interview essay Black to the Future (1993) giving the movement its name and paving the way for further interventions. Afrofuturistic works typically include novels, paintings, photography, music such as Sun Ra's and the Marvel Comics superhero Black Panther the 50th minute reminds me of being charmed by, my respect for AK's assertion about grammar, the more complete, balanced and correct all categories find their place .. the better the content approaches truth .. and escapes the truth delusion which the more infantile and feminine speech ... one can barely call those patterns, better characterized as bursts and burbles .. gay .. which is Dery's point all along here, implying that multiculture is gay and a horror to the eugenicists, one of which is that old time philosopher Herbert Spencer [whom John Zube liked as well but more famously cited as Trump's only fave book besides the bible or something - mentioned 2 minutes later]. i guess he was tryin to be fashionably ahead of his time cuckin to sexist concerns, hatin on streamliners, efficieniateurs .. etcetera .. [in fact, he consistently mixes gender, class, race and ideologies as interchangeables, perhaps for no other reason than to up his quip quotient, who knows?].

Mark Dery, "The Politics of Style"

he elaborates on all that using Hemingway vs boheme tilll the end of the lecture at 1h23 ..... the audio quality is annoying btw.

Drew's chinkling has been in the lockleg gestation bag, .. wait till he finds the sino-ufonautables ... betcha they'll be hibred hybrid hewbrew forestflatneurs .. i mean upstanding gggristDjinns too

9th minute, Marcus opens with an anecdote that DOES reveal Trump has a core 'disquality' in common with duh Bob of achieveradio.com ['the words are not important']. Contrast with the assertion shortly before that about how righties mean it when they go for the 'i was only joking' pd ploy comment on the next few minutes:

something tells me these people are not gonna share my enthusiasm for George Webb's investigative skills ... not to mention his Ukie boy psyop at the Capitol. Sure, the Tulsa Massacre .. etc etc .. but you did not go to europe cause you want all americans ['freed', radicalized europeans] to redress sins of their fathers, did you mister Marcus?

my 2 cents: cultural S is more important, .. think Trump .. he bridges the chasm [not] between HCQ and duh frack ... how wide and deep a rift will no man sew back up? .. cause ya noble repat ideas will get fucked up in the executions [overeager, awkward etc] until we're finally facing evil in face deadon enuff to appoint ourselves yar wiggle room angels again.

tasty thumb btw .. but did you HAVE to choose that to show inconsistency .. just so we understand false advertisement condonement is the bedrock of S?

a border is a stopgap, desperate and futile attempt to externalize self restraint .. something that never can be imposed from without .. on the other hand .. wher'er a border is possible .. 'terrapi' is possible ... and re-ed is no unnecessary luxury. Study volition and if you do that 'rite', you'll begin and end with rocks.

> Dorris Alexander "Dee" Brown (February 29, 1908 - December 12, 2002) was an American novelist, historian, and librarian. His most famous work, Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee (1970) details the history of American expansionism from the point of view of the Native Americans.

While attending home games by the Arkansas Travelers baseball team, he became acquainted with Chief Yellow Horse, a pitcher. His kindness, and a childhood friendship with a Creek boy, caused Brown to reject the portrayals of Indian peoples as violent and backward, which dominated American popular culture at the time.
Eventually he found a full-time position and became a librarian for the U.S. Department of Agriculture from 1934 to 1942. He lived at 1717 R Street NW, in the Dupont Circle neighborhood.
From 1948 to 1972, he was an agriculture librarian at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, where he had gained a master's degree in library science, became a professor, and raised a son, Mitchell, and daughter, Linda, with his wife Sally.

As a part-time writer, he published nine books, three fiction and six nonfiction, by the end of the 1950s. During the 1960s, he completed eight more including The Galvanized Yankees, which Brown described as requiring more research than any of his other books, and The Year of the Century: 1876, which he described as his personal favorite.

In 1971 Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee became a best-seller. Many readers assumed that Brown was of Indian heritage but he was not. He did come from a family with deep history on the frontier.

In 1973, Brown and his wife retired in Little Rock, Arkansas, where he devoted his time to writing. His later works include Creek Mary's Blood, a novel telling of several generations of a family descended from one Creek woman, and Hear That Lonesome Whistle Blow, which described the chicanery and romance surrounding the construction of the western railroads. His last book-length work, Way To Bright Star is a picaresque novel set during the Civil War. He never completed its sequel, which was to feature P. T. Barnum and Abraham Lincoln. ----- Brown died at the age of 94 in Little Rock, Arkansas.

THE HEARTBEAT OF WOUNDED KNEE
Native America From 1890 to the Present
By David Treuer -- 512 pp. Riverhead Books. $28.
Over the past 12 months, Native American politicians, artists and academics have made uncommon gains. Indeed, Native American women helped to make 2018 the Year of the Woman. In November, New Mexican and Kansan voters elected Debra Haaland (Laguna Pueblo) and Sharice Davids (Ho-Chunk) to Congress, while voters in Minnesota elected Peggy Flanagan (Ojibwe) their lieutenant governor. In October, the sociologist Rebecca Sandefur (Chickasaw) and the poet Natalie Diaz (Mojave) won MacArthur Foundation Awards, while throughout the spring and summer, the playwrights Mary Kathryn Nagle (Cherokee), Larissa FastHorse (Lakota) and DeLanna Studi (Cherokee) had historic openings at Arena Stage in Washington, D.C., Artists Repertory Theater in Portland, Ore., and Portland Center Stage, respectively. From the cover of American Theater magazine in April to CNN on election night, the work of these eight dynamic Native women garnered national acclaim.

> Protecting Ancient Forests â€” Update from the Front Lines of Fairy Creek -- 50 views -- Nov 4, 2021 --- Deep Green Resistance -- -9.26K subscribers --------- In this episode Max speaks with Joshua Wright, a front-line activist who was amongst the first involved in blockading access to Fairy Creek, trying to prevent ancient old-growth forests from being destroyed by logging companies. There have been over 1000 arrests making it one of the largest acts of civil disobedience in Canadian history. These on the ground activists continue to camp on site despite pressure from the loggers to endanger both the forest and its present inhabitants. ---------- The injunction against the protestors which ran from April until the end of September of this year was not allowed to be extended. But that decision was overturned and a new interim injunction is now in place until November 15th, so this is a crucial moment in the continuation of this blockade.

Ivor Cummins' latest notes his march20 emphasis on VitD "didn't get traction", "didn't fit the narrative" [to the point of "being taken down"]. What he fails to explain is that this is due [precisely] to the 'sense of place' violations which the multicuck tsjujtsture commits relentlessly, hysterically, chronically, tyrranically, in order to get a 'feetvote of way' free movement ritesjus corrolary to the illusorily freeing 'free trade' doctrine of neolib egoschiz worship.

> Russell Moxham ---- 12 years ago: He may be, but don't count on it without meeting me. I'm a professional translator, proofreader and editor. It's not very exciting but it does require linguistic competence. I would say that Meades is often more verbose than eloquent and in any case he remains a little too self-important as a narrator for my tastes.
> fendweller - 12 years ago: I can see where Russ is coming from, but the fun and braininess far outweigh any pomposity for me. For some reason, no one else can get genuinely personal, high-brow observation (with generous dollops of surrealism) on to national TV and I for one am grateful that Meades has managed such a long run of doing just that.

> In the early 1970s, mechanical engineer and classical guitarist Lou Dina was diagnosed with bone cancer in his wrist which had also spread to his lymphatic system. Following conventional doctors orders, Dina received traditional radiation and one treatment of chemo before his methodical engineers mind led him to seek out possible alternatives. His detailed search eventually led him to a F.A.C.T. convention, where he was more impressed by the stories of recovered patients than the opinions put forth by his doctor. The convention led him to the nutrition, body cleansing and pancreatic enzyme supplement plan created by Dr. William Kelley, a dentist who had cured himself of pancreatic cancer. When Dina brought up the possibility of following this protocol to his oncologist, they entered into an hours long debate about the merits and minuses, ending with the doctors confession that he had lost his mother and sister to the disease. With F.A.C.T. founder Ruth Sackmans personal guidance, Dina chose to follow the Kelley program. Within a couple of months, he took tests which showed a decrease in cancer activity. With time, Dinas wrist recovered and he began to again play classical guitar and be a strong patient advocate, by appearing at F.A.C.T. conventions and authoring a book on his own healing experience. ---- Now living in Birmingham, Alabama, Dina has been cancer-free for over 30 years.

> Apparently, movie's creators were well aware of Gnostic interpretation of God and Satan as being essentially the same entities, which explains the popularity of a saying that Satan is the best friend of Church â€" without Satan, there would not be Christianity, in traditional sense of this word. In its turn, this explains the fact that in â€œThe Omenâ€?, Satan goes about sending messages to people in the same way with God â€“ he ciphers them, while expecting only individuals capable of rational thought to be able to discover these messages' true meaning.

The validity of this suggestion has been repeatedly illustrated throughout the movie. For example, journalist Keith Jennings becomes puzzled by the fact that his photographs of Damien's first nanny and of Father Brennan came out with an odd streaks of an unexplained nature, which Jennings initially thought of as being simply film's defects. It is only after Jennings and Thorn began to rationalize phenomenon's possible meaning that the shocking truth had descended upon them â€“ streaks symbolized the particularities of first nanny's, Brennan's and eventually Jennings' own violent deaths. While referring to â€œThe Omenâ€? in his book â€œDevil Notebooksâ€?, Laurence Rickels states:

> â€œPhotographs can recognize or read as projection and forecast what passes before the naked eye unseen. They hold the place of legibility alongside the projections that in Devil fiction must also make the cut and touch the woundâ€? (Rickels 2008, 365). Therefore, we can say that epistemology of evil in the movie is being clearly concerned with people's ability to rely upon their sense of rationale, while assessing surrounding reality, rather then with their ability to recognize such reality's true subtleties by the mean of perceptional observation.

April 9, 2021 by Carrie Olivia Adams
Marshall Sahlins, a giant in the field of anthropology and a celebrated Press author, died earlier this week at his home in Hyde Park. Best known for his ethnographic work in the Pacific and for his contributions to anthropological theory, he was the Charles F. Grey Distinguished Professor Emeritus of Anthropology at the University of Chicago and the author of many books. Retired anthropology editor T. David Brent had the honor of working closely with Sahlins throughout his career, and he offered these words of remembrance for a significant author and friend.

Press, and my dear friend. I had the privilege of being the editor for several of his books including Islands of History (1985), Anahulu: The Anthropology of History in the Kingdom of Hawaii volumes 1 & 2, co-authored with Patrick V. Kirch (1992), How â€œNativesâ€? Think: About Captain Cook, For Example (1995), Apologies to Thucydides: Understanding History as Culture and Vice-Versa (2004) and What Kinship Is . . . And Is Not (2013). I also helped shepherd his Culture and Practical Reason (1976) into publication just after I joined the Press in 1974. We were friends and colleagues for nearly half a century. ---------- Marshall and I bantered, argued, and laughed at lunches, dinner parties, and our beloved Chicago Cubs baseball games (one of which we attended courtesy of the University of Chicago Press, which Marshall made a condition before signing his contract). When it came to considering a work of his for publication, though, he didn't want an editor in the conventional sense; he wanted and needed a friendly advocate who could understand and defend his work, get him a fair deal financially, and give him some influence over cover designs, promotion, and publicity. He was demanding, but his demands were always tempered by charm and good taste.

I hated to turn down Marshall's requests, even those that were impractical. There was once a close scare with Apologies to Thucydides. Marshall proposed, or rather insisted, that the Press include a bookmark printed with a diagram of the kinship relations of the rulers of certain kingdoms of Hawai'i in the 19th century. I explained to him that this would be technically difficult, a considerable additional expense that would have to be added on to the list price of the book, and that I just could not get it approved by my colleagues. It was too much cost for too little gain. He threatened to withdraw the book. ---------- I appealed to my colleagues in production with the counter-proposal that we insert a printed page that was perforated so it could be detached by the reader to have handy while reading the book. This, too, was vetoed. Luckily, at the last minute, our editorial associate Elizabeth Branch Dyson (now Executive Editor and Assistant Editorial Director) had the brilliant idea of printing the diagram on the very last page of the book with a faux perforation line so that readers could cut it out and use it as Marshall wished. We all agreed, and the dayâ€”and the bookâ€”was saved. I have serious doubts whether any owner of the book ever took advantage of this typographical innovation, but it pleased Marshall, and that's all that mattered.

From time to time Marshall recommended that I consider various works by others, but he never intervened in a single decision I made concerning anyone else's work over the course of my long career as anthropology editor. I once asked him why he had never served as a member of the Faculty Board of University Publications. He said it was because the Provost's office never asked. I suspect this was because the University administrationâ€”which Marshall bedeviled in many ways over the decadesâ€”was afraid he would use his powerful intellect and charm to persuade others to his point of view. And they would have been absolutely right. â€”T. David Brent

The theme of the sermon for this service was psalm 94, verse 19, which is precisely the text of the opening chorus of Bach's cantata. This early version consisted only of parts 2â€“6 and 9. ---- allofbach.com/en/bwv/bwv-21/

> Most likely, for the majority of gardens, this is unecessary, but as you often say, it depends on the soil, which only tests can tell. I suspect many gardeners don't need to lime their gardens (especially if they use a lot of compost instead of inorganic fertilisers), but depend on their practice and their soil, it might be beneficial to lime with ground silicates as opposed to simple carbonates.

T.A. Powell: Lords of the Harvest: A True Crime Investigative Memoir ----- 218 views - Dec 27, 2021 --- Ed Opperman --- 17.1K subscribers ---------- While it is not my intention to begin this book with a riddle for levity's sake, it is my intention to ask you to use your intellect from page one. You see, some murders are prompted by basic emotions that render a killer's motivation most obvious. Other murders are committed out of a need to serve a higher purpose, such as personal or ideological loyalty, and/or religious martyrdom. But the Columbus Stocking Strangler murders will never rise to the elegance of such, no matter how much the perpetrators of these atrocities might insist. These graphic slayings of seven elderly white women were executed for a series of reasons that for over almost four decades have gone undecipherable and in the end, were simply part of a much larger puzzle that until now has remained hidden. So let us continue with the riddle ... What is another word for Thesaurus? Thought provoking, isn't it?
For how do you describe something that in essence exists only to describe everything else, but not itself? I think you would agree with me then, that sometimes there simply isn't a better word or group of words to describe a thing other than the words that originally describes it the best. Thus, you have the reason why the title for this book could be nothing other than: LORDS OF THE HARVEST: A TRUE CRIME INVESTIGATIVE MEMOIR.
This investigative memoir begins with my introduction to the murders in Columbus, Georgia in 1977, where the word harvest took on another meaning and the tools that were used to harvest these â€˜matured' victims will not only shock youâ€”but lead you to other horrors, once shrouded in mystery and considered as stand-alone or disconnected serial murdersâ€¦ until my discovery of the key that unlocks them all. - The Chicago Lipstick Murders ----- The Black Dahlia ---- The Boston Stranglings ---- The Zodiac Murders ----- The Sonoma Stranglings ----- Atlanta's Missing and Murdered Children ----- The Orange County Michigan Murders and many more

Russia-Ukraine crisis escalates; Kiev army shells East (full show) ---- 40K views -- Dec 27, 2021 ---- RT America -- 1.21M subscribers -------- The crisis escalates between Ukraine and Russia. People in east Ukraine's breakaway republics continue living under the constant threat of shelling from Kiev's armed forces. That's despite a ceasefire agreement being stuck between the rebels and the governments years ago-with NATO forces openly supplying the Ukrainian military. RT's Roman Kosarev brings us the report. (1:15) Then, former Pentagon official Michael Maloof and former UK MP George Galloway join a panel to discuss. (3:55) Hillary Clinton and Donald Trump are back in the news cycle-but this time-they're on the same side. While the two may see a rematch in 2024, there's one topic they agree on---and that's campaigning against Bitcoin and other crypto. Journalist Glenn Greenwald discussed this topic recently on his Rumble channel---and underscores that no matter what side of the aisle---money should stay green according to politicians. Investigative journalist and cohost of Boom Bust Ben Swann shares his perspective. (11:55)

Russian military expert Andrei Martyanov discusses the dangers of American exceptionalism, globalism, and how our societies have become totalitarian. He explains how American military might was lost years ago and how Russia has not only become a peer competitor, but is decades ahead of the U.S. with a missile gap that has become a "technological abyss," possessing hypersonic weapons against which there is no defense (and which the U.S. does not have), air defense complexes (e.g. S-500s), and so on. True strength lies in possessing both an advanced physical economy together with first-rate military power. Russia has moved to a completely different tactical and operational paradigm. Conventionally, NATO and the U.S. can do nothing, Russia doesn't sweat them at all. The only war possible would be escalation to the nuclear threshold, but he believes there are enough smart people in Washington to prevent that. He comments on the disintegration of America culturally, and economically, which includes possibilities of hyperinflation and civil war. He believes the pandemic is a leverage points for the changeover of the old guard.

> Kaynak: HUNMAGYAR.ORG: Welcome to the realm of the Turanians. The Turanians are a family of ethno-linguistically related peoples which include the Hungarians, the Uralic group (Finnic and West Siberian peoples), and the Altaic group (Turkic, Mongolian, Tungus-Manchu, Korean and Japanese peoples). The Turanians are the indigenous inhabitants of vast territories in Eurasia, from Central Europe to the Pacific Ocean, and have a rich and ancient cultural heritage.
> Throughout history, the Turanian lands have been invaded by foreigners: Semites, Persians, Chinese, Greeks, Romans, Slavs, and Germanic peoples. In many cases, the indigenous Turanian peoples have been and are still subjected to genocide, colonization, deportation, or assimilation. Foreign rule has not only caused great losses in demographic and cultural terms, but also economically and environmentally as severe damages have been inflicted by the exploitation and pollution of the Turanian lands by states such as Russia (formerly the Soviet Union) and China. Faced with all these hardships, the Turanian peoples are struggling to preserve their distinct cultural identity and to reassert their rights.

Among the main challenges facing the Turanian nations today are the severe environmental, political, economic, ethnic, demographic, social, and cultural problems created by the communist regimes of the former Soviet Bloc and China. In many cases, the communist elites of the former Soviet Bloc have managed to remain in control of the state apparatus with the help of the financial resources illegally gained from the privatization of the state assets. These corrupt "post-communist" regimes in east-central Europe and the former Soviet Union, as well as the remaining communist regimes in Asia, are an obstacle to democracy, and to the political, economic and cultural self-determination of the peoples of the region.

Tiananmen Square monument dismantled in Hong Kong --- 14K views --- Dec 23, 2021 -- Sky News - 3.92M subscribers
A monument at the University of Hong Kong which marks the 1989 Tiananmen Square massacre has been removed. Depicting a heap of anguished human torsos, the famous statue commemorated pro-democracy protesters killed during a crackdown by Chinese authorities - and stood for more than two decades. In a statement, the council of the University of Hong Kong said it decided to remove it "based on external legal advice and risk assessment for the best interest of the University". --- skynews

> A Musical Story of Time â™¬ ---- This abstract has open access ------ We struggle with time! Popular lines like: "do things in your own time", "time heals all wounds", "live in the here and now", suggest that time is important to the way we live our lives in the 21st century. Simultaneously, these wisdoms have a history. Without knowledge of this past such statements turn into empty and meaningless clichÃ©s, not applicable in life and not usable in debate. Therefore: we have to knÃ³w what time does to us and, vice versa, what we do to time. Susanna Bloem's project, entitled â€˜Time and person, now?!', aims to uncover ideas about time-experience from the modern history of psychiatry and does that via research Ã¡nd composition. After all: there is no better way to start talking about the meaning of time than via an experience of time through music. Since music can make time concrete. Tonight she will play and talk about her first piece "Human time": Which treats "Inner life history" a psychiatric concept of the first half of the 20th century. She invites you to listen along and investigate with her how music can help to describe past ideas about the psychic forms, possibilities and limitations time can take. And this way inform the question: What is the relationship between time-experience and a meaningful life?

The most famous legend involving Kratos was the battle for Olympus. Kratos, along with his siblings Nike (god of victory), Bia (goddess of force), and Zelus (god of rilvary), defended Mount Olympus along with Zeus from Typhon, the god monster. In the end Kratos and his siblings fight off Typhon and Zeus sends him back to Tartarus where he lies trapped under Mt.Etna.

Before Son of Sam: The Submerged History of a Yonkers Cult
1.1K views - Jan 15, 2022 - Ed Opperman - 17.3K subscribers -------- spreaker.com/user/oppermanreport ----- author's blurb: David Berkowitz is the only person ever charged with the infamous Son of Sam murders in New York City during 1976-77. But what about the Yonkers-based satanic cult of which Berkowitz claims to have been a member? Is there any evidence that such a cult existed and had already been active for many years when the Sam shootings began? Before Son of Sam definitively answers that question. In my novel The Agent I wrote about a fictionalized version of the cult; this is the bizarre, terrifying reality.

> and it doesn't jump out at you how utterly and totally stupid the Western world is, you have been brainwashed. The British Conservatives want their own prime minister to resign, not an opposition party's prime minister, because he is suspected of having attended a party during an official lockdown. Over nothing more than this a government is to fall! In Florida, where I live, we give and attend parties whenever we wish. There are no lockdowns, no masks, no vaccine mandates. Indeed, vaccine mandates are illegal. If you believe the Covid propaganda, everyone in Florida should be dead. Instead, we are happy and normal. It is the rest of the world that is dead, afraid of its shadow, hiding in locked down rooms, with hospitals full of people dying from the vaccine.

What Did Equal Temperament Make Us Lose? - 364 views - Jan 29, 2022 - 70 - 10thdim -- 97.4K subscribers ----------
When the music of Western society adopted twelve-tone equal temperament back in the 18th century, we gave up just intonation, a tuning system based upon whole number ratios that puts the naturally occurring harmonics more in tune with each other. Just listen to these beautifully tuned Koshi Chimes for a few minutes (www.koshi.fr)... get used to the sound. Then listen to an equal-tempered "perfect fifth" I play on the piano. Can you hear what we've lost?

what schizophrenia programmarization can accomplish complete reversal, sub-, per-, ob and at least and first of all, diversion, i've said that many times. It's an automatism that runs and runs when unchecked. Do the ethics content check with me:
benefit over drawback and side effect bottom lines ignoring the latter if and/or to the extent the exceed the former.
are you still with me? Let us descend into the caves and/or ascend the prestige and pomp temples of authority steps towards the dark hands to stay and guide, not shake them.
Brace yourselves for drawback and side effect focus and fix, cause that most subethical and depraved of dank ground levels is where, how and who with they simply gaingamerishly concentrate and monetize it.
Truth thrives as soon as knowing what you are looking for overlaps and synonymizes with knowing what you are looking at.

Ukraine Fired Western "Lethal aid" on Civilian Infrastructure In DPR (In-depth Special Report) -- 1.3K views -- Jan 30, 2022 -- Patrick Lancaster --- 58.3K subscribers
With the 4th shipment of USA "lethal aid" just delivered to Ukraine the UA forces decided to fire western supplied 60mm Mortars on an electric sub station in Yelenovka in the territory of the Donetsk People's Republic.
29 January I confirmed that #Ukraine Fired 9 Western supplied 60mm Mortars on an electric substation in Yelenovka. (60mm not made by UA, #Russia or in #USSR)
This is the most complete report you will find on the situation and the only English report

Report by Patrick Lancaster
US Navy veteran and independent crowd-funded journalist.
Over the 8 years of the Ukraine War I made more video reports in anti-Ukraine Government (Donetsk People's Republic) controlled territory than any other western journalist. ---- 'Diplomacy is the responsible way,' Kyiv urges Russia to pull back troops from Ukrainian border - 7.9K views - Jan 31, 2022 - WION - 4.43M subscribers ---- As tensions ramp up at the Russia Ukraine border, western leaders continue to pursue a two-pronged approach to de-escalate- one is to increase military assistance to Ukraine and the second is to continue full diplomatic efforts to defuse the crisis. In the latest Ukraine has urged Moscow to pull back its troops from Ukraine's border and continue talking to the west if it is serious about resolving the situation.

your bias against russia on this issue is consistently unfair enuf that i have started to doubt you report on china any better

> Women are being chased, thrown to the ground and dragged by USFS cops on horseback, charging through Rainbow Family camps, video cameras are being seized and smashed by USFS cops â€” even as the Forest Service celebrates its 100th anniversary with a big PR exhibit on the National Mall, at the Smithsonian's annual Festival Of American Folklife.

> Roads are being blockaded in and out of the Monongahela National Forest by US Forest Service police, and gatherers are being ticketed en masse; the USFS has set up an impromptu "court" at a "Nature Center" in Monongahela.

Integration: Understanding New Mediation via Innovations in Horror Cinema ---------- Laurence A. Rickels Staatliche Akademie bildender KÃ¼nste Karlsruhe, laurence.rickels@kunstakademie-karlsruhe.de
Abstract
If television inherited the democratization tendencies of mass media, then digital media circumvented the impasse of politics and psychosis by a momentum that is more closely allied to integration.
Beginning with the word "integration" it proves possible to go deeper than the term's current associations in the headlines and revalorize the newly mediatized prospect of political change. It is an upgrade that becomes uniquely legible â€“ as "alle-gory" --- in recent alterations and alternations in media representation of occult and psycho horror.
Keywords: media theory, psychoanalysis, occult, television, McLuhan

Just your regular reminder that the US empire (A) had solid intelligence that this war was coming, (B) knew they could prevent it by making very reasonable, low-cost concessions like promising not to add a nation to NATO that they didn't want to add anyway, and (C) chose not to.

32K views ---- Nov 6, 2010

Palatinist ---7 years ago: Christoph Bosserts legendÃ¤re Einspielung in St.Thomas zu StraÃŸburg. Orgel von J.A.Silbermann, 1741.

Colin Gantiglew --2 years ago: Considered by some to be the finest piece of music ever written and one which, speaking for myself, I never tire of hearing. If this be Stephen Cleobury at King's, then total respect. My own appreciation of the beauty and magnitude of the work crystalised with the performance of Piet Kee at St Bavo, Haarlem, in the early 90s. Many fine organists have done it ample justice since.

Amaranth --- 3 years ago: The already dark music of C minor becomes even darker with the "addition of two flats" to

B-flat minor.

One such hopeful sign came just as this issue was about to go to press. An ambitious court case brought by Friends of the Earth Netherlands has resulted in oil giant Royal Dutch Shell (RDS) being ordered to cut its total carbon emissions by 45 percent by 2030, compared to 2019 levels.
Duty of Care
This ruling sets two important precedents. First, it establishes that courts can order companies based within their jurisdiction to reduce their emissions, in order to comply with targets set by the Paris Climate Agreement.

> WHEN OLD GROWTH ENDS ---- 4 years ago --- For The Wild -- 2,295 --- 2 Comments ----- reality won ---- 2 years ago --- It's so sad that the apex of our interlocking and laced economic systems, the non-renewable fuel industrial complexes, have dictated that nature's abundance be replaced by their scarcity; as organizing principles. For, in a world where ", we(e),, " walked in nature's balance, giving back to her abundance, where only renewable energy sources were used, even greed wouldn't be a problem at all. The â€˜worldly world' trap will be hard for humanity to escape, with it's life. Blessings and peace to you and All, too. -- reality

> In Part 1 of this new 3-part mini-series, we explore the endangered old-growth forests of Vancouver Island. Despite the reality that less than 10% of the prime, low-elevation old-growth remains on the island, these forests continue to be converted into second-growth tree farms, We unpack what the loss of these forests means for biodiversity and for coastal First Nations, who have depended on these ancient forests for their culture and survival since the last Ice Age. We also get a sneak peak of Part 2 (coming soon).

> You make a video about a profession, an industry, and the ecosystem and you don't interview a SINGLE, accredited, professional forester, professional ecologist, or industry professional?
> This is why the general public, the governments, and the PROFESSIONALS don't even bother working WITH you to seek a common ground. You're blatantly biased, you clearly avoid accountability to the statements made by "ecology educators", or random people with "opinions", yet you ensure the 100+ year science and economics that committed, passionate, and INVOLVED citizens of this province and island, have contributed and continue to contribute to the industry, economy, and environment they love and rely on for a livelihood.
> Until you seek out and become educated, not "informed", you're but another source of misinformation that leads to periscope policies that 4-year governments try to gain votes from by pandering to the loud but ignorant masses you target emotional responses from.

> Constantinos P. Cavafy: "The God Abandons Antony"
> When suddenly, at midnight, you hear an invisible procession going by with exquisite music, voices, don't mourn your luck that's failing now, work gone wrong, your plans all proving deceptive - don't mourn them uselessly: as one long prepared, and full of courage, say goodbye to her, to Alexandria who is leaving. Above all, don't fool yourself, don't say it was a dream, your ears deceived you: don't degrade yourself with empty hopes like these.
> As one long prepared, and full of courage, as is right for you who were given this kind of city, go firmly to the window and listen with deep emotion, but not with the whining, the pleas of a coward; listen - your final pleasure - to the voices, to the exquisite music of that strange procession, and say goodbye to her, to the Alexandria you are losing.

Red Kahina ---- Mar 20 ------- 10 Great Ideas For Punishing Putin ---- Some of these may surprise you Lars Mikkelsen - To the Russians here: How was the Russian language of Lars in "House of Cards"?

Here are some of the most effective things you can do to take a stand against Putin:
--Don't have children. Children use precious resources.
--If you already made the mistake of having a child, don't have any more.
--Minimize the damage. Cancel all birthday parties. Ration their food and water. Remember the more physical activity, the more they eat, and the more they shit. Watching screens is a low-calorie option activity. No snacking.
--Seal your children's airways. (Oxygen comes from trees, and Putin has seized control of a significant supply of the earth's trees.)
--Put down any pets you may have self-indulgently acquired.
--Close your small business. Give up your car. Give up your home.
--Palliative Care: Rationing your elderly parents' and grandparents' water is the most efficient and painless way to escort them to a better world. Remember, every breath they take after working age makes Putin smile.

--Pay Attention to directions from the leaders of the fight against Putin. They're experts.

In Sumatra and Borneo, during the horror of the covid-19 pandemic, the forester Basuki Santoso and the land surveyor Feri Irawan encounter a country under destruction. Even though scientific studies of the Eijkman institute prove that there is a connection between the massive deforestation of animals' habitats and the increase of zoonosis - which causes deadly virus mutations - the savage destruction of the key ecosystem has only gotten worse during the pandemic.

One Scenario They Could Do ----- Mar 20
To crash all the banks, end money and thus smooth the way for the Fed and CBs take over, a story could be, well it begins on that YACHT. Mega Yacht. See her tail, emblazoned COSMOS. Or some such. Audience gonna love this. See the yacht, see it sailing, we're maybe expecting Robert Maxwell, no, no, now his child, we expect to see her bobbing, bloated, face down nearby, (Who knows maybe they'll do that, an "easter egg", .). Here come the jet ski spec ops, the navy gunboats, the choppers overhead, to seize the mega yacht COSMOS. So a month or so before the Russian invasion of Ukraine, two really big banks lend a lot of money to an oligarch connected to the CIA, like RA, against the yacht. Anyway now there she is in some Mega Yacht pound in Maui. Or wherev.
So the banks with this yacht as collateral on their books then just do whatever they need to do to get the yacht from whatever US department is distraining it. (Or not even distrained, since it's just a spanking. No bill, no terms, just I'm taking this, Jew boy - Ruskie Face - you're illegal now.)

And since two banks show up, then more, then it's funny, there could be a dozen. Like when the mob pushes another car with another dead body off the pier into the East River, and it doesn't sink. Because this is a traditional site of body disposal, and there's a column of such cars with bodies in them all the way to the riverbed. This kind of funny.

Or like that novel where the Emperor Napoleon escapes from St. Helena disguised as a common sailor, somewhere along the line the intricate plot to restore him falls apart, someone misses their appointment, and the Emperor Napoleon ends up in a madhouse where all the patients think they are Napoleon. This sort of funny.

And it's funny. Snarling Oligarch put up this yacht as collateral for loans 100, 1000 times its value, in every bank on the planet. The routine multiple hypothecations of the real assets is known, of course, but not evidenced: it's all obscured in the time gaps between accounting moments, but suddenly it is here front page news in flagrante with the bogus seizure carried out with no due process. Uncharted legal territory. All the lawyers in the world in disarray, also hyped up, seeing opportunities, creating like mad. This then takes off: everyone goes looking into all the collateral.

That's how I would write it, were it my job to run the spectacle for the global coup and the final blasts of the controlled demolition of capital as was.

Africa's history is stained with suffering; but after generations of slavery, oppression, and diaspora, many ancestral Africans are now returning to reclaim their heritage. In the heart of Ethiopia, Shashamane was dedicated by King Haile Selassie as a homeland for those of African descent. This thoughtful and beautifully shot documentary follows those who have heeded this call to return to their ancestral home and recover their African identity.

One of my readers tells me that global warming is not going to kill us before war from lack of food. Yes these issues are all related. The science is now crystal clear - modern humans from creating agriculture have now caused the fastest acceleration of global warming on Earth - due to CO2-equivalent emissions (methane primarily, along with CO2).

The irony is that when a solar-calendar based agriculture spread around the world it did so along with patriarchy as the tools used for the farming have been patriarchal.

So we lost our original human culture secret of alchemical meditation based on the Cosmic Mother who will Never Be Unveiled - our primate origins in the rainforest were based on listening as our dominant perception.

I'm going "farm sitting" again - and this farm even won an award recently as the "rising star" by our state Farm Union! The farm is based on intensive rotation to mimic the ecological effects of a predator-prey system. So the grass never gets eaten down below say knee level. That way the roots are the main priority for growing and the roots then store the carbon into the soil via the soil mycelium. They have had even soil tests to prove this. I have helped out there over the past five years.

I've blogged on all this before - it's all "regenerative agriculture."

My previous blog on the Chestnut Tree farm - that Badgersett farm appears to not be "active" anymore - at least not in cyberspace. If they can't email me back then I suppose I could call them. Still I will continue my mushroom harvest and I just published my first book as my new book writing business.

So that Badgersett Chestnut Farm noted such trees would store I think 9 tons of carbon a year? Anyway I have given for http://trees.org for tree farms along the equator were the growth rate is fast. Where I was going to plant the trees it would take ten years for any significant harvest.

I don't think we have ten years at our current accelerating of global warming on Earth!! See the links to see the science as to why. So that's why I rely on meditation as the truth of a post-death reality of the Cosmic Yuan Qi that will never be Unveiled.

1) the depositional aspect allows me to study dust dispersal in the geologic past. Just like rivers nearly always flow to the sea and deliver sediments, winds always blow off land masses and deposit dust in the ocean. Using such marine archives of sediment deposition, I try to reconstruct past environmental conditions in dust-source regions.

2) the marine-environmental effects that dust has are most likely enormous. Desert dust contains all kinds of nutrients and metals, from which marine life can profit. In a couple of projects I am trying to answer the question if dust can be used as an artifical fertiliser for the ocean. We think that this is happening in nature, and should this be the case, we could potentially apply it as a means to combat climate change.
Teaching

I try to add a bit of "marine flavour" to the broad palet of studies at the faculty. At the moment I am contributing to:

2) the MSc course "marine geology and palaeoclimatology" (with Frank Peeters)

INTRODUCTION
About 30 years ago, scientists first observed so-called giant (>75 Î¼m in diameter) wind-blown mineral dust particles at large (>10,000 km) distances from their source (1).

> Wow my handwriting was really great when I was 9 years old. Here is a story I wrote (Drew, 207, Feb. 25, 1980 -- The Fish Eating Dog):
> Once upon a time there was a dog who loved to eat fish. He lived by the pond. Every day he would eat fish. Every day he would like it. One day he was going down to the pond to get some fish, but there wasn't anymore to eat. He had to move to another pond. It was different there.

The pond was polluted. So again he had to move. Anyway there wasn't a pond in sight. The dog died because there wasn't anything to eat.

WOW - Nine years old!! Isn't that crazy and the comment by the teacher says, Good (underlined). haha. At the top of the paper the comment is: Good Start!

Hi Professor Phillise Todd - is that your twitter account? I got banned from twitter pretty fast as I was spamming my support of the protest against the Dakota Pipeline. I looked on your twitter and I didn't see any posting. Stuart Hameroff gave an "unlisted" talk recently with Penrose and also quantum mechanics PRofessor Basil J. Hiley (who has worked with Penrose way back).

I'm not linking to the original, because I am appalled that a person would have to pay to access documentaries from PUBLIC television. This is a scam, a set up for content digital badging in the behaviorally engineered Metaverse. What should we expect from Ken Burns? Anyway, my friend Cliff always emphasizes that the "thoughts" we have do not necessarily originate in us - they are floating around and can come through us like a RADIO. This is key as we move into the age of nano-neuro-electronics. More on that here: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=O6o8BgjzOWQ

What are you listening to? Is it kind? If not, think about tuning it out.

Source https://forbiddenknowledgetv.net/dojo-secrets-revealed/

Going back many years, Clif High's Asymmetric Language Trend Analysis (ALTA) Reports from his web bots have contained large datasets referring to a temporal marker that he labeled "Secrets Revealed" and alternately, "SciFi World". He believes that we've now entered this time period.

He says, "We're seeing the secrets of Hunter Biden's laptop come out, we're seeing the secrets about the election theft come out, about all of the corrupt politicians, about all of the corrupt teachers' unions and all of this kind of stuff, right?"

Within this larger "Secrets Revealed" dataset, there are smaller subsets, such as "Planes falling out of the sky", which he thinks refers to the hundreds of pilots who have died from the death shot and also, something we just saw happen last week, when a commercial airliner in China nosedived from 29,000 feet at a 90Â° angle. It was reportedly carrying Rep Eric Swallwell's Chinese spy ex-girlfriend, Fang Fang.

He says that basically, history is an edifice of lies and that it will take years to reconcile and rectify; entire industries will be spawned to do this task. Although hampered by a bad internet connection and his recent de-platforming from Twitter, where he was mining some of his information (removed reportedly over his pinned tweet about supplements to take if you have been vaxxed), Clif strongly suspects that "Space Aliens" will become a topic of discussion this August.

He says, "This is a reward to everybody, because when the secrets are out, you don't have that toxic environment, anymore."

> This is a story of how democracy is supposed to work, and how it does not. This is a story about the future of Minnesota, and if a group of white men and a southern corporation, or a Canadian corporation, can control the future, or if the systems of government, between state, federal and tribal nations will actually work.
> Many members of Red Lake and White Earth Tribes also have ancestors that lived and were buried on the Leech Lake reservation immediately adjacent to the proposed industrial giant. Joshua, along with representatives from Honor the Earth, the 1855 Treaty Authority, Leech Lake Tribal Government and many tribal members were all denied their previously promised opportunity to testify and put their opposition to the project on record.

> Clyde Bellecourt & Winona LaDuke on Line 3 Update and the Start of AIM. ----- 91Vs > Honor the Earth sends condolences to the Bellecourt family as we all mourn his passing on January 11, 20200. Video of Clyde Bellecourt and Winona LaDuke, both from the White Earth Reservation, visit together in Minneapolis, MN on May 17, 2021 back when Enbridge Line 3 was under construction in unceeded 1855 Treaty Territory. Video filmed and edited by Keri Pickett for Honor the Earth.
> From Wiki: Clyde Bellecourt, May 8, 1936 â€“ January 11, 2022) was a Native American civil rights organizer.[1] His Ojibwe name is Nee-gon-we-way-we-dun, which means "Thunder Before the Storm".[2] He founded the American Indian Movement (AIM) in Minneapolis, Minnesota, in 1968 with Dennis Banks, Eddie Benton-Banai, and George Mitchell. His elder brother, Vernon Bellecourt, was also active in the movement.
> Under Bellecourt's leadership, AIM succeeded in raising awareness of tribal issues. AIM shone a light on police harassment in Minneapolis. Bellecourt founded successful "survival schools" in the Twin Cities to help Native American children learn their traditional cultures. In 1972, he initiated the march to Washington, D.C. called the Trail of Broken Treaties, hoping to renegotiate federal-tribal nations' treaties. Non-profit groups he founded are designed to improve economic development for Native Americans.

> Where did the Snake River go
> As of August 9th, the Snake River in northwestern Minnesota has dried up. At the site where Enbridge's Line 3 crosses beneath the river, the flow ends. Remaining, are a few shallow puddles, some filled with small dead fish.
> We are experiencing extreme drought conditions all across Minnesota. Climate change, industrial agriculture, and Canadian multinational oil company, Enbridge, are all to blame.
> As if a missing river wasn't terrible enough, there is evidence that supports a potential frac-out at the Snake River crossing. A frac-out can happen during the drilling process when the pressure below a riverbed is greater than ontop. This causes drilling fluid to be forced up through the riverbed. Enbridge says their drilling fluid is not considered toxic but can damage aquatic life.

The Minnesota Pollution Control Agency said the state water permit issued for the construction does not authorize the release of drilling fluid to a wetland or river. Enbridge has released drilling fluid at least 28 times at 12 river crossings.

Why has the MN DNR and MN law enforcement been punishing Water Protectors and targeting journalists and whistle-blowers but not enforcing violations committed by a Canadian multinational oil company?

The DNR needs to protect our natural resources like the Snake River, not a tar sands oil pipeline. Minnesota law enforcement needs to protect our people, not a corporation. Our land and waters have already been desecrated by Line 3 and tar sands have not even begun to flow.

Murdering Indians: A Documentary History of the 1897 Killings That Inspired Louise Erdrich's The Plague of Doves ----- Peter G. Beidler

In February of 1897 a family of six--four generations, including twin infant sons and their aged great-grandmother--was brutally murdered in rural North Dakota. The weapons used were a shotgun, an axe, a pitchfork, a spade, and a club. Several Dakota Indians from the nearby Standing Rock reservation were arrested, and one was tried, pronounced guilty and sentenced to be hanged. The conviction was reversed by the state supreme court, which ordered a new trial. Only a week later, however, a mob of thirty angry men broke into the county jail in the middle of the night, dragged three of the five accused Indians out, and hanged them from a butcher's windlass. These events were fodder for hundreds of newspaper articles, letters, and legal documents. Many of those documents, including the transcript of the trial convicting one of the Indians and the statement by the state supreme court reversing the conviction, are collected in this work, and, with the author's commentary, tell a disturbing tale of racism and revenge in the pioneer West, one that provided the basic story line for Ojibwe novelist Louise Erdrich's acclaimed novel The Plague of Doves.

Blue Collar Botany --- with Joey Santore
He's a brilliant self-taught Botanist who started down this track by growing native plants (and planting them renegade-fashion in a city near you), gained a greater appreciation for plant communities as he piloted diesel trains across the West, and is driven by his passion. He is a modern-day plant explorerâ€“seeking out fascinating plants around the globe in places wild and pristine and those that are heavily trampled by humans.

Joey's mission to understand plant evolution has taken him to New Caledonia, South America, Australia, Mexico and to just about every botanically unique nook across the U.S. He will draw from his rich bank of stories and photos to bring the content of these four classes to life. He'll take you on a botanical tour to some far out, oddball places, and help you better understand the plants that grow in your own neighborhood in the process. Not familiar with Joey? Check out his "Crime Pays But Botany Doesn't" YouTube channel and Instagram account for a good look at what he's all about.
You've Been Warned
Joey's teaching is sprinkled with foul language. If you're a fan of his videos you know and (most likely) appreciate his creative use of the English language. If you're not familiar with his way of speaking, check out one of his YouTube videos to get a sense of it. We don't want you to find yourself listening to a fascinating botany presentation that may include occasional words that feel offensive to you.

John Scullion - 2 hours ago (edited): It is what is experienced; everything else can be criticised, discussed, accepted or dismissed. Words alone do not capture the entirety of existing. As Ven Sangharakshita once said, 'the rational mind cannot know reality'. Verbal encoding itself isn't sufficient to encompass the entirety of experience. Experience transcends pre-verbal and post-verbal life. The unconscious is equal to the conscious. To know thyself is to transcend the merely verbal.

The Jakusa Atlantico is modelled on the curvaceous 1936 Bugatti Type 57SC Atlantic of which only four were built. Two remain today. One was sold a few years ago for more than $40 million and the other is in the Ralph Lauren collection.

The failure of Stephen Hero haunts all of Joyce's later work.1 Often considered by scholars to be merely a first draft of A Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man,2 Stephen Hero was, in fact, an entirely different kind of undertakingâ€”both in terms of scale (its manuscript reaching almost 1,000 pages) and structure...

> A year before The Matrix (1999) chose mysticism over science fiction Dark City (1998) hit the screen, running science fiction into the burial ground of lost worlds. Aliens have abducted a large number of humans to study under the lab and maze conditions of their life- or- death experiments. The aliens are fading fast: it is surmised that what the humans call soul (or psyche) has marked them, in contrast, for survival. The intermediary or double agent between the manipulated mediatic human habitat and the control room of the alien experimentersâ€”whose voice-over, which is in the beginning, introduces us to the setting of Dark City's futureâ€”is Dr. Daniel P. Schreber. The aliens or "strangers," who all look like Murnau's Nosferatu, just in different sizes, and who float, launching themselves like Nosferatu rising straight up out of his coffin, are marked for extinction. 46

hey, .. GdJong as well as LR got hit on by this perf(o)witch

VV: I am working on a large collaborative project dealing with the idea of community and time. How does one create a community of people with no time? My main collaborators are Gerald de Jong, who is the author of fluidiom software, composer David Beaudry and sculptor Tim Quinn. The piece was commissioned by Walker art Center and is traveling with the Telematic Connections: the Virtual Embrace exhibition curated by Steve Dietz. A full description and explanation of this project is on our site, which I hope you visit and explore. Since this project launched quite recently we are eager to get feedback from people who have the time to think about time....
MG: Thank you
VV: Let me know what you think and if there is anything you want me to further elaborate on.
Further questions (to be completed in time):
MG: When developing personalities from individuals and social networks (information personae), how could one develop personality traits such as creativity?
MG: Time to come? What is the time to come? What will it be like?
MG: How can an uploaded person without a soul voluntarily cease to exist?
MG: Why must we go on without the body?
front.php_artc=21.html[1/18/22, 10:32:39 AM]MG: Is our current social structure trying to make us happy slaves?
MG: Can a slave be happy?
MG: What is the soul? What about the soul? Where will that go? How will a lost and soul-less higher machine find peace?
MG: Why do I even care about peace for a bunch a wandering vulnerable data?

Lecture, February 23 at Pratt now online
Date posted: February 24, 2022
It's really touching to have a student become a colleague! Mattia Casalegno was at UCLA Design Media Arts many years ago now â€” he teaches at Pratt now and introduced my talk â€” first in person-talk and critique afterwards since the pandemic closed down.

I focused in this talk on the Octopus Mandala, Brain Storming, Noise Aquarium and Alien Star Dust starting with the Chernobyl ferris wheel, this was just days before the war around this area broke out, waking up the old Cold War tensions of nuclear disasters / threats. In the audience was Kay Hines who â€” ages ago â€” edited the Bhopal Christmas; on the street with Bast performance. Once again the individual and the collective return to some of the old shadows we repress, .

> Modern society has deprived young people of religion, thereby stripping a coherent story-arc from their lives. Most plays have a set pattern: a beginning, a middle and an end. One can see the character development of the protagonist, from the inception of the story to its conclusion. Like the 'hero's journey' of Luke Skywalker from farm boy to Jedi Knight, or the metamorphosis of Harry Potter from a scared, abused child to a champion who defeats Voldemort. Even simple video games have this pattern, with Mario rescuing Penelope from Donkey Kong. The Bible used to supply these role-models and themes, that people could use to apply to their own lives. We use religion and philosophy chart our courses throughout life and to give our existence a coherent pattern. Without that pattern, our lives take on a schizophrenic complexion. We tremble in fear and darkness . . . like the primitive tribes who were terrified by a lunar eclipse in the time of Columbus. Though the explorer knew of the mathematical regularity of eclipses, the natives didn't. So he used his knowledge of patterns to trick them and convince the he was a god. Modern youths, who (like the Caribbean tribes) are aware of no pattern in life live in a similar low-burning anxiety. They shake and collapse at the slightest rustle in the darkness. This results in an epidemic of anti-anxiety meds and depression.

lifesaving medicines. Medical science began as a discipline geared toward the betterment of all human life, but the merging of research with intellectual property and the rise of the pharmaceutical industry warped and eventually undermined its ethical foundations.

In research published in 2016, the same team found that 33% fewer babies with DS per year were born in the United States as a result of pregnancy terminations."
Wow - my uncle had Down's syndome

Helga Vierich:
One evening I had a visitor by my tent: Be/e â€“ a older healer (what some might call a "shaman"). I asked him all these questions about spirits and the Creator. He looked down, and shook his head. "Stories for children; these are stories for children" he said.

Then he added, and looked me right in the eye: "most people are always children. Death is too frightening, so we think life can go on outside of the world we can see and feel.." â€“ and he reached out and gently pinched my forearm. Then he shook his head.

I was shocked; I blurted out: "So there is no Creator?"

He huffed a laugh. Put up a hand to stop my question, and asked if I had a cigarette. So we had a quiet smoke together before he left. I think he did not want to go any further with this subject: he left the mystery in case I needed it. But I am pretty sure I had met a lonely, fellow agnostic,

How common is this? One of my mentors, Becky Sigmon, a palaeontologist, wrote a book with a physicist, William Dowden, entitled "Physics, Evolution, God", and, in a section on the origin of religion and the "discovery" of God, they suggest that dreams, trance states, and even hallucinatory experiences, combined with the recognition of death, produced beliefs in the existence of a reality beyond the material world. The incorporation of stories and fantasy then gave rise to shared traditions about the possibility of spiritual life after a material death, as well as an interest in inducing altered states of consciousness through exertion (as in hours of dancing), fasting, or use of psycho-active plants.

Valdielly Larisse Silva is a geologist who graduated from the Federal University of Pernambuco (UFPE) in Brazil and received her MSc in Geosciences from the same institution in 2019. Inspired and encouraged by Suzi Huff Theodoro, Valdielly and other two colleagues (Nayara Mesquita and Thales LÃºcio) founded the startup Reminera â€“ SoluÃ§Ãµes em Agrogeologia. The enterprise is incubated at UFPE and helps Brazilian quarries and mining companies to fulfill requirements for regulation of soil remineralizers. Through analytical services and bureaucratic advice, Valdielly helps to guarantee that the remineralizers in the market are efficient and safe to use. As research database coordinator of RTE, she promotes and keeps on building our research database, following the path that has been a tremendous contribution of our previous directors, Veronika Miranda Chase and Lucas Pozzobon de Bem.

When DNA makes a copy of a portion for the cell to act on, the copy is called messenger RNA or mRNA. This is fundamental. CCC on the Standard Genetic Chart represents proline (C 5 H 9 NO 2), which is associated with the mineral lutetium. According to calculations by Richard Olree, this mineral will be found 12,362,927 times in the entire human DNA code, as constructed on May 14, 2004.
Lutetium is a mineral that apes cobalt. In fact, it is a carrier for other trace minerals. In turn, cobalt coupled to a cyanide molecule â€” carbon and nitrogen â€” creates vitamin B-12, the traditional link between metals and non-metals. Titanium, vanadium, chromium, manganese, iron, nickel, copper, zinc, gallium, and germanium do not appear on the Standard Genetic Chart, but they have a role in the genetic code through the use of carbon, nitrogen, and cobalt. Cobalt is a carrier, for which reason it is raised to a command position in the pantheon of minerals. The link betweenmetals and non-metals is cobalt, simply stated and generally understood, hooked to an operative molecule called vitamin B-12. Lutetium is a numbered mineral with the same classification as cobalt. If the human body has the use of the noted minerals, they must be affiliated with lutetium. The list reads as follows: cerium, neodymium, promethium, samarium, europium, gadolinium, terbium, praseodymium, thulium, and ytterbium. The role of this cited inventory has still to be established. Indeed, there may not be a role. All of the listed minerals in the above paragraph have a +3 electric charge. They can easily affect the effects of boron, the master +3 mineral, or yttrium, a +3 mineral that controls one of the three termination codons. Lutetium has a place in the genetic code, albeit a minor one since there is very little lutetium in our system. Finally, when the human genome was produced, and Olree had converted all the human genome into minerals, lutetium turned out to be either the most used, or 14th most used, mineral on the entire periodic chart. As we unfold the Olree Standard Genetic chart, the key at the beginning of this lutetium section must be kept in mind. The most abundant mineral and amino acid plant relationships that are applicable are listed in the "Sourcing the Elements" chapter.

There is no lighter subatomic particle than the one associated with GGG. The amino acid is glycine. It has no mirror image. It affiliates with oxygen, a component of DNA. All of the other minerals and all of the other amino acids have to fit in around glycine because of glycine's left-handed nature. Walter Russell called this subatomic particle alberton and it is the lightest of the subatomic particles, the U quark. U stands for the up quark. It has a -3electric charge. It has a profound effect on the large intestine and is governed by the cervical 1 bone. Classical chiropractic conditions of the cervical 1 bone areas known to receive nerve fibers from this spinal segment are the blood supply to the head, the pituitary gland, the scalp, bones of the face, the brain itself, inner and middle ear, and the sympathetic nervous symptom. Some of the conditions that can follow a pressure on or interference with these nerves are headaches, nervousness, insomnia, head colds, high blood pressure, migraine headaches, mental conditions, nervous breakdowns, amnesia, sleeping sickness, chronic tiredness, dizziness or vertigo and St. Vitus dance. So ends the periodic chart superimposed over the Standard Genetic Chart. For botanical sources of the elements desc
